On the College Campus

Before printing any up-to-date College Campus news, we must turn back to Commencement, 1935, and briefly state the things which were of particular interest.

GENERAL ALUMNAE MEETING

The forty-ninth annual business meeting of the General Alumnae Association of Salem College was held on June 1, 1935, in the college library with Dr. Adelaide Fries presiding. Mrs. Eugene Stephenson (MARJORIE SIEWERS), Secretary, read the minutes of the Executive Board meeting recommending proposed amendments to the Constitution and By-Laws. These were unanimously accepted.

Dr. Fries, as chairman of the scholarship committee, read the report of alumnae and personally founded scholarships, indicating a total of $5,517.00 scholarship aid administered by the committee.

Mrs. John Hill Wharton (CLEVE STAFFORD), in the absence of Mrs. W. H. Wayman (ELIZA HILL GRIMES), read the treasurer's report.

Mrs. M. W. Norfleet (RUTH WILLINGHAM), then read a beautiful tribute to Dr. Adelaide Fries, thanking the retiring president for her loyal and devoted service as leader of the Alumnae Association during the past thirty years.

Mrs. T. Holt Haywood (LOUISE BAHNSON), chairman of the nominating committee, then presented the following ticket, which was unanimously accepted, with the secretary casting the ballot: president, Mrs. James A. Hartness (ANNIE L. SLOAN), Raleigh; vice-presidents, Mrs. W. N. Reynolds (KATE BITTING), Mrs. Charles Fogle (LUCILLE WOMMACK), both of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Owen Norvell (MILDRED OVERMAN), Salisbury, Mrs. David Madden (CLARA OLIVER), Knoxville, Tenn.; and Miss Mary Penn (1935), of Kingsport, Tenn.; secretary, Mrs. Eugene Stephenson (MARJORIE SIEWERS), treasurer, Mrs. Fred Parrish (INEZ HEWES), both of Winston-Salem; Chairman of Scholarship Committee Award, Dr. Adelaide L. Fries; Advisory Committee, Mrs. Howard Rondthaler, Miss Marian Blair, Miss Grace Lawrence, all of Salem College; Executive Board Members, ex-officio the presidents of the Branch Alumnae Associations; also, Mesdames S. D. Craig (RUTH HANES), James A. Gray (PAULINE BAHNSON), Charles Norfleet (CORINNE BASKIN), J. K. Pfohl (BESSIE WHITTINGTON), John Hill Wharton (CLEVE STAFFORD), A. H. Bahnsen (ELIZABETH HILL), Norman Stockton (EMORIE BARBER), B. S. Womble (EDITH WILLINGHAM), Miss Katharine Hanes, Miss Grace Starbuck.

Following the election Mrs. Hartness, the incoming president, accepted in behalf of the newly elected officers and herself, hoping to show her gratitude, she said, for the honor placed upon her by reciprocating with her future services, delighted to have an opportunity to be of some use to her Alma Mater.

Miss Mary Louise Mickey, Field Secretary, was called upon to tell of her work; Mrs. Alice Keeney Rondthaler, editor of "THE ALUMNAE RECORD" was asked to report.

Two piano selections were given, one by Miss Ruth Wolfe, member of the graduating class, the other, by Mrs. Charles McAnnally (WANNA MARY HUGGINS), of High Point.

President Rondthaler was called upon and spoke on several phases of College activity and administration. "It is interesting to note," he said, "that the Association of Colleges, in accepting the report of the College at the December meeting had urged further concentration in its efforts on the growth of the library, a return as soon as possible to standard salaries, and an endowment of $500,00." He pointed out that the annual "Living Endowment" was of incalculable aid in making up the amount which Salem lacks in permanent endowment and urged alumnae to continue helping in this respect. He then spoke enthusiastically of the "Alumae School" held last February at the "Home Coming" on Salem Day, when forty alumnae returned to their Alma Mater, attended classes and participated in school activities for a few days.

The meeting adjourned for luncheon in the college dining hall. (Extracts from the report of Mrs. Eugene Stephenson, secretary).

PRESIDENT RONDTHALER'S ACCIDENT

From Commencement we hasten through a happy summer, happy except for the accident which Dr. Rondthaler suffered in London on July 18th. For the benefit of those alumnae who have not heard about it, we will state briefly that Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler were in the first week of a happy holiday in London when he was struck by an automobile and taken unconscious to Middlesex Hospital. Details of the accident were slow in reaching those here at home, and it was only as the weeks dragged themselves out through the summer that we realized the seriousness of the accident. Always, however, word came from Mrs. Rondthaler of his slow but sure recovery, and much happiness was experienced on the opening day of college when a cable stated that he had left the hospital. Since then the letters from Mrs. Rondthaler and from his daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Rondthaler Pfohl, who joined them in London, brought better and better news until on October 5th, all three of them sailed for home. October 16th was a "red letter" day at Salem when word came of their safe arrival in New York, and both he and Mrs. Rondthaler conversed over long-distance with their daughter, Jane Rondthaler, here at Salem College. Now we are looking forward to their return in December, after he has had a further time of rest and recuperation at Clifton Springs, N. Y., according to doctor's orders. It is fully expected that he will resume his official duties at Salem the first of the New Year.

SALEM'S 164TH OPENING

Salem's opening on September 18th was very much like that of previous years, except for the fact that Dr. Rondthaler's place on the Chapel platform was filled by acting president, Dean Charles G. Vardell.

There were more students "standing at the portal" than has been the case in the past few years on opening day. The chapel service was a real inspiration. Rev. Gordon Spaugh, pastor of the Home Moravian Church, led in the opening prayer and read the scripture, after which Dean Vardell read a cheerful message of greeting from Dr. and Mrs. Roudthaler in London. Mrs. Harry Grimsley, president of the local branch Alumnae Association, brought greetings, after which Mrs. James Hartness, of Raleigh, newly elected president of the General Alumnae Association, spoke briefly.

Bishop J. Kenneth Pfohl, president of the Board of Trustees of Salem College, told of the bright prospects for Salem in the opening college year. He told of the Moravian forefathers who put education next to religion, who planted a school beside the church, who believed in the education of their daughters as well as of their sons.

After this, Dean Vardell announced new faculty members and then read delightful telegrams from Adelaide "Babe" Silversteen of New York, Frances Hill Norris of Florida, and Mary B. and Jane Williams of Wilmington.

Immediately following Chapel, as Salem students of old well know, classes began promptly at II a. m.

Presidents of Salem Alumnae Associations for 1935-36

Presidents of the Branch Associations are members of the Executive Board of the General Alumnae Association. Each Branch Association was called upon at Commencement. It was gratifying to note the number of Branches represented by their presidents or some delegate.

Alumnae who have not yet joined a Branch Association should get in touch with the president in their respective community and get their names on the list before the February meetings.

Salem Academy News

On the Academy Campus

Academy alumnae will be glad to learn that henceforth two pages of "THE ALUMNAE RECORD" will be devoted to Academy Campus and Academy Alumnae news. Miss Elizabeth Zachary, graduate of Salem College, 1923, and now a member of the Academy administration, will edit all Academy news. Those wishing to send in material should mail it direct to her.

Those who were privileged to spend their Salem Academy days in the beautiful "new Academy buildings," will enjoy Miss Zachary's account of the September to Christmas calendar of events:

School opened on Thursday, September 19th, with the Flag Ceremony. From the flag pole the girls marched to the College Chapel for the opening chapel of the year which was conducted by Dean Vardell in the absence of Dr. Rondthaler. The birthday dinner was held Thursday night. The seniors as is the annual custom cut the birthday cake and handed the silver knife to the juniors for the birthday cake in 1936. The athletic banquet, when the sport program was explained, was Friday night, September 20th. On Saturday night of the first week we had a picnic with young men as guests. Bishop Pfohl spoke at the first Vesper service. On Saturday night, October 5, Mr. Talley took all of the Academy girls on a hay ride in the good old fashion way. Other events during October were a week-end trip to Lewisville, a trip to Natural Bridge, a square dance, a formal dinner for the parents of the upper-class day students. In November there will be a formal dinner for the parents of the under-class day students, a trip to Roanoke Island, a civic music concert (John Charles Thomas). In December will be the soccer final games and banquet, the basketball final games and banquet, the Christmas pageant on Thursday, the 12th, which is described in a brief history on this page, and finally the night before we leave, our colorful, hilarious Christmas party with the tree, putz, mummies play, dinner, carols, and toys.

ACADEMY CHRISTMAS PAGEANT

The Academy Christmas pageant has become one of the traditional events in the celebration of Christmas at Salem. Miss Charlotta Jackson deserves credit for inaugurating the first carol service under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Chase back in 1928, but for the past four years Miss Dorothy Knox has directed. While its character has not changed, new carols have been added from time to time to supplement the more familiar ones. The pageant centers around a tableau of Correggio's "Holy Night." It has come to be considered a great honor to be asked to pose for this tableau. Twice the picture has been changed, but as no other version of the nativity has been found that lends itself so well, this tableau has passed into the list of Salem traditions. We still call our pageant "Christmas Carolling in the Mediaeval girls costumed some as angels, some as mediaeval lords and ladies, knights errant, nuns, and friars file into Memorial Hall and group themselves on each side of the tableau. During the reading of the Christmas story from Luke the curtains part and we see the Holy Family. The kings bring their gifts, and after more carols the procession departs to "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing." The pageant has become increasingly popular year by year and is eagerly anticipated by the students and many friends of the Academy.

Mrs. Kate Emery (KATE HAYLEY, 1870), 696 S. McLean St., Memphis, Tenn., writes thanking us for some pictures of Salem recently sent to her from the Alumnae Office. She says, "Sweet, sad memories were revived despite the wonderful improvements. Another Salem girl, formerly Naney Berry of Rome, Ga., also enjoyed them with me. I regret not having sisters or daughters to take my place and enjoy the influence of a beautiful school and home life. There were ten girls when I was there from Jackson, Tennessee, my home town. All have passed away except Fannie Tower, now married and living in California."

A note from Mrs. P. M. Mull (ALICE YOUNT), tells of her Salem Days: "I left Newton with my father the last of July, 1864. We took the train at Newton, spent the night at High Point, and took the stage for Salem the next morning. A number of disabled Confederate soldiers almost filled the stage on their way home to recuperate.

"Upon reaching Salem Academy I was placed in the 9th room. In addition to studies, we learned to keep house. My two room teachers were Miss Lizzie Chitty and Miss Maria Vogler. My first music teacher was Miss Joe Siddell; my last, was Miss Lou VanVleek. I remember all the girls in the different rooms I occupied and also all the splendid teachers.

"I am now 84 years of age. Most of my old schoolmates have passed away, but I have many happy memories of Salem and have encouraged a number of girls to go there. I have always been glad my parents sent me on account of the spiritual training I got there."

We regret to learn of the serious illness of Mrs. Alberta Green Murphy (ALBERTA C. SMITH). Her son, Frank M. Green, writes us that his mother has been sick due to high blood pressure and has lost the use of her eyes. She will appreciate hearing from classmates and friends. Mrs. Murphy's address is 1121 Forest Ave., St. Louis, Missouri.

The Greensboro Branch Alumnae Association met last February, but report of the meeting failed to reach THE ALUMNAE RECORD last spring. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. C. Elmer Leak (Cammie Lindley, B. A., '05).

Mrs. F. J. Blackwood (Marie Crist, B. A., '18), was elected president for the ensuing year. Miss Elizabeth Leak, was elected secretary. Mary Louise Miekey was guest speaker. During the business meeting $4.25 was presented with which to purchase a book for Salem Library. Eighteen members were present.

Reunions for Commencement 1936 as are follows: 1932, 31, 30, 29; 1913, 12, 11, 10; 1894, 93, 92, 91; 1875, 74, 73, 72; the "Fiftieth Year" Class of 1886.

Already questionnaires have been sent out to all members of the classes whose correct addresses we have on file here. Many replies have been received and the next issue of THE ALUMNAE RECORD, which will contain the material on the questionnaires, will give a very interesting account of alumnae of these reunion classes.

We have a very interesting message from Fannie Everitt Walton (1865-66), as sent to the Statesville alumnae at the time of their last meeting.

"In August, 1862, when Burnside, the Yankee General, had taken New Bern and was expected at any time to reach Goldsboro, my parents decided it would be safer for me to be under the protection of some girls' school. I was first sent to Edgeworth School at Greensboro, a noted Presbyterian School of that day, but when it became necessary in 1864 to use Edgeworth as a hospital, I was sent to Warrenton. In 1865, I entered Salem, after graduation from Warrenton, for further study and to make myself efficient for teaching. There, I think, I spent the happiest and most informative days of my school life.

I loved all of the dear teachers, Miss Stauber, Miss Charlotte Pfohl, Miss Reichel, Miss Brietz, Mrs. Denke, and above all, Miss Emma Lehman. I stayed at Salem, without returning home, until the 4th of December, 1866, spending a most happy Christmas holiday, enjoying the Easter celebration, and then the entire summer vacation.

My first music teacher at Salem was Mr. Meinung. Then I was transferred to Mr. Leinbach. On the 4th of December, 1866, when there were forty cases of smallpox in the Academy, I left for my home in Goldsboro.

After leaving Salem I had the opportunity to study in the North, and in 1883, I rented Statesville College for one year, and the following year, bought it. For eleven years I had a most successful school, noted for its faculty and its success in music, art and other departments. Later, I introduced the teaching of cooking, which was of interest to many.

In 1894, on account of ill health, I was compelled to close the school and offer the building for sale. In 1888 I had married W. W. Walton, and to us was born one daughter, Anne Bell. I have made my home with her for the last fifteen years. Her three children have been my constant joy since the loss of my husband in 1925.

Of all the advantages that I ever had, I count the privilege of being at Salem one of the biggest in my life. Now at 86 years of age, I look back through the years and remember every foot of the old buildings, the playgrounds, and all the fine people there.

Last year a letter came from Ruth M. Hansen (RUTH SHOTT, '11), which failed to get into The Record. She went to Alaska in 1926 as a government teacher, but found she had to serve as nurse and doctor also, being the only white women in one of the Tundra villages. Later she served at the Moravian Orphanage at Nunapitsinghoc. In 1929 she married. Since 1930 she and her husband have lived at Bethel. They have adopted a boy of five years. She writes that she would like to hear from some of the '11 girls.

The Philadelphia Alumnae Association met too late to be recorded in The Alumnae Record last year. Lina Blanche Hallyburton, secretary, sends us an account of their meeting at the Whitman Early American Room, 16th and Chestnut Streets, Saturday, May 18th. Miss Mary Louise Mickey was with them as speaker. Twenty-two members were present for dinner, which was served at 7:30 p. m., at a very attractive table with its decoration of flowers and candelabra. Several out-of-town guests were present, among them Mrs. H. M. Cass (DOVIE CHEDISTER, '95), of Johnson City, Tennessee.

Mrs. Clarence E. Parker served as hostess to the occasion. Mrs. Gilbert Fry (MARY McKELVIE), was elected president for the ensuing year.

ON THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

Greetings from President Rondthaler

Greetings for 1936 to Salem's Alumnae! Would it were fully possible to carry across to you those things that definitely encourage the Administration as College and Academy begin the one hundred and sixty-fourth unbroken year of school life. One century and two-thirds of a second century is surely a long history, and when one remembers that not one school day has been missed in all these years, it is evident that God's divine blessing and protection have rested upon this institution. Roughly figured there have been forty thousand school days in Salem's unusual history, truly an unusual record.

And now for certain items of current encouragement: Returning December the first, I at once felt many evidences of the faithful and co-operative services of faculty and trustees. Every scheduled class and every scheduled event had moved off in perfect order — Dean Vardell had guided affairs with entire skill and with characteristic self effacement. Student life had moved with the greatest serenity and efficiency, and the faculty had "teamed" together to the utmost. Besides all this the Trustees had been active and understanding, so that it was most gratifying as long absent president, to resume activities with everything running smoothly. So extremely complex is the life of these two institutions, the Academy and the College, that many a troublesome problem might have been awaiting belated solution, had not the entire body, faculty, trustees, students, and servants, given themselves during the three elapsed months to doing "with their might what their hands found to do."

And then there had been added the loyal interest of the Alumnae, and I received a stirring report of the Fall meeting of the Alumnae Executive Committee in its special called meeting to plan for Alumnae activities. This was evidently a stirring and co-operative meeting, Mrs. James Hartness presiding, and, best of all, the Executive Committee began to lay far-reaching plans in connection with the "Living Endowment."

Some few years ago I explained to a Reviewing Committee of the Southern Association of Colleges just what Salem Alumnae had been doing along Living Endowment lines, and this influential group of college leaders expressed both interest and appreciation. It has greatly encouraged me to learn that the Executive Committee of Salem College Alumnae, expect to make Living Endowment a keynote Alumnae Activity for 1936.

Whenever the meaning and purpose of "Living Endowment" are thought through they carry their sure appeal to the mind and heart of loyal Alumnae. A gift to "Living Endowment" does double duty in that for the year in which it is given it represents the interest to secure which a capital gift twenty times as large would be necessary. For instance, a gift of $5.00 to Living Endowment equals what $100.00 would earn at 5% during a year. Therefore a $5.00 Gift represents, throughout the year in which it is given, all that $100.00 in Capital Endowment could do in earning interest; similarly $1.00 represents $20.00 capital at work earning interest at 5% and a $10.00 gift to "Living Endowment" is equivalent to what $200.00 capital Endowment would be able to earn in one year. Our goal in "Living Endowment" is $2,500.00 per year, equivalent to 5% on $50,000.00 capital.

In closing, I want to express my appreciation with Mrs. Rondthaler for all the friendly messages received from alumnae everywhere, while we were away, and for the many cheerful Christmas greetings received during the holidays.

Interest in Commencement plans, especially the reunions, is greater than ever and we hope to see many of you here at that time, if not before.

Cordially,

HOWARD E. RONDTHALER.

ALUMNAE EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The Executive Board of the Salem College Alumnae Association held a luncheon meeting on Wednesday, November 13, 1935, in the recreation room of Louisa Bitting Building. The following members of the Board were present: Mrs. James A. Hartness of Raleigh, President; Mesdames W. N. Reynolds and Charles Fogle of Winston-Salem, vice-presidents; Mrs. Fred Parrish of Winston-Salem, treasurer; Dr. Adelaide Fries, of Winston-Salem, Chairman Scholarship Award Committee; Mrs. James A. Gray, Mrs. J. K. Pfohl, Mrs. John Hill Wharton, Mrs. A. H. Bahnon, Mrs. Norman Stockton, Mrs. B. S. Womble, Miss Katharine Hanes, Miss Marian Blair, Miss Grace Lawrence, all of Winston-Salem; Mrs. W. W. Rankin, president Durham Alumnae Branch; Mrs. F. J. Blackwood, Jr., president Greensboro Branch; Mrs. Charles W. McAnnally, president High Point Branch; Mrs. O. L. Joyner, president Kernersville Branch; Mrs. Philip Ray, president Leaksville Branch; Mrs. Cecil Hayes, president Lexington Branch; Miss Christine Henkel, president Statesville Branch; and Mrs. Harry Grimsley, president Winston-Salem Branch. Mrs. Lindsay Patterson was an honor guest of the occasion.

The business session followed the luncheon. Dean Charles G. Vardell, introduced by Mrs. Hartness, spoke briefly of the work accomplished in the School of Music and of Salem's high recognition as a member of the National Association of Schools of Music. Mr. Vardell then told the Board that students in the School of Music were available for concerts and suggested that possibly some of the Branch Associations might wish to sponsor such occasions, inviting in any high school seniors and others who might be interested in learning something of Salem's excellent work in this field. He stated that the idea was to place the work of the School of Music before the public in a very practical way. The concerts would, of course, be given without admission charge. Mr. Vardell stated that if Alumnae groups wished to sponsor such recitals, the officers should correspond with him at an early date to make the necessary arrangements.

Among items discussed was the need of better gymnasium and library facilities. Mrs. Hartness pointed out the urgent need of maintaining our standards with respect to endowment, and called for a full discussion of "Living Endowment."

The Board voted to endorse Dean Vardell's plan of sponsoring concerts by the students in the School of Music; the Board voted to authorize the president to appoint a committee to inquire into the gymnasium and library needs; the Board voted to endorse the "Living Endowment" until such time as Permanent Endowment reached the required standard.

Miss Adelaide Fries gave a report of the work of the Scholarship Committee.

The following committees were appointed by Mrs. Hartness: nominating, Mesdames A. H. Bahnon, chairman, J. J. Cunningham (Winston-Salem), R. H. Courtney (Richmond), Misses Christine Henkel (Statesville), and Alice Stough (Charlotte); program, Miss Margaret Siewers (Winston-Salem) chairman, Mrs. William Hoyt (Winston-Salem) and Mrs. Charles McAnnally (High Point); decorating, Mrs. Charles Fogle, (Winston-Salem) chairman, (the committee to be chosen locally by her as chairman).

The meeting adjourned at 3:30 p.m.

A PAGE FROM THE FIELD SECRETARY'S NOTEBOOK

From a diary filled with interesting accounts of her five weeks trip through the north during November and early December, our Field Secretary, Mary Louise Mickey, gives us the following comments relating to alumnae in that section.

Richmond, Va. Salem Girls here have not met for many months but are planning a real get-together sometime in the spring. Mrs. Hartness has already expressed her interest and hopes to be present at the meeting.

Baltimore, Md. Mrs. A. Paul Brown (HELEN STRETT), is the efficient president of this Branch. At the suggestion of the Washington Branch, a joint meeting will be held at an early date.

Washington, D. C. New recruits constantly arrive on the scene, since it has become quite the style for Salem girls to work for "Uncle Sam." There are approximately forty-five on the Washington list and under the leadership of Ross Walker, president, and Kathleen Arrowood, secretary, several lively meetings have been held in various sections of the city. Friends of Mary Brewer (B. A., 1930), who remember her famous impersonations and readings during her Salem Days, will be interested to learn that she is the same amusingly original imitator and is doing this sort of thing along with her teaching at Falls Church, Virginia, near Washington.

Philadelphia, Pa. Mrs. Gilbert Fry (MARY MCKELVIE, B. A., 1924), is becoming personally acquainted with all of our alumnae in this Branch, of which she is president, and also with a number of prospective students in the vicinity of Philadelphia. An enjoyable dinner meeting was held at Whitman's on Chestnut Street and we remember particularly the lovely decorations in Salem colors.

New York City. Membership in this Branch is held by Salemites throughout the Metropolitan area, including the Jersey and Westchester suburbs. Mrs. Henry C. Pfohl (ELIZABETH RONDTHALER), of 71 Orange Street, Brooklyn, is president. A happy hour was spent chatting with some of the alumnae in a Park Avenue Restaurant. It is difficult to plan a time for meetings of alumnae in the rush of New York City life, but everyone was enthusiastic over Mildred Steimle's suggestion of a Sunday afternoon for the next gathering.

Lancaster, Pa. Salem was one of approximately 150 schools and colleges represented in the academic procession which met to honor President Schaeffer of Franklin and Marshall College here upon his inauguration on December 6th. On occasions such as this we are proud to note that Salem, founded in 1772, is given honored recognition as one of the oldest institutions of higher learning in America.

Winston-Salem, N. C. Home again, and overjoyed to find Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler back. January finds us busily engaged in talking to groups of high school seniors throughout North Carolina and in planning for the "Founders' Day" celebration on February 7th, with "Home Coming" and the "Alumnae School."

FURTHER PLANS OF THE FIELD SECRETARY

Shortly after the "Founders' Day" celebration, Miss Mickey hopes to start southward to Georgia, Alabama, and Florida. She will hold meetings wherever possible. It is hoped that the Atlanta Branch will hold its annual meeting while she is there.

Returning from the far South, she will be available for alumnae meetings in North Carolina and Tennessee. Mrs. James A. Harness of Raleigh, our newly elected President of the Alumnae Association, hopes to attend many of the North Carolina meetings this year. She is getting ready for a South American cruise on February first, accompanied by Mrs. B. Frank Mebane of Leaksville, but upon her return plans to spend the spring months in very active work for Salem Alumnae with Miss Mickey. Officers of the various Branch Associations should make arrangements with Miss Mickey well in advance for alumnae meeting dates. Lists and information are available at the Alumnae Office upon request.

"FOUNDERS' DAY"

Special plans for "Founders' Day" include this year, as last, the "Home Coming" and "Alumnae School." Former Salem girls will join with the present student body in celebrating the occasion during the week-end of February 7th to 9th. Two representatives from each Branch Association, as well as individual alumnae who are interested in visiting the College at this time, will meet to become again, for one week-end, college girls, participating in the daily program of student activities.

An opportunity will be afforded of meeting the present student body, the faculty, and the Board of Trustees. The Winston-Salem Branch Association will hold its annual meeting on Friday night, February 7th, with an invitation to all visiting alumnae to attend. Salem Academy will hold "open house," giving alumnae the chance to see what splendid work is being done there.

In establishing the "school" for its alumnae, Salem wished to provide a time during which they might return and experience the thrill of reassuming for a short time the role of students. Though in many ways Salem has not changed since "your day," certainly there have been progressive academic changes, and the "Alumnae School" will acquaint "old girls" with modern educational methods and courses.

So much enthusiasm was shown by those who returned last year to "Home Coming" that it was decided to extend a similar invitation this year.

It is hoped that each Branch Association will be represented and presidents of the respective Branches are asked to make definite arrangements for such representation. The invitation goes also to individual alumnae who are interested in the opportunity to visit the Salem of 1936.

Registrations may be sent to the president of a Branch Association or direct to Miss Mary Louise Mickey, Field Secretary, Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C. Due to the restricted amount of dormitory space available, only a limited number of registrations can be accepted. Early application is therefore advisable.

During the Founders' Day celebration, the college library will have a display of pictures of alumnae whose daughters or granddaughters are at Salem now. There are forty-six students in the college whose mothers were "Salem Girls" and seventeen whose grandmothers were "Salem Girls." There are several students who are the great-grandchildren of alumnae and one or two who are the great-great-grandchildren.

Visiting alumnae are cordially invited to see the collection of pictures on exhibit in the library.

ON THE ACADEMY CAMPUS

STUDENT LEADERS

Former students will be interested in knowing "who's who" on the Academy Campus this year. On the "Honor Council" are Sarah Hurlburt of Roxbury, Connecticut, and Bettie MacNair of Larchmont, N. Y., representing the senior class; Betsy Hill and Anna Bitting Whitaker of Winston-Salem, representing the junior class; Dorothy Ann Myers of Winston-Salem representing the sophomore class; and Polly Guerrant of Callaway, Virginia, representing the freshman class.

In Athletics, Dorothy Everett of Brevard heads "Purple" and Mary Lib Walston of Winston-Salem, "Gold." Bettie MacNair is head of Soccer; Virginia Boyles of Thomasville, head of Basketball; and Myra Lucia Moore of Newport, Tennessee, head of Riding.

The senior class has as its president, Nancy Campbell of Bluefield, West Virginia; the junior class has Rose Willingham of Winston-Salem; the sophomore class has Betty Lee Bell of Winston-Salem; and the freshman class has Mildred Parks of Asheboro.

Student Representatives, i. e. the "go-betweens" between administration and student body in the general daily life of the dormitories, are Bettie MacNair, of Larchmont, N. Y., Ora Jones of Greensboro, Mamie Ann Laughon of Greensboro, and Elizabeth Roberts of Winston-Salem.

The "Quill Pen," which is the Academy annual, has a very efficient staff as follows: editor-in-chief, Ora Holt Long, of Brevard; assistants, Sarah Hurlburt, Eleanor Amos of High Point, Mary McDevitt of Charlotte; art editor, Ruth Doerschuk of Badin; advertising manager, Edith Womble of Winston-Salem; athletic editor, Eleanor Sartin of Winston-Salem; business manager, Sarah McCanless of South Boston, Va.; photographic editor, Elizabeth Sartin, of Winston-Salem; class representatives, senior, Margaret Courtney, of Winston-Salem; junior, Jane Norvell, of Salisbury; sophomore, Billie Hanes of Winston-Salem; and freshman, Ann Hanes, of Winston-Salem.

Much success is evident in the work in Dramatics this year. Miss Dorothy Knox, head of the senior dramatic club, "Pi Delta Phi" returned from ten weeks of study at the Beach Theatre Dramatic School, West Falmouth, Mass. She is offering this year a course in diction and speech. "Pi Delta Phi" has as its president this year Katherine Read of McMinnville, Tennessee, and as its secretary and treasurer, Mary Lib Walston of Winston-Salem.

Junior Dramatics is under the leadership of Miss Frances Strathearn. Its president is Margaret Vardell, its vice-president, Mary Spotswood Coan, its secretary and treasurer, Dorothy Ann Myers, all of Winston-Salem.

FACULTY

Miss Jess Byrd resumed her teaching this fall. Of interest to alumnae, too, is the fact that "Snooks" Litz is an indispensable member of the Academy household. She does a little bit of everything, with no specific title. There are two new teachers, Miss Frances Strathearn, a native of California and a graduate of the University of Southern Carolina, teaches history and directs the "Harlequin Club." Miss Ethel Demuth, a graduate of Goucher College, with an M. A. from Radcliffe, is teaching post-graduate English and acting as secretary of the administration.

ACADEMY COMMENCEMENT PLANS

About Commencement and class reunion plans: Salem Academy has recently adopted a specific reunion schedule. Each class will have a reunion the first, second, and third year following its graduation. Then will come the fifth-year reunion, held five years after the graduation date, and thereafter a reunion each ten years after graduation date.

This means that this year the classes returning are limited in number, but will increase as Commencement time comes each year until the full schedule is in effect. Classes which will hold reunions this year, Commencement 1936, are 1935, 1934, 1933 and 1931.

HELP WANTED!

Early in December cards were sent to 1100 Salem College graduates of the classes of 1901 to 1935. Thus far only about 13% have been filled in and returned.

The College is eager to hear right away from every alumna to whom a card was sent, so that our files may be kept up to date. You may have no husband, no children, and no job, but Salem wants to know where you are and in what you are interested. If you have lost your card, write for another; if you have forgotten to fill it out, do so now and mail it in to us.

"Here and There" Among the Alumnae

CLASS REUNIONS COMMENCEMENT 1936

Splendid interest is being shown in reunion plans for this coming Commencement, May 30th to June 1st.

The "Dix Plan," adopted by the Salem College Alumnae Association in 1924, has proved an acceptable one, providing as it does for the return of specified classes in specified years. Under this Plan the following groups will return for Commencement this year:

1910 - 1911 - 1912 - 1913
1929 - 1930 - 1931 - 1932

In many cases members of the classes residents in Winston-Salem have been appointed by the President of the Class to act as "Class Agent" for Commencement plans. This issue of the "Alumnae Record" contains information received thus far from individual members of the classes. The March issue will contain further information and definite statements regarding reunion plans.

1871-1872-1873-1874

You are our "Honor Guests." The Alumnae Office would appreciate letters from you for publication in the March issue of the "Alumnae Record." Please let us know whether or not you can be with us for Commencement and please tell us all about yourselves.

1886

You are the "Jubilee Class" of Fifty Years ago. It has always been customary for the "50th year" and the "25th year" classes to hold reunions. We hope to have heard from all members of "1886" before the publishing of the March issue of the "Alumnae Record."

1911

The class of "1911" has a two-fold reason for returning, namely the fact that the "Dix Plan" brings it back this year and the fact that it will celebrate its 25th anniversary by returning.

1935

Of course "1935" will be back at Salem 100% strong. After a whole year away from Salem's ivy-covered walls, they can't possibly refrain from coming back to tell us of their experiences out in the wide, wide world. Members of the class interested in returning should get in touch with the president or secretary.

ON THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

In spite of particularly stormy weather over the week-end of February 7th to 10th, "Home Coming" and the "Alumnae School," held in connection with the "Salem Day" celebration, were outstanding events.

Visiting alumnae arrived on Friday the 7th in time for the "I. R. S." dinner and were honored guests at a central table with Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler, Miss Grace Lawrence, and Miss Katherine Riggan. That evening they were invited to attend the Winston-Salem Branch Association meeting in the Library. Miss Lelia Graham Marsh, member of the class of 1919, was speaker of the evening, bringing to the group in her delightful manner a discussion of the relationship of the alumnae to their Alma Mater and of the Alma Mater to her alumnae. Miss Marsh is now secretary to the Dean at Sweetbriar College in Virginia. Two musical selections added to the occasion, one, a vocal solo by Miss Mary Mills of the senior class, the other a piano solo by Miss Virginia Thomas, also of the senior class.

Election of officers for the ensuing year gave Mrs. William Hoyt (MIRIAM EFIRD), the responsibility of president; Mrs. S. D. Craig (RUTH CRAIG), that of vice-president; and Mrs. Ashley S. Johnson (ELEANOR WILLINGHAM), that of secretary. Alumnae were delighted with the large "Salem Family Album" which Miss Elizabeth Jerome had made, showing therein photographs of present day Salem students with their Salem-Alumna mothers and grandmothers, the pictures on some pages indicating attendance at Salem of five or six generations. Following the session in the Library, the group adjourned to Main Hall for refreshments. During the summer Main Hall was beautifully redecorated and refurbished through the interest and devotion to Salem of Mrs. Robert Shore of this city. The redecorating was done by Miss Ada Allen, interior decorator, an alumnae of Salem and a resident of Winston-Salem. On the walls of the main salon are beautiful "Old Salem" murals painted by Miss Allen and Mr. Gene Noxon of New York. Walls along the corridors north and south are tinted a soft gray; antique furniture and pictures here and there add an attractive touch, together with the beautiful old chandeliers. Alumnae of former years cannot adequately picture the change made possible by Mrs. Shore's gift; any description is quite inadequate; only a visit to Salem to see for oneself will suffice.

On Saturday morning alumnae visitors were the guests of Salem Academy at breakfast. Following a tour of the beautiful Academy buildings,, they gathered around the large fireplace in the Social Room and listened to Dr. Rondthaler's account of college and academy life. From ten to eleven they visited college classes, making their own selection of subjects; from eleven to twelve they attended Chapel in Memorial Hall and heard a splendid address by Dr. Hugh Lefler of the University of North Carolina on the "History of Woman's Education in North Carolina." A group of songs by the College Glee Club, under the direction of Mr. Ernest Schofield, was a feature of the Chapel service. From twelve to one they again attended college classes, afterward enjoying a buffet lunch in the "Lizora Fortune Hanes" Home Economics Practice House. This was served by students in the department. Saturday afternoon was free for visiting or shopping.

Saturday night, alumnae were invited to attend the dinner given by the Seniors in honor of the trustees of Salem College and Academy. This was a happy occasion, carrying out in motif a delightful children's party with the dining room and tables cleverly decorated with toys and with a student-children's orchestra playing delightful Mother Goose tunes. After dinner coffee was served in Main Hall. From here alumnae went to a music recital, in Memorial Hall, and from thence to a party in their honor in the social room of Alice Clewell Building.

Sunday brought the experience, new to many alumnae, of cafeteria breakfast in the college dining hall. A special invitation was given to attend Dr. Rondthaler's Sunday School broadcast and to attend services at the Home Moravian Church. Following dinner at the college, they enjoyed after-dinner coffee at the President's home.

MAY DAY

MISS JOSEPHINE REECE

"May Day" is the next outstanding date on the Salem College calendar. It comes this year on Saturday, May 2nd, with the pageant at five in the afternoon.

Miss Josephine Reece of Winston-Salem is chairman of all May Day committees, with Miss Libby Torrence of Gastonia, vice-chairman.

Preparations for May Day begin early in the fall. This traditional festival has become so renowned throughout North Carolina and nearby states that thousands of people come to Salem to see it. The woodland hill-side of the lower campus is a perfect amphitheatre for the crowning of the May Queen. This year the honor falls upon Miss Phyllis Clapp of Winston-Salem, with Miss Garnelle Rancy of Salisbury, as maid-of-honor. In the queen's court are Misses Marianna Hooks of Wilson, Helen Jones of Fayetteville, Virginia Lee of Kinston, Cordelia Lowry of Bedford, Va., Julia Preston of Washington, D. C., Jean Robinson and Marjorie Robinson of Lowell, Sarah Thompson of Bluefield, W. Va., Helen Totten of Birmingham, Ala., Etta Burt Warren of Trenton, Cornelia Wolfe of Charlotte, and Dorothy Wyatt of Winston-Salem.

 DRAMATICS

During the first semester of this college year, Salem watched the progress of its first Dramatic Production Class under the direction of Mrs. Ora Downs. Mrs. Downs' training, received at the University of North Carolina, her interest in dramatics in general and her own enthusiasm in plans for the class made of the new subject a most appreciated addition to the curriculum. The class in Play Production learned the theory of stage design, lighting, costuming; the secrets of effective pantomime; the art of make-up; the appreciation and judicious selection of actable plays. The miniature stage models, nicely scaled and painted, of the students were evidence to their interest; the production in chapel of an amusing and charmingly acted comedy by the students, proved that Salem had a practical and well-applied course of study in the production of plays.

During the first semester the Pierette Players, for twelve years, Salem's drama sponsors, retired to the background while the Dramatic Production Class made its energetic start. It is planned, however, to have the Pierettes become active during the spring in collaborating with the class in their more ambitious plans. Their first work together will be the one-act play for entrance in the Winston-Salem Dramatic Tournament which was won last year by the Pierettes. Should Salem win again this year and next, the Pierettes will be privileged to keep the tournament cup now in their possession.

Since Freshmen have rarely had chance to prove their histrionic abilities the Freshman Dramatic Club was organized. During the fall this group presented one play in chapel which proved there was real talent among them. The group has a large membership. During the second semester ten plays will be produced with members of this Freshman Club, each one under the direction of a member of the class in Dramatic Production and the supervision of the class teacher. It is hoped that this will give every Freshman a chance to express her interest in acting, and discover promising material for future Pierette Players.

Among plans for the Dramatic Production Class in which the Pierette Players will be valuable assistants, is the production near Commencement of a full-length play of real beauty and literary value by the best available talent, supervised in its details of staging by members of the class.

It is hoped that drama-minded students at Salem will soon have a laboratory stage on which to work. In the meantime their enthusiasm and willingness are solving the many problems of limited equipment.

Miss Isabel Wenhold, an alumna of Salem, is now in charge of all the dramatic work at Salem. Miss Wenhold has had an extended experience in play production, both as a student and as a member of a Little Theater Staff.

MISS GERTRUDE SCHWALBE

STUDENT SELF-GOVERNMENT

A report from Miss Gertrude Schwalbe of Bethel, Alaska, 1935-36 president of Student Self-Government, gives us a brief idea of the activities of this important college organization.

"The Student Self-Government Association has endeavored to foster a sense of individual responsibility in each student.

At the beginning of the school year, the Council met at Camp Hanes with Student Advisors for a brief period of orientation. We have retained our membership in the N. S. F. A. and S. I. A. S. G. so that we might keep in touch with groups in other colleges. The president represented our Salem organization at the National Meeting held in Kansas City during the Christmas holidays. We plan to send two delegates to the Southern Conference at Agnes Scott College this spring."

LIVING ENDOWMENT

Five years ago Salem was asking its Alumnae for $5,000 "Living Endowment." This year Salem is asking for $2,500. Why has the amount needed decreased? Because gradually through large gifts of trustees, alumnae, or friends of Salem our Permanent Endowment has been increased.

Permanent Endowment, however, has not yet reached its $500,000 minimum goal — the figure set by the Southern Association of Colleges — that is why we still need $2,500 (which represents the interest on the deficit in Permanent Endowment), in "Living Endowment."

Will you help out this year? How much can you give?

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Erika Marx of Nazareth, Pennsylvania, president of the "Y. W. C. A." tells us something of its activities.

"The Y. W. C. A. hasn't endeavored to accomplish anything very different this year but has tried to make effective every phase of its work. Student interest and participation in services, committee work and social affairs has been good. Each Cabinet member is head of a committee. The organization has reached and interested a very large number of girls through the committees and their respective work.

Attendance at Sunday evening Vesper Services has been gratifying. The Vesper Choir has added much to the spirit of worship. "Evening Watch" is a popular service.

Our group has co-operated with other North Carolina colleges in a drive for peace. On the week following Armistice Day, the "Y" presented a series of Chapel programs on the student relation to world peace. Bi-weekly a group meets to study the facts and phases of the question.

The Student Volunteer and Student Industrial groups have sponsored some very interesting speakers and have conducted quite a number of thought-provoking discussions. The "Y" is assuming this year the partial support of an orphan, "Fritz Pettuska," at the mission orphanage in Alaska."

MISS ERIKA MARX

MISS NANCY McNEELY

"I. R. S."

All graduates of recent years are familiar with "I. R. S.", the organization which sponsors and directs the social life of the students, in co-operation with the Dean of Women, Miss Grace Lawrence.

This year "I. R. S." has attempted to provide Saturday night entertainments for the students. These entertainments vary from an interesting lecture to a fascinating fashion show. Class parties are planned as well as events which include the whole college group. On George Washington's birthday, "I. R. S." entertained the Salem Academy Seniors.

Every Salem student is a member of "I. R. S." and its influence pervades all phases of the social life of the institution. Miss Nancy McNeely of Cooleemee is the president of "I. R. S." this year.

LIVING ENDOWMENT

In asking for your gift this year to "Living Endowment," Salem is not asking for a large contribution. Alumnae ask, "How much should I give?" Salem asks, "How much can you give?"

Contributions from $1 to $100 have been given by alumnae in the past for this cause; this means an average of about $6.00. Whatever the size of the gift, it is both needed and will be appreciated. It all goes to make up the total amount needed, $2,500. "How much can you give?"

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Miss McArn Best of Goldsboro, president of the Athletic Association, gives former students the following hints of the successful year which this important organization is enjoying.

"We consider that we had the best tennis season that Salem has ever had, due probably to the fact that we have six fine new tennis courts. Willena Couch of Winston-Salem proved herself Salem's best "Helen Wills Moody."

For the first time in Salem's history, we sponsored a fall Horse Show. Cordelia Lowry was recognized as the most skillful rider.

Hiking got quite a few girls up for an early morning tramp. Archery and Golf helped to improve the luncheon and dinner appetites. We are indeed proud of our new hockey field. This season ended at Christmas with the tournament which forced the Seniors to bow to their little sisters, the Sophomores. Basketball began immediately after Christmas and is now in full swing. Baseball, soccer, and volley ball come in March.

The spring Horseshow will be a big event, with a loving cup for the best rider. This together with the tennis cup is presented by Mr. Monty Cohen of Winston-Salem. Salem's best "mermaid" is selected at the Swimming Exhibition in the late spring.

Physical development is an important part of a college girl's life and Salem offers a splendid program of both group and individual sports. All that is needed to make the sports' program perfect is a new gymnasium. True, the "Hut" has happy memories for past Salem Girls, but present day Salemites hope for more substantial brick walls, ivy covered, in the future.

ON THE ACADEMY CAMPUS

CALENDAR OF EVENTS FOR SECOND SEMESTER

Alumnae will have many pleasant reminiscences in reading over the "Calendar of Events," remembering similar events in the past. Mid-semester examinations began on January 27th and ended on the 31st. Their "end" was celebrated by a delightful buffet supper in the social room, followed by a Square Dance.

On February 14th parents of the day students were entertained at a formal dinner.

On February 20th the first Academy piano recital was given.

The March calendar includes the finals in speedball and hockey with a banquet celebrating the end of the sport season; the sophomore class party; a formal tea; and most important of all, President and Mrs. Rondthaler's dinner in honor of the seniors.

In April comes Spring recess (4th to 15th); the junior-senior banquet; the final baseball game and the baseball picnic on the very last day of the month.

We begin May with the house party for girls who are planning to attend the Academy next year. At this time, for the entertainment of our guests, the "Mikado," the annual Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, will be presented. On May 9th comes a second piano recital; On May 23rd, the breakfast given by the seniors to the faculty; and thereafter, the week of final examinations.

COMMENCEMENT PLANS

Commencement begins on Thursday, May 28th with a riding meet at four o'clock. On that same day at 6:30 p. m. will come the annual dinner in honor of the present senior class and the reunion classes (1931, 1933, 1934, 1935). After dinner the alumnae will have the pleasure of listening to a piano recital by some of the advanced pupils and of seeing an exhibit by the Art Department and the Home Economics Department of work completed during the school term.

May 29th is a very full day. At noon comes the "Recognition Program" in Mary Patterson Auditorium. This program gives a delightful insight into the life of a Salem Academy girl and the various activities of the school, at the same time recognizing outstanding students in particular phases of the work. At five o'clock comes Senior Class Day in the Lower Campus, and thereafter the annual buffet supper which President and Mrs. Rondthaler give in honor of seniors, their parents and visiting friends. At eight-thirty, in Mary Patterson Auditorium, Academy Commencement reaches its climax in the simple, short, and beautiful graduation exercises of the seniors of 1936.

Definite dates have not been set for the Phi Delta Pi Club (Senior Dramatics), play and other similar events.

HONOR ROLL

Salem Academy's academic honor roll is made up of those students who have averaged 85 or more on all major courses and have not fallen below 80 in any single subject, major or minor. The following girls have attained this distinctive honor for the first semester: Eleanor Amos of High Point, Nancy Campbell of Bluefield, W. Va., Margaret Courtney of Winston-Salem, Dorothy Everett of Brevard, Anne Hanes of Winston-Salem, Sarah Hurlburt of Roxbury, Connecticut, Marian Johnson of Winston-Salem, Mary McDevitt of Charlotte, Bettie MacNair of Larchmont, N. Y., Dorothy Myers, Betsy O'Brien, Ann Pritchett, all of Winston-Salem, Barbara Shoemaker of Middletown, Ohio, Jane Tucker and Anna Bitting Whitaker, both of Winston-Salem.

Not only are we proud of the record of these girls in our student group, but also of the splendid college records which our graduates are making. Of last year's class of 27 students, 22 entered college this year. Reports from colleges as to the standing of fifteen of these, indicate that seven have continued to make the equivalent of our honor roll. We are justly proud of the outstanding work of our graduates.

"Some weeks before Christmas I received your letter telling of the reunion of my class, 1891, at Commencement. As I read over the list of class members I am taken back in memory to dear old Salem, recalling most of the faces of my classmates. I wonder how many I would recognize if I should meet them again.

It would give me much pleasure to attend Commencement and my daughter, Mrs. Ambrose Humphrey (MARY MILLER FALKENER, '29), and I hope to be there.

Now I am the grandmother of a precious little girl, Sara Elizabeth Humphrey. Since leaving Salem I have led a busy life, for awhile in Asheville during the ill health of my husband, and later and now in Goldsboro. I have been president of the local chapter of the U. D. C. and chaplain of the State Division, a Charter Member of the Woman's Club, and president of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church, I have also been president of our local Salem Alumnae Association. All this keeps me busy.

Members of the class and many others will hear with sorrow of the death of LOUISE SIDALL (1888-1892), teacher (1895-1902).

Miss Siddall was born in Winston-Salem, educated at Salem College, and later along musical lines in New York and Paris. She taught at Salem and at Winthrop Colleges and was a member of the National Guild of Organists. She was also successful in composition and her anthem, "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand" is outstanding.

At the time of her death in Sumter, South Carolina, she was taking an active part in Club and Church work, serving as director of a choir and of the St. Cecelia Choral Club. She was a great favorite not only with her own pupils, but with all children and it was while taking some children to a Christmas rehearsal that an automobile accident caused injury which later resulted in her death on December 8th.

Come one, come all to our reunion in May. How very, very happy it will make us to see each other again, talk over old times and share our present joys and sorrows with each other.

I am writing to each of you, but should you fail to get your invitation (?), just come on anyway. Let me hear from you at once so that in the next issue of The Alumnae Record we can have a 100% class history." — Mrs. J. T. Sevier, 209 Chestnut St., Asheville, N. C.

"—However, in spite of the short time I was a student there, memories of the school still linger. I hear occasionally from Mrs. Black (MOLLIE TUCKER), whose home is in California. During the winter months I have the pleasure of seeing Mrs. Leslie Clark (Lula McIntyre) in Dallas, Texas."

A MESSAGE FROM OUR ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION PRESIDENT

Dear Fellow Alumnae:

Back from a trip to South America and other interesting points of the compass, I find Salem the same beautiful and peaceful place, far more satisfying to the heart than any of the places visited. How proud I am of our Alma Mater! How deserving she is of the recently announced gifts which you will read about in this issue of The Alumnae Record. Last fall I was amazed at the beauty of Main Hall, after its renovating and redecorating, and now the dear old Office Building is to be remodeled in its interior to correspond with the date of its erection one hundred and twenty-five years ago. The new gymnasium! Salem has dreamed and dreamed of a new gymnasium. Now a building far surpassing those dreams is realized. Indeed, pick and shovel are already at work on the hillside and when alumnae return for Commencement, they will see the building actually under construction.

May Day was lovely. I wish all of you might have been here for it. A clever pageant, quaint Mother Goose costumes, the beautiful May Queen and her Court, the dancers, — all in the springtime background of Salem's outdoor amphitheatre in the Lower Campus, will long be remembered.

And now Commencement is just around the corner! It is "in" and "on" the air at Salem. Graduates in music are giving their recitals; new student leaders are taking their places in the life of the institution; rehearsals for this or that Commencement event, all make one realize its nearness. You will find the program on the cover page of this magazine. To alumnae in general and to reunion classes, "Alumnae Day," Saturday, May 30th, deserves particular attention.

The Alumnae Office reports much enthusiasm in plans for class reunions. I am so proud of the work of our organization. Many Branch Associations have met this year and their reports indicate fine work for Salem. I am so pleased with the splendid response to "Living Endowment." Dr. Rondthaler tells me that we are slowly but surely reaching the $2,500 goal. This is something in which each and every loyal alumnae can have some part. The Executive Board is so eager for it to be a big success this year since it is the first year in which the Alumnae Association has accepted "Living Endowment" as an alumnae responsibility. Perhaps we will be able to report 100% participation by May 30th.

All plans have been made for your enjoyment and comfort at Commencement. Rooms may be reserved in the college dormitory without expense and only a nominal fee will be charged for meals in the College dining hall. Special classrooms have been designated for Reunion Classes. So, all that is left for alumnae to do is to pack up and come.

Cordially,

MRS. JAMES A. HARTNESS (ANNIE SLOAN),

President, Salem College General Alumnae Association.

SALEM ALUMNAE MEETINGS

LEXINGTON

The Lexington Branch met on March 25th at the home of Mrs. George W. Mountcastle with Mrs. Brantley Finch (MARY PAYNE CLINARD), and Mrs. Claire Cuthrell (MABEL CLAIRE BROWN), as associate hostess.

Mrs. W. F. Brinkley (ELIZABETH HUDSON), was elected president; Miss Camille Hunt, vice-president; and Mrs. Ham Hargrave, secretary and treasurer. A plan was made for the organization to sell Salem plates, in the Wedgewood design, for Mother's Day gifts.

Miss Grace Lawrence, Dean at Salem, was present. Miss Katherine Riggan of Salem brought greetings, giving a delightful account of campus activities. Miss Phyllis Clapp, member of the senior class, played several piano selections which delighted those present. Her choice ranged from Brahms' "Rhapsodie in B-flat" to Malipiero's "Barlumi." All were artistically rendered.

CONCORD

MARGARET HARTSELL, president of the Concord Alumnae group, sends a report of their interesting meeting and encloses $7.00 which she says the group "collected as dues" and thought might be added to "Living Endowment."

The chapter met on Saturday, in April, at the home of NANCY LEE CANNON with Mrs. E. Farrell White (FRANCES RIDENHOUR), Mrs. Raymond Wilson (KATHRYN CARPENTER), and ADELAIDE FOIL as joint hostesses.

The president reported on the events of "Home Coming" at Salem. Mesdames Victor Means (MARY HARTSELL), H. G. Gibson (LAURA RIDENHOUR), and C. L. Smith (KATE GIBSON), read interesting articles from the college paper. The following officers were elected to serve during 1936-37: president, Mrs. Ernest Robinson (LOIS CRDWELL); vice-president, Mrs. Raymond Wilson; secretary, ADELAIDE FOIL; treasurer, SARAH CROWELL. Fifteen alumnae were present, including Mrs. Nan Cannon Stringfellow who was welcomed as a new member.

ATLANTA

The Atlanta Branch met at the home of Mrs. W. R. Prescott (SALLIE HUNNICUT), with her daughter-in-law as hostess, due to the former's illness.

This was the first meeting of the Atlanta group in several years and those present were delighted with Miss Mickey's message and with the moving pictures of Salem.

Officers elected for 1936 were Mrs. Thomas McGeachey (FRANCES FLETCHER), president, and Mrs. Benjamin Parker (LILA MALLARD), secretary.

DURHAM

Election of officers for the new year and speeches by Dr. Howard Rondthaler, president, and Mrs. Rondthaler featured the annual meeting and luncheon of the Durham Alumnae at the union on East Campus, Duke University.

Officers elected were Mrs. Deryl Hart (MARY JOHNSON), president; BESSIE GIBBES CHEATHAM, vice-president; Mrs. W. M. Upchurch (ESTELLE HARWOOD), secretary; and Mrs. W. M. Piatt (MARION SHEPPARD), treasurer.

Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler provoked a flood of memories among the twenty-four guests with talks on "Intimate Glimpses of Life at Salem."

Mrs. W. W. Rankin (ELLA LAMBETH), retiring president, received the guests and introduced the visitors. Mrs. Upchurch and Mrs. Helen Griffin Roberson gave splendid accounts of their visit to Salem's "Home Coming" in February.

Luncheon was served at a long banquet table, beautifully appointed, and decorated with two large bowls of jonquils, snapdragons, and callendula, carrying out the college colors, yellow and white. Views of Salem College were used as place-cards and a recent issue of the "Salemite," the college weekly, was given to each guest. Mrs. Rankin exhibited her collection of the Wedgewood Salem plates. Others present at the luncheon were Mesdames W. E. Griffin (CLYDE STIÖRE), T. E. Cheek (ELIZABETH TAYLOR), Edgar Hefflin (PATIE GORDON TURNER), Derwin Cooper (MARY NORRIS), Virginia Bagby (VIRGINIA GADY), C. E. Cook (ELIZABETH HOBGOOD), O. M. Brown (MARGUERITE DAVIS), Leroy Graham (ELSIE SCOGGINS), R. B. Yowdell, Horace Snow (SUE BLAKE SHEETS), and Misses BESS WHITAKER, BESSIE GIBBES CHEATHAM, and ELEANOR RANKIN.

FAYETTEVILLE

The Fayetteville Branch met April 17th at the Y. M. C. A. with Miss Mickey as guest speaker. Plans were definitely made to hold two meetings each year, instead of one as heretofore, and to assess dues.

Officers elected for 1936 were Mrs. N. B. Stevens (SADIE CHESSON), president; Mrs. Duncan Owen (MARY GWYN HICKERSON), vice-president; and Miss DOROTHY PINKSTON, secretary and treasurer.

Miss Mickey told of "Living Endowment" and the newly adopted idea of saving coupons for Salem. Following the business session she showed lovely colored moving pictures of Salem to members and to a group of high school seniors who were guests of the chapter for tea.

CITIZENSHIP HONOR

In the spring of 1934 the student representatives expressed the wish that some formal recognition might be made of those members of the student body who through their personalities and living made outstanding contributions to the Academy life, but who might not necessarily be in line for scholastic or athletic honors. Complying with the spirit of this suggestion the student representatives in the fall of 1934 created what is known as the Citizenship Honor.

This honor is based upon those qualities generally associated with a good citizen, honesty in class and dormitory life, attitude toward class work and school activities, regard for fellow students and faculty members, obedience to those in authority.

Election is held in the spring of the year. The members of each class vote by secret ballot for those girls in her class whom she feels live up to these qualities of citizenship. The faculty members cast their votes in like manner. The names of those girls who have received votes from over half the members of her class and a like per cent of faculty votes are approved by a committee made up of the principal, the two principals in residence, last year's honor girls, and the student representatives.

Those receiving the honor this year are Polly Guerrant, Callaway, Va., and Ann Hanes, Winston-Salem, freshmen; Dorothy Ann Myers, Winston-Salem, sophomore; Mary McDevitt, Charlotte, and Anna Bitting Whitaker, Winston-Salem, Juniors; Nancy Campbell, Bluefield, West Va., Sarah Hurlburt, Roxbury, Conn., and Ora Jones, Greensboro, Seniors.

She writes, "I would have written sooner, but as I am almost blind I must depend on others to write for me. My birthday was a very, very happy one. A number of my grandchildren, in-laws, children and other relatives gathered here. An important feature of the celebration was the reading of your letter. The pictures were passed around as the letter was read and they were greatly enjoyed by all.

Sometime ago I came into possession of a "Christian Observer" which had in it an interesting article about Old Salem. It certainly revived old memories of my school days there. My mother, Jane Hooks, also attended Salem. She lived in Alabama at the time. Two of my father's sisters also attended Salem and perhaps other cousins, as many of my people lived in North Carolina for awhile. Two of my mother's sisters, only a few years older than I, attended at the same time I did. They were Minerva and Josephine Hooks. There were also three neighbor girls who went with us from here. I expect more girls would have gone had it not been for the War."

A newspaper clipping, sent with the letter, tells us that Mrs. Ball came to Salem at the age of eleven and remained four years. She says that rope-jumping and croquet were the only diversions outside of study hours.

Mrs. J. T. Sevier (CARRIE ROLLINS), of Asheville has been corresponding with members of her class and reports that she has heard definitely from eight members of the class who will be here for Commencement. They are Jennie Anderson Anderson, of Mocksville; Julia Tuck Ashworth, of Selma, Ola White Blandford, of Dover; Sallie Boyd Hubbard, of Asheville; Margie Flake Miller, of Birmingham, Alabama; Mamie Barrow Owen, of Winston-Salem, Bessie and Kate Brooke of Sutherline, Virginia.

"I love to 'Live in the house beside of the road and be a friend to man,' therefore, I cannot turn a deaf ear to the 'Help Wanted' in the January Alumnae Record. Imagine my surprise, only last week, when I went to call on a new circle member, to find her to be 'Vivian Norton, 1902,' now Mrs. H. M. King, 1608 Morrison Avenue, Tampa, Florida. She is a near neighbor, we both belong to the same church and the same church circle, and with us is Georgie Rights, '99, Mrs.

Julian Efrid. It all goes to show that 'Birds of a feather flock together.'

Our church also boasts of two other Salem girls, namely, Mrs. W. P. Cullbreath, 1873-'75 (MINNIE ELLIS of Macon, Ga.), and Mrs. Paul W. Vance (MARGARET HARRIS, 1912-14). There are about twelve alumnae that I know of in Tampa. Possibly if I could ring the Salem College bell, I would find more here!

I am so glad to hear of Dr. Rondthaler's recovery. I was attending Salem when he was married. One of my most treasured possessions is my Biblical Literature book in which I did my best writing and rejoiced in the "Vide sine erratis" which the Bishop wrote at the end of lessons. I also have a birthday card which he gave me April 11, 1897 and when I graduated in '99, he remarked, "Little Amy, it won't be like Salem without a Burson here."

My father took my half sisters (who were older than my own mother), to Salem, part of the way by train and part by private conveyance. Their colored maids went with them. I used to wish that I too had a maid when I was eleven years old, in the 10th Room, and Mrs. Smith and Miss Lizzie Heisler used to take turns rolling up my hair at night.

1895-1900

Mrs. Robert H. Mickey (MARGARET KEITH), is now living in Charlotte. She has just recovered from a serious operation. For many years after leaving Salem she lived in the north and west. She has one daughter, Mrs. Frank Spencer of Winston-Salem.

A delightful letter from Mrs. Annie Vest Russell (ANNIE VEST), of 3202 McKinley St., N. W., Washington, D. C., gives us the following information about her sister Lelia and herself.

"Lelia and Annie Vest, sisters from Rural Hall, N. C., both taught for several years after graduation. Lelia married the late E. W. Russell, and for a number of years has devoted much of her time to church and home missionary work, especially work with children. Annie still likes to solve problems and in addition to being employed as a government auditor, has found time to complete a course in law, having received her LL.B. in June, 1935. She has recently passed the Bar examination of the District of Columbia and hopes to practice law. She has a young son, James Russell, who has discussed law problems and cases with her since he was eight years of age. If she never reaches the U. S. Supreme Court, she hopes her son will."

Gymnasium Unit

Construction

Architect's sketch showing Salem's new gymnasium and swimming buildings are shown as they will appear from the end, not the up the little stream, toward the ravine of the Pleasure Group swimming pool unit (right), by the arched span (center), which buildings and the new Academy buildings across the ravine.

A two-fold program announced recently for Salem College and Academy revealed the institution moving with the times, yet keeping roots deep in the rich traditions of the past.

A modern college gymnasium will be erected, while at the same time, the 125 year-old office building, a classic example of early Moravian architecture, will be restored to its pristine beauty.

Work on the gymnasium, which is to be located on the lower campus between the college and academy will be started after the May Day celebration, and restoration of the office building will take place at the conclusion of the commencement events.

The gymnasium is the first of a two-unit program, the second of which will be a beautiful indoor swimming pool. The two will be connected by a lofty arch span which, with approaching pergolas and steps will bridge the historic ravine and connect the college campus on the west and the academy campus on the east. It will be overlooking the Virginia Welch Athletic Field just south of the pleasure grounds.

This new gymnasium, designed for the use of both academy and college, will be the last word in construction. It is 102 by 80 feet and will contain all modern equipment for physical instruction, volley ball, basket ball and other sports. Commodious seating galleries will be

All lovers of the ancient Colonial architecture will rejoice over the proposed restoration of the 1811 President's Building which stands just opposite the Moravian Church and has for the past 125 years been a great favorite with artists and architects. From cellar to the second garret this building will be expertly restored, the plan being to include a stately restored trustees room and an alumnae office.

This building was erected when James Madison was President of the United States. It has been in uninterrupted administrative use ever since. Included in its priceless possessions are the records of students from the beginning. The financial accounts date all the way back to the days of pounds, shillings and pence before the Revolutionary War. Also there are early water color studies of plant life and flowers, embroidery patterns from a ool buildings, the first of which is now in process of erection. Both to a spectator standing on the Welch athletic field looking north. The gymnasium unit (left) will ultimately be connected with the its approaches will afford an elevated walkway between the College ample to take care of attendance upon sports events. There will also be shower rooms, lockers and an office for the director of physical education.

In addition to providing a suitable place for sports the gymnasium can also be used for social occasions such as pageants and other gatherings. At the present time the large parties are held in the gym now in use.

The floor space will total 8,160 square feet. The pergola approach will command the brook and forested grounds to the north and twelve-acre Welch Athletic Field to the south, the latter including tennis courts, baseball diamond, hockey field, golf course and other outdoor game provisions.

Those who are familiar with the magnificent trees on the lower campus will immediately think of what must be sacrificed to make possible the erection of this lovely two-unit building. The answer is a very happy one for no trees of importance must go. It will be recalled there is a huge elm at this spot. However, sometime ago the tree was struck by lightning and since then it has deteriorated losing one or more limbs each year. Expert tree surgeons, say it can last only a short time.

As will be noted in the sketch above, the pleasure ground stream, from the point where the span will cross it southward, has already been diverted to an underground culvert to make possible converting what was once a treeless meadow into the Welch Athletic Field.

RESTORATION

quaint and distant past; the safe used before the Civil War and which still contains crisp Confederate money used to settle student accounts in the early sixties.

Beneath the arched basement still survives the secret hole dug under the cellar pavement where the jewelry and heirlooms of the girls were securely hidden when Salem was entered in 1865 by Stoneman's troops.

The quaint central stairway, of graceful Colonial effect, has been admired and the unusual wrought iron hinges and locks and the outside railings are always a source of interest.

Interior decorations, draperies and wall-paper will be skillfully restored, the work to begin immediately after commencement. One room designated for the entertainment of honor guests for the college will be completely restored in the style of 1811 using originals in its furnishings.

Johnsie Cameron and I have planned our trip together. She says to tell you that she is still Johnsie Cameron, has not changed one bit, is a full fledged, dyed-in-the-wool lawyer, but does not practice law. Her health isn't too good, but much improved since last year. You remember Sadie Smith. She lives in Central America. Her address is Mrs. Jack A. Bates, Santa Ana, Salvadore. She spends her summers with her mother and Daisy Lee in Albemarle. I hope we can get in touch with Hazel Thomas. You remember she was a special in our class. She lives in Florence, S. C. As for me, I have two children, a grown daughter in Washington and a young son, five years old. Last month while visiting my sister in High Point, I had a visit there of a few hours and can truthfully say it was one of the happiest I have spent in many a day. Everything looked very familiar, especially the office—a bit of personal romance, if you will pardon it—when I was there we had our dates at the office. Miss Riggan showed us about and proved a perfect hostess, letting nothing of interest go by without calling our attention to it. Regardless of the many wonderful changes and improvements that have come, there remains that atmosphere of sacredness that grips you as you pass within Salem walls. I missed many familiar faces, especially dear Bishop's, but I was glad to see Miss Elizabeth Heisler, whom I had lived with at "the cottage." The Oxford-Henderson-Warrenton-Louisburg Branch met in Henderson on April 15th, at the home of Mrs. J. P. Zollicoffer (JULIA BRYAN JONES). Mrs. S. E. Jennette (ANN TYSON), was re-elected president; Mrs. R. T. Upchurch (MARIA PARRIS), secretary.

Miss Mickey was speaker of the afternoon and delighted the group with her news of Salem. Eleven members were present.

MOUNT AIRY

Mount Airy Alumnae met at the Blue Ridge Hotel on April 30th with fifteen of its twenty-five members present. Guests and speakers were Mrs. James A. Hartness, President of the Salem College Alumnae Association and Miss Mary Louise Mickey, Field Secretary. Both brought messages of interest and importance to the Chapter. A special committee was appointed to take charge of the "Coupon Campaign."

Officers elected for the coming year are president, Mrs. Ethel Porter (ETHEL THOMAS); vice-president, Mrs. Joe Gwyn (BLANCHE HOLT); secretary and treasurer, Mrs. P. H. Haskins (BELLE GRAVES).

ASHEVILLE

Mrs. Theodore F. Malloy, retiring president of the Asheville Alumnae, reports a very interesting meeting of that group shortly after "Salem Day." Mrs. Frank Johnson (HANNAH WEAVER), was elected president for the coming year.

GREENSBORO

The Greensboro Branch met at the home of the president, Mrs. F. J. Blackwood, Jr., at 7:30 p. m. April 24th. Attendance was excellent.

During the business session "Living Endowment" and the "Coupon Campaign" were discussed and accepted as responsibilities of the Chapter. Miss ELIZABETH LEAK was elected president for the ensuing year.

A special feature of the evening was a brief piano recital by Miss Wilda Mae Yingling, candidate for the B. Mus. degree at Salem. This was greatly enjoyed. Moving pictures of the College and the Academy were interesting to members and to invited guests, which included girls interested in Salem for next year and their mothers.

ACTIVITIES OF OUR FIELD SECRETARY

Mary Louise Mickey, our Field Secretary, reports interesting visits with alumnae in Georgia, Florida and Alabama during February and March, and a good meeting of the Atlanta Branch Association. April found her north for a short time and while there she attended a delightful luncheon at the Ambassador Hotel, given by Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bahnsen and their daughter, Betty Bahnsen, of Winston-Salem. Their guests were girls and parents in the Metropolitan area who are interested in Salem Academy or Salem College and also the parents of students now enrolled at Salem. Mrs. Henry C. Pfohl (Elizabeth Rondthaler), represented the New York Branch Association, of which she is president. Miss Mickey showed moving pictures of the campus life and the guests expressed delight in being able under such pleasant circumstances to meet Mr. and Mrs. Bahnsen and their daughter (trustee, alumna, and student of Salem, respectively), and of being afforded this opportunity to learn more about Salem.

Miss Mickey attended a similar occasion in Philadelphia, when Mrs. Gilbert Fry (MARY MCKELVIE), president of the Philadelphia Branch Association, entertained at a tea at Whitman's, affording parents and girls interested in Salem the opportunity of meeting Mrs. Howard Rondthaler, who was then visiting relatives in the city.

"LIVING ENDOWMENT" HONOR ROLL

Salem College appreciates the contributions of alumnae to the "Living Endowment." With the acceptance of this cause as an alumnae responsibility, increased interest has been evidenced and it is hoped by the Alumnae Executive Board that by May 30th, when a final report is made, each loyal alumnae will have had a part in this good work for Salem.

If your name is not on this list, let us put it there. Pledges from Salem Alumnae are as good as cash contributions! Your Class and your Alumnae Chapter gets credit for your contribution. We are near the $2,500 goal; let's get there by May 30th.

ON THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

Cortlandt Preston, our new Salem College Publicity Director, tells us that over five hundred persons visited the Campus during the summer months. Of these more than a hundred were alumnae. Some of them were just passing through Winston-Salem and stopped in to see their Alma Mater; others brought with them grown-up daughters and sons to see the college; others proudly brought their little children for the college to see.

Be this as it may, there was plenty to see at Salem! Those coming in the early summer found carpenters and painters busily at work "making over Salem;" those coming in the late summer found the buildings and grounds all ready to welcome new and old students on opening day, September 16th.

Now, to tell the remaining two thousand Alumnae Record readers who couldn't visit us this summer all about it! Let's take a trip around and see the Campus sights.

THE OFFICE BUILDING

Any alumnae living can say, "Yes, that was there 'in my day.'" Under the supervision of Miss Ada Allen, interior decorator of Winston-Salem, and an alumna of Salem, this quaint, old building on the corner of Salem Square has been renovated and refurbished in such a way that it is a perfect replica of itself in 1811 and is at the same time a useful and comfortable office building for Salem College and Academy.

The aim of the decorator was not only to recreate the atmosphere of the early 19th century, but to do so in such a manner that every room and every piece of furniture in the house would be adapted to modern use and comfort. The high white chimney shelf which shows in one of the pictures on the cover page was easily traced after the unsightly fireplaces of more modern making had been torn away.

Fifteen of the original wrought iron locks have been replaced on the doors and the H and L hinges have been brought to light by removing many coats of paint which formerly hid them.

Imported wall paper of antique design is enhanced by quaint pictures, many of them the work of Christiana Kramsch, daughter of Samuel Kramsch, "inspector" of Salem Academy in 1802. He and his family were the first to occupy the "Inspector's House," as the Office Building was then called. An old hair-wreath illustrates the early arts of Salem, and a copy of the long out-of-date "Rules of Salem Female Academy" serve to amuse parents and students waiting in the parlor. To the left upstairs is a large Trustees' Room. In it is a beautiful old table, chairs, and in one corner a high, flat-topped desk which belonged to Dr. Emil de Schweinitz, president in 1848. On the walls are crayon portraits of the ten presidents of Salem Academy and College. These are the work of Mrs. Mary Fries Blair.

One gets an idea of the charming guest room from the picture. The old Academy beds, used in the days of "alcoves" have been lengthened and the original straw mattresses have been replaced by more comfortable ones, and parents who come to visit Salem students will enjoy modern comfort in surroundings of the 1811 period.

In the President's Office is an old secretary and on his desk an old lamp, long used by Bishop Rondthaler. Three circular mirrored chandeliers, the first electric fixtures in the Salem community church, are hung from the ceiling in three rooms. Nothing has been bought new for a place where something old could have been made to serve. It is the same building with much the same furniture that was in it in 1811, yet it is serving the purpose of a modern Office Building.

MAIN HALL

Next we will step across to Main Hall. In the summer of 1935 much was done to restore the beauty of this building, under Miss Allen's artistic direction.

Beautiful murals of Old Salem greet the visitor in the wide entrance salon. This summer several offices and classrooms have been refinished and refurnished. Directly opposite the main entrance is a beautifully furnished parlor, the office of the Director of Publicity. Here Miss Cortlandt Preston, graduate of Salem in 1935, waits to serve alumnae and other visitors. To the right and adjoining this office is the new Alumnae Office, headquarters of Miss Mary Louise Mickey, Field Secretary. Adjoining this is the office of the Registrar, Miss Marian Blair. To the left of these rooms is the Sociology classroom. Students in the Department of Education will need to venture down around the corner to the right to find the new headquarters of Mr. McEwen and Miss Marks in the rooms vacated by the registrar.

Interior scene of the new parlor in Main Hall. Here alumnae, parents of students, and other visitors are greeted and made welcome to Salem by our new Publicity Director, Miss Cortlandt Preston. Old catalogues, old annuals, and other material of interest to alumnae, as well as a complete file of alumnae names and addresses, are located in this parlor and the adjoining office of the Field Secretary, Miss Mary Louise Mickey.

THE GYMNASIUM

This is indeed a dream coming true! Down at the southern end of the "Lower Campus" or "Pleasure Grounds," the new gymnasium is rapidly nearing completion. The exterior of the building is in keeping with all of Salem's distinctive architecture; the interior fulfills in every respect the requirements of a modern gymnasium. A playing floor forty by eighty feet in the clear, with ample width for double practice courts crosswise, is flanked on the west side by bleachers built to accommodate 500 persons. Locker and shower rooms are of the latest design, and fully equipped. The heating is modern, being achieved by a combination of steam radiation and forced circulation. Steel supporting rafters are high, giving adequate clearance even for indoor baseball. The ceiling is of panelled celotex, giving insulation beneath a flat roof. Subflooring is exceptionally heavy, three inches in thickness, on which is laid end grain oak flooring in short lengths. Abundant daylight is admitted on four sides through large windows; at night the illumination will be electric and shadowless.

The fact that the new gymnasium directly borders the athletic fields gives it an exceptionally strategic location with regard to the physical education program of the college. In fact, both the front portico and the brick corniced roof of the building are destined on account of their location to do good service as grandstands for the soccer and hockey fields.

Visitors are unanimous in acclaiming the structure as an unusually successful combination of two very difficult factors, namely: the structural requirements of an ample and up-to-date gymnasium and the architectural requirements of a building to be erected on Salem's campus.

THE SCIENCE LABORATORIES

A temporary frame addition to the Science Laboratories has been constructed. This addition is 24 by 28 feet, one story high with basement. The main floor is occupied by the qualitative, quantitative and physical chemistry laboratories and an analytical weighing room. All of the desks are equipped with gas, electricity, hot and cold water. The physical chemistry desks are equipped with compressed air in addition to the other equipment. The new addition is also provided with daylight lights and ventilating system. A new compressed hydrogen sulfide apparatus has been installed for the qualitative analysis course. The basement has entrances from the inside and outside and is used for storage purposes.

The laboratory formerly used for qualitative and quantitative analysis has been completely remodelled and renovated. It is now used for the new courses in physiological and biological chemistry.

A new office for the instructors has been made on what was formerly the porch on the west side of the building. All of the laboratories on the first floor have been painted in white with dark green floor and trimmings. Professor Higgins remained in the city for the most of the summer in order that the laboratories could be in condition for the fall opening.

A new standard, four cup anemometer has been added to the weather station equipment. The station is under the direction of Miss Janet Stimpson of the Science Department.

These are the greater changes on the College Campus. There have also been lesser improvements. Student and faculty rooms in the various buildings have been repainted and the Louisa Bitting Memorial Dormitory has been painted in exterior as well as interior.

Because of increased enrollment, it became necessary to again use as a dormitory, Lehman Hall, which was occupied last year by Mr. and Mrs. Schofield. It has been remodelled in the interior for this purpose and students living there find themselves happily situated.

Renovations in what is known to so many alumnae as Society Hall, have made two attractive faculty apartments, the one occupied by Dean and Mrs. Vardell, the other by Dr. and Mrs. Downs.

It is just impossible to tell alumnae of all the many changes and improvements. The best way to see them is to make plans to visit your Alma Mater sometime this year. Alumnae are always welcomed with open arms at Salem's portals.

CHANGES IN FACULTY PERSONNEL

It is with particular interest and pleasure that the School of Music of Salem College announces the appointment of Mr. Clifford Bair as Head of the Voice Department of the College. Mr. Bair is a singer and teacher who has had a most successful career, and his experience has been of singularly varied and valuable character. A native of Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, he attended St. Stephen's choir school in that city. He was a pupil of the eminent teacher Herbert Witherspoon of New York, later going to Chicago where he studied with Graham Reed, and Isaac van Grove. He graduated with the degree Bachelor of Music from the Chicago Musical College. Later on he spent a year and a half in Germany, where, at Breslau, he studied and coached with Hans Baron, of the Breslau State Opera. Returning to Chicago, he made his debut at the Studebaker Theater in 1931, receiving at that time a number of most complimentary reviews by the critics of the Chicago press.

As a teacher Mr. Bair has had a wide and successful experience, having been connected with a number of institutions of importance, such as the Columbia School of Music in Chicago, the Willard Institute of Music at Battle Creek, Michigan, and the State Teachers' College at Wayne, Nebraska, where he has been engaged for the past two years.

Edward Holder of Charlotte, B.A., Guilford College, 1925, M.A., University of North Carolina, 1929, replaces Miss Isabel Ferguson in the History Department. Miss Ferguson is studying this year in Washington, D. C.

Miss Ivy Hixson, of Augusta, Georgia, B.A., University of Georgia, 1928, M.A., University of North Carolina, 1932, will be assistant under Dr. Minnie J. Smith in the Department of Ancient Languages and Classic History.

Miss Helena Hermance, head of the Associated Charities of Winston-Salem, B.A., Agnes Scott, will offer a course in the Department of Sociology and Economics, assisting Miss Evabelle Covington. Miss Hermance has had wide experience in social service work.

Mrs. Elizabeth Meinung, well known to many Salem alumnae, becomes Head of the Department of Home Economics. She has had extensive training and experience in this field of work. She is a Salem alumna and has taught in the Department for several years. She has her Ph.D. from Columbia University where she did research work this summer.

Mrs. Meinung will have her office and room in the beautiful Lizora Fortune Hanes Home Economics Practice House. Here the students have ample opportunity to put their studies in this field to a really practical test by keeping house. Subsequent issues of the Alumnae Record will contain some splendid interior scenes of the Practice House. Assisting in the department is Mrs. Mildred Lee Ball of Madison, West Virginia, who will teach the courses in clothing and applied art. She comes to Salem with nine years of teaching experience. She holds the B.S. degree from Wesleyan College and the M.A. from Columbia University.

Miss Lucille Vest, B.A., Salem College, 1930, will teach French. She returns to Salem from several year's teaching experience at Moravian College for Women in Bethlehem, Pa.

Salem Academy News

ON THE ACADEMY CAMPUS

Never have we had at Salem Academy a group of boarding-students from such scattered sections of the country as is the case this year. They came from such diverse parts as Connecticut and California, Illinois and Southern Alabama. In addition to these states there are representatives from Kentucky, Ohio, New Jersey, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina, Georgia, and, of course, our usually large group from North Carolina. In both quantity and quality our student body is outstanding and we are, therefore, looking forward to one of the best years in the history of Salem Academy.

Three of last years' graduates have returned as post-graduates, Sarah McCanless, Margaret Courtney and Elizabeth Sartin. These, plus one more post-graduate swell the number of seniors to 34, the largest class in many a year.

In addition to post-graduate English which was added to the curriculum last year as a special offering to our fifth-year students we have this year courses in shorthand and typing (without credit). A course in costume design and interior decoration is being taught for the first time by Miss Sara Horton, new home economics teacher.

Perhaps you are wondering what has happened to Miss Virginia Wilson, she deserted us this year to become home demonstration agent in Granville County. Miss Carrington Shields, teacher of science in Salem Academy for the past two years is studying at Columbia University in the School of Journalism. Her successor is Miss Cam Rawlinson, A.B., Winthrop College, A.M., Duke University. Miss Edith Kirkland, A.B., Salem College is the new secretary, replacing Miss Ethel Demuth who resigned to go back into the teaching field. Mrs. Robert McCuiston, A.B., Wellesley College is teaching post-graduate English and the typing and shorthand courses are under the direction of Miss Brona Nifong, assistant secretary in Dr. Rondhaler's office. We have assisting us in our athletic program Miss Beth Hatch, a graduate in physical education of Oberlin College.

This completes the list of new additions to the faculty group; there are plenty of the old-timers still left who can assure alumnae of a hearty welcome when they come back to see us.

OFFICERS OF STUDENT ORGANIZATIONS

Recent Academy graduates particularly will be interested to learn who of the present student body is filling this or that important office in the life of the school.

"HERE AND THERE" AMONG THE ALUMNAE

ALUMNAE EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETS

The Executive Board held its semi-annual meeting on October 30th at a beautifully appointed luncheon served in the recreation room of the Louisa Wilson Biting Building. Twenty-four members were present and much business of interest and importance was discussed.

Mrs. James Hartness, president, had charge of the session. The report of the last meeting was read by Mrs. Charles Fogle, in the absence of Mrs. Eugene Stephenson, secretary. Miss Adelaide Fries gave a report on scholarships; Miss Elizabeth Jerome reported the good results of the "Coupon Campaign" asking the continued interest of the Board; Miss Cortlandt Preston told of her work as publicity director; and President Rondthaler stated that "Living Endowment" would need to be used again this year to fulfill endowment requirements. The Board voted to accept this as an alumnae activity.

Dean Vardell, of the School of Music, told of plans for concerts to be given by the College Glee Club under its director, Clifford Bair. Mrs. Hartness read a telegram from Miss Nancy Cox, president of the Raleigh Branch, asking the Glee Club to make its first recital appearance there.

Two important business matters discussed at the meeting were the matter of alumna dues, as voted upon at the general alumnae meeting at Commencement, and the matter of constitutions for the Branch Associations. As planned in June, dues will be $1.00 per year. Fifty cents of this will go to the Alumnae Record, twenty-five cents to the general alumnae association, and twenty-five cents to a Branch Association treasury, where such Branch Associations are organized. Full information of this important matter will be sent by letter to all alumnae within the next few days. The committee in charge of preparing a constitution for the Branch Associations, as voted upon by alumnae at Commencement, presented the outline of the constitution as drawn up. This was accepted by the Board and Miss Mary Louise Mickey, chairman, was asked to send copies to the president of each Branch Association. Miss Marian Blair, registrar, spoke of another matter of importance to alumnae, namely the vocational records which she is keeping and in connection with which questionnaire postcards are being sent to all Salem College graduates. Alumnae are urged to use the return cards by return mail, so that our records will be up-to-date in all respects.

Committees appointed by Mrs. Hartness to serve at Commencement were nominating, Mrs. Emil Shaffner, Winston-Salem, chairman, Mrs. Norman Stockton, Winston-Salem, and Miss Susan Calder, Charlotte; program, Miss Nancy Cox, Raleigh, chairman, Mrs. Malloy Davis, Winston-Salem, and Miss Margaret McLean, Lumberton; decorating, Mrs. B. S. Womble, Winston-Salem, chairman, committee to be appointed by her.

CORTLANDT PRESTON BECOMES PUBLICITY DIRECTOR

Alumnae will be interested in the appointment of Cortlandt Preston, B.A., 1935, as Salem College Publicity Director and Custodian of Records. Miss Preston claims many associations with Salem, other than her own attendance and graduation. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Stonewall Jackson, prominent Salem alumna. She is the sister of Mrs. Emil Shaffner (Anna Jackson Preston, 1932), for several years Field Secretary of Salem College.

In addition to her work as indicated above, she will become a member of the news staff of the Alumnae Record.

JEAN ROBINSON WINS DISTINCTIVE HONOR

Classmates and friends of JEAN ROBINSON, B. Mus. graduate, 1936, will learn with delight of her recent achievement in winning one of the fellowships in music of the Julliard School of Music, New York City.

Miss Robinson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Robinson, of Lowell. She was a piano student at Salem under Dean Charles G. Vardell, Jr. He takes especial pride and interest in the fact that she is going to Julliard because he did graduate work at the same school when it was known as the Institute of Musical Art. It was then and is now recognized as one of the most outstanding schools of music in the United States.

Miss Robinson was one of fifty contestants, winning the fellowship in competitive examination. It is a high and coveted honor.

PHYLLIS CLAPP GIVES RECITAL

News of 1936 tells us that PHYLLIS CLAPP of Winston-Salem is teaching at Marjorie Webster School for Girls, Washington, D. C., and further newspaper publicity tells us of her brilliant piano recital in Washington recently. Critics were unanimous in praise of her work and Salem's School of Music is proud to have helped in her training. She is a graduate with the Bachelor of Music degree.

BRANCH ASSOCIATIONS MEET

The Bethania Branch of Salem College alumnae met on April 23rd in the Congregation House. Miss Mary Louise Mickey, Field Secretary, was honor guest with Miss Virginia Thompson, member of the class of 1936.

Miss Mickey showed the delightful moving pictures of Salem; Miss Thompson presented several lovely piano selections.

Mention was made of the interesting fact that the Bethania Branch Association was the first to organize outside of Winston-Salem. Miss Emma A. Lehman began the work of this group on June 18, 1897. There were 16 Charter Members. Miss Kate Jones served for many years as president.

Officers elected for 1936-37, at a special business meeting held April 27th, were president, Miss Lola Butner; vice-president, Miss Alta Transou; Secretary and treasurer, Miss Emma E. Kapp.

The Mocksville Branch of Salem Alumnae met on May 23rd with Miss Mary Heitman, electing the following officers for the ensuing year: president, Mrs. Z. N. Anderson; vice-president, Miss Sarah Gaither; secretary, Miss Mary Heitman.

In a word contest on "Salem," Mrs. Alice Woodruff and Miss Louise Stroud won prizes. Miss Stroud delighted the group with two piano solos, "Polonaise" (Chopin) and "Etude" (Schytte).

Alumnae present were Mrs. E. L. Gaither (FLORENCE CLEMENT), who is senior Salem alumna in Davie County, Mrs. W. H. LeGrand (WILLY ANN BROWN), Mrs. Alice Woodruff (ALICE BOOE), Mrs. Z. N. Anderson (JENNIE ANDERSON), Misses SALLIE HANES, MARY HEITMAN, SARAH GAITHER, and LOUISE STROUD.

Last year's reunions were most successful, both in attendance and enthusiasm, and we hope for a big crowd this year. Members of these classes should begin making plans right now to come back. Subsequent issues of The Alumnae Record will contain more about reunion plans, together with up-to-date class histories, so don't miss reading them!

Salem students of the years 1877-1884 will learn with sorrow of the recent death of Mrs. J. T. Zorn, who survived her husband the ninth President of Salem College.

Rev. and Mrs. Zorn came to their Salem position in 1877 from the mission field of the West Indian Islands where they had served with great ability especially in the Island of Jamaica.

It was during their residence in Salem that important changes were introduced in the college. The senior class of 1878 was the first to receive diplomas at commencement. Musical graduation was also recognized for the first time. The work in Art advanced. Mrs. Zorn took an influential part. She is well remembered for her handsome dignity, her wide interests, and her loyal service.

In recent years, she has been affectionately cared for in her widowhood by her children who live in or near New York City, her home being in Yonkers on the Hudson.

Three daughters survive, known to Salem students of a former generation as Arnice, Emily and "Daisy" (Amy). The one brother, Jay, passed away earlier in 1936.

Salem College Library and the Alumnae Office Library is greatly indebted to Mr. W. A. Schuler of Dandridge, Tennessee, who recently sent several copies of a book of Poems by his wife, Anne Swann Schuler. She attended Salem 1887-1889. She passed away in New York City on January 27, 1936.

Her poems are dedicated to her mother, Victoria Graham Swann. Their titles suggest their interest and beauty: "Mother," "Life," "Lights," "Moods," "Good Books," etc. The book is nicely illustrated with pictures of her mother and father and of her home in Tennessee.

Members of her class at Salem will be interested in reading the book when they visit the Alumnae Office.

THE ALUMNAE RECORD

SALEM COLLEGE, WINSTON-SALEM, N. C.

A scene from the opera "Martha" by von Flotow of which an excerpt was presented this year by the new Salem College Choral Ensemble. The Ensemble, which is composed of fifty singers under the direction of Clifford Bair, head of the Voice Department, gave its first concert in Winston-Salem on December 10th, after which it appeared in Raleigh, N. C., at the invitation of the Alumnae Association of that city. (See page 3233).

Writing for the Alumnae Record is like cramming for an examination — the only difference is that instead of squeezing important things supposed to have been learned into a small mind in a couple of hours, an editor must squeeze important things that have happened into a small book on a couple of pages. How in the world can it be done?

We'll try to do it in the same manner as the Salem students try to study for mid-years—they hit the high spots and hope to goodness those will be the spots the teachers will ask questions about. We'll do the same and hope our high spots will appease all questioning alumnae.

CHRISTOPHER MORLEY AND LOUIS UNTERMAYER ON SALEM LECTURE PROGRAM

Faculty members of Salem College and Academy thought it high time we had some really famous men to play with in between hockey games and examinations so they arranged an experimental lecture program for the year 1936-37. A lucky choice of the first speaker was Christopher Morley, author of "Parnassus on Wheels," "Thunder on the Left," and many light poems. Mr. Morley not only filled the house on November 13th but he filled all the hearts in the house with delight with an informal talk which covered high-brow and low-brow poetry and his own head with glory.

On the heels of Chris Morley came Louis Untermeyer, anthologist and poet, whose collections are used in almost every high school in the country. Mr. Untermeyer told his audience on January 11 (in a humorous fashion), "What Americans Read and Why."

Both lecturers spent the night in our new little guest room in the office building and signed their famous names in the book. They were much impressed with the friendly spirit at Salem and, just listen to what Mr. Morley wrote, in his bread-and-butter note, after his visit: "Please know how grateful I was and am to you all; for all the kindness of President and Mrs. Rondthaler and the Blairs; for every gay and sweet look and gesture to the astonished alien.

Good luck to you all; as the Irish poet said, "A blessing trotting before and a blessing running behind" Yours Christopher Morley.

(By the way, it may interest alumnae to know that the town's-people of Winston-Salem are more or less clamoring at the gates of Salem to hear the speakers on the college lecture program — and if they keep on clamoring loud enough we can bring all sorts of fine and famous ones next year.)

SALEM DAY

Salem College will recognize Founders' Day this year on Thursday, February 4th. Appropriate exercises have been planned for the students in commemoration of this historic date of the founding of Salem, 1772.

However, in view of the uncertainty of February weather, the administration has decided that Salem Day is not an appropriate or practical time for the annual "Home Coming." This important event will take place this year in connection with May Day and it is hoped that alumnae interested will plan to return at that time. Further and specific announcement of "Home Coming" will be made in the March issue of The Record.

COMMENCEMENT 1937

Commencement dates for 1937 are June 5th through June 7th. Saturday, the 5th is Alumnae Day and Class Day; Sunday, the 6th, is Baccalaureate Sunday; and Monday, the 7th, is Commencement Day with the graduation of the class of 1937.

MISS A. AND MR. B.

Two of the best known people and two in whom all alumnae will be interested — at least all of you who have been at Salem since 1886 and that's a fairly inclusive all — are Miss Anna Butner, house-keeper emeritus, and Mr. Enoch Burrage, head carpenter for the college. We are dedicating this long-winded article in the Salem record to these two people who have dedicated so much of their time (Miss Anna fifty and Mr. Burrage thirty years), to Salem College and Academy.

Last fall Mr. Burrage celebrated his fiftieth wedding anniversary; and he and Mrs. Burrage were quite the toast of the college campus as well as the town. The couple held open house at their home on Academy Street and received approximately 200 of their friends during the afternoon and evening. They were presented with many lovely gifts among which were a set of Salem plates and a silver fruit bowl engraved 1886 B 1936 from Salem Academy and College.

Surely every Salem girl remembers Mr. Burrage. His carpenter shop is still located under Memorial Hall facing Main Street; and the little blue-eyed man with crisp grey-white curls has been for thirty years and still is one of the most sought-after persons on Salem campus.

MISS ANNA BUTNER

Miss Anna Butner, bless her white head and well-known "green-fingers," (green fingers mean that she can make anything bloom that is bloomable), is another one of the high spots we can touch on in this record because she celebrated a combination seventieth-birthday-fiftieth-year-at-Salem party on November 19th, and her name occupied columns in the Winston-Salem Journal-Sentinel as well as the Salemite for several days before and after. Like Mr. and Mrs. Burrage, Miss Anna received a great many presents from the college administration and friends; and so many different corsages were sent to the "sisters' house" on the 19th that the Salem flower lady was able to change her shoulder decoration every half hour during the afternoon, which she did with much ceremony.

Miss Anna came to Salem as a young girl fifty years ago, that is in 1866, the same year Mr. and Mrs. Burrage were married — and has been part of our heart ever since.

People often ask what it is that makes Salem College different from other schools — and now we will proceed to wax sentimental and sob-sistery. The invisible "they" described in this article are the answer. They are the real high spots in every Salem girl's memory after she graduates from the college. They are the people whom she hopes to find unchanged when she brings her friends and family back to Salem. And needless to say, they are the ones who remember the returning alumnae and are gladdest to see the "old girls" back on the campus.

After reading the above article you will doubtless guess the 1937 New Year's Resolution which has been adopted by the Alumnae Record writers. It is to make, if possible, the Alumnae Record readers cry homesick school-girlish tears when they read it and to challenge them to come back to see if it can be true what we say about Salem.

MR. ENOCH BURRAGE

NO MORE ART FOR ART'S SAKE

Art is now an accredited course in the Salem College curriculum, by vote of the faculty members who recently accepted it as an elective course toward the A.B. degree. Students taking the course for credit must attend classes at least twelve hours every week and are at liberty to come to the studio as many more times as they desire.

Mrs. Thomas Lynn Ogburn, art instructor at Salem, began her work here last year when the department was organized for the first time since 1918. Mrs. Ogburn did her graduate work at the National Academy of Design in New York. She offers to students courses in charcoal, antique casts, design, pastels, oil painting, clay modeling, water color, out-door sketching, fashion design, poster work and lettering.

The studio, located on the third floor of South Hall, is equipped with day-lighting facilities, easels, and drawing boards, and is open every day from 9:00 a. m. until 5: p. m. o'clock.

THE BAIR WENT DOWN TO RALEIGH TO SEE WHAT HE COULD SEE —

The Bair went down to Raleigh
The Bair went down to Raleigh
" " " " " "

And took girls fifty-three

" " " " " "

Were all that he could see.

So sang merrily the new Salem College glee club girls on their way home from the first out of town performance, under the direction of Clifford Bair, which took place in Raleigh, on November 12, 1936.

Mrs. Hartness, president of the General Alumnae Association, and Nancy Cox, president of the Raleigh Branch, were joint hostesses to the Salem girls, who, according to those attending the recital, looked and sang like angels with their white satin, gold-trimmed costumes, and their eyes turned up toward heaven. To make matters better they were accompanied by blonde Ann Nisbet at the harp! One of your editors was swelling with pride on the back seat of the Womans Club in Raleigh where the program was given (that "given" may be taken literally as the Raleigh concert was complimentary), and honestly expected the sweet young things to sprout white feathers and go swirling off toward the ceiling, caroling as they swirled!

The Salem Singers are available for other alumnae associations who wish to have them perform for special alumnae meetings. Presidents please get in touch with the Alumnae office at the college for arrangements and information. No ticket selling is involved.

DR. WENHOLD'S TRANSLATION PUBLISHED BY SMITHSONIAN

Dr. Lucy L. Wenholt, head of the Department of Modern Languages, B.A. Salem College, Ph.D. University of North Carolina, has recently translated a 17th century letter written by Gabriel Diaz Vara Calderon, Bishop of Cuba, to the queen of Spain in 1675. The contents of the letter describe certain territories and customs in Florida, Georgia and lower Carolina. This translation has been published by the Smithsonian Institute in Washington, D. C. and copies have been placed in the permanent records of the North Carolina State Historical Commission and the Florida State Historical Society. The original letter is now in the Archivao General de Indias at Seville, Spain.

"HERE AND THERE" AMONG THE ALUMNAE

ALUMNAE DUES

It was voted at the 1936 Commencement meeting of the General Alumnae Association to institute alumnae dues, the amount to be one dollar per year.

This will cover subscription to the Alumnae Record and will assist in meeting the expenses of the General Association. Any amount over necessary expenses will be added to the Alumnae Scholarship Funds. In communities where Branch Associations are fully organized, twenty-five cents per capita membership will be refunded to said Branch Association for its necessary expenses and its own Association Fund. To facilitate record-keeping all dues are sent direct to the Alumnae Office at Salem, refunds to Branch Associations being made at the time of their meeting.

Early in February circular letters with the call for alumnae dues will be sent out by this office. The March issue of "The Record" will contain an "Honor Roll" of those who have paid their dues. Let's make February 3rd a real "Salem Day" and February a real "Salem Month" by sending in dues promptly upon receipt of the solicitation.

The constitution recently adopted by the General Alumnae Association for use of the branches was read and discussed in relation to the activities of the Washington Chapter. Mary Louise Mickey also explained the recent decision of the association to collect one dollar yearly dues.

The meeting ended most delightfully with impromptu entertainment by Mrs. Paul Barkley, well remembered to her classmates as Mary Brewer, A.B. 1930, who has long been famous among Salemites for her skillful impersonations of camp personalities. A delicious salad course was served by the hostess and eagerly consumed by her guests amidst much laughter and merriment over the amusing antics of Mrs. Barkley.

RICHMOND

Alumnae were invited guests on Wednesday afternoon, November 18th, of Ginter Park Woman's Club to hear Dr. Rondthaler's address to the club concerning George Washington's southern tour. After the talk and a social hour the alumnae held a short meeting to discuss plans for re-organizing the Richmond branch. Mrs. Jay A. Vance was appointed acting chairman of the group and it was decided to have a meeting in January or early February. Those present greatly enjoyed talking to Dr. Rondthaler and reminiscing about Salem days.

BALTIMORE

A delightful luncheon was held Friday, November 20th at Hoeschild-Kohn's tea room attended by a large group of Salemites. The president, Mrs. A. Paul Brown (HELEN STREET), led in the discussion of business. New officers for the ensuing year include Mrs. Robert Reber (LAVERNE WATERS), as president and Miss Madeline Braun, secretary. Seated around a large table the members enjoyed an hour of informal visiting so welcome always when Salem girls get together.

HELP FOR BRANCH PRESIDENTS

As reports in this issue of "The Alumnae Record" indicate, several of Salem's Branch Associations have already met in the school year 1936-37. Others will meet during the early spring months. The responsibility of planning such meetings naturally rests upon the officers of the branch organization, but the Alumnae Office here at Salem is eager to assist in any way possible. Do you wish a representative from Salem this year? If so, write to the Alumnae Office and name a first and second choice. We shall try to fill your order.

Do you wish a list of the alumnae in your community? Do you wish materials such as annuals, catalogues, pictures, etc., from Salem? It takes only this office and Uncle Sam to bring them to you.

The address is Alumnae Office, Salem College, Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

All presidents of Branch Associations have been provided with copies of the Branch Association Constitutions as adopted by the Alumnae Executive Board. These should be carefully presented at the meetings this spring.

Mimeograph material concerning alumnae dues has been sent to all presidents. This matter should also be presented and discussed.

CLASS NOTES

Many alumnae have expressed their enthusiasm over our new way of editing class news. Salem hopes soon to follow the example of other colleges in appointing a class reporter who will keep in written touch with her classmates and report all news to The Alumnae Record. However, it will take some time to get all of the reporters appointed and at work, and we ask alumnae in the meantime to simply write us news about themselves without solicitation.

Mrs. Cicero Ogburn (EMMA KAPP), who worked so faithfully in promoting her class reunion last June, has sent us the following detailed information about members of the class, some of whom were present, others of whom wrote to her. There are twenty living members of the class of the thirty-seven original graduates.

MISS DAISY BROOKS, 705 N. Green Street, Greensboro, has been connected with various schools as teacher or dietitian, but has never found one to take the place of Salem in her heart. She wishes she belonged to the younger generation so that she might get her degree from Salem.

Mrs. Mary Clark Fain, Dandridge, Tennessee, hopes that friends passing through Dandridge on highway 70, Asheville to Knoxville, will be sure to stop to see her. She has two daughters, three sons, and one grandson.

Mrs. Carrie Ollinger Crenshaw, 26 15th St., N. E., Atlanta, Ga., writes that she is still interested in music. She regrets that she has not kept in touch with more of her classmates. She has one son who is a teacher of History at Washington and Lee University.

Mrs. Ollie Fain Franklin, Maryville, Tennessee, is the proud mother of a son who has been a missionary in Japan and has lectured with Dr. Sherwood Eddy. Her daughter and her preacher husband have charge of Christopher Neighborhood House in Chicago. Ollie has three grandchildren.

Mrs. Christiana McFadyen McLaughlin, Raeford, N. C. was in China at the time when Mrs. Ogburn wrote to her. She visited her brother who has been connected with a hospital in Hanchow for thirty-one years.

Mrs. Hessie Yancey Lonon, "Oaklyn," Marion, N. C., had planned to attend the class reunion last June but was prevented by severe illness.

Mrs. Ava Strop Massenburg, 122 Wharton St., San Antonia, Texas, has in her home a motherless grandson who is both a comfort and a care. Ava writes that she was in school at Salem for seven years and longs to see it again.

Mrs. Mary Wood Robeson, 1508 California Ave., Houston, Texas, has one daughter.

Miss Mary Stillwell, 1426 21st St., N. W.,

Washington, D. C., has been in the service of "Uncle Sam" for the last twenty-nine years. She was present at the class reunion.

Mrs. Edna Fisher Winkler, 3939 S. Acoma St., Englewood, Colorado, writes that she has three of the prettiest and brightest grandchildren possible. She loves sunny Colorado but gets homesick for Salem.

C.; Mrs. Frances Leak Boyd, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Annie Mae Schoolfield James, 811 Main St., Danville, Va.; Mrs. Manie Lewis Kerr, Unadilla, Ga.; Mrs. Florence Tise Kirkman, 237 S. Main St., Winston-Salem; Mrs. Lizzie Patterson Moffitt, Ramseur, N. C.; and Miss Tilla S. Lockton, 313 S. Main St., Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Annie Vest Russell, A.B. Salem, formerly of Rural Hall, now of Washington, D. C., has been admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court and the U. S. Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia. For the past two years Mrs. Russell has been busy as a homemaker for her little son, James, and as auditing clerk in the Treasury Department. She received her LL.B. from the National University Law School last June. She will continue her work with the Treasury Department though she hopes to make use also of her study of law.

Mrs. J. A. Burckel (PAULINE SESSOMS, 1903), writes: "I have just read with a great deal of interest the November issue of The Alumnae Record and I enclose my subscription for the next year with my change of address from Glen Ridge, N. J. to Greenville, Delaware. We moved in September but absorbing details of building a new home delayed me in notifying you. I hope to have a thrilling visit to Salem some day, when I bring my daughter down to College."

REUNION CLASS

Mrs. J. P. Reece (Josephine Parris), 655 N. Spring St., Winston-Salem, Reporter.

The Alumnae Record is indebted to Mrs. Josephine Parris Reece, vice-president of this class, for the interesting information that a beautiful portrait of the late Mrs. Celeste Henkel Smith, member of 1906, was unveiled on September 4th in the College Auditorium at Appalachian State Teachers College. The plate below the portrait bears the inscription: "In Memoriam, Mrs. Charles Lee Smith, nee Celeste Henkel, 1885-1935, devoted friend and trustee of Appalachian State Teachers' College." Mrs. Smith was home demonstration agent of Iredell County and later superintendent of County Schools.

"Thank you so much for your interesting letter and for the names and addresses of the class of 1909. I hope we shall have a wonderful reunion in June. Twenty-seven long years have passed since we left dear Salem to start our lives in the world! I was amazed and thrilled with the improvements on the Campus. Really, I can hardly wait for my Frances Jean to grow up and go to Salem."

Polly is living on Evans Street, Morganton, N. C., and teaching geography and general science in the grammar school there.

"E. P." (Elizabeth), Parker writes: "For the first time since I graduated, I am near enough and free enough to come to Salem for Commencement. Dear "Thirty-fivers."

Remember the famous California gold rush of the historic "forty-niners?" I venture to state that the reunion rush of the Salem "thirty-fivers" next June will be just as exciting and even more profitable!

When we graduated we boasted that at future reunions we intended to return intact and in toto. Let's show Salem that we're still women of our word. — Mary Penn Thaxton, President.

Members of 1936 will return to Salem for the first time as Alumnae. Although the class is not scheduled for a reunion under the Dix Plan, it is always customary to hold "first-year" reunions. We expect the class back 100% in attendance.

SHIRLEY SNYDER, ex-36, was married in May to W. E. Edwards. She lives on South Cherry St., Winston-Salem.

MARGARET WARD (WEDDELL) SALEM 1844

Grandmother of Argentine Ambassador

While Mary Louise Mickey was in Richmond, she heard from Mrs. R. L. Potts (MATIE LEE HAY), the interesting story of Margaret Ward, a Salem student of many years ago. We will quote extracts from information about her which her granddaughter, Elizabeth Wright Weddell of Richmond, has sent to us.

"The parents of Margaret Ward (later Mrs. James Weddell), were Dr. John Ward and Mary Phillips Ward of Tarboro, North Carolina. Margaret and Laura Ward were left orphans at a very early age and were taken care of by their guardian, Mr. Cameron, the father of the widely known Paul Cameron. These little girls spent much time at "Farintosh," the beautiful Cameron plantation near Hillsboro, N. C. When they were quite young they were placed in the famous Moravian School at Salem. Margaret as she grew older never forgot her years there and talked much of the place. She reflected its ideals in her religious and home life. Her taste for reading must have been developed there and she was a perfect housekeeper. Her sister, Laura, died of heart trouble at Salem, leaving Margaret entirely alone. One of the family treasures is a sampler which Laura made at Salem. Margaret was married to James Weddell, a native of Scotland. They lived for some time at Tarboro then moved to Petersburg, where the elegant hospitality of their home is still remembered by some of the older residents. There were seven children, three of whom died. The three eldest sons attended Hampden Sydney College and the University of Virginia. When the War between the States broke out these lads returned home to enlist in the Confederate Army. One, John A. was killed on the field of battle at Chancellorsville; another, Virginius L. was struck by the limb of a falling tree during the Seven Days Battle around Richmond and died a month later from a broken neck.

Margaret's husband died at "Melrose," Warrenton, N. C. just a few weeks before the surrender. This meant that she was left alone with her son, Alexander Watson Weddell. He entered the law profession after the War and lived in Petersburg with his mother. He was editor of the Petersburg newspaper and interested in politics, but the call to the ministry was strong and he entered the Theological Seminary at Alexandria, graduated and became rector of the Episcopal Church in Harrisonburg. Later he was rector of historic St. John's at Richmond. It was in the old rectory of St. John's that his mother died in February 1881. She was sixty-two years old. Ill health and blindness in the latter years of her life kept her at home a great part of the time, but she had a wide acquaintance and her rooms were always a gathering place for her many friends and the six Weddell grandchildren and her devoted son and his wife.

(After reading this charming story of a Salem Girl of 1844, it is interesting to know that Margaret Ward's grandson, Alexander Watson Weddell II, is now the Ambassador to the Argentine Republic and the owner of the famous old "Virginia House" in Richmond.)

"COUPON CAMPAIGN"

Salem alumnae seldom fail to go "over the top." Yet, if life were all successes, then what incentive would there be for more effort the next time? This is so with our "Coupon Campaign." We did not get in the twenty thousand coupons necessary to give us a 4% cash bonus on December 31st. But we are still hopeful of reaching the quota set for June 1st. All coupons should be sent in to Miss Elizabeth Jerome, Salem College.

Dr. Rondthaler and I wish to express our appreciation of the many Christmas Greetings sent to us by former Salem students. Each such greeting brings to us happy memories of the past with special reminiscences of the sender and her Salem Days.—Mrs. Howard Rondthaler.

CHRISTMAS IN REVIEW

There is grave doubt in the writer's mind that any girl who has once attended Salem Academy, is ever able to forget entirely some of the impressionistic phases of the Christmas celebrations. To most Academy graduates, I believe I am safe in saying that "Christmas at Salem," invokes a series of very definite pictures, and, also, that no matter how far removed by miles or years the one recalling these scenes to mind always feels something of the deep, heart-warming spirit which accompanies each event of this special season.

Christmas at Salem Academy was no less picturesque or beautiful this year. The season was ushered in by the lighting of the many-pointed star, in the front hallway of the Mary Patterson Building.

On the second Sunday before vacation, the students were privileged to hear Dr. Rondthaler read Dicken's "Christmas Carol," in his living-room before an open fire — shades of Marley's Ghost, but it was thrilling! The following Sunday, the faculty and students were invited to the unforgettable candlelight service of the college seniors in Memorial Hall. Most of you will probably remember that Dr. Rondthaler is the speaker on the Academy's vesper program which follows the college service. In accordance with his custom of giving us at this time some unusual phase of the Christmas story, Christmas giving, or celebrations, Dr. Rondthaler read a modern translation of the Biblical story of the Birth of Christ, written in verse form.

On the last Thursday, the Academy gathered in Memorial Hall to sing Christmas Carols in the medieval manner. The costumes were particularly lovely this year, and the weeks of practice in choral singing under the capable direction of Miss Dorothy Knox, were evidenced in the delightful interpretations of many well-known carols. You will remember that it is at this pageant the tableau of Corregio's "Holy Night" is presented.

Perhaps no more colorful celebration was ever held within these walls than was the dinner and party on that last Thursday night before vacation. The theme of this event was a Christmas festival in the banquet hall of a medieval castle, with Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler present as the Lord and Lady of the castle. The Christmas tree had been established in a corner of the dining-room, and underneath it were the customary putz and annual gift of toys for the mountain children. The girls kept on their pageant costumes, while the faculty (after searching in old trunks and poring over pictures in such volumes as "When Knighthood Was in Flower") also managed to appear in surprisingly appropriate costumes.

Thus passed another Christmas season, through which shone the light of the lovely stars so closely identified with the happy, sincere spirit of Christmas at Salem Academy.

ON THE COLLEGE CAMPUS

SALEM DAY

Salem Day witnessed a joyful celebration of a dream come true, for in this Founders' Day observance memories of the glorious past were overshadowed and nearly obliterated by the happiness of the present in the completion and dedication of the beautiful new gymnasium, which is, as President Rondthaler expressed it — "a dream come true."

Festivities began with a banquet in the college dining hall with students, faculty, and trustees the guests of the senior class. This was a gala occasion with an attractive program of "ye district school" motif as a background of entertainment. Following the dinner, all adjourned to the new gymnasium for the dedicatory exercises. Members of the Winston-Salem Branch Association were also present and held their meeting following the service. Bleachers in the gymnasium provided excellent grandstand seats for the spectators and listeners. The dedicatory exercises were brief. Mr. Agnew Bahnsen, chairman of the building committee, presented the new gymnasium in behalf of the donors to the Board of Trustees of the College and the Academy; Bishop J. Kenneth Pfohl, president of the Board, accepted the gift and in turn gave the key to Dr. Howard Rondthaler, who spoke appropriately of the gymnasium as the fulfillment of a dream.

An exhibition basketball game between college sophomores and juniors was staged and many alumnae, no doubt, found themselves in memory on the much-too-small court of the old "hut," known for many years as "little Gym."

Following the Winston-Salem alumnae meeting, which was held immediately after the dedicatory exercises, refreshments were served by the seniors in Main Hall.

Climaxing the celebration of Founder's Day came the two parties given in the gymnasium by the athletic association on Saturday. One was an informal afternoon reception for juniors and seniors and their escorts, the other was an evening reception for the entire student body with guests from Carolina, Davidson, Duke, and State present. Prior to the eleven o'clock intermission members of the Athletic Council and the Monogram Club, with their partners, executed an elaborate figure which ended with the formation of a large "S." Music for the occasion was furnished by Freddie Johnson and his orchestra from Chapel Hill. It was a delightful and notable occasion.

"HOME COMING" AT MAY DAY

In response to numerous suggestions and requests of alumnae, "Home Coming" has been set for May Day and a cordial invitation is extended to alumnae to attend this beautiful college occasion on Saturday, May first.

Because high school seniors have been invited during the past few years for this weekend, it has been impossible to issue a general invitation to alumnae to stay in the dormitories. Plans will need to be made well in advance to accommodate all those who will wish to come back. We are, therefore, asking you to write Miss Grace Lawrence, Dean, as early as is convenient, if you wish reservations in one of the dormitories.

We feel sure that the selection of May Day for "Home Coming" will be greatly appreciated and that a large group of alumnae will be present. It will afford an opportunity to those who cannot come for Commencement, but who can come for May Day, to see all the many changes at Salem, especially the new gymnasium and the beginnings of the new library.

View of the recently completed Salem College gymnasium as seen from the south. The tower will eventually mark the western entrance to an elevated walkway at the level of the roof, connecting the college buildings with those of Salem Academy, across the ravine. The large doorways give direct access from the playing floor within to the Welch Athletic Field adjoining.

FACTS ABOUT THE NEW LIBRARY

The building is to be located on the corner of West and Church Streets, just opposite Alice Clewell Building. It is to be of brick colonial design, following the lines of Salem's distinctive architecture, 102 feet long, 72 feet wide, providing space for 80,000 volumes.

Let us take you on an imaginary tour. The entrance is on Church Street directly opposite the Alice Clewell Building. It opens into a vestibule which faces the delivery desk. Behind this desk are shelves for reserve books, etc. On the right is the west wing, which faces Salem Square. This is the reading room and is two stories high. It will contain the current periodicals, bound periodicals and reference books. At the western end of the room will be a large fireplace with comfortable chairs and sofas grouped around it. On the side of the room is a French door leading onto a terrace equipped with tables and chairs for studying in warm weather.

On the left of the entrance is the stock room, which will be open to everyone. Across the corridor from it is the librarian's office, the catalogue room, and the work room. All the typewriting, mending, etc. will be done here and will not interfere with the reading room.

On the second floor over the catalogue room is a browsing room. This will be furnished just like a personal library in one's own home — a fireplace, sofas, soft chairs, floor lamps, etc. No studying allowed here, for there will be only new books, lovely old editions, etc. Across the corridor is another stack room.

On the third floor there is another stack room, a treasure room for scrapbooks, and other material relating to Salem, and rooms for student-faculty discussions.

The total cost of building and equipment will be $100,000. Over half of this sum has been subscribed by members of the board of trustees, members of the faculty, students, Winston-Salem alumnae, and interested friends. Salem counts on its alumnae for the remainder. This is a project in which each one is certainly interested and will wish to have a part. Contributions or pledges should be sent to the "Library Committee," Salem College, Winston-Salem, N. C.

LIVING ENDOWMENT

There will be no solicitation for Living Endowment this year. All contributions to Salem will be used for the Library project. If you were planning to make your annual contribution or pledge to Living Endowment, please send it in now to the Library Committee for this important need.

DATES ON THE COLLEGE CALENDAR

On Thursday, April 1st, spring recess ends and from then until Commencement Day, Monday June 7th, the college students are dated up for one occasion after another. Recitals of seniors in the School of Music are scheduled for Monday nights. During April the Glee Club will make three trips to give concerts at Lenoir, Salisbury, and Charlotte. New officers in Student Government and the Y. W. C. A. will be installed on April 22nd and 25th respectively.

Saturday, May 1st, is May Day and "Home Coming" for alumnae who wish to visit their Alma Mater at that time.

The commencement season begins on June 3rd with the traditional service of transfer of Cap and Gown at college chapel.

Saturday, June 5th, is Alumnae Day with class reunions from 11 a. m. to 12 noon; annual alumnae meeting in the library; and the alumnae luncheon in the dining hall. In the afternoon the cornerstone of the new library will be laid and the seniors will present their class day exercises. The annual commencement concert will be given that night in Memorial Hall. Sunday, June 6th, is Baccalaureate with morning service in the Home Moravian Church and Senior Vespers in the late afternoon on the Campus.

Monday, June 7th, ends the commencement season with the graduation exercises in Memorial Hall of the class of 1937.

DUES

Several alumnae have asked why, after our promise in the last issue of The Record to send out notices, we have not done so. The answer is twofold. First, we want the Library project to be your first consideration this year. Give to it and if there is anything left, pay your alumnae dues. Secondly, we want a more widespread knowledge among alumnae about dues. One after another, Branch Associations have held their annual meetings and a representative from the college has been given the opportunity to tell those present about the Amendment to the Constitution of the General Alumnae Association in respect to dues. By May first all meetings will have been held, and a majority of the alumnae will have accepted the idea of annual dues. Then the notices will be sent out. Dues are $1.00 per year and include a 50c subscription to the Alumnae Record. They can be paid direct to the Alumnae Office here or, if you belong to a Branch Association, to the treasurer of that organization. It isn't necessary to wait for the notice May 1st; if you wish to get the matter off your mind and the dollar out of your pocket book, do so at any time. If you have previously paid for your subscription to The Record, then the balance due is only fifty cents.

"HERE AND THERE" AMONG THE ALUMNAE

BALTIMORE

The Baltimore Branch reports a luncheon meeting held in November at Hochschild Kohn Tea Room. Mrs. Paul Brown (HELEN STREETT), had appointed Mrs. R. M. Reber (LEVERNE WATERS), as chairman of the luncheon and it proved to be a delightful occasion. Those present were Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Reber, Mrs. N. R. Walker (CHRISTINE CRAWFORD), Mrs. Eugene Edgett (PRISCILLA STREETT), Mrs. F. McGinley, Miss Dorothy Stuart, Mrs. Kuhn (LITTLE SCHRAMM), and Madeline Braun.

Miss Mary Louise Mickey met with us and told more and more Salem news which was quickly gobbled up, even faster than the luncheon, and then we regaled her with questions.

Mrs. Reber was elected president for 1937; Madeline Braun was elected secretary. The Constitution for Branch Associations was read and approved. It was decided to send the entire $1.00 alumnae fee to Salem since the Baltimore Chapter has not been sufficiently active to warrant any retention of a part of it. The meeting adjourned with promises of more activity in the future for Baltimore Salemites.—Madeline S. Braun, secretary.

(In cases, such as that cited above, where an Association sends the full $1.00 fee per member to Salem, the one-fourth applicable by the Constitution to Branch Associations will be held by the Treasurer of Salem College, available at any time to the Branch Association or accumulating into a fund in their name.)

GREENSBORO

The Greensboro Branch of Salem College Alumnae met for luncheon at the Greensboro Country Club, Tuesday, February 23, 1937.

Mrs. Howard Rondthaler was a special guest and spoke on Salem College as it is today. She told of additions to the curriculum and of the increased social life that has largely been the result of the new gymnasium building. She also spoke of the Hall of History which is now under construction and the new library building to be started in the near future. Mrs. Rondthaler also passed pictures around showing old and new scenes on Salem campus which were most interesting.

During the business session Miss Elizabeth Leak was re-elected to the presidency and Mrs. Enel A. Jones was re-elected as secretary. The new Constitution and By-Laws of the General Alumnae association was read by the secretary and approved by the Chapter.

Mrs. Allan Turner was appointed chairman of the local committee to secure subscriptions to the new library building fund.—Mrs. E. A. Jones (EMMA BARTON), Secretary.

LEHIGH VALLEY

The Lehigh Valley Branch of the Alumnae Association of Salem College met on Saturday evening, November 28, 1936, at the home of the Misses Elizabeth and Anastasia Bahnsen, 39 Mauch Chunk Street, Nazareth, Pennsylvania. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. Ira Ross of Bethlehem, president. After the minutes of the last meeting were read (by Margaret Schwarze in view of the fact that the secretary Pearl Martin has gone to Anchorage, Alaska), and approved, the business session proceeded to the election of officers. The following executive board was chosen:

President, KATHERINE SCHLEGEL (1931), 101 N. Broad St., Nazareth; Vice-President, Mrs. David Petty (MARYBELL THOMAS), 1200 Paul Avenue, Bethlehem, Pa.; Secretary, ELIZABETH MARX (1931), Gray Cottage, Nazareth, Pa.; Treasurer, MARGARET SCHWARZE, (1928), 1206 N. Main Street, Bethlehem, Pa.

In view of the fact that the group is small, and in order to give continuity to the Executive Board it was decided that officers should be elected for a two-year term, the offices of president and secretary becoming vacant in alternate years from those of vice-president and treasurer. In keeping with this plan it was stated that this year the president and secretary should be elected for a two-year term and the vice president and treasurer for only one year so that the rotating system may become operative. It was also suggested that the two officers elected in any year should be from the same town.

Mrs. Ross then read to the group the Constitution for Branch Associations which was drawn up by a committee appointed after the meeting of the General Alumnae Association at Salem College, May 30, 1936. After some discussion and interpretation of some of the points, the constitution was adopted by a unanimous vote of the membership. Members were instructed to pay their dollar for dues to the treasurer.

Mrs. Howard Rondthaler, guest of honor at the occasion, was introduced and in her charming and delightful manner she told about the changes and improvements which were effected on the campus during the previous summer, viz, the renovation of the Office Building, the first floor of Main Hall, the building of the gymnasium. As is inevitable at such a meeting there were many reminiscences and exclamations of "Oh, we didn't (or couldn't), do that when I was at Salem!" The five Nazareth members served refreshments in which the Salem color scheme of yellow and white was carried out even in the cake and mints.

HIGH POINT

High Point alumnae held their annual meeting recently at the Emerywood Country Club with eighteen members present. Associate hostesses were Mesdames Sanders Dallas, Logan Lovelace, and Mary Elizabeth Long.

Mrs. Gilbert Clark presided. Mrs. Charles W. McAnally announced plans for the appearance of the Salem College Glee Club on March 11th when the alumnae chapter will be one of the sponsoring groups. Mrs. W. L. Jackson, chairman of the nominating committee, then read the following slate of new officers: president, Mrs. Gilbert Clark; vice-president, Mrs. Carson Burns, and secretary, Mrs. Mayne Bundy. Mrs. Clark then appointed to serve as a hostess committee for the new year Mrs. David Yow, Mrs. Frank Hunsucker, and Mrs. W. L. Jackson.

Miss Lawrence, dean of women at Salem College, and two students from Salem Academy were guests for the afternoon. Miss Lawrence made an interesting talk on activities at the College, after which Miss Lois Wiley of Troy, Alabama, told of Academy activities and Miss Lee Rice concluded the program by playing two lovely piano selections.

The group was then invited into the dining room where, from a beautifully appointed table with Mrs. Clark presiding, they were served tea and accompanying refreshments. The yellow color note was accentuated, jonquils forming the centerpiece for the table and tall yellow tapers adding color. — Mrs. Sanders Dallas (ERNESTINE HAYES).

KERNERSVILLE

The Kernersville Branch Association held an enthusiastic meeting on February 23rd at the home of Miss Tilla Harmon with Mrs. Fred Vance (ILAH ALBERT), and Mrs. Ralph Fagg (INDIA MCCUISTON), as associate hostesses. Mrs. E. B. Parks, Jr. (LOUISE CULLER), presided; Mrs. W. C. Stafford (FLOY RIGHTS), led devotionals.

During the business session Mrs. W. O. Doggett, Jr. (MINNIE HASTINGS), read the roll call and the minutes of the previous meeting. The new Constitution was approved and adopted. Mrs. King Grogan (MOZELLE CULLER), chairman of the nominating committee submitted the names of the following for officers: president, Mrs. Fred Vance; vice-president, Mrs. Walser Allen (NANCY RAMSEUR); secretary, Mrs. Ralph Fagg; and treasurer, Miss Fanny Lyon Hepler. Committees were appointed as follows: program, Mrs. O. L. Joyner (LUCILLE STAFFORD), Mrs. Vesper King (NELLIE DAVIS), and Miss Tilla Harmon; entertainment, Mrs. Kenneth Greenfield (ANNIE STAFFORD), Mrs. Clay Ring (MAUD KERNER), Mrs. Gilmer Smith (ALTA PINNIX), and Miss Mary Linville; nominating, Mrs.

W. O. Doggett, Jr., Mrs. J. P. Adkins (ADDIE KERNER), and Miss Fanny Lyon Hepler.

Mrs. Howard Rondthaler was the guest speaker. She was introduced by Mrs. Walser Allen and spoke interestingly of Salem. Mrs. C. L. Straughn (OPAL SWAIN), of Walkertown played as an instrumental solo, "Lento" by Cyril Scott.

During the social hour the hostesses served a delicious salad course, supplemented with sweets and coffee. Several members of the senior class of Kernersville were guests of the occasion.

WINSTON-SALEM

The Winston-Salem Branch held its annual meeting on February 4th following the exercises in connection with the presentation of the new college gymnasium. Mrs. William K. Hoyt presided. Several interesting announcements were made, foremost among them that of the proposed new library. Mrs. Hoyt announced that the members of a committee appointed to raise funds locally for this project had made remarkable progress. She called upon Mr. Agnew Bahnsen, member of the Board of Trustees, who told of the plans for the library and the need for further funds. Miss Marian Blair announced that Salem College would establish a lecture series for next year. Miss Cortlandt Preston was introduced and told of her work as publicity director.

Election of officers for 1937-38 resulted as follows: president, Mrs. William Hoyt; vice-president, Mrs. Marion Follin; secretary, Mrs. A. Shelbourne Johnson; and treasurer, Mrs. Nat Curl. Mrs. Harry Grimsley was appointed chairman of the alumnae group for plans for the lecture series and Mrs. Emil Shaffner was appointed chairman of the program committee.

After adjournment the alumnae returned to Main Hall where refreshments were served. —Mrs. A. Shelbourne Johnson (ELEANOR WILLINGHAM), Secretary.

Her sister, Agnes, was in the old 4th Room with Miss Sallie Shaffner for a period of time. Aline has always remained a most loyal alumnae of Salem. She has been west for many years seeking health."

REUNION—COMMENCEMENT

Dorothy Siewers Bondurant, Reporter for 1927, sends us the following interesting news of her classmates.

RUTH PFOHL GRAMS, 140 Third Ave., North, Wisconsin Rapids, sends in her presidential message to 1927: "I've succeeded in digging myself out of a glorious and genuine Wisconsin blizzard in time to send this letter to The Alumnae Record and to you. Do you realize what 1937 has in store for you? Why of course a reunion at Salem! Start right this minute to make plans which will bring you to Salem in June. Ten years does seem rather unbelievable to each of us and just think of all the news we'll have for each other. I'm wondering if Lardner McCarty Newell, our noble class prophet, really has any correct facts in that fascinating prophetic dream she had in '27! You really should take your Sights and Insights from the shelf and read that Prophecy on page fifty-two. I've wandered far from the Westminster Choir and an artist's model even though as a minister's wife I sing alto in one choir and soprano in another. I also notice that Dot. Siewers Bondurant is supposedly in New York doing journalistic work; while "Fats" Hobgood Cook is winning fame in Manhattan as a comedienne. I am sure that after you peruse the pages of your '27 Sights and Insights, as I have just done, you'll feel that genuine urge to return to Salem. That's exactly the feeling I want you to have and I hope that it will keep growing stronger and stronger until you are actually there. Bring the husband, the children and even the dog if you can't be there without them! Let's prepare for a glorious time together! You'll receive more definite plans later, in the meanwhile let us hear from you and let's start that old Salem Spirit pounding through every member of the class of '27. You surely haven't forgotten those tin cups with black and gold ribbons which we used for our Thanksgiving banquet song triumph! In the spirit of 1937 we'd probably use an organ grinder instead and with black and gold streamers waving let's meet at Salem and sing:

Whose that coming down the street?

A class reunion that can't be beat.

In their ranks there's not a dent,

They've returned One Hundred Percent!

(This letter from Ruth came just three days too late for the January issue of The Record).

Lardner McCarty, Mrs. Vincent A. Newell, Jr., Box 24, 812 Georgia Ave., Fort Pierce, Florida, is teaching in the Junior High School there. She has one daughter, Frances Lardner, age 5. Lardner writes: "No news! But how I'd love to hear some! I want to renew my subscription to the Alumnae Record for I get a big kick out of reading it. All too seldom, however, I find members of '27 in it. Why, I wonder? Aren't we accomplishing anything worth talking about? I'll plan to come at Commencement if my school closes in time. I think I need a trip to North Carolina.

Mary McNeill Buckner of Southern Pines is teaching. She writes that she will attend the reunion if possible.

Elizabeth Hobgood, Mrs. Cecil E. Cooke, 907 Shepherd St., Durham, N. C., has one daughter, Martha Caroline, age two. She writes: "It doesn't seem possible that it has been ten years since we were all at Salem. Perhaps I have the twenty year old complex, for I feel as if it were just yesterday. Anna Frances Redfern, ex-'27, now Mrs. George Powell, lives at Chapel Hill and I see a good deal of her. I am planning to be back at Salem for Commencement. I am eager to see the Practice House and all the other new buildings, that is, new since I have been there. I remember that when we had Home Economics up on the third floor of Main Hall there was a hole in the kitchen floor just big enough to sweep the dust through. When I first started keeping house, how I wished for a hole in my kitchen floor!

ton, N. C., is a stenographer. In reply to the questionnaire question, "Do you subscribe to the Alumnae Record?" Jane replies, "Yes, I think so; if not, I'd like to." (Dear Jane, According to our records, you do take the Record; maybe you should read it through twice to get the desired impression.—Editor.)

Rachel Wells Carroll writes that she is "praying for an M.A. at Chapel Hill in June 1937." Her present address is 307 E. Rosemary Street. After she gets the degree, she wants a good job teaching somewhere.

THE PAST SPEAKS TO THE PRESENT

A report has recently been compiled concerning present Salem Academy faculty and students who are descendants of former pupils who attended the Academy as far back as 1804. This school is extremely proud of the fact that practically every year finds an outstanding number of girls in the student group whose interest and love in Salem dates back to mothers, grandmothers, or other relatives sometimes as far removed as the fifth generation.

Listed here are the girls now enrolled, whose mothers attended Salem Academy: Jeanne Gartrell—Nancy Hayes Reynolds in 1909, 1910, and 1911; Helen Millis—Helen Brooks in 1901 and 1902; Johnsie Moore—Ellen Norfleet in 1899 and 1902; Louise Moore—Mildred May, 1901-'02.

Mothers receiving A. B. Degrees: Eleanor Sue Cox—Lillian Miller in 1906; Harriet Cunningham, Ruby Ray in 1916; Cynthia Grimsley—Lucy Dix Estes in 1920; Beckie Jane Kester—Claudia Shore in 1909; Mary Ann Paschal—Stella Farrow in 1905; Helen Torrence—Helen Buck in 1907.

Caroline Gray's great-grandmother on her mother's side, Mary Elizabeth Beall, entered Salem on July 10th, 1846 at the age of 13, from Davidson County. Her grandmother on her father's side, Lelia Wilson, entered October 2, 1874, from Danville Virginia.

Mildred Parks, Asheboro, follows her great-aunt, Annie Makepeace, who graduated from Salem in 1891, coming to the school from Franklinville, North Carolina.

Also from Asheboro is Jane Page Walker who is the third generation of her family to attend Salem. Her grandmother, Minnie Hancock, graduated in 1893, and her mother, Harriet Hammer, finished in 1916.

Myra Sharp, Harrellsville, brought from her home two receipts showing that Mr. Starkey Sharp paid $102.90 in advance toward the second session at Salem Female Boarding School, for Nancy Sharp who entered July 5, 1843 at the age of ten years, from Hertford County, North Carolina.

Lois Wiley of Troy, Alabama, is the fourth generation to attend Salem. Her great-grandmother, Susanna Charlotte Blum, was a member of the Academy's student group in 1840 when the senior class was called the "select class." Lois has a report card which is extremely interesting, but tells nothing to the modern registrar as to the type of work done by Susanna. The back of this card is filled with Bible verses. Lois also has Susanna's certificate of confirmation into the Moravian Church. Mary Adelaide Smith, Lois' grandmother attended Salem in 1860. Mary Adelaide Bailey, mother of Lois, received her A.B. degree in 1903 and taught music in Salem from 1906 to 1908.

From Macon, Georgia, comes Rebe Willingham, who presented to Salem Academy last commencement, a beautiful piece of handwork in chanelle which was done at Salem in 1819 by her great-great-grandmother, Ann Jacqueline Blount, who entered June 24, 1819, at the age of 13, from Jones County, Georgia.

Eleanor Wright, Baltimore, Maryland, is the great-granddaughter of Roxanna Dixon who attended the school from July 21, 1851 until June 3, 1853. She was 14 when she entered from Liberty Hill, Kershaw District, South Carolina.

(It is interesting to note by the dates of entrances that in the early eighteen hundreds, the school session ran the entire year.)

Among the faculty this year there are three descendants of Salem students. Miss Edith Kirkland, Secretary, of Durham can boast of two members of her family being among the first non-Salem girls to enter the school. Ann Kirkland, age 10, and Elizabeth Kirkland, age 8, from Hillsborough, daughters of William and Margaret Kirkland entered on May 15, 1804 and left May 5, 1806.

Miss Helen Vogler, the dietitian, of Winston-Salem, represents the third generation in her family to attend Salem. Her grandmother, Leonora Jane Spach on her mother's side was here from 1854-1867. Her grandmother, Johanna Catherine Mack on her father's side came in December, 1869 — May 1874. Her mother, Birdie V. Goslen, graduated in 1889 and took a post-graduate course in 1890.

Miss Elizabeth Zachary, Principal of Residence, from Brevard, North Carolina, is the daughter of Beulah McMinn who graduated in 1896.

TENTH BIRTHDAY OF MAY DAY

May 1st, 1937 — 1927

On Saturday, May 1, of this year Salem College celebrated the 10th anniversary of its formal May Day exercises.

A pageant, based on the "Alice in Wonderland" theme was presented as entertainment for the May Court and for the several thousand spectators seated on Academy Hill. Miss Jane Rondthaler, 1937 chairman of May Day, worked in co-operation with twelve student committees in preparation for the event. The pageant was written by a committee under the chairmanship of Miss Anna Wray Føgle, of Winston-Salem.

While it may be supposed that there have always been spring festivals given at Salem in the month of May, celebrating the arrival of spring, it was not until 1927 that the first real May Day program was held on the lower campus of the college. Since then May Day has grown by leaps and bounds in popularity and has become one of the much-talked-of traditions of Salem.

When Miss Cordelia Lowry, 1937 Queen of May, was crowned by her maid of honor Miss Helen Jones, there had been ten identical May Days in the history of Salem and ten radiant Salem girls had been honored with the same type of elaborate ceremony on exactly the same spot.

From the college newspaper of 1927, the following description of the first real Salem May Fete was taken:

"The Queen of May, Bessie Clark (now Mrs. Sam Ray, of Leaksville), entered majestically, preceded by two small children, Norman Stockton, and Ann Rainey, who carried small baskets of flowers."

"Two heralds, Misses Mary Duncan McAnally and Mary Audrey Stough (now Mrs. John Kimbrough, of Davidson), announced the queen's approach. The maids of the court dressed in shaded rose taffeta dresses and carrying large hats filled with spring flowers," . . . the dresses were up to the knees in front, with hoops on the hips and waistlines in the same place . . . "descended the hill and stood on each side of the queen in the following order: Mary Johnson (now Mrs. Deryl Hart, Durham), Sara Kincaid (now Mrs. D. Milstead, of York, S. C.), Louise Thompson (now Mrs. Charles Creech, of this city), LaVerne Ware (now Mrs. G. H. Simpson, Greensboro), Frances McCormick (now Mrs. W. L. Allgood), Elizabeth Sifferd (now Mrs. Roy B. Kneeberg, Asheville), Pearle Fishel (now Mrs. Homer Houchins, of this city), Louise Culler, maid of honor (now Mrs. E. B. Parks, Jr., Kernersville), Doris Wooten (now Mrs. Kestler, High Point), Elizabeth Hastings (now Mrs. Henry Brown McCorkle, of this city), Julia Daniels (now Mrs. Mack Pridgen, Elm City), Cam Boren (Mrs. Hoyt Boone, Greensboro), Jennie Wolfe (now Mrs. Vernon Stanley, Charlotte), Isabelle Dunn (now Mrs. Joseph Mauze, Jr., of Huntington, W. Va.), Anna Pauline Shaffner (Mrs. Ronald Slye, Jacksonville, Fla.)"

Since 1927 the following girls have been crowned Queen of the May on the lower Campus at Salem College:

- 1928 Sara Kincaid (now Mrs. A. D. Milstead, of York, S. C.)
- 1929 Mary Johnson (now Mrs. Deryl Hart, of Durham, N. C.)
- 1930 Fritz Firey (now Mrs. J. A. Adkins, of San Francisco, Calif.)
- 1931 Elizabeth Allen (now Mrs. W. J. Armfield, of Asheboro, N. C.)
- 1932 Anna Preston (now Mrs. Emil Shaffner, Winston-Salem, N. C.)

- 1935 Cortlandt Preston, of Washington, D. C.

1887

Members of this class will celebrate their 50th jubilee. They are our honor guests at Commencement.

1888 — 1889 — 1890

Not much has been heard from the members of these three classes which are scheduled for reunions under the Dix Plan. This is due to the fact that they have no officers to take the initiative and work up a reunion. Mrs. Richard Tighe of 1890 writes in this issue of The Record that she hopes a number of 1890 will return. Members of 1888, please note that next year, 1938, marks your 50th anniversary, so if you are not planning to come back this year, begin now to make plans for the big celebration next year.

Many members of these classes have already signified their intention to return for Commencement.

1935

Salem expects her two-years olds.

And the one-year-olds refuse to stay away!

Will you please make an appeal for me in the Alumnae Record urging all members of the class to come back. It will be delightful to renew old friendships and visit again the scenes of our happy school days."

BRANCH ASSOCIATION MEETINGS

CHARLOTTE

The Charlotte Branch held its meeting in February at the home of Mrs. Raymond Thompson (MARY ENTWISTLE), with good attendance. In the absence of the president, Mrs. William Van Every (ELIZABETH PRICE), Mrs. James Grey (MARGARET SMITH), presided. Mrs. James Hobbs (FRANCES WOMACK), was elected president for the ensuing two-year term and it was decided to hold another meeting in October.

Miss Katherine Riggan and Miss Mary Louise Mickey were guests and gave brief accounts of happenings at Salem. Particular interest was evident in the opening of the new college gymnasium and the plans for the new college library. Moving pictures of the College were enjoyed.

MOUNT AIRY

A meeting of the Mount Airy Branch was held on April 27th in the parlors of the Blue Ridge Hotel. Mrs. Howard Rondthaler was honor guest.

Mrs. Ethel Thomas Porter, president, welcomed the guests and presented Mrs. Rondthaler who discussed phases of college life at Salem. An open forum was enjoyed after which tempting refreshments were served.

During the business session officers for the coming year were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Joe Gwynn (BLANCHE HOLT); vice-president, Mrs. Phil Haskins (BELLE GRAVES); secretary, Mrs. Wilson Barber (MARY VIRGINIA PENDERGRAPH); and treasurer, Mrs. Hugh Holcomb (RACHEL LUCKENBACH). Mrs. R. T. Joyce (ALICE GILMER, 1872-73), of Westfield was made an honorary member. She has the distinction of being our oldest alumnae.—Belle Graves Haskins, secretary.

TARBORO

Salem Alumnae of Tarboro were invited to meet at the home of Mrs. Sam Clark (LOUISE WILSON), on April 14th, at which time Miss Mickey showed the college moving pictures and talked. This is the first meeting of this group in several years and plans were made for more frequent get-togethers. It was suggested that one annual meeting be held with alumnae of Rocky Mount, Wilson, and Tarboro. Miss Anna Holderness was elected president of the Tarboro organization.

NEW YORK

On Saturday, March 13th, the New York alumnae, with Mrs. Howard Rondthaler as guest, enjoyed a luncheon at the Town House. The new constitution was explained and adopted. Officers were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Henry Pfohl (ELIZABETH RONDTHALER); vice-president, Mrs. J. M. Coghlan (BESSIE SPEAS); secretary, Mrs. Frank C. Johnson (BRIGHT MCKEMIE); treasurer, Margaret Wall. Mrs. Rondthaler showed pictures of Salem and spoke of the newer, fuller life behind the old Salem spirit.

BETHANIA

On the evening of February 3rd, the Bethania Branch of Salem Alumnae celebrated the 165th anniversary of its Alma Mater with a banquet in the Congregation House in Bethania. This organization is the oldest of the Branch Associations.

The assembly room was attractively decorated in Salem colors and with Salem pennants. The Alma Mater was sung. Miss Kate Jones gave a toast to Salem College, and Miss Lola Butner, president of the organization, responded. Mrs. Roy Holland paid a tribute to Miss Kate Jones, president of the Bethania Branch for thirty-nine years. Miss Mary F. Griffith sang "Sundown" and Mrs. Lindsay Hoover, "Absent" and "Kashmiri Song," with Miss Ruth Kapp accompanying.

A "scramble word" contest was enjoyed, with the words printed on miniature copies of Main Hall. Mrs. Holland received a Salem College pennant for being the first one to unscramble the words.

The banquet closed with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne." Those present were Miss Kate Jones, Mrs. Eugene Kapp (CARRIE RIGGS), Mrs. Ella Lehman Barlow, Mrs. J. W. Daniels (BESS LEHMAN), Mrs. Ernest Kapp, Sr. (MAMIE KAPP), Mrs. Charles Griffith (PEARL TRANSOU), Mrs. Walter Yarborough (AGGIE BREWER), Mrs. Comenius Leinback (ADDIE BREWER), Misses Alta Transou, Lola Butner, Ruth Kapp, Annie Wilson, Emma Elizabeth Kapp, Mary Frances Griffith, Mrs. Henrietta Wilson Holland, Mrs. Lindsay Hoover (FRANCES BUTNER).—Emma Elizabeth Kapp, Secretary.

CONCORD

The Concord Branch met on April 9th at the home of Mrs. H. G. Gibson (LAURA RIDENHOUR). Assistant hostesses were Mrs. V. A. Means (MARY HARTSELL), and Misses Mary and Adele Pemberton.

An interesting program was given by Mrs. Means and Miss Rosa Caldwell, the former reading two delightful accounts on the new library and the new gymnasium at Salem the latter reading an account about the restoration of the Office Building.

Officers elected were Mrs. Ernest Robinson (LOIS CROWELL), president; Mrs. R. J. Wilson (KATHRYN H. CARPENTER), vice-president; Adelaide Foil, secretary; and Sarah Crowell, treasurer.

PHILADELPHIA

The Philadelphia Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association held its annual Spring Luncheon on April 17, at the Penn Athletic Club, with Mrs. Howard E. Rondthaler, as honor guest.

The luncheon was a distinct success in every way, due in no small part of the presence of our esteemed honor guest, Mrs. Rondthaler, and to the careful planning of our President, Mrs. Fry. The table was most artistically decorated with forsythia and daffodils — and a daffodil was placed beside each plate. Spring flowers decorated the mantel. Mrs. Rondthaler brought with her the essence of the College and the Southern magnolias and was as welcome as the springtime. In the course of the luncheon, a telegram was received from Mrs. Henry C. Pfohl of New York, (ELIZABETH RONDTHALER), President of the New York Alumnae Association, sending her best wishes. Mrs. Rondthaler was paid a beautiful tribute by the President of the Philadelphia Association, and was given a vote of thanks by the entire group.

To reminiscence a little, it seemed as though the "Old South" was present at this meeting. The charm, culture and gaiety were all there and noticeably so in the conversation and rich repartee. Those gay old dogs, wit and humor, were present and many good laughs were enjoyed. One could almost believe that the luncheon was held in an old Southern home, warm and mellow, as the guests appeared all to have dropped in for the pure joy of being together.

Several of our alumnae have achieved important places in the social, business and professional life of Philadelphia. We must mention here, Mrs. Leonard Jones (FLORA BINDER), who teaches at the University of Pennsylvania and also has a class at Temple University. Mrs. Clarence E. Parker (IONE FULLER), is now also connected with the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Lindsey Plumley (ANNE CANNON), Mrs. Gilbert Fry (MARY E. MCKELVIE), and Mrs. John M. Douglass (NANNIE CAWTHORNE), are all charming Philadelphia hostesses. Mrs. Ivey N. Baisley is a teacher at the Sternberg School of Music. Mrs. Blanche Thornton Cole recently served on a committee for the "Flowers for the Flowerless," a charity, at which Mrs. George Earle, wife of the Governor of Pennsylvania, was honor guest. Mrs. Samuel Conti (FRANCES BROWN), is a great social service worker. Miss L. Hallyburton has been with the Insurance Company of North America for eleven years and Miss Marjorie Hallyburton is connected with the Presbyterian Board. Miss Ruth Greider is connected with the University Hospital. Mrs. A. W. Hesse, Jr. (LEONORA SCHWARZE), is a recent blushing bride and the envy of her maiden sisters in the Philadelphia Branch. Mrs. R. S. McKelvie, mother of Mrs. Fry, was a guest.

The present officers, Mrs. Gilbert Fry, President and Miss L. Hallyburton, Secretary, were unanimously elected for a further period of two years. Mrs. George Stevens is Vice-President; Mrs. Clarence Parker, Treasurer.

LEAKSVILLE

The Leaksville Branch Association met this year in Mayodan at the home of Mrs. Will Bollin (LENA ROBERTS), with Mrs. Robert Labberton (INDIA MEADOR), of Madison, associate hostess. Miss Kathleen Ivie, presided.

The new Constitution was read and adopted. It was voted to include in the association Salem alumnae of Stoneville, Madison, Mayodan and Leaksville. Newly elected officers are president, Margaret Smith, of Leaksville; vice-president, Mrs. Labberton; secretary, Mrs. Harry Fagge (LUCILE REID), of Leaksville, and treasurer, Mrs. John Robertson, of Stoneville.

An enjoyable part of the program was presented by Mrs. Howard Rondthaler when she told in a delightful manner of Salem and its recent achievements. Mrs. Robert Shore, a member of the College Board of Trustees, was also a guest and told of plans for the new library.

Refreshments, featuring Salem College colors, yellow and white, were served by the hostesses, assisted by little Misses Peggy Bollin and Patsy Casteen. Alumnae present, in addition to those already mentioned, were Margaret Smith, Ruth McConnel, Helen Shumaker, and Mrs. Kenan Casteen, all of Leaksville; Mesdames Robert Stone, John Robertson, of Stoneville; Mesdames Howard Penn, Wesley McAnally, John Price, of Madison; and Misses Sallie Heggie and Lettie E. Crouch, of Mayodan.

ROCKY MOUNT

The Rocky Mount Branch Association held a dinner meeting on Friday night, April 16th, at the home of Mrs. Hugh Battle, whose daughter, Maud, is now a student at Salem. In the absence of the president, Maud Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Ward presided over the business session. Mrs. Charles Bean (ANNIE HUGHES WILKINSON), was chosen as secretary. It was voted to have a meeting in the fall of Rocky Mount alumnae and alumnae of nearby towns and to invite Dr. and Mrs. Howard Rondthaler as special guests.

FINAL EVENTS OF THE YEAR

On May 1st, at 8:15, the Choral Singing classes presented their annual Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Patience," which proved a very popular choice. Some of the alumnae may remember singing it in 1931 under Miss Hollis' direction. The singing seemed exceptionally good and several of the solo voices were unusually beautiful. The opera served as a fitting climax to the May Day celebration. The solo parts were sung by Becky Nifong as Patience, Helen Torrence as Bunthorne, Margaret Vardell as Grosvenor, Johnsie Moore as Colonel, Marian Johnson as Major, Lillian Stokes as Duke, Jeanne Gartrell as Angela, Lola Whisnant as Saphir, Eleanor Wright as Ella, Jacqueline Ray as Jane. Miss Wheeler and her art students designed the setting, and Miss Knox directed.

The first exercise in the commencement program is the baccalaureate vesper on May 30th, at 8:00. The seniors plan this service and Dr. Rondthaler speaks. At the last chapel service the secretary of Student Representatives will present the flag to the Citizenship Honor girls, and after the presentation there will be the flag raising ceremony.

On Thursday night, June 3rd, we expect the members of the classes of 1932, 1934, 1935, and 1936 to be with the students and faculty at a formal dinner in the Emma Bahnson dining room. This will be a very happy occasion. The president of each class, or her representative, will bring greetings from her class. Following the dinner the exhibits of the Art and Home Economics Departments will be on display. At 8:00 o'clock there will be the usual recital of the advanced music students in the Academy, which is always a very valuable contribution to the commencement program.

On Friday morning, June 4th, there will be plans for the alumnae house guests, and at 3:30 Friday afternoon the Recognition Program will be held. Please note the change in time from that of the past years. At this program the head of each organization gives an account of the activities of 1936-37; the athletic trophies are presented; the cup is given to the team showing the greatest interest in sports during the year by Dr. Rondthaler; the honor rolls are read by Miss Weaver, gifts are presented to the school, and the flag is entrusted to the Citizenship Honor girls for the coming year. This program will last not longer than 45 minutes.

At 5:30 Friday afternoon in the lower pleasure grounds, the senior class day exercise will be held. Immediately following the program the seniors, their families, and the visiting alumnae are honor guests at the supper given by President and Mrs. Rondthaler. At 8:30 in the auditorium of the Mary Patterson Building, the graduation exercises will take place at which time essays will be read by the two honor graduates, Ann Pritchett, Winston-Salem, and Leonore Rice, Lancaster, South Carolina.

CITIZENSHIP HONOR

This honor was started several years ago by the Student Representatives because they felt there was a need for the recognition of the girl who lived in an outstanding co-operative manner in the school community. In talks, open forums, and by means of a very attractive poster the students have been made aware of this honor and the qualities necessary to attain it. It is considered by the students the highest honor that can be received in Salem Academy. The votes were cast after careful thought. Those who have been so recognized this year are: Seniors: Eleanor Amos, High Point; Mary McDevitt, Charlotte; Leonore Rice, Lancaster, S. C. Juniors: Helen Millis, High Point; Doris Stroupe, High Point. Sophomores: Betty Thomas, Statesville; Ann Hanes, Winston-Salem.

THE ENTICING TALE OF WHAT HAPPENED IN OCTOBER IN THE TRUSTEES' ROOM

A NOVEL IN ONE ISSUE BY TWENTY-SEVEN INTELLIGENT WOMEN

It might have been called just another Alumnae Executive Board Meeting. But if it had been, you might have turned up your nose and turned over the page, determined to read nothing in the Alumnae Record except the Marriages, Births, and Deaths.

Or it might have begun, as so many smart-alec little articles have begun,

“The time has come,” the President said,

“To talk of many things,

Of scholarships, and treasuries,

And book-shelves . . .”

But since the only two things not discussed at the October meeting were “cabbages and kings,” and since they were the only two things that would rhyme with “things,” the poem had to be abandoned.

It was a good meeting, however, that one of October 22, 11:00 o'clock A.M.; and much of importance was said. And Mary Johnson Hart (see illustration on cover), looked so beautiful when she presided for the first time, that we decided to print "everything about everything" in the first Alumnae Record.

Mrs. Hart, the beautiful one, welcomed twenty-seven members of the Executive Board, Branch Presidents and representatives from the college administration. Those present were: Mrs. William Bollin (LENA ROBERTS), of Mayodan; Mrs. D. Hiden Ramsey (MARY SUMNER), of Asheville; Mrs. Courtney Mauzy (MARY CATHERINE SIEWERS), of Winston-Salem; Miss Adelaide Fries; Mrs. Howard Rondthaler; Miss Marian Blair; Miss Grace Lawrence; Mrs. James Gray, (LOUISE BAHNSON), of Winston-Salem; Mrs. James Grey (MARGARET SMITH), of Charlotte; Mrs. Catherine Hanes, of Winston-Salem; Mrs. H. W. Boone (CAM BOREN), of Greensboro; Mrs. Norman Stockton (EMORIE BARBER), of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Cecil Cooke (ELIZABETH HOBGOOD), of Durham; Mrs. N. B. Stevens (SADIE CHESSOM), of Fayetteville; Miss Kate Jones, of Bethania; Mrs. G. Hunsucker, (MARCE GOLEY), of High Point; Miss Margaret Smith, of Leakesville, Mrs. Hoyle Sink, (KATHLEEN HEILIG), of Greensboro; Mrs. William Hoyt (MIRIAM EFFIRD), of Winston-Salem; Mrs. James Hobbs (FRANCES WOMMACK), of Charlotte; Miss Margaret McLean; Miss Grace Siewers; Miss Sara Turlington; Miss Margaret Ward, and Mrs. John Creech (CORTLANDT PRESTON).

Minutes were not re-read, since they had been presented at the June meeting. There was no unfinished business. From this you may suppose the meeting was adjourned. It wasn't.

The new treasurer, Mrs. Courtney Mauzy, gave the following report, which concerns every alumnae, because this is the first time we have started a year with a cupboard not quite empty. Look where the money you contributed in alumnae dues (some of you contributed), is going:

REPORT OF TREASURER

Total Receipts from Alumnae Dues — 1936-37	$242.00
(Might have been $2,500.00)
Alumnae paid part expenses for printing the Record	120.00
Alumnae paid 1/5 of total cost of "Doorway" booklets sent out last spring	20.00
Postage used in sending these (with dues notices)	30.00
Total expenses, 1936-37	$170.00

Leaving in Alumnae Treasury, * if no refunds are made to Branch Associations, the vast sum of $72.00.

* Note:—In view of the many expenses, including luncheons, letters, etc., which Salem College bears for its absent alumnae, the Alumnae Office at Salem has asked that it be permitted to keep the twenty-five cents per person (dues-paying person), which, according to the new constitution — have you read it? — was to have been refunded to the branches for their use during the year.

A letter has been sent to every branch president asking if this plan is agreeable to her. Please, Presidents, express your opinions freely as soon as you receive the letters, so that this matter can be settled at once. The Salem Office can do great things with $72.00

ALUMNAE SCHOLARSHIPS

WHAT ARE THEY? WHO GAVE THEM? HOW MUCH MONEY IS INVESTED IN THEM?

A historical sketch of the alumnae scholarships, at Salem College was presented by Dr. Adelaide Fries, Chairman of the Scholarship Committee. It was requested that this report be printed in the Alumnae Record and also in the Salemite, for the benefit of alumnae and students who are interested but have never had access to the following facts:

ALUMNAE ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS, OCTOBER 22, 1937

Total value of the Alumnae Scholarship Funds is $5,517.00. Part of this is invested in Memorial Hall, the College having the use of the Hall and of the income from the Music Department lodged in the upper story, and the Alumnae Association receiving an agreed amount of credit which it awards in Scholarships. The rest of the Fund is invested by the Trustees of the College, the Alumnae Association again receiving a stipulated amount of credit to be used in Scholarships.

There are twenty named Scholarships, and an unnamed Alumnae Fund for current receipts toward Scholarships. Of the named Scholarships only one was given to the College by the person whose name it bears, and that is the Gertrude Siewers Scholarship.

The L. P. Bitting Scholarship, Lizora Hanes Scholarship, L. M. Fries Scholarship, and

C. B. Pfohl Scholarship were founded by sons and daughters of the persons named.

The Mary Louise Stroud and Marguerite Fries Scholarships were founded by parents; the Sarah A. Vogler Scholarship by a nephew; the Jennie Richardson Shaffner Scholarship by a husband; the Carrie Bahnson Memorial Scholarship by a sister; the Helen Shore by a brother. The Lisetta Brietz Scholarship Fund was given by relatives; the James T. Lineback Scholarship by Moravian Sunday Schools in North Carolina.

Of the Scholarships established by the Alumnae Association as such two bear historical names: — the Alumnae Scholarship, which was the first of the long line to be established; and the Centennial, which was raised in connection with the Centennial of the establishment of the Boarding School.

The others, named by the Association in honor of distinguished Alumnae, are the Mrs. Stonewall Jackson Scholarship, the Ellen Starbuck Scholarship, the Sarah E. Shaffner Scholarship, and the John H. Clewell Scholarship.

Some of the donors of the personally founded Scholarships reserved the right to nominate recipients; in all other cases the Alumnae Scholarship Committee makes the award, subject to the approval of the Alumnae Board of Directors.

In actual practice it has been found advisable to divide the larger Scholarships between two or more girls, and thereby make it possible for a larger number to come to Salem. This year the amounts range from $100.00 to $600.00, with 28 girls attending Salem College as Alumnae Scholarship Girls. Of these only 3 are Seniors; 10 are Juniors; 5 Sophomores; and 10 Freshmen.

Scholarships are awarded for one year at a time, but it is understood that if a girl makes "Scholarship Grades" of at least ten points above the College "passing point," and has a good record for behavior, etc., she shall have her Scholarship by re-award each year until she graduates.

ABOUT THE BOOK SHELVES

Miss Grace Siewers, Librarian, explained to the Executive Board that the most urgent need of the New Library, which is now almost completed, is for 200 sections of shelves.

$1.95 pays for one shelf and $10.95 pays for a section of shelves.

There are 30 organized alumnae branch associations, and several thousand scattered alumnae. Branch Presidents attending the October meeting at Salem, suggested that the donation of the 200 needed sections be made an out-of-town alumnae project. If each branch will contribute several sections ($10.95 apiece), or as many shelves as it can comfortably give ($1.95 per shelf), the 200 will soon dwindle down to nothing and the college library books can be moved from the old into the fine new library.

A great deal of enthusiasm was shown at the meeting.

Fayetteville promised to contribute two sections of shelves.

Bethania will contribute $11.00 for one section (with a fraction of a shelf left over).

Greensboro will have a call meeting to discuss the matter immediately.

Charlotte will approach its members about the matter, and is sure they will contribute something as a branch.

A local alumnae who was present, offered $100 as a "starter" for the Winston-Salem branch.

Durham will give one section.

So, you see, the 200 is diminishing even while we are discussing it. Any small contribution, one shelf, two shelves, or if you are rich, one section, two sections, will be of great assistance at this time. Address the Library, Salem College. The need is immediate since no books can be moved until the shelves are installed, and November 15 was supposed to have been the "dead-line."

WILL THE SALEM CHORAL ENSEMBLE CONTINUE AS A "GOING CONCERN"?

The problem of sending the Salem Choral Ensemble, under the direction of Clifford Bair, to sing for branch associations, as was tried with varying success in 1936-37, was generally discussed at the October meeting, in the light of future trips.

The final conclusion was that successful concerts can be given in various cities and towns, if the Salem Alumnae in those towns will join with some civic organization in taking responsibility for presenting the singers.

The Fayetteville representative spoke enthusiastically about the concert presented there last year, and suggested that the Choral Ensemble return to Fayetteville in alternate years. High Point reported a successful 1937 concert. A similar venture in Lenoir, however, was not successful.

Charlotte suggested that its branch might join forces with the Charlotte Music Club in presenting the Salem Singers. Durham thought their Ensemble program might be worked in collaboration with a Sunday afternoon concert in the Duke Chapel.

The general feeling seemed to be that Sunday afternoon or evening programs given in churches are more satisfactory than week-night programs given in public auditoriums. All Ensemble programs are complimentary to the public.

Salem College wants the branch associations to know that the Ensemble was created chiefly for their benefit, and that the singers are glad to visit them, whenever invited. Each Branch President, however, must realize the responsibility of entertaining a group of fifty girls while they are away from the college, and must take care of publicity, etc., for the concert.

The college can bear the expense of transportation, but cannot handle "overnight" or "supper" problems without assistance from the branches.

If you would like to have a Salem Concert this winter, write to the alumnae office for detailed information.

EDITOR-IN-CHIEF OF ATLANTIC MONTHLY PRESS VISITS SALEM

COLLEGE LECTURE SERIES PRESENTS TWO CELEBRITIES

Five interesting people from the outside world have spoken this fall to the Salem College community. EDWARD WEEKS, Editor-in-Chief of the Atlantic Monthly Press, was perhaps the best known of the five. His lecture on "Current Books," (which included books just off the press), was the first of the Salem Lecture Series of 1937-38. Mr. Weeks came to Salem on October 11.

EDWARD WEEKS

In front of the Home Moravian Church,
October 11, 1937.

Following the literary lecturer on the college series of programs was MISS HELEN HOWE, dramatic monologist, who was presented to the student body and faculty on November 16.

Miss Howe has been named with Cornelia Otis Skinner and Ruth Draper as one of the three best monologists in the United States and England.

Probably the most famous of these three, Cornelia Otis Skinner, appeared in Winston-Salem only ten days before Miss Howe came to the college, thus giving the younger artist a bit of a handicap. Salem students decided, however, that the naming of Miss Skinner and Miss Howe in the same breath is quite appropriate.

MRS. GRACE SLOAN OVERTON, of New York, Representative of the National Council of Churches, spent a week on the college campus discussing with the students "Marriage and Family Life." Mrs. Overton, who is nationally known as an advisor of youth and writer of several books, made the week of September 7-14 one of the high spots of the year. She spoke in chapel every day, gave several public addresses in the city, and talked informally to small groups of students every afternoon and night.

DR. FRAZIER HOOD, of the psychology department of Davidson College, was the guest speaker of the Psychology Club at Salem on October 22, giving a lecture on "Dreams."

MISS JEANETTE RANKIN, the first woman ever elected to the Congress of the United States, spoke twice at Salem in October. Her subject both times was "Peace," and her messages were in brief that the United States is not in danger of being attacked, and should cease preparing for any intervention in foreign wars which do not concern us; and that it is a woman's work to try to help humanity live in harmony.

MISS MARGARET McLEAN, FIELD SECRETARY, SUGGESTS WAYS, OTHER THAN FINANCIAL, IN WHICH ALUMNAE CHAPTERS CAN HELP THE COLLEGE

1. Have two meetings during the year and endeavor to have as many people present as possible. One meeting should probably be in the fall and one in the spring. If you will notify us a week ahead, somebody from Salem can probably be there for the occasion. Have your secretary send in to us a report of what took place, who was present, etc.

2. Have some person in your group be responsible for bringing the list of alumnae in your town up to date. That means changing addresses, striking off names of those who have moved, listing names of those who have married, etc.

3. Contribute to our list of prospective students at any and all times. If you can have one interested person from your group find out who among the senior class in high school may be interested in Salem, and send us these names, it will be very worthwhile. Maybe some teacher in the local high school is a member of your association. She can do a great deal of good.

"Some chapters have found so-called prospect teas very successful. Please, though, if you do get to know the girls in this way, don't tell them that Salem expels girls if they look out of front windows, even if we did do that when you were here. We don't do it anymore, and that's an awful reputation to have among high school seniors."

4. Help Salem get the right sort of publicity in your newspaper. We are trying to keep a scrap book of Salem clippings, and we would like for you to keep one of your own, at the same time sending us clippings from your local papers for our college book. Alumnae meetings should receive as much newspaper publicity as possible!

FIELD SECRETARY

This is a stern-looking picture of Miss Margaret McLean, but she is not really very stern and her friends call her "Bushy."

A graduate in the Class of '35, she was appointed in June as Alumnae Field Secretary, replacing Miss Mary Louise Mickey. Mary Louise is now in New York City, seeking her fortune.

ADDITIONS AND SUBTRACTIONS FROM THE COLLEGE FACULTY

NEW ASSISTANT DEAN

Taking the place of Katherine Riggan Spaugb, Miss Sara Turlington (B.A. '28), came to Salem as Assistant Dean of Residence and assistant in the History Department.

NEW MEMBER OF EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Henry Grady Owens, former Principal of the High Point High School, and well known North Carolina educator, became assistant in the Education Department at Salem, replacing Miss Sallie B. Marks.

NEW ENGLISH INSTRUCTOR

Miss Jess Byrd now holds the instructorship in English formerly held by Elizabeth Lilly Swedenberg. Mrs. Swedenberg is living at the University of California where her husband is a professor.

ACTING HEAD OF MUSIC DEPARTMENT

In the absence of Dean Charles G. Vardell, Jr., who is taking advantage of the graduate fellowship in music offered him by the Eastman Conservatory, in Rochester, N. Y., Clifford Bair, Voice Department Head, is acting as Head of the School of Music. Dean Vardell's leave of absence is for one year.

BRANCH MEETINGS

DURHAM, N. C.

The Durham Branch met with its president, Mrs. Cecil Cooke (ELIZABETH HOBGOOD), on Wednesday afternoon, October 27.

Mrs. Deryl Hart (MARY JOHNSON), general President of Salem Alumnae, and Mrs. Cooke gave most enthusiastic reports of the meeting held recently in Salem, especially in regard to the new library. A donation toward purchasing metal shelves for the books will be given by November the 15th from the Durham group.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Cooke, with Mrs. Ella Lamheth Rankin assisting.

HIGH POINT, N. C.

The election of Mrs. C. T. Ingram, Jr. (MARY DREW DALTON), as new president of the High Point, N. C. Alumnae featured the meeting held in that city on November 4, 1937. Mrs. W. L. Jackson (CELESTE HUNTERLEY), was hostess to the Salem Alumnae; and Mrs. G. W. Clarke (BESSIE GOLD), presided. As special guests of the afternoon, Miss Margaret McLean, Field Secretary of the college, brought four Salem musicians, Misses Katherine Swain, soprano, Ann Nisbet, contralto, Margaret Welfare, contralto, and Virginia Thompson, accompanist.

Enough money was pledged at the meeting to buy one section of book-shelves for the new Salem Library. New officers elected to serve with Mrs. Ingram were: Mrs. Paul Casey (HELEN LONG), Secretary, and Mrs. Frank Hunsucker (MARCE GOLEY), vice-president. Mrs. Hunsucker described to her branch the general meeting which she had attended at the college on November 22.

Miss McLean showed moving pictures of Salem; the college trio sang several numbers; tea was served in the dining room; and the meeting adjourned, having been a successful mixture of business with pleasure.

HEISLER. Winston-Salem, N. C., July 18, 1937, MISS MARIA ELIZABETH HEISLER, age 80 years.

SHORE. Winston-Salem, N. C., October 1, 1937, ROBERT D. SHORE, member Salem Col-lege Board of Trustees.

MARIA ELIZABETH HEISLER

Former students will hear with sorrow of the death on July 17th of Miss Lizzie Heisler. Her service to Salem extended over many years and her admirers and friends were many.

The funeral service was held by Bishop J. Kenneth Prohl on Monday, July 19th. The Memoir was read by Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler. We give extracts from it: Maria Elizabeth Heisler was born in Liv-ingstone, Alabama. Her father, originally of Salem, had left as a young man in search of employment and settled on a plantation in Alabama. Because of the father's attachment for Salem, his little girl, Elizabeth, was sent to Salem Academy at the age of ten. It was a real adventu-re to make the long journey and come to live with her grandmother in the old Heisler home here. At the age of seven-teen she completed her studies at Salem and in 1873 she accepted a teaching po-sition in Sherman, Texas. After the War between the States, she returned to Salem to care for her aging grandmother. In 1884 she became a "Room Company" teach-er at Salem and served faithfully in var-ious capacities for fifty-three years.

In her later years she made several journeys to Alabama and to Texas and renewed her youthful memories of these places. During her whole teaching experi-ence, she was devotedly interested in young people and in the last years of her life she was the organizer of a group of young neighborhood boys, who will long remember the "Club" with its meetings in Miss Lizzie's room in the Sisters House.

During the first week of July she became seriously ill and passed away quietly on Saturday afternoon, July 17th. Her age was 80 years, 8 months, 9 days.

ROBERT D. SHORE

Mr. Robert D. Shore steadily deepened his loving concern in the affairs of Salem College both as Trustee and as chairman of the Finance Committee. His admiration of the past 165 years was sincere and practical. He desired to see the past honored in the present and to him Salem's ancient walls, roofs and very chimnies were dear. Again and again his generosity strength-ened the activities of Salem Academy and College and this was almost done in secret.

Many, many hours were given by him to the careful study and discussion of fi-nancial, structural and public problems. His vision was always forward and his faith ever bright. He will be greatly miss-ed in the administrative councils of the College and the Academy.

cliffe. "Radcliffe, I think offers more to a pre-medical student than any college I know of. Having made a very interesting tour of its buildings this spring, I decided that I had at last found the answer to the baffling question of 'which college shall it be?' If I could not have gotten in I should have been terribly disappointed. Next year is going to be pretty rough sledding I know, but I am going to like it a whole lot.".)

ORA JONES, Asheboro Street Extension, Greensboro, wrote: "It was wonderful being with all of you at the reunion and I'm looking forward to the next one."

KATHERINE READ, The Broadlawn, 20 North Broadway, White Plains, New York, wrote a long letter in August. She said, "I was so sorry that I couldn't have been at Salem for class reunion in June and I thought of you all lots. Maybe I can come to the next one." About a visit in Washington, D. C., Katherine says, "Mrs. Marshall took us out to the Chevy Chase Country Club for lunch. Aunt Katherine had told me Mrs. Marshall's daughter-in-law would be there. Of course that didn't mean anything to me, but the daughter-in-law turned out to be Jean Ritz. I was quite thrilled over seeing an old Salem girl and we had lots of fun talking about school. I saw Helen Litz while I was there too. She was going down to Knoxville for Barbara's wedding, but we had lunch together when she got back. She told me all about the wedding, and of course I was quite interested . . . I am going to business school in New York this winter."

Members who attended their second reunion in June were: Ladv Kate Allen, Betty Bahnson, Ethel Litz, Ellen Moore, Mary Laura Perryman, Kate Pratt, Lucy Gray Smither, Edith Stokely, Elizabeth Trotman, Dorothy Wyatt.

HELEN LITZ came to Salem for commencement last year.

VARINA MAYO spent the night in the Academy September 21st on her way to Knoxville after landing in New York from a trip around the world with her mother and two brothers. She said such a trip could not end without including Salem. This charming note came from her after she reached home: "For a long time I have been wanting to come back to Salem. I knew it would be nice, but I had not realized how really heart-warming it would be. To come back after four and a half years to find Salem more beautiful than ever — still filled with dear friends is a very wonderful experience."

At the fifth reunion of the class of 1932 Jane Rondthaler, Frances Bowland Flournoy, and Gertrude Schwalbe were the only ones present. We were sorry more girls could not be here.

ANNA BAYLIN MALCOLM, 601 Lamar Ave., Charlotte, N. C., came with Edris McFee Hitch to see us on October 12.

MARILIB CUNNINGHAM ANDREWS, 37 Locust Street, Garden City, N. Y., wrote after spending several months in Europe: "Zaida and several of us had planned to come to reunion but my trip, Jean's wedding, Ginnie's baby all ganged up to prevent our coming. One simply doesn't return from a three months trip and leave home again in a week!"

In the fall I'm looking forward to seeing you all again.

By the way, another one of those ridiculous proofs of the minuteness of this country occurred when we met friends of M. L. Haywood's parents on our cruise to Africa and they were thinking of sending their daughter to Salem College. You should have heard my sales talk."

A Story of Salem College in 1820

LITTLE MISS CAPPO

By Frances Gaither

CATHERINE ANNE comes by horseback to Winston-Salem for her first year in school. With her you are introduced to the dormitory life, the class room, all the quaint and charming customs of the day, — “comeafters,” “day keepers,” and the “pleasure garden.”

IT IS a fascinating story built out of existing records of the earliest days of Salem College! Every detail has been carefully checked, and the result is an invaluable picture of early 19th century school life in old Salem.

THE book is illustrated with many drawings by Hildegard Woodward.

1938 BRINGS A REJUVENATED RECORD

The staff of the Alumnae Record wishes every Salem Alumna A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

We wish also to ask for your criticism of the present size, shape and general attitude of the Alumnae Record.

As you see, the magazine has been made a little smaller in actual square-inch size, but it has grown fatter by eight pages. According to the current trend in "above-the-average" magazines, this size ought to please most readers. Please be frank, however, in your judgement of the new Record, because it can easily be changed back to its former tallness and thinness, and nobody's feelings will be hurt.

The cover has been made of heavier paper; the print has been increased to 10 point rather than 8 point type (for the benefit of near-sighted ones); and an attempt is being made to gather Salem news from all parts of the world rather than from all parts of the state or campus.

Any suggestions for further improvement will be sincerely appreciated and will be taken into immediate consideration. The two things we are striving for at present are: a standard size for the Record, and an artistic cover page, which will now and then be printed in color.

The aim of any alumnae magazine is to collect and publish news of students who have left their alma mater and who are therefore, unlikely to keep in close touch with each other. It is almost impossible, however, for a small group of editors, living under the very eaves of the college, to get very much alumnae news, that is really "cosmopolitan" without the help of the alumnae themselves.

When you are planning an exciting trip to the tropics (or to S. C., Va., New York, etc.), or if you think you will write a book (or poem, article, etc), or even if you will get married, or something, please just send a note of your accomplishments to the Alumnae Record.

It takes a great deal of money to publish each issue of this little magazine, and we don't have too much to spend, but with a lot of co-operation from you all, we will not only put a new face on the Record but will try to put new life inside.

Best wishes, The Editors.

"HOUSE WARMING" FOR NEW LIBRARY BUILDING FEBRUARY 4TH SET FOR SALEM FOUNDERS' DAY AND OPENING OF NEW LIBRARY.

By the time this issue of the Record has been received, the New Salem Library Building will have been "warmed" officially by local alumnae and interested citizens, and will be in every day use by Salem College and Academy students and faculty. The opening ceremony is to take place on February 4; in connection with the Founders' Day Celebration and the annual meeting of the Winston-Salem Alumnae Branch.

Mrs. William K. Hoyt (Miriam Efrid), Branch President, will be in charge of the meeting, which is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock p. m., in the "lecture room" of the new building. The meeting will be made as short as possible in order to leave time for festivities later on, in which festivities the entire community will be invited to join.

A brief ceremony of presentation will take place around eight o'clock, before a gathering of special guests and alumnae. Immediately following this ceremony, the building will be thrown open to the public, and refreshments will be served downstairs.

It will be an exciting Salem-Day-Night for the city and college people who have been working like Trojans, and generous Trojans, at that, to complete the Library project. Now that it is no longer "a project" but a reality, it gives us the greatest pleasure to invite every alumna in the country to come and see the new Library and make the February 4th House Warming complete.

WILLIAM ROSE BENET

CONTEMPORARY POET, CRITIC, EDITOR, WILL VISIT SALEM
FEBRUARY 3RD.

William Rose Benet will lecture and read from his poems to a Salem College and Academy audience on February 3rd, in Memorial Hall. Mr. Benet follows Miss Helen Howe, dramatic monologist, and Edward Weeks, Atlantic Monthly Editor, on the Salem Lecture Series of 1937-38, and Louis Untermeyer, Julien Bryan, and Christopher Morley, on the Series of 1936-37.

As author of "Golden Fleece," "Rip Tide," "A Novel in Verse," "Starry Harness," and other volumes, William Rose Benet will be an interesting visitor on the Salem Campus.

In the renaissance of American poetry, just before the late Great War, he played a not inconsiderable part. The late Amy Lowell, Sara Teasdale, Vachel Lindsay, and Edwin Arlington Robinson were valued friends of his. Louis Untermeyer, the chief anthologist and commentator upon American poetry, is a friend of long standing. So is Alfred Kreymborg, who brilliantly championed all the experimentation of that era. Mr. Benet's second wife, the late Elinor Wylie, established herself as one of the leading American poets in the United States. His brother, Steven Vincent Benet, is the well known author of "John Brown's Body."

Coming from a long line of military men, both Steven Vincent and William Rose Benet early turned to literature. They inherited their love of it chiefly from their father, Colonel James Walker Benet, of the U. S. Army, who, in his private life, was a man enormously well-read, with keen literary judgment.

A province that William Rose Benet has made peculiarly his own is that of narrative poetry, exemplified by his many adaptations of the ballad, ransacking the history of the world for his material, from that of ancient Egypt and the Italian Renaissance down to the fantasies of that early American outlaw, Jesse James, and the cowboy of the Old West.

"IT'S UP TO YOU!"

Says Grace Sloan Overton

The following is an excerpt from an article by Nettie Allen Thomas, (A. B., 1928), which appeared in the November issue of the magazine "Allied Youth."

The girls wanted to know what to do about this question of social drinking. Nettie Allen Thomas reports an informal conference between Mrs. Grace Sloan Overton and students at Salem College, in Winston-Salem, N. C., typical of those Mrs. Overton has conducted on 42 college and university campuses this year.

"Then, if you really feel you must drink, it's up to you!"

With a gracious smile that acknowledged each of the seven girls as an almost

-adult personality, Mrs. Overton brought the discussion to a close.

"It's up to you," she said with simple finality.

That gave a surprisingly new outlook to the whole muddled matter of how to meet the cocktail.

By ones and twos and threes they had been discussing it all fall. Jane and Isabel had already decided that the cocktail could be safely used "if not abused."

"No drinking for me!" was Marian's pronouncement.

LOUISA BITTING BUILDING, SALEM COLLEGE.

The other girls were keeping open minds, waiting at least until the question of drinking became an issue to make up their minds.

Now, they sat still for a moment, thinking.

Discussions about drinking shouldn't end this way! Leaving the matter up to you, instead of laying down hard and fast rules for you to argue about, was rather like dropping a squalling infant in your lap. You had to do something about it. If adults were going to hold you responsible for your choice of drinking or not drinking . . . well, here was a matter that merited serious consideration.

Mrs. Overton narrated how she had seen four girls on different occasions refuse alcoholic drinks.

"No, thank you," said the first, grimly. "I don't drink, and I have my opinion of those who do." Wise as her decision to avoid the use of alcohol was, she had violated good taste by casting a reflection upon her hostess and other guests.

"No, thank you," said the second, with an uncertain laugh. "I wouldn't dare, I haven't the nerve." Those who heard this statement felt sorry for the girl's expressed lack of control.

"I wouldn't mind," said the third, "but my parents would have a fit!" She was being unfair to father and mother, caricaturing them in a sense before her friends.

"No, thank you," said the fourth, with a smile as she passed the glass.

"Which one," Mrs. Overton asked, "exhibited the best example of social adequacy and control?"

This leader of youth, confidante of thousands of young men and young women, guest of 42 college and university student bodies since September, 1936, believes out of her own experience that for youth ultimatums are out.

She says, "We must help young people to achieve the process of morality instead of demanding of them its results."

Mrs. Overton observes a noticeable change in the manner in which drinking is viewed among college young people. A few years ago there was no real question about it in the minds of youth. Today, it is coming to be a point of conflict in many places where students gather.

HATTIE BUTNER

Through the combined efforts of Salem Academy, Salem College, and the local Chamber of Commerce, the old stage coach, "Hattie Butner" was brought out of its hiding place in Miss Adelaide Fries' barn, and given a last ride around Salem Square on December 13. The historic old vehicle was then placed permanently in the new Hall of History, which now adjoins the Wachovia Museum on South Main Street.

"Hattie Butner" originally belonged to Mr. E. T. Clemmons, who named it after his wife, Hattie Butner Clemmons. The stagecoach ran between Salem and "Hattie Butner" load its passengers.

The old stage was drawn by horses up Main Street, driven into the square and stopped directly before Main Hall, which was the newest dormitory building at the academy at that time.

Singing Christmas carols, giving each other bright presents, and bidding goodbye to teachers and friends on the porch, six students from the present Salem Academy, dressed in traveling costumes, carrying footwarmers and quaint hat-boxes, drove away in the coach. Those who took leading parts in the pageant were all connected in some way with the Salem Academy of former years. Miss Nancy McMillan, of Knoxville, Tenn., who follows in the footsteps of her great-great-grandmother and an aunt, was one of the "last riders" in the coach. Others were: Miss Eleanor Wright, of Baltimore, Md., whose great-grandmother from South Carolina, was here before her; Jane Page Walker, of Asheboro, who follows her grandmother and her mother at Salem; Miss Helen Millis, of High Point, whose mother attended Salem, Miss Ann Siler, of Verona, N. J., who comes from a long list of loyal Salemites who resided in the western part of this state, her great-grandmother, grandmother, and an aunt; and Jeanne Gartrell, of Oakland, N. J., the daughter of a former Salem student from Atlanta, Ga.

High Point, Old Fort, Asheville, and further west during the pre-civil war period and later in the 19th century.

The celebration itself was most impressive, in spite of a rainy, dismal day. A brief pageant — beginning at 3:45 p. m., on the porch of Main Hall, showed how a Christmas holiday "leave-taking" between those few pupils who were able to go home by stage and the greater majority of pupils and teachers who remained at Salem during an 1858 Christmas might have looked to townspeople gathered in the square to watch the

The part of Robert de Schweinitz, then Principal of Salem, was taken by Arthur Spaugh, with Mrs. Howard Rondthaler, as Mrs. de Schweinitz. Mrs. de Schweinitz, complete with black bonnet and shawl belonging to Mrs. Christian Jacobson, and Dr. de Schweinitz, complete with a grey beard and spectacles, bid the travelers farewell, and helped them into the trunk-loaded coach. Mr. Elizabeth Meinung and Miss Helen Vogler chaperoned them on their supposed trip home. And away they went, with Ed Anderson cracking his whip at the horses, and B. J. Pfohl blowing the stage horn to notify the townspeople that the Hattie Butner was riding again!

EMMA BAHNSON CALLS ON ANNIE COUNCIL

THEIR HALF-HOUR'S CONVERSATION COVERED SEVENTY YEARS OF SALEM MEMORIES

"They want our pictures for the paper, Annie, and I think they're going to label us "Oldest Living Alumnae," said Mrs. Emma Fries Bahnsen, of Winston-Salem, as she greeted her former Salem schoolmate, Mrs. Annie Carter Council, of Hickory, N. C., visiting her grand-daughter in the city.

"Well, we're not the oldest," Mrs. Council laughed. "Miss Alice Springs of Charlotte, is the oldest . . ."

"But we're not far behind Miss Alice," this from Mrs. Bahnsen.

The two women who were chatting together in Mrs. V. B. Ingram's (Mrs. Council's grand-daughter) parlor early in December, had known each other since childhood. A little girl named Emma Fries used to go up to Happy Valley, to visit her relatives there and to "swing on grape-vine swings" with a little girl named Annie Carter. Then they both came to Salem Academy, Emma Fries graduating in 1870 and Annie Carter in 1871.

Annie Carter (Mrs. Council), is a frequent visitor in Winston-Salem, where her grand-daughter, Mrs. Ingram, lives. On one of her earlier trips she came down to the college with Mrs. Bahnsen and together they looked at the partly changed and partly left-just-as-it was Salem Campus. They are not alumnae who complain that "times are not like they used to be" and that "the girls don't have as much fun as we used to." Rather they seem to be almost as much pleased with the additions to the campus and curriculum as they are to remember the Salem Academy of their generation.

"Nohody was more surprised than I was to finish Salem," said Mrs. Council with a chuckle. "Maybe they pushed me along a little, or did something, hut they finally gave me the diploma. Mr. Grunert must have been surprised, too, because he certainly looked at it when he called my name."

"Old Mr. Grunert, the principal, was a German, you know," said Mrs. Council, "and he had a broad flat face that a smile fitted on. He used to give one examination a year. That was all . . ."

"And it didn't make any difference whether or not you passed it," broke in Mrs. Bahnsen. "I remember Mr. Grunert used to sit up on the platform and ask the questions one after another, and each time he would just smile as much as to say, I know you don't know the answer to this one. And we usually didn't."

"Emma," said Mrs. Council, "you were blessed in that you had such a fine teacher, a Miss Reichel. My teachers were all right, but they just weren't Miss Reichels."

The interesting reminiscences continued. "There weren't many railroads then . . ." "It took us two days and a half to come from Happy Valley to Salem." "Pilot Mountain used to look beautiful as it loomed up in the distance . . ." "My sister-in-law, Mrs. Alice Council, was a classmate of Mrs. Stonewall Jackson . . ." "I remember my grandfather Fries spoke German himself and taught all of his Negro slaves to speak German . . ." "The Yankees stopped in Happy Valley and destroyed my uncle's mill, and then came on down to Salem, but they didn't bother the Academy . . ."

And so they covered seventy-odd years of history during the afternoon, but they told each other goodbye as gaily as two Salem girls of 1937-38.

HERE AND THERE AMONG THE ALUMNAE

Several of our Branch Associations have met, but in some cases no report for the Alumnae Record has been sent in to date. We would be glad to hear something of these meetings in detail.

RALEIGH

The Raleigh Branch met on December 8th for a luncheon at the Woman's Club. New officers elected were president, Mrs. Thomas Ruffin (Leona W. Lambertson); vice-president, Mrs. James A. Hartness (Annie Sloan); secretary, Mrs. Frank Bynum (Lula Stockard); treasurer, Margaret Vass.

RICHMOND

The Richmond, Virginia, Branch met on December 7th with Mrs. J. A. Vance (Edith Hunt). New officers elected were Mrs. J. Thomas Stevenson, president; Mrs. J. A. Vance, vice-president; Mrs. J. O. Flournoy (Frances Bowland), treasurer; and Mrs. R. L. Potts (Mattie Lou Hay), secretary.

KINSTON

The Kinston Branch met on November 10, 1937 at the home of Mrs. Claude Carrow (Hattie Jones), with Helen Hodges Carrow and Hattie Carrow, as associate hostesses. Mrs. Jack Wooten (Grace Pollock), presided.

WASHINGTON, D. C.

The "Salem Spirit" was manifested again on Monday night, November 8, 1937 when the Washington, D. C. Branch of Salem College Alumnae met at the home of Mrs. Harry Councilor (Mildred Fleming), in Alexandria, Va. This home is one of the old colonial houses in old Alexandria and has been beautifully restored and redecorated and the quaint fireplaces and wide-boarded floors brought to us memories of the quiet beauty and dignity of colonial Salem and made everyone feel at home.

Mrs. Tyre Taylor (Eva Louise Flowers), presided during the business session, after which the meeting was turned into a pleasant social occasion with everyone telling interesting news of Salem friends.

The next meeting will be held in January with Shuford Carlton and Mabel Mehaffy as hostesses.—Mrs. Paul Barkley (Mary Brewer), secretary.

(Alumnae of Washington and vicinity who have not been in touch with the Branch Association there and wish to join, should send their names and addresses to Mrs. Barkley at 1323 N. Vernon St., Arlington, Va.)

BETHLEHEM

The Leligh Valley Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association met November 13, 1937 in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, at the home of Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton (Pauline Petersen). The Misses Louise and Isabel Rice were hostesses and Mrs. Howard E. Rondthaler was the ever-welcome and always-charming guest of honor. Routine business was conducted and resulted in the election of a new vice-president and treasurer, according to provisions of the constitution adopted last year. Miss Josephine Ritter, '37, was chosen vice-president; Mrs. Roy Grams (Ruth Pfohl '27), treasurer.

In reply to the request that the Alumnae Office be permitted to keep the twenty-five cent branch dues, it was voted to retain only ten cents of the twenty-five in the local treasury. Plans were made to hold a covered-dish supper on February 3rd at the home of Mrs. Ira Ross (Katherine Ross), the proceeds to be used for a section of steel shelves in the new Salem Library.

The Branch Association was delighted to receive as new members: Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, Mrs. Roy Grams, Miss Mary Schlegel, ex-'34, Miss Josephine Ritter and Miss Gertrude Albrecht, ex-'40).

Mrs. Rondthaler gave many delightful and enlightening insights into life and improvements at Salem, and if there was anyone present who did not have anything to say, we did not hear her!

In addition to those already mentioned, the following were present: Miss Margaret Schwarze, Mrs. W. N.

Schwarze (Ethel Greider), Miss Sara Rathbun, Mrs. Dorothy Cliff (Dorothy Strohmeier), Miss Julia Crawford, Miss Emma G. Heath (formerly nurse at Salem), Mrs. Raymond Hauptert (Estelle McCannless, '23), and Miss Elizabeth Marx.

—Elizabeth Marx, Secretary.

CHARLOTTE

The Charlotte Branch of the Salem College Alumnae Association met on November 17th at the home of Mrs. James Hohhs, president of the chapter.

The minutes of the last meeting were heard, after which Mrs. Vernon Stanley (Jennie Wolfe), read a letter from the treasurer of the General Alumnae Association regarding a change in the by-laws providing that the alumnae dues of $1.00 be sent direct to Salem College with no retention by the chapter. The association voted to make this change in the by-laws.

Mrs. James Grey (Margaret Smith), who is keeping the roll of members up to date, asked for any information about new members or changes in address of present members.

Miss Margaret McLean, Field Secretary of Salem College, was guest speaker. She brought greetings from Salem and urged members to revisit the Campus at any time. In discussing the library building, now nearing completion, she spoke of the need of furnishings, particularly shelves, and asked that the members of the Branch Association agree to purchase one or more sections of shelves for their project for the year. She explained that these shelves may be given as a memorial. The group voted to take one section of steel shelves for the Charlotte Association. Miss Alice Springs, oldest member of the Branch Association, gave a section in memory of her sisters; Mrs. George Roscoe (Olive I. Williams), gave a shelf in memory of her sister; Mrs. James A. Hill (Daphne Raper) gave two shelves; Nancy and Laura Hohhs gave a shelf in memory of their grandmother.

Miss McLean told of the splendid work which the Salem College Choral Ensemble is doing under the direction of Mr. Clifford Bair. The group voted to sponsor a concert of the Choral Ensemble in co-operation with the Charlotte Music Club, Mrs. Mary Justice Sherrer, president. It was also voted to entertain the members of the Choral Ensemble at a buffet supper following the concert and Mesdames Charles Ross (Margaret Miller), Van Patterson (Ruth Kilbuck), T. M. Abbott (Lydia Lambeth), George Hamilton (Octavia Hine), John Halliburton (Gladys Trazzare), and George Westbrook (Louise Hine), were asked to make arrangements for the supper. Misses Virginia Neely and Covington Cole were appointed to decorate the church for the concert.

After the business session a social hour was enjoyed at which time the hostess served a tea course, assisted by Miss Ernestine Thies, vice-president; Mrs. Vernon Stanley, secretary-treasurer, Mrs. James Gray (Margaret Smith), and Misses Nancy and Laura Hobbs, daughters of the hostess. The next meeting will be held in February.

DALLAS, TEXAS

The Salem Alumnae of Dallas, Texas, met on November 3rd, at the home of Mrs. T. L. Bradford, Jr. Mrs. W. H. Kindred, presided; Mrs. Curt Beck read the minutes of the last meeting which was held in June, 1934. Mrs. Beck also read a tribute to Mrs. John N. Wharton, deceased.

The election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Wm. F. Tyree; secretary, Mrs. Robert Ledbetter. Mrs. H. L. Edwards requested that the above mentioned tribute be sent to the Alumnae Record. Members present at the meeting were Mrs. H. L. Edwards (Caro Buxton), Mrs. Curt Beck (Anna Buxton), Mrs. Will Carroll (Evelyn Curtis), Mrs. W. H. Kindred (Lucy Wharton), Mrs. R. C. Ledbetter (Francis Benners), Mrs. L. W. Ingalls (Violet Simpson), Mrs. Sol Dreyfus (Ruth Smith), Mrs. Wm. F. Tyree (Lillian Gosling), Judge Sarah Tilghman Hughes (Sarah Tilghman), Mrs. E. C. Scott (Emma Faust), and the hostess, Mrs. T. L. Bradford, Jr. (Lena Meador), and Mrs. Eli Sanger, sister of the hostess. A letter of greeting from Mrs. W. L. Bitting, who was in California at the time, was read.—Mrs. Wm. F. Tyree, president, 3904 Rawlins St., Dallas, Texas.

RESOLUTION

Annie Lang was born March 29th, 1865, near Mt. Sterling, Alabama. Her parents were William Wallace Lang and Fannie Turner Lang. They moved to Texas after the civil war, traveling hither in covered wagons, and settling on the Brazos River, near Marlin. Annie and her sister attended Salem Academy, making the journey by stage coach.

In December 1879, Annie married John Newton Wharton. Mr. and Mrs. Wharton were of the prominent pioneers of what is now Dallas, Texas, and resided, all of their married life in the Oak Cliff section of the city, where she died on November 28, 1936.

In the passing of Mrs. Wharton, Salem College lost one of its most devoted supporters and a most loyal friend. Her cheerfulness and sincere friendliness made every one feel that life had been enriched by knowing Mrs. Wharton. Her kind are few and far between, and one is consoled in her absence by remembering what a glorious person she was. I never met Mrs. Wharton anywhere that she had a tale of woe to tell. I know she must have had a heavy heart often, but she never shared her troubles with the people she encountered. She loved to talk about Salem and her school days, which was one of the reasons she never seemed to grow old. Her outlook was always fresh, and I might say, girlish.

To me, Miss Lora Cowart and Mrs. Wharton constituted the Salem Alumnae here. All of the other members just met with them. And now that they are gone, we seem to have lost our inspiration. It was fun to meet them. Th's, I know, would not have been their wish. We should meet and try to keep in memory the attributes for which these two grand women were known.—Mrs. Curt Beck (Anna Buxton).

CLASS NOTES

1894

Mrs. Z. N. Anderson (Jeannie Anderson), of Mocksville, N. C. recently presented Salem College with a flax wheel which has been placed in the Office Building. This wheel was made sometime between 1840 and 1850.

Margaret McLean heard recently from Margaret Hopkins Bauer. She writes interestingly as follows: "I was graduated from Portia Law School, Boston, last June with the degree LL.D. cum laude. July 1st, I was appointed Secretary to the Dean. Our school is a very interesting one, being the only law school in the world exclusively for women. Our College of Liberal Arts is new; having been founded in 1936. We are situated on historic Beacon Hill, almost in the shadow of the State House.

Although New England is my home by adoption, Salem is really home to me, and my love for Salem College never lessens. Distance, of course, keeps me from visiting the College, but I am always there in spirit and eagerly look for the Alumnae Record with its news of people I know."

1907

Salem received a nice letter recently from Helen Streett Brown, Mrs. Alexander Paul Brown, 4206 Roland Ave., Baltimore, Maryland. Following a visit to the Campus, she wrote as follows: "It was with the greatest of pleasure that I retraced my steps through the halls of Salem and over the beautiful campus to the new Academy, which is such a marvelous transformation compared with the old building. Sixteen years since I graduated and it seems only yesterday — until I viewed the changes, which are all improvements, — then it makes me think it should have been twice as long to have accomplished so much. Salem today is certainly a beautiful spot, but I am sure it cannot be any more inspirational than it was sixteen years ago. With all its new dress, it seems to have retained the simplicity, the peace, and the beauty of bygone days. My visit brought back so vividly many happy memories which I shall retain until I am permitted to return again."

Helen has one little boy, age one year. In her spare time she does social work for the Department of Public Welfare.

The old legal restrictions and moral arguments have lost strength with youth. In their place have come newer discoveries of science.

The weight of social pressure to adopt the mode of moderate drinking is balanced in the scales by the weight of social science which asks for a thoughtful consideration of the facts.

STATION WLW

A 30-minute program about Winston-Salem and Salem College will be presented on January 28 at 11:15 o'clock over WLW, Cincinnati, called "A Welcome to Winston-Salem. This broadcast is one in a series describing various cities in the United States.

HOUSE PARTY FOR REUNION CLASSES

Just before Christmas a committee composed of Blevins Vogler, Secretary of '34; Josephine Gribbin, vice-president of '34; Peggy Brawley, treasurer of '34; Elizabeth Trotman, secretary of '35; Betty Bahnson, vice-president of '35; Mary Lib Walston, vice-president of '36; Eleanor Sue Cox, treasurer of '37; and Jacqueline Ray, secretary of '37, had dinner at the Academy for the purpose of discussing a suitable date for class reunions in 1938. Although several girls seemed to favor commencement, most of them decided against that date and against May Day because both of those week-ends seem to be too crowded for the alumnae to talk with each other and with the faculty. After discussion of various week-ends, March the twelfth was set for the reunion of all alumnae beginning with the class of 1933. The Alumnae Banquet will be held at six-thirty, after which there will be some form of special entertainment.

In choosing a suitable date for reunions, the committee especially considered the out-of-town girls and came to the conclusion that more girls could come to Salem on March the twelfth than on any other week-end during the spring.

Plans for the biggest reunion ever held at the Academy are being formulated, and the committee is hoping that all the graduates who have reunions this year will make a special effort to be at the Alumnae House Party.

The house party will not eliminate the Alumnae Banquet at Commencement, to which every graduate of the Academy is cordially invited.

NEWS OF ACADEMY ALUMNAE

Tempe Ellen Roberts after a long silence wrote a letter which was appreciated. The girls whom she knew will be interested in the following excerpts from her letter: "Many, many times in my life I have thought of Salem and I can sincerely say that some of the happiest days of my life were spent there. I have always been proud to say that I graduated from Salem Academy. After finishing at Salem I attended Harvard University and there I studied Physical Education. I continued my studies in this work along with dramatics at The Marjorie Webster Schools and I received my degree in 1925. For three years following I taught Expression and was Director of Physical Education at Blackstone College in Blackstone, Va. From there I came to Rust Hall, a school for girls, in the same capacity. I spent five wonderful years at Rust Hall. The school closed in 1933. Since that time I have been employed by Uncle Sam. The pay checks come in very regularly but I have missed my real work so much." NEW SALEM BOOKS

"HOUSES OF PEACE"

BY E. M. ELLER

Being a Historical, Legendary and Contemporary Account of the Moravians and Their Settlement of Salem in North Carolina.

"In 'Houses of Peace' the writer, E. M. Eller, has accomplished an unusual combination of exact historic fact and genuine inward spirit. This combination makes for both trustworthiness, so necessary in a historical narrative, and also for reality of spirit and emotion, so gripping and satisfying. This volume has no disappointments, — something which cannot always be said about a new book dealing with time-seasoned facts."

A Story of Salem College in 1820 LITTLE MISS CAPPO

By Frances Gaither

CATHERINE ANNE comes by horseback to Winston-Salem for her first year in school. With her you are introduced to the dormitory life, the class room, all the quaint and charming customs of the day, — "come-afters," "day keepers," and the "pleasure garden."

IT IS a fascinating story built out of existing records of the earliest days of Salem College! Every detail has been carefully checked, and the result is an invaluable picture of early 19th century school life in old Salem. The book is illustrated with many drawings.

The Salem Alumnae Record

DR. HOWARD E. RONDTHALER

From a portrait by Albert Salzbrener, which hangs in Main Hall, Salem College

Dear Salem Alumnae,

The November Issue of the Record wishes to thank those of you who sent compliments and suggestions about its new size and shape. It also is most appreciative of the several dollars received recently by the alumnae office for its maintenance.

As you will see, this issue is especially concerned with alumnae news. An effort was made to get stories by Salem girls in foreign countries; and newspapers, magazines, letters, and peoples' memories were searched for items to print in "Class Notes." Consequently, the number of pages had to be increased by four, and a few more pictures were used than is customary.

Future issues, however, cannot continue to grow fat and fancy if the Record is not soon able to "make its own living." Last year, approximately $150 was sent by conscientious alumnae in payment of their dues, and this amount barely paid for the fall and winter numbers of the magazine. The college had to "eek out" money for this and the one remaining issue.

Now is the time for dues to be paid again. (It comes every spring, in spite of everything we can do.) One dollar from every alumnae to whom we send the Record would mean $3,000 — we distribute that many copies — and one-half of this amount would go into the publication of next year's Record. Think what kind of book we could print for $1,500! A veritable encyclopedia of alumnae news.

We know that spring is a bad time to have to pinch a dollar. But summer, fall and winter are just as hard. And this is the first of the month.

The next copy of the Record will be published early in June and will be the 1938 Commencement Issue.

Sincerely yours, The Editors.

LAURA PRICE WOLL, EX. '31, Writes:

"Our little son, Richard Guerrant, is definitely a part of 'our work,' and the natives think he is wonderful, because he was born right here in Africa . . ." The baby is held by Rev. George Rhode, Director of the Fellowship.

I've intended to write before concerning our work here in Africa, but since I haven't I hope you'll pardon the delay. As a matter of fact, there's a great deal more to write about now than there was, for we have entered into a phase of our work during the past few months, about which I believe my friends at Salem, will be interested to hear.

No doubt you have heard already about the birth of our little son, Richard Guerrant, but just in case you hadn't, I mention it; for taking care of him is definitely a part of "our work," and a most enjoyable part too. He is really a little dear, and the natives think he's wonderful, because he was born right here in Africa.

Perhaps one of the most interesting things about me, to some of you, is the fact that I am a missionary at all.

Now picture a scene like this. A native woman, wearing all the marks of heathenism on her body and her face, is sitting on the ground listening to new and strange words as they fall from the lips of an interpreter, our cook. She is of the Nandi tribe, an arrogant people, last to be conquered by the British, who rule this colony. Her four companions, dressed like herself, have "gone away sorrowful" not willing to pay the price of accepting the "good news" which they listened to for a little while. But this one is hearing, no doubt, those words which her heart has longed to hear, that there is a God who loves, and who loves her so dearly that He gave His own Son, to die for her sins. Yes, she knows what sin is but she never heard before who Jesus is — and now she knows, and knowing, she believes.

Many such scenes could be pictured to you. They take place often in this country where there are so many who have never heard, or have never before heeded. This particular incident took place while my husband was out, going from hut to hut in the Reserve from which this woman had come. She had come to grind her corn at the mill of one of the settlers. Most of them use this corn to make a beer, of which they consume great quantities. In three months after their good harvest, they will be starved, and will do anything for food.

We had started out several days before, having packed our camping equipment into the back of our large box body car, and having settled the baby in his little canvas bed which swings from the ceiling and rocks him to sleep as we travel. We had gone thirty miles from

33'S DOINGS IN NEW YORK CITY

BY MARY LOUISE MICKEY

"Get some action in that story," Dr. Willoughby used to tell me, so I'll begin with the bargain tables at Macy's Department Store. New Yorkers are generally agreed that all who live through one excursion among said tables can meet most of life's hardships; two trips make one ready for front line duty in the next war; and the fact that Ghilan Hall is assistant manager of some 130 girls hovering over these first-floor "pieces de resistance" makes her a heroine of well-earned note. Long ago I gave up hope of ever trying to find her at the store, for she's always busy and as hard to find as the mate to a bargain-counter glove. Mary B. Williams and I did manage, however, to spend an evening visiting in her Greenwich Village apartment.

Mary B., by the way, just telephoned, and before I start out to meet her for a matinee, I'll have to tell you about her recent appearances at the swanky Bowman Room of the Biltmore. She was asked to sing there on two successive nights and won a prize in the entertainers' contest conducted by Horace Heidt. Those of us who have loved her and her singing ways ever since earlier days at Salem are pleased but not surprised to see folks here also responding to her charms. Her last appearance to date was before a group of Pennsylvania Railroad executives who seemed willing enough to miss their home-going electric trains to hear her encores.

On March 23rd in Carnegie Hall, the magnificent St. John Passion was given by the "Schole Cantorum" and in this famous group of singers was Adelaide Van Wey, better known to us as "Babe" — who is steadily becoming more and more widely known in New York's musical world. It's a hard world to enter and a harder one in which to gain recognition, but knowing Babe's talents and determination, I understand why she has already succeeded and why her future promises greater things.

To answer your question about my own occupation: the editorial department of "Time Magazine," where I'm now working as a Researcher proves to be one of the most fascinating places I've ever seen. My five-day week begins on Thursday and ends when the last stories have gone to press about midnight (or after) on the following Monday. The job has two objectives: to gather information for the writers and then to check on the veracity of the facts used. In gathering the news I've recently interviewed a variety of persons ranging from the executive secretary of New York's fish market to His Highness, Prince Winfried Musa Tete-Ansa from West Africa's Gold Coast. When it's time to check up on facts, I wade around for hours in a sea of Encyclopedia Britannicas, Daniel Websters, Who's Who (in America and Timbuctu) newspapers, etc. Just as I was ready to leave the office today the writer of the Animal columns offered the day's most puzzling question — "whether or not the natives of the Fiji Islands kill sharks by kissing them on their stomachs." Please interview Salem's masterminds and wire me "collect." I'm desperately in need of the answer; and so for "Auld Lang Syne" and for old "Time's" sake, help me out.

With love to everyone at Salem,

Mary Louise.

I LIVE IN VENEZUELA

"The Two Future Salemites Are Frances Atherton Horne and Elizabeth Cary Horne."

"My husband and I left the U. S. A. first in 1928. We made our home in Barranquilla, Colombia for a year and a half. From there we went to Cali, Colombia, where we stayed two years. Both of these places are lovely and we enjoyed our experiences in each. Barranquilla is situated on the Magdalena River only a short distance from the Caribbean Sea. It is the most important sea port on the northern coast of Colombia. The climate is very warm. The altitude is not much above sea level. In order to reach Cali we had two courses from which to choose. My husband went by plane and I by steamship. I took my first daughter, at the age of three months, on a steamship journey from New York to Panama, through the Panama Canal and down the Pacific Coast of Colombia to Buenaventura which is Colombia's chief Pacific sea port. From there we journeyed over the western range of the Andes into the beautiful Cauca Valley. We found Cali to be just about ideal. The altitude is 3500 feet, making the year round climate comparable to early May in North Carolina.

We came to Venezuela in 1932. Our home is located across Lake Maracaibo from the city of Maracaibo in a big oil field. The three oil companies operating concessions in this territory are the Standard, the Royal Dutch Shell and the Gulf. The Royal Dutch Shell wells are on land, the Gulf and the Standard oil wells are drilled in the lake, some near the shore and some as far as six miles from shore. The enormous compressor plants, flow stations, derricks, etc., are all built on concrete piles driven in the bottom of the lake, sometimes in water as deep as 50 feet. The enormity of the whole thing is difficult to realize even right in the midst of it. Every screw, pipe, pile, reel of cable, piece of heavy machinery has to be loaded on boats, hauled to the given location, unloaded and put in place. Everything is operated by electricity. Approximately one third of the several hundred derricks are wired and provided with electric current. The oil tankers which take the oil away are pumped full by electric pumps. There is a high voltage line on steel towers which are supported by piles driven in the bottom of the lake. This is 25 miles long. The power plants are large enough to furnish a city of 250,000 people with electricity.

Lake Maracaibo is quite a body of water. It is 25 miles wide at this point and is 125 miles long. Our shopping center is Maracaibo. In order to go there we must travel about 25 miles in a motor launch. We go in the morning and come back in the afternoon. There are two regular weekly round trips.

The year is divided into two seasons; wet from May to November and dry from November to May. During the dry season there is almost no rain and the northeast trade winds provide an almost continuous and delightful breeze. During the wet season there is usually a heavy shower once a day and the only breezes are storms. In spite of this difference in the seasons the year round temperature is remarkably uniform, averaging slightly less than ninety degrees and almost never exceeding ninety-two degrees.

The oil companies take care of their foreign (us) staff in camps. The houses are built in tropical style, mostly veranda. We have all of the necessities, gas, water, electricity furnished by the company. Fortunately it is not necessary to adopt the native standard of living, which, since we are distant from any town of importance, includes such omissions as water supply, gas and sewerage disposal, and the local electric supply is about of the vintage of 1905.

We have many nationalities represented in the various camps. We know quite a few Dutch and English people with the Royal Dutch Shell Oil Company. There are several hundred Americans scattered among the various camps along Lake Maracaibo. They come mostly from the oil producing states, but nearly every state is represented. We are the only Tar Heels. We have also Germans, Norwegians, Canadians, Scotch, Austrians, Colombians and Venezuelans. Native labor is grouped around the oil camps in a series of small villages, having a total population of nearly 20,000.

My husband and I have been studying Spanish, which is the language of both Colombia and Venezuela, for the past ten years. We speak it fairly well, not too many grammatical errors. My oldest daughter who is now nearly eight, speaks it well and reads it also. The little one, three and a half, who was born here, speaks some and understands it.

The social life here is quite nice. Each of the camps has a club. There are frequent dances at one club or another. We have two golf courses nearby, also a beautiful swimming pool and tennis courts. I confine my sports to golf and tennis. My husband plays quite a bit of tennis and fishes. My children favor swimming.

We have a small Sunday School which some of us ladies sponsor and keep going. A missionary from a Congregationalist Mission in Maracaibo makes regular visits to our Sunday School. I am trying to teach the adult class now. There is an Episcopal Mission Church in Maracaibo. The religion of the country is Catholic. The Catholics among the foreigners attend the local Catholic Churches.

We have a small but excellent school; American teachers, eight grades with an active P. T. A. The student body is made up of many nationalities, Frances is getting along nicely with her school work. She is in the fourth grade.

One thing which is my particular hobby is gardening. I have had flower gardens in each place in which I have lived. I love to work with plants and have always had good luck. The flora of this part of the world is most interesting and beautiful. I will mention a few of the hundreds of kinds of plants that grow here. We have coconut palms, almonds, divi-divi, oleanders, hibiscus, bougainvillea, poinsettias, various kinds of jasmine, acacia, limes, oranges, bananas, plaintains, yuca, mangos, papaya. The plants grow quickly and flower continuously. One thing peculiar about the flowers is the almost total absence of odor except in the case of tube roses and some of the orchids.

The fauna is as interesting and numerous as the flora. Monkeys, several varieties of wild cats, puma, ocelot, small tigers, small leopards, deer, fox, are found on land. A few alligators in the lake and many kinds of fish; Spanish Mackerel, sheepshead, pompano, corbino, robalo, perch, catfish, maro, etc., abound. There are many and beautiful birds. There are cardinals, mocking-birds,

TALES FROM TAMPA by Mrs. Leroy Cotter [Amy Burson '98] 77

"Minnie Ellis, now Mrs. W. P. Culbreath, came to Salem in 1873, when Mr. Grunert was principal. She remembers Miss Emma Lehman, Misses Lizzie and Emma Chitty, Miss Mary Ann Vogle, Miss Steiner, Amy and Lou Van Vleck and Sallie and Lou Shaffner. So typical of Salem! I knew all but one of the teachers Mrs. Culbreath had—yet I was not even born when she had finished Salem. They taught a long time in those Salem days.

"Mrs. Culbreath will be 80 years old September 3rd. The picture was taken at the time of our first Baptist Church celebrating its 75th anniversary. Mrs. Culbreath was especially honored at that time, as the oldest, in membership, living member. She was wearing a colonial costume, the lace mitts belonging to her husband's mother. I interviewed her for the Record.

"We chatted about many 'old, forgotten, far-off things'—the 'day keepers,' side rooms, room companies, Lovers Leap—the balcony where we girls sat in the Home Church and the 'Buzzards Roost'—the pews in the rear of the church where the boys sat to smile at the girls—the alcoves—the scrub women with steaming buckets of suds—the pot of burning tar that was carried around in Main Hall and other buildings to fumigate them. Salem days of the past came back to us both.

Sallie Bartlett was Minnie's day keeper. Fanny and Betty Thorp, as well as Sallie, all came from Macon.

Minnie Ellis was married in 1881 and came to Tampa to live. She has two sons, both prominent men in this city. Charlie is married and is Clerk of the Court, which office his father filled for many years before his death. Harry, the younger, was overseas for two years during the war. He and his mother live together in a lovely home.

We have twelve more Salem girls living here in Tampa. Georgia Rights Efrid and I graduated with Flora Doak ('99). We found her address and married name, (Mrs. Frank B. Wilson) in the Record some time ago—she lives near Winter Haven—so we drove by to see her.

Gladys Clark Dance recently visited her daughter near Tampa. I had not seen Gladys since she was graduated in 1898. She came in and spent the day with me and we went to the Florida State Fair together. In the crowd we came upon Julia Jones, evangelist Sam Jones' daughter. Laura Jones (1895) was in the 9th room with me, and Jule used to visit her at Salem. Jule is now Mrs. Walter Holcomb, wife of a prominent Methodist minister. They were in charge of a Tampa church some years ago, but are now back in Atlanta, Ga.

So many Salem memories come to me when I write to you of the college. Life is like a chain and so many things link me back at Salem. Years ago some of my "poems" were published in a Salem Female Academy (what a name!) school paper. Some day I am going to send you one to reprint.

HERE AND THERE AMONG THE ALUMNAEBETHLEHEM, PA.

THE TIME: Thursday, February 3, 1938.

THE WEATHER: Fog, Fog, Fog!

THE PLACE: 456 Webster Street Bethlehem, Pennsylvania. A charming home, with a gracious, winning hostess, and Mac who did the gentleman's honors for the evening. Mac is one of those beings who impresses you at first sight with his masculine virility (redundant? no! Just emphatic), and yet with that gentle manner which causes you to react instantly with the comment "Here is a gentleman indeed!" The completeness with which Mac won the hearts of all the Salem girls may be attested by the fact that more than one went into the kitchen more or less slyly to slip Mac a slice of meat. Have you guessed it? Mac is a doberman pincher.

THE OCCASION: Salam Day. A "Covered-Dish" supper to provide a set of shelves for the new Salem Library. Shut your eyes! Five tables with candles, beautiful glass ware, cute little "salt and peppers." In the dining room the large table with a wonderful centerpiece of daffodils, and food — baked beans (Katharine Ross knows how), scalloped potatoes, meat, et al. There was coffee too, and ice cream and pretzels and yellow and white mints.

THE PEOPLE: Salem Alumnae, talking sixty miles an hour. The Lehigh Vally Branch of the Salem Alumnae would sometime like to challenge another branch to a "talk-fest."

Who? — President, Katharine Schlegel, Mrs. Ruth Pfohl Grams, Margaret Schwarze, Mrs. Ethel Greider Schwarze, Mrs. Pauline Peterson Hamilton, Mrs. Katharine Ross, Mrs. Dorothy Stroh-meyer Cliff, Julia Crawford, Elizabeth Bahnsen, Anastasia Bahnsen, Louise and Isabel Rice, Mrs. Estelle McCanless Hauptert, Josephine Ritter, Gertrude Albrecht, Elizabeth Marx, Miss Emma G. Heath, Sara Rathbun. (Sara's comment on receiving the Salemite: "Oh, this will make good bed-time reading.") We thought the editor would appreciate that. There were many other comments on the Salemite, wonder on the part of a previous editor how you were financing two more pages.

VERDICT: This was nice. Let's do it again.

KERNERSVILLE, N. C.

On Feb. 16, the Kernersville Alumnae chapter celebrated Salem "Founders' Day," at a meeting in the Community House with Mesdames Clay Vance Ring (Maud Korner), Gilmer Smith, and Miss Mary Linville as hostesses.

Mrs. Fred Vance (Ilah Albert) presided over the meeting, which opened with devotionals by Mrs. Walser Allen (Nancy Ramsaur). Miss Fannie Lyon Hepler, treasurer, reported dues collected, and Mrs. Ralph Fagg (India McCuiston), secretary, read the minutes.

Committees appointed to serve for the coming year were: Nominating, Mesdames E. B. Parks, Jr., W. C. Stafford and Gilmer Smith; program: Mesdames King Grogan, Ralph Fagg and Walser Allen; Social: Mesdames Erie Hedgecock, C. L. Straughn, James Justice, Jr., and Charles Carter, Jr.

Mrs. Allen, who had been present at the dedication of the new library, gave a vivid picture of this building. Mrs. W. C. Stafford made a delightful book review of "Little Miss Cappo."

Those present at the meeting were: Mesdames Walser Allen, W. C. Stafford, O. L. Joyner, D. L. Donnell, Ralph Fagg, Fred Vance, Erie Hedgecock and Misses Fannie Lyon Hepler and Kathleen Korner.

WORD FROM JACKSONVILLE

A letter from Mrs. W. E. MacArthur (Bessie Wade), 1896, brought news of another Salem alumnae, Mrs. Sam Riggs (Minnie Hanna) 1899, now living in Los Angeles, Calif., 3547 Marmion Way.

Mrs. MacArthur wrote: "Last August while in California I looked up Minnie Hanna, now Mrs. Samuel J. Riggs, and spent many pleasant hours discussing Salem and the happy days spent there from 1896-1899. Mr. Riggs has a responsible position with Los Angeles Transportation Co. Minnie reflects a happy, useful life.

"Mrs. Riggs told me of the sad passing July 15, 1937, of Myrtle Holt, Mrs. Justine Bennett (1899) at her home in San Diego, Calif. Mr. Bennett passed on many years ago. There were two children, Justine, Jr., and Jean Holt Bennett. Jean and Justine are married and have five children.

Mrs. Martin Holt (Minnie's mother), charming and active at the age of 80 years, lives in San Diego with a grandson, Harvey Holt, Jr.

Mrs. MacArthur graciously added, "I enjoyed so much the excellent picture of Mrs. Bahnson and Mrs. Council and the lovely story of Salem memories. A well known writer has said that 'God gave us memories that we might have roses in December.'"

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C.

On February 15, 1938, at 6:00 o'clock p. m., the Salem Alumnae of Rocky Mount held a supper meeting in the Parish House of the Episcopal Church with Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Rondthaler as special guests. Mrs. Dillon Rose, Jr. (ELIZABETH WARD, '31), president of the branch, was in charge of the meeting.

The alumnae smiled with pride as they heard Dr. Rondthaler's descriptions of the new gymnasium, dedicated on Founder's Day 1937, and of the new library opened on Salem Day of this year, 1938.

The officers elected for the incoming year are: President, Mrs. Charles C. Bean, (ANNIE HUGHES WILKINSON, '14); Vice-President, Mrs. Robert Arrington (DOROTHY LEE HARRIS, 120); Secretary and Treasurer, Josephine Whitehead, '37.

Mrs. Annie Carter Council (1870), writes: "I appreciate the Alumnae Record more than you will ever believe. The campus has changed, or at least the location of buildings has, since I was there. The President's House (now Office Building), stood just across the street from the arch where we entered the Academy at the side. Under it was a basement where the orange trees in their white tubs were stored in the winter. I never failed to look at them when I passed.

"I look back to my visit in Salem as among the happiest of my life."

The 50th-year reunion of the class of 1883, held in 1933, was a big success, in spite of the fact that so few members of the class were present. Mrs. Andrew J. Howell (GERTRUDE E. JENKINS), brought with her an up-to-date history of the class and letters from all those who couldn't be present. This year, under the Dix Plan of Reunion, 1883 is again due back at Salem. Mrs. Howell writes as follows:

"I was glad to receive your recent letter regarding another reunion of the Class of '83. I remember that this will be the 55th anniversary and for some time I have been wondering if we could stir up enough 'girls' to reunite. I was sure five years ago that the three local members would be back, but only Mrs. King came. I believe Miss Joyce was ill. Mrs. Lula Gibbs Kirk wrote me that she would certainly try to come to another reunion. Mrs. Seaber comes home every summer and I think she might be persuaded to come for Commencement. Mrs. Tucker doesn't live so far away. Perhaps Mrs. Uzzelle would plan to visit her sister in Winston-Salem.

I hope an effort will be made toward a reunion. We are not really too decrepit. Mrs. Seaber and I were less than sixteen years of age when we graduated!"

Mrs. Howell now lives at 1918 Market Street, Wilmington, N. C. She is writing a "history of N. C. Synodical," soon to be published. She writes proudly that she has five grandchildren.

1887

Salem was glad to hear from LUTA C. BEWLEY, Mrs. C. S. Sullivan, 1034 South Main St., Anderson, S. C. She has one son and four daughters.

1888

MARY V. SMITH, Mrs. B. T. Cox, Winterville, N. C., writes: "I am happy to say that I am planning to be at Salem for commencement for the 50th-year reunion of '88. It has been my pleasure to attend two Commencements since my graduation, namely when two of my daughters Venetia and Grace graduated. At that time I found so many of the same dear teachers as in my time, — the Misses Shaffner, Miss Chitty, Miss Mary Fogle, Miss Vogler, Miss Lehman and others.

When I was at Salem Dr. Edward Rondthaler was president. Those were days of a general class study hall, day keepers, and alcoves.

After leaving Salem in '88, I taught school until 1891 when I was married to Dr. B. T. Cox. We moved from the farm to Winterville in 1899 where my husband was the only physician. He practiced here until his death in 1931. I am still keeping house in my old home where I reared a family of four girls. Venetia, my oldest, after her graduation from Salem in 1911, took training in New York for mission service. Four years ago she was transferred from Hankow to St. Hilda's School across the Yangste in Wuchang. At this time the school is closed and she is among the refugees in a place of safety. Grace, my youngest, graduated from Salem in 1926. She is Mrs. J. T. Gaylord. When my husband died she and her husband came to live with me here.

I have farming interests to look after and lead a busy, active life. I am looking forward with pleasure to meeting with my classmates at the approaching Commencement season.

Mrs. S. H. Cady's (RUBY SATTERFIELD), son, Smith Cady, Jr., came by Salem recently — and found not only his mother's name, and his aunt's, Mrs. C. P. McCurry, (ANNIE SATTERFIELD), in the file of alumnae, but also the name of his grand-mother, LUCILLE FORD, who came to Salem in 1863.

Mr. Cady told us his mother's address is now 418 N. E. 25th St., Miami, Fla., where she lives with her sister.

Mrs. Cady will no doubt be pleased to know that her son stopped at Salem of his own accord to look over the school which so many of his women-kin had attended.

1902

Salem heard recently from Mrs. George E. Scholze (ADELAIDE ELIZABETH WINDSOR), of "Windsor," Look-out Mountain, Tennessee. After her graduation she studied medicine, art and drama in New York and Europe. We hope she will return to her Alma Mater for her class reunion in June.

1903

Dear Members of the Class of 1903:

Please plan to come back to Salem this year for a reunion in June. Saturday, June 4th to Monday, June 6th, are the dates. If you have changed your address, please be sure to let us know. I would like to hear from you about yourself and any of our classmates. Do not disappoint us — we are looking forward to seeing you at Commencement.

1904

Mrs. John K. Roberts (GLENN McDONALD), has a private kindergarten in her home at Carthage.

1905

Mrs. W. C. Wright (NELL RHEA), president of 1905, Mountain City, Tennessee, writes:

"A letter from Salem always gives me a nostalgic twinge, yet I never get back, and I never, never write, which isn't very consistent. Thank you so much for the recent list of 1905 girls. I'm going to write every one of them, asking them to come back to this year's reunion.

Coming home in November, I had a brief, entrancing glimpse of Salem, which made me want to stop and be a student again. "1938" would look pretty snooty viewing the standards of "1905" wouldn't it?

By mere chance I met your Home Economics teacher this summer and asked her a satisfying lot about Salem. I hope to be there for Commencement. I shall admire all the improvements and do my best to like them too!

If you can possibly arrange to leave your duties and pleasures, please come reminisce with us from Saturday, June 4, through Monday, June 6. Let me hear from you sometime between now and then, and when you definitely decide you can join us, and have made your plans accordingly, please let me know not later than May 20th, so we may make various reservations and plans. two lovely children, a boy and a girl. When I was visiting with my husband, in the southwest last fall, I spent a day with Mary Louise in Houston. We spent most of the day talking about Salem.

"I enjoyed the Record so much and heartily approve of the new size and type."

The enclosed snapshot will give you some idea of what our camp was like. (Unfortunately I had just completed the daily washing of Dicky's clothes when this was taken, but perhaps they'll be mistaken for tea towels!)

our home, to camp on the property of a friendly Settler, whose farm adjoins the Reserve of which I spoke. (There are many tribes in Kenya, each having its own Reserve in which a majority of its people stay. Many from each tribe work on estates in the Colony, while thousands from all the tribes have migrated to Nairobi to find work.) There for five days, we lived in a tent which is attached to the car with ease, and which offers us ample protection from sun and rain.

By having our home for a Center to which natives may come at all times for spiritual help and instruction, and by going out in this way as often as we can, we reach a larger number of people with the Gospel than would otherwise be possible. We hope to go out in this way about twice a month until the rains prohibit us. Between our camping trips, my husband goes out on horseback or on foot, thus reaching a fairly large number of natives, who are near enough to come to our Sunday services.

I could go on at length, but realizing as I do that one of the greatest failings of mine is writing too much, I'll leave you with this glimpse of our life. We are awfully happy and are rejoicing every day in the privilege of being here.

Note.—Mrs. Frederick S. Woll, (Laura Price, at Salem '27-'28, ex. '31), is now connected with the Gospel Furthering Fellowship, which has its Home Headquarters in Philadelphia, Pa. Her mailing address is Ainabkoi, Post Office, Kenya, East Africa.

doves, canaries and woodpeckers, many small bright hued birds, quail, egrets, wild turkeys, wild duck, pelicans and several other varieties of water fowl. I know four kinds of parrots. There is a most interesting bird whose name I do not know in English. It is about the size of a red-headed woodpecker and is gray and white in color. The male and female sing a noisy chattering kind of duet; when one starts the other joins in with his or her part. There are a few snakes of different kinds, millions of lizards, iguanas, which are considered a table delicacy by the natives, as are also their eggs, turtle eggs and alligator eggs. I have seen all three for sale on the local market. Ants and roaches of every variety make housekeepers grow grey.

My family and I are leaving in July for a three months vacation in the States. I am looking forward to a visit to Salem. I am enclosing snaps of my home and family. The two future Salemites are Frances Atherton Horne and Elizabeth Cary Horne.

An Apology and A Toast

To Miss Regina Vogler, 97, and Mrs. Sallie Stephenson, 92.

In the last issue, a statement was made that Miss Alice Springs, of Charlotte, N. C., was the oldest living alumnae of Salem. It has been called to the attention of the editors that, while Miss Alice is perhaps the oldest living out-of-town alumnae, there are two older than she, who live in the very shadow of the college and who have been loyal supporters of Salem since the 1850's.

Miss Regina Vogler, of Winston-Salem, is now 97 years old. She lives in her own quaint little house next to that of Bishop Pfohl on Cedar Avenue. Miss Anna Rights lives with Miss Regina, as her companion and also as her nurse, for 97 is what one might call nearing a ripe old age."

Mrs. Sarah Kreamer Stephenson, one of Salem's most loyal alumnae, is 92 years old and will probably be 93 before you read this item. Her original birthday was in 1845, April 16; and she will celebrate her 93rd this month.

Mrs. Stephenson is one of the most entertaining people you'll meet. She demonstrated her powers as a charmer last year when she completely captivated Christopher Morley and was given an autographed book and his deepest obeisance by the visiting poet.

Evidence of her intentions to stay abreast of the times came when Mrs. Stephenson took an airplane ride on her 84th birthday with Laurie Jones. As the plane rose in the air, Mrs. Stephenson threw her small hands over her head and cried: "Whoopie, girls, we're off!"

ACADEMY ALUMNAE HAVE REUNION

Barbara Shoemaker '37; Mary McDevitt, President of '37; Nancy Campbell, President of '36; Eleanor Amos '37; Hannah Beatty '37; Laura Maie Shaver '37; Ora Jones '36.

On March 12 Salem Academy alumnae of the classes of 1934, '35, '36, and '37 arrived for the 1938 reunion. At six-thirty the traditional alumnae banquet was held in the Academy dining room. The tables were decorated in flowers to carry out the school colors of gold and purple.

During the dinner Betty Bahnson, class of '35, acted as toast mistress. Miss Weaver, Mrs. Rondthaler, and Dr. Rondthaler welcomed the graduates. Josephine Gribbin '34, Lizzie Trotman '35, Nancy Campbell '36, and Mary McDevitt '37, brought greetings from their classmates. Telegrams were read from Virginia Boyles '36, Jean Gray Scott '35, and Helen Litz '33. With the singing of the Alma Mater the alumnae adjourned to the social room for a short business meeting and program.

Before the meeting was called to order, the graduates read letters from their classmates who could not be at the reunion and enjoyed looking at pictures of recent brides who formerly attended the Academy.

At the business meeting the reunion classes decided two things. First, they voted to have Miss Zachary write each alumna about the projects which are being carried on at the Academy so that any one who desires to contribute money may do so. This year the Academy students are working toward the purchase of a stereopticon lantern to be used to illustrate art lectures. Second, the alumnae decided that the reunion should be held on a week-end early in March. The committee which planned this year's reunion is to decide next fall the best date and is to inform all alumnae concerned.

After the business meeting several of the alumnae presented a short musical program. They sang songs from operettas which had been given at the Academy in the past. Becky Nifong '37 sang a selection from "Patience;" Nancy Campbell '36, and Jackie Ray '37, gave a scene from "The Mikado;" and Margaret Vardell '38 sang a song from "Pinafore." Gertrude Bagwell sang one of the songs from the class day play of the class of 1934. Leonore Rice '37 was accompanist for the girls.

Immediately after the program the Golds and Purples played the final basketball game in the new gymnasium. The Golds won the game.

Sunday morning the teachers who were on the Academy faculty last year entertained the house guests at a waffle breakfast in the game room in the Carrie Shaffner Building.

The reunion house party seemed to be a big success. More alumnae returned this year than at any previous time. Next year we hope to have an even larger group of graduates.

Class of 1934: Gertrude Bagwell, Peggy Brawley, Josephine Gribbin, Mary Margaret Johnson, Blevins Vogler, Margaret Ricks.

Class of 1936: Nancy Campbell, Kathryn Holmes, Ora Jones, Ora Holt Long, Bonnie Ray, Eleanor and Elizabeth Sartin, Mary Lib Walston.

Chairman of the Reunion Committee.

Betty Bahnson,

CONTRIBUTIONS NEEDED FOR STEREOPTICON LANTERN FUND

In their meeting, March 12th, the Alumnae expressed themselves willing to be informed whenever the Academy had a project underway on which they could help.

Such a project is herewith presented. The Art class has begun a fund for a stereopticon lantern for Salem Academy. It is to be one which can be used both for slides, and for projecting any picture, and will be used by all the classes as well as by the Art class. We have already raised $5.00 of the $140.00 necessary for its purchase.

That looks like a pitifully small amount. We hope for contributions from other organizations at the end of the year, but we feel it would be a splendid thing if the Alumnae would send in enough contributions to enable us to present the lantern to the school as their gift.

No contribution is too small to be welcome, though we hope for big ones! Please send checks or money orders, as soon as possible, to H. D. Wheeler for the Stereopticon Lantern Fund.

Following a tradition of many decades, the Commencement procession formed in front of Main Hall. When the Home Church clock struck eleven, marshalls and members of the senior class formed an aisle in front of Memorial Hall entrance. Through this passed Dr. Rondthaler, president; Dr. Taliaferro Thompson, who made the literary address; Bishop Robert E. Gribbin, who preached the baccalaureate sermon, Rev. Walter Grahs, and Rev. R. Gordon Spaugh, who took part in the program. These were followed by members of the faculty, trustees and finally the seniors.

In the chapel, Dr. Rondthaler made a general announcement regarding the gift of the library.

Mrs. Deryl Hart (formerly Mary Johnson), of Durham; Mrs. S. Douglas Craig (formerly Ruth Hanes), and Burton Craige, of Winston-Salem, were announced as new members of the Board of Trustees of Salem.

Laura Elizabeth Bland, B-Mus.

Frank Carter Campbell, B-Mus.

Anna Wray Fogle, B. A.

Florence Joyner, B. A.

William Wyatt, B. A.

The five listed above, and also Mary McColl, of Bennettsville, S. C., B. A.; Mary Woodruff, B. A.; and Margaret Brawley, B. A., both of Winston-Salem made class honors for their senior year.

The list of graduates is printed under "new alumnae" in this issue.

Dr. Thompson's Address:

"Each of us must achieve for himself a purpose, a philosophy of life that is clear and sufficient," Dr. Thompson said, "although we are keenly aware that this endeavor is made difficult today by the conflicting voices heard all about us. There are those who insist that one should think first of himself — self realization is their motto; others with equal vehemence urge a pouring out of energy in service to mankind; self-forgetfulness is their slogan.

"In order to live a life that is useful and different, a life generous, peace-filled and joyous and brave," he continued, "one must be guided by a text from the Bible, which reads: 'For their sakes, I sanctify myself.'" He listed as "their," the poor who are caught in the grip of a terrible industrial order; persons living on the avenue who are snobbish, extravagant and seeking a mad thrill; they who live in slums and are a prey to ignorance and vice; millions unemployed; contemporary ancestors held in the backwardness of mountain fastnesses; from the President on down, all who are striving to create a better social order, to provide roses as well as bread for the underprivileged; the criminals, cynics.

The first responsibility, is to develop in the most complete way every power of body, mind and spirit. "To use an illustration," he said, "one should fill the bushel measure to the very top, and then turn it upside down and empty out every grain in the service of others."

Attention was directed to changes in civilization caused by science and machinery. Yesterday there came a deluge. "Science, like a Gargantuan Santa Claus worked early and late to make fascinating gadgets which were poured

ALUMNAE MEETING ATTENDED BY MORE THAN 300 FORMER STUDENTS

An unusual and interesting meeting of the General Alumnae Association was held in the lecture room of the new Library Building on June 4, 1938, which was set aside as "Alumnae Day." More than 300 former Salem girls arrived at the college to attend the various events in their honor. They were welcomed by the Alumnae Association President, Mrs. Deryl Hart (Mary Johnson).

Opening the meeting, Miss Margaret Ward, secretary, reported the year's work and read the minutes from last spring. Mrs. Courtney Mauzy, treasurer, presented the statement that the Association has never been able to meet its financial responsibilities and that the college is forced to supplement the amount in order to publish the Alumnae Record each year. She announced that alumnae dues, of $1.00 will be collected every spring at commencement, and will cover the subscription to the Record for the coming school year, as well as other alumnae expenses.

DESCRIPTION OF BRANCH MEETINGS:

A description of various branch meetings, notably in Rocky Mount, N. C., Dallas, Texas, Philadelphia, Pa., Louisburg, and Charlotte, N. C., was given by Miss Margaret McLean, alumnae field secretary. Miss McLean smilingly said, "it has been my observation that alumna hate to go to meetings, but after they get there they have a fine time."

Mrs. Rufus Dalton (Louise Vogler), spoke briefly in remembrance of her aunt Regina Vogler, who before her death on May 17th of this year, was the oldest Salem Alumna.

Mary Hart recognized the following reunion classes, whose present members were asked to stand: 1882, 1883, 1884,

LIBRARY REPORT

The library committee, represented by Miss Grace Siewers, librarian was heard from, Miss Siewers reading a list of recent donations of books.

MISS WHITEHEAD INTRODUCED

Mrs. John Creech (Cortlandt Preston), campus secretary, introduced to the group Miss Josephine Whitehead, of Rocky Mount, who has been assisting with college publicity and alumnae work since May 12. Miss Whitehead will return to Salem after a trip abroad this summer to assume the office of campus secretary. She graduated from Salem in 1937 with the Bachelor of Arts and as President of the graduating class.

At the conclusion of the meeting, Dr. Rondthaler read a sketch of the life of Dora Adams, 1885, which, because of its interest, is printed in its entirety. The class of 1885 presented to the library a copy of a portrait of Dora Adams.

NOMINATING COMMITTEE REPORT

Mrs. Gordon Spaugh, (Katherine Riggan), read the names of nominees for alumnae offices during the coming year. The list was accepted by the alumnae and the 1938-39 officers are listed on the inside cover page.

Mary B. Williams, of Wilmington and New York, sang two clever little songs which were applauded by the alumnae, who were then invited by Mrs. Rondthaler into the college dining room for their annual luncheon.

IN MEMORIAM

DORA ADAMS, 1885

By ELIZABETH LEINBACH

(A charming picture of Dora Adams, was presented by her classmates of 1885 as a Commencement gift to the Library.)

The following sketch of her life was read:

Mrs. Willoughby Sharpe — Dora Adams — as we of the class of 1885 knew her, was a Georgia girl, born January 12, 1869. Her parents died when she was very young, and she was brought to Salem from Madison, county seat of Morgan County, north central Georgia, when only nine years old. She was related to the Lamars — her middle name being Lamar — and the Flournoys of Mississippi, but her mother's maiden name is not known. She seemed not to remember her parents, never spoke intimately of them. She seemed singularly alone, had one brother younger than herself, at Nazareth Hall, Pa., and her uncle-guardian, Rev. Habersham Adams, a Methodist Minister, who came to see her one Commencement, to her great pride and delight.

As she had no home, she spent most of her seven summer vacations in the Academy, and, although so lacking in home ties, she never seemed lonely; was interested in everything that went on, made friends with everybody, especially the new girls that came in the fall, but never really cared for any but the very nicest girls. She had a "joy of life" in her that kept her from being bored, and she read voraciously. She was younger than most of our class, but always stood well, especially in literature and history. She had a pleasant speaking voice and an infectious laugh. She had no talent for music, but loved to sing, for her own amusement.

Dora was a true daughter of the "Old South," when ladies had slaves to do everything for them, and she did not take very kindly to "keeping day," mending the fire in the old nine-plate stove, keeping in order her shelf in the side room, etc., but usually managed to slide through or over those duties with as little trouble as possible.

The above picture was taken from a tin type lent to the Record by Ida Moore, '85, who is shown with six of her classmates, among whom is Dora Adams. The two girls standing at back are left to right: Pattie Johnston (Mrs. R. A. King), Mollie Johnston (Mrs. Craige). Seated, left to right: Ida Moore, Theo Fitzgerald (Mrs. Emory Gray), Kate Urquhart (Mrs. W. A. Wise). Seated on the floor, left to right: Dora Adams (Mrs. Willoughby Sharpe), Mary Williams (Mrs. Robert Daniel).

The picture was made by the father of Dr. Fred Leinbach while the six girls were spending the '84 Christmas at Salem.

Dora had a wonderful power of description and used to entertain us with stories of the happenings at the Staten Island home of her Cousin Mildred, a Georgia girl who had married a Union soldier soon after the Civil War; as well as with tales of her aunt's girlhood days on a Georgia plantation. She should have been a writer, as she had decided talent. She read class papers at two reunions, and they were very well written indeed.

After her graduation in 1885 she lived in Georgia, coming back here to Commencement once or twice, before she married Mr. Alex Hopkins about 1889. He died a few years later, when their little daughter, Flournoy, was a tiny baby. Dora brought her here to Commencement, and seemed very sad, although she told Bishop Rondthaler that "a hurried sorrow is better than a living trouble," and we heard that her young husband had been very dissipated.

She was here again in 1893, when our class had a reunion — a pretty and attractive young widow. She was later married to Mr. Willoughby Sharpe, and lived in New York where they were very prosperous and gay. She wrote to the Alumnae Record that she had failed to carry out her school girl plans for herself — that she had intended to be "a great Georgia authoress, but had been twice a wife, four times a mother, and only the other day a grandmother." The baby Flournoy had grown up, married, and had a little daughter.

The years rolled on — Dora's children all grew up and married. Mr. Sharpe died and she came down to Natural Bridge, Va., where she had made a heavy investment that displeased her children very much. She made her home there until her death. Her last visit was a very hurried one, on the occasion of Bishop Rondthaler's funeral — so hurried that it permitted only a short telephone conversation.

out before our devouring eyes." Today, through the very power to produce there has come the exaggerated greed, fostered by yesterday's plenty. A great mass of the people are in need, and the rest feel so insecure and afraid that the cares of this world are smothering the spiritual purposes of life. "In our best moments," he said, "we find ourselves listening for the praise that follows noble deeds, feeling self-righteous and superior."

There is a danger of physical as well as spiritual death today. There is an awareness of existing class conflicts and the seeds of revolution are being sown in almost every nation. "What we hope is the silver lining," he said, "we fear has been caused by the glint of steel."

There is a great need to deal fairly with questions raised in the realm of morals, concluded Dr. Thompson, to realize in our own minds why chastity is preferable to promiscuity, and why honesty leading to poverty is to be chosen over dishonesty insuring wealth.

Suggesting a positive plan for action, the speaker said:

"While we should choose the best leadership possible, do all we can through legislation, it will not be enough until man's heart, which is not really bad, but hungry, is satisfied. We must think in the realm of religion as related to the whole of life. The rational is necessary; the ethical indispensable. You, upon whom the burden of responsibility now begins to rest, must think or we must perish.

"We are in a world that has lost its way; we are a part of a generation and a country dismayed and almost hopeless.

As you seek to work out a philosophy of life which will steady and inspire you, and will through you guide others, may you, looking with honest eyes at our race, and with trustful eyes at our Lord, be able to say "for their sakes, yea, for His sake, I set apart for fullest service, my body, mind and spirit at their best."

SALEMITE IN PALESTINE

(Condensed from a letter from Irene Clay, B.Mus., '34, Friend's School, Ram Allah, Palestine.)

"For three whole days I was in Paradise. I have been convinced since living here for a year that beyond a shadow of a doubt when the Final day comes the deserving will be led to the Sea of Galilee for their reward!"

Irene wrote this ecstatic letter to her "home folks" after touring the Holy Land during her Easter vacation this year.

With two friends whom she has met since going to Palestine to teach piano in the Friend's School, Irene walked the shore of the Sea of Galilee, visited Tiberias, Capernaum, Nazareth, and other towns of Biblical interest; and as a climax to her inspiring experiences, heard the great Toscanini conducting the Palestine Symphony Orchestra.

Of Nazareth, Irene says, "Evelyn and I got a lovely room at a hospice conducted by Latin monks, and then set out to see the village. Nazareth is built on a hillside; so we got plenty of exercise as we roamed about. There, too, we found some of our music students, and as soon as word spread around that we were in the village, all of the students who lived there began to appear, some eight or more of them, and of course, each was accompanied by all of his relatives. Really our southern hospitality can easily be put in the shade by the Arabs! We were served elaborate meals, presented with flowers, and personally conducted to all points of interest in Nazareth.

"We visited the convents and admired their gorgeous hand-made lace; we saw half a dozen churches all of which claim to be built on the very spot where Mary's home once stood! Why yes, within the last fifteen years there has even sprung up a carpenter shop which is pointed out to tourists as the very one where Jesus worked! But our nicest experience was a walk to the top of the village where we got a magnificent view of the Mediterranean Sea in the distance and Mount Tabor closer at hand.

"Of course there were other incidents in between times that helped to make this Easter in the Holy Land a memorable one for me. I shall never forget the sunrise service at Bethany and the walk into Jerusalem; breakfast on the Mount of Olives overlooking the Golden gate of the city; the Garden of Gethsemane; the Garden Tomb where Christ is believed to have been buried; the glorious music in the Russian Church on Palm Sunday; and oh so many other experiences all of which will have to keep until I can tell you about them in person.

"And now that Easter has gone I must turn my thoughts toward school; many of the students having already arrived. These next two and a half months will be extremely busy ones for me; but July will soon be here and then I shall start on my trip home, getting into New York the latter part of August. Yes, it has all been planned and I am getting quite thrilled over the prospects of visiting nine or ten different countries. It has been a most glorious year but I am still convinced that "There is no place like home!"

Then in 1933 one of our classmates brought the news of Dora's death. We could not believe it. It was not possible, we felt, that Dora could go without our seeing her again — our Dora, who was so intensely alive, whose quaint sayings had amused us, and whose Valedictory, on that far off June morning, had touched to tears her "dear class mates — the happy twenty-four." But it was true. Dora had succumbed to the dread destroyer, and she now lies in an unmarked grave in her native Georgia. Requiescat in pace!

HERE AND THERE AMONG THE ALUMNAE

BRANCH MEETINGS

PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 7

The Philadelphia Branch of Salem Alumnae held its spring luncheon at the Penn Athletic Club, Rittenhouse Square, Philadelphia, on May 7, at one o'clock. Mrs. Gilbert Fry (MARY MCKELVIE), presided over the meeting and presented the guest speaker, Mrs. Edward J. MacMullen. Sixteen members were present.

"The entire meeting was more or less informal," writes Lina Hallyburton, "and the table was beautifully decorated with yellow tulips, spirea, and little yellow ships.

"Mrs. Fry, since she has been president, has taken a very personal interest in the Association and has inaugurated several plans which we believe are truly worthwhile. One is a book in which we keep a record of every meeting and also the name of each member present. Interesting clippings are filed away in the book, so that some fifty years from now it will be valuable. At this meeting a letter from Dr. Rondthaler, which was read and enjoyed, was filed away in our book. The book automatically becomes the property of the President.

"Mrs. Fry also has suggested a means of raising money for the Treasury by each member selling stationery on which we are allowed a very liberal commission.

"Our guest of the occasion, Mrs. MacMullen, soon became one of us and entered into the spirit of the luncheon. She made an interesting talk, in which she told something of her unusual career. Mrs. MacMullen plans many of the leading social events of the East, among which have been the duPont-Roosevelt wedding and the Peter A. Widener's ball.

The following were present: Mrs. Fry, Mrs. A. S. McKelvie, Winston-Salem; Miss Kathleen Arrowood, of Washington, guest of Mrs. Paul I. Cross; Mrs. Walter Feinster, Mrs. John M. Douglass, Mrs. Charlotte Thornton Hallyburton and daughters, Miss Lina Hallyburton and Mrs. August Fels, Miss Elizabeth Meinung, Mrs. Clarence E. Parker, Mrs. Hal Reynolds, Mrs. George Stevens, Mrs. Maud M. Swain, and Mrs. Samuel White.

DALLAS, TEXAS, March 29

The second meeting of the year for the Dallas Branch of Salem Alumnae was called on March 29 in honor of Dr. Howard Rondthaler. Dr. Rondthaler was in Dallas for the meeting of the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for women, of which Association he was elected President.

Mrs. William Tyree writes about the meeting, "As soon as I learned that Dr. Rondthaler was to be in Dallas, I called Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Bech over that Sunday, also Mrs. Drefus, at whose house the meeting was already scheduled for a week after Easter, and found she could have it earlier. And so we met on Tuesday afternoon, March 29 at three-thirty, the day after Dr. Rondthaler arrived.

We had fifteen present out of twenty-five members — on that short notice — and were delightfully entertained by Dr. Rondthaler's talk on Salem and by Mrs. Sol Drefus in her lovely home.

We had planned even before we met this time to put in at least a section of books but it has grown to four! We have gotten together almost $45 from our "Branch" here, Mrs. H. L. Edwards giving $11 covering one section herself.

Sorry I cannot be present at Commencement. Mrs. Edwards called me at 4:00 A. M. Easter morning and my daughter, Virginia, and I heard the broadcast of the Easter Service."

CHARLOTTE, N. C., April 13

The Charlotte Branch of Salem College Alumnae Association met on Wednesday afternoon, April 13, 1938, at the home of Mrs. Fred Anderson. The home was decorated with red tulips and white snowballs in crystal bowls.

Special guests of the association for the afternoon were the mothers of present students at Salem College and Academy. Miss Margaret McLean, secretary of the General Alumnae Association, gave an interesting description of the new college library.

Joint hostesses with Mrs. Anderson were Mrs. Laurer Williams, Mrs. Hugh Puckett, Mrs. Charles Ross, Mrs. George Hamilton and Miss Virginia Neely. The officers of the Charlotte association are: Mrs. James E. Hobbs, president; Miss Virginia Neely, newly elected vice-president; Mrs. Vernon Stanley, secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. James Grey, member of the executive board of the General Alumnae Association.

The meeting was in the form of a musical. Miss Lee Rice, brilliant young pianist, of Lancaster, S. C., now a student at Salem, played two selections. A trio of Salem singers, Misses Kathryn Swain, Ann Nisbet and Margaret Welfare, accompanied by Miss Virginia Thompson, sang two songs, and were given such a cordial hearing that they were prevailed upon to present another short program at the end of the business meeting.

Following the program and business meeting, the hostess served a tea course.

LOUISBURG, N. C., May 11

The Salem College Alumnae from Henderson, Franklinton, Louisburg, Oxford, Townsville and Warrenton met on Wednesday afternoon, May 11, 1938, with Miss Lula Stipe at Louisburg College in Louisburg, N. C.

During the business session, presided over by Mrs. Leonard Henderson, of Franklinton, Miss Stipe was chosen President for the coming year and Miss Betsy Moss was re-elected Secretary.

Miss Margaret McLean, Field Secretary, Salem College, was present and gave an interesting account of present day life at the college, stressing particularly the handsome new Library Building which has been completed and is now meeting a long felt need. There is still a need for more shelving for books and the group voted to furnish one section in memory of one of their devoted members, known and beloved by many Salem Alumnae as B. Jones of Warrenton, and later as Mrs. R. W. Taylor, of Oxford.

The following members answered the roll call: from Henderson, Mrs. Odell Holland (JULIA BULLOCK), Mrs. S. E. Jeannette, Mrs. Robert Upchurch and Mrs. J. P. Zollicoffer; from Franklinton, Mrs. Leonard Henderson; from Louisburg, Mrs. Mortimer Pleasants, Mrs. Frank Rose and Miss Stipe; from Oxford, Miss Nannie P. Bessent, Miss Charlotte Easton, Mrs. Cam Easter, Jr., and Miss Elizabeth Shaw (Lumberton); from Warrenton, Mrs. Leonard Cook, Mrs. John Mitchell (FAIR POLK), Mrs. P. G. Seamon (JANIE WATSON), and Miss A. Howard Ward.

Mrs. S. E. Jeanette extended a cordial invitation for the next meeting to be held in her home at Henderson.

If any names are omitted, we apologize. The starred classes are those which held reunions. Two stars in the crown of 1888 show that it was the "50th Year Class."

Absent But Heard From:

A happy letter from NANCY HANKINS,
 Mrs. Alber Van Zandt, Broad View
 Farm, Blawenburg, New Jersey:
 "How I wish I could "drop in" for Commencement this year. I was disappointed not to read (in the April Alumnae Record), any news of any 1920 girls. Perhaps they are all saving their enthusiasm for the next scheduled reunion of our class:"

"My husband owns a large dairy and poultry farm with all the latest machinery equipment. Electrical milkers for the cows and lights all night for the chickens in case they would care for a midnight feast. It's a wonderful part of Jersey here, just a mile from the Lindbergh estate, with the picturesque Sourland Mountains out of our dining room windows.

"And now with our dear little "red head" who came to bless our home last August, life seems just to wonderful for words. She has already heard about "Salem" and will be wanting to come around 1954.

IRENE CLAY, B. Mus., has spent the past year in Palestine, teaching piano in the Friend's School, Ram Allah. She leaves the Holy Land in July, planning to stop in nine different countries on the way home. Her boat is due in New York, August 25, and after a short visit to her family in Winston-Salem, she will return to Brevard College to teach. (See article Irene wrote).

ISABEL POLLOCK, B. A., Mrs. Jim Bailey, Box 437, Bluefield, W. Va., sent in her contribution to the Alumnae Record like a good girl and writes: "When in school it's easy to say "well, we won't lose track of each other," but I'm ashamed to admit I don't know what more than half a dozen of my classmates are doing. The "Record" is just about my sole means of keeping up with people.

"Most, or all, of my time is taken up with looking after "the baby." James III, was born in March of this year and we have lots of fun watching him grow and change."

SUSIE CALDER, while back for reunion at Salem, reported that the Mr. Rankin, to whom she will be married in July, is truly a "lovely thing." She was also heard to remark in a telephone conversation with one of her friends, "You'd better come and see me, I'll be a beautiful bride," both of which sayings were so typical of Susie that we reprint them here, regardless of the wrath of Mr. R.

JANE WILLIAMS, B. A., Princess St., Wilmington, came back to see her little sister Leila, graduate June 6. Jane plans to go to Europe this summer with Mr. and Mrs. John Downs and a group of Salem girls. Sailing June 24 on the S. S. Statendam.

"JINNY" NALL, Mrs. Leslie (Pie), Cobb, ex-'35, whose "little sister" Ruth plans to enter Salem this fall, writes from Kingsport, Tenn.: "She (Ruth) plans to study and not get fat, but I am not sure about the studying and I'm afraid she will get the "nab" hips.

"This spring I tried planting a flower garden, and everytime I dug an inch, I ran into worms. Mother and Leslie try so hard to get me interested in extensive gardening, but the backache and dirty hands don't appeal to me."

MARTHA NEAL, B. A., Mrs. James Trotter, is keeping the home fires burning in Reidsville, N. C. The next record will probably carry some interesting news about the Trotters.

FRANCES HILL NORRIS, B. A., writes: "I have been here in Florida (Lakeland), since March 18th, being cook, housekeeper, and chauffeur. Daddy had a bad fall, and mother went up to be with him in Jacksonville.

"It makes me feel quite aged when I realize that these girls who are graduating were freshmen when we were there. Time passes in a hurry."

A letter from JANE LEIBFRIED, B. S., received earlier in the spring, will be welcomed by her friends. Jane has just finished her first year of medical work at the Woman's College of the University of Pennsylvania, of which she writes: "I'm enjoying my work so very much; the only thing I have to regret is that I had but one year at Salem. There are 31 girls in my class most of them from big colleges. Anatomy, Chemistry and Histology are the most important subjects.

"At mid-year, each of us had a conference with the deans as to our semester standing — the assistant dean told me afterward that I had surprised the faculty and done far better than they had expected — so if I turn out all right, Salem and Mr. Higgins get the credit."

By now, Jane has probably gone back to her home in Bethlehem, Pa., but her college address was 3600 Stokely St., Philadelphia, Pa.

ACADEMY CLASS NOTES

SUSIE DEANE BRYAN spent the week-end of March 17-20 with us. She is attending Converse College.

NANCY CLARK visited the Academy, April 3, while spending her vacation from Mary Baldwin at her home in Greensboro.

ROSE WILLINGHAM stopped by for the Academy commencement on her way home from Washington, D. C. where she has been attending Gunston Hall.

1936

SARAH McCANLESS visited the Academy on February 20. She is attending Duke University this year.

PRISCILLA LAMBETH is graduating this June from Bradford Junior College, Bradford, Massachusetts.

RUTH GREENE HENDERSON, 126 Mallette Street, Chapel Hill, N. C. will move this summer as David will finish his engineering course. He has received honors in his academic work.

JANE IRVING, 2126 Connecticut Avenue, Washington, D. C. wrote about the reunion: "I would love to come and I would have been able to make it, if it hadn't been for the fact that Mr. Carmody, our Administrator, has gone to California and will be needing us all here in the office."

MARY LOUISE McLENDON became Mrs. Ralph Worthington, III, on February 17. She is living in Florida.

PATSY HILL PREVOST and Bill came to see us when they attended the High Point Furniture Show in January and again on May 28.

ETHEL LITZ, Tazewell, Virginia, has been in Florida this winter.

ETHEL YOUNG is at Holton Arms, Washington, D. C. She is getting along splendidly, Edith Madden told us when she visited the Academy in May.

SHIRLEY TOMPKINS has been in Florida this winter with her mother according to an article in the Greensboro paper which also had a picture showing Mr. Tompkins' lodge.

JODY LITZ, Charleston, W. Va., wrote: "I am now with Dad doing some work for him and taking a business course at the same time. I have been attending the Charleston School of Commerce and I like it very much. So far I have been getting along very well and hope to be able to graduate soon."

DOROTHY ROBERTS has been elected president of her house at Smith College.

FANNIE STOKELY MOORE, Newport, Tenn., has a little girl, Margaret Estes, who arrived February 20, 1938. This young lady kept her mother from attending the reunion houseparty. We hope some day Margaret Estes will be an Academy girl.

JULIA LAWSON, Roanoke, Va., wrote about the reunion on March 12th: "I wish I could come but Daddy and I are planning a trip to Mexico City just about that time. I haven't done a thing for the last two years except Junior League work and play.

"I'm sure you know about Virginia Smith getting married. Sudie Tinsley was in it and I was supposed to be but I dislocated a vertabrae in my neck and had to wear a cast for two months. The wedding was one of the loveliest I've ever seen. They have a darling house and Virginia is doing her own cooking. Jean Buckley was in it too.

"I bumped into Frances Reid with her Johnny Thanksgiving.

"That's just about my extent of Salem news. Wish I knew more."

Appropriate New Entrance Built To Memorial Hall

Approximately three hundred students stood outside Memorial Hall on Wednesday, September 21, waiting to attend the first Young People's Meeting of the year. On the faces of all but the freshmen and new students there were expressions of surprise and delight at the changed entrance of the 38-year old Music Hall. Gone were the wooden steps, the temporary "shed-like" structure of last year, and instead appeared red brick steps, in Flemish Bond fashion to correspond with the older buildings on the campus. Rustic hand iron rails made of Swedish iron completed the ideal arrangement; and with the new steps running down on either side (like the ones to the Office Building and the Library), the Hall may now be approached either from Church or Main Streets.

Doors that were previously hung at the front have been removed and the original ones hung as was intended when the building was completed. The newly hung "old doors" are in memory of three of the former teachers at Salem: Miss Lydia Stauber, Miss Adelaide Vogler, and Miss Emma Lehman.

A great transformation was also noticed in the plot of land between the Hall of History, on Main Street, and the west entrance of Memorial Hall. New steps have been put up there, and the ground smoothed and planted in grass and ancient boxwoods. The old iron fence bordering the sidewalk makes the small formal garden complete.

These two "new portals," made possible through donations of friends, trustees and alumnae, are inspirations to students and faculty members at Salem who are facing the "opening year."

Where Are Our Wandering Girls?

Where are our wandering girls this year . . . the ones who graduated in 1938, and who cried when they left Salem and found themselves out in the wide world? What are they doing for the honor of the college and their own livelihood?

Ten of the fifty-odd '38 alumnae are doing graduate work in various universities. Five are being "lone wolves" doing what they like best. Two are taking business courses. Eighteen are teaching. Three are married, and another will be in December.

Here are the names and stories, in so far as we could gather from bits of gossip, newspaper clippings, and letters.

Among the seekers for higher knowledge are: Martha Coons and Laura Elizabeth Bland, studying sociology and Latin, respectively, at the University of North Carolina; Josephine Gibson at Duke; Virginia Lee taking a technician course at Duke; Charlotte King specializing in dietetics at the Metropolitan Hospital in New York; Elizabeth Piper working toward the Master's degree in home economics at Michigan State College; Louise Preas entering Columbia for Master's work in home economics; Jean Knox studying sociology at Simmons, in Boston; Ann Nisbet winner of a scholarship, studying harp at Curtis Institute in Philadelphia; Laura Emliy Pitts studying piano in New York.

The five "lone-wolves" are Leila Williams, working in a dentist's office in Wilmington; Anna Wray Fogle, flown to New York to seek her fortune—preferably to get work with a newspaper or magazine; Eleanor Stafford, laboratory assistant in science department of Salem College, and Pauline Daniel, assistant dietitian in Long's Hospital in Statesville. Josephine Gribbin is "Junior Leaguing" in Asheville.

Taking the business courses are Mary Margaret Johnson, in Old Fort, and Mary Louise McClung, in Winston-Salem.

Naming the eighteen teachers swiftly, Peggy Brawley; English in Fayetteville. Louise Frazier; French in Old Fort; Martha O'Keeffe, in Tazewell, Va.; Sarah Stevens; in Cumberland County out from Fayetteville. Cornelia Wolfe, in Hamlet; Willena Couch, public school music at Stoney Point, N. C.; Ruth Dickieson, Fairview School, out from Winston-Salem; Helen Kirby, Griffith School, near Winston-Salem; Jane Nading, same; Anna Leak Scott, South Park School, Winston-Salem; Virginia Sisk, Sanford; Rebecca Brame, Taylorsville; Dorothy Burnette, Durham County; Christel Cates, Mount Ulla; Helen Smith, Kingsport. Florence Joyner, winner of the Joan of Arc Medal in French, is helping in the French and Spanish department at Salem Academy. Lois Morgan and Adelaide Gruener are also teaching.

The three who have been lucky in "getting their men" are listed in the Married column: Jane MacLean, class president, now Mrs. Billy Carter; Ernestine Martin, now Mrs. Robert P. Bradford, and Mary Woodruff, now Mrs. Max Snead. Virginia Carter will be married in December.

CLIP THE COUPON BELOW

Five Dollar Prize Offered

Last year all you heard from us was "give us a dollar" . . . "only one dollar."

This year we are changing our tune, and instead of crying: "Send us a dollar," we are asking "send us a scholar."

All we want you to do is to help us interest the right kind of students in coming to Salem.

You remember the girls with whom you worked and played at Salem. Don't you have friends now among the "young people" of your town who are very much like those former Salemites? Or don't some of your friends have daughters by now who remind you of your own schoolmates? Please if you do, send us the names of these girls, using the coupon below as a guide to the information we need.

The prize for sending in the most names during this year will be a five year's subscription to the Record.

After you have filled in the coupon, stating the girls' ages, when they will be ready for college, etc., write to us for material which will show Salem College as it is today. We can also send copies of the newspaper, invite the girls to week-end houseparties, and do other enticing things to hold their interest, but first we must have their names.

If you know more than one girl, jot down the extra names with the needed information on a sheet of paper and send it with the coupon to the Field Secretary's office.

COUPON

I recommend as a future Salem girl:

Girl's Name Parent's Initials

Do you know her personally, or her parents?

Do you think they are financially able to send her to Salem?

Will you be willing to help the Field Secretary in interesting her in Salem?.....

HEADMASTER'S WIFE, SALTUS SCHOOL, BERMUDA

A letter and excerpts from an article written for an American publication
By Caroline Robinson Booker, '15 (Mrs. R. E. E. Booker)

Headmaster's House, Saltus School, Bermuda,
June 6, 1938.

Dear Editor,

I am sorry to have delayed so long in answering your request for a photograph and article about an old Salem girl living abroad. You may no longer be wanting this type of thing in the magazine, but enclosed is a photograph, taken in front of our house, of my husband, who is headmaster of the school, myself and the staff and boys. Among the boys is my son, aged eleven, going to England to school in September.

Although separated by a considerable distance from Salem, time is no longer an important factor for I can fly to Baltimore in a few hours and very much hope to do so one year as a means to visiting Salem in May.

There is between Bermudians and Southern people a certain relationship due to the fact that English families settled here, some branching off to settle in the South at the same time. Although not knowing this, I felt when we came to Bermuda, strongly reminded of friends, hospitality and customs of the South I knew between 1911 and 1922.

I wish old Salem friends might occasionally visit this widely advertised place.

With kind regards to Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler, Caroline Robinson Booker.

(An excerpt from Caroline's article on "Boys' Schools in Bermuda," a subject in which she is well versed, being the wife of the headmaster of one of the boys' schools there, appears below):

"The number of boys at a prep.

school varies from thirty to one hundred; and it is at one of these schools that a nine year old meets his first experience of discipline administered by anyone other than a parent.

"One must assume that the school you have chosen for your son has a headmaster who for some reason you have decided is to be trusted with your boy's training. It may be his reputation, it may be personality, or if you're a snob, it may be because there is a waiting list. At all events, if a school is prosperous, has passed boys satisfactorily into public schools and the Army and Navy, you can conclude that it is being run efficiently.

"The sensible mother can see through the window dressing whether the boys are healthy and well fed, the buildings clean; but parents together must in a limited time decide if the atmosphere of the place is a happy one, if the staff appear to be men by whom you wish your boy to be disciplined. Believe me, knowing both sides of the picture it is at this stage that many parents have my deepest sympathy. Eminent business men, men with brilliant naval and military careers, all share alike that look of bewilderment when wandering through dormitories and dining rooms smelling of linoleum.

"Well, the tour of school grounds and buildings is complete. You have seen a fine chapel, the desks were placed in the proper position for light and air, a starched matron looked as though she could nurse anything, the headmaster spoke to each boy as though he had a private joke with him. And that is all you have to go on. But this must be the place you will send the boy and all you can do is hope that if he is homesick someone will see it; if another boy makes him unhappy some one will notice that; or if he has been ill and his work suffers, allowances will be made.

"These are things all parents expect to be overlooked, but which are a part of the ordinary routine of any school in the hands of an expert, and an expert the headmaster must be.

"In England a father discusses his son with a headmaster; his work, his play and the fees! A mother talks health and clothes to the headmaster's wife or matron. Doesn't this picture seem more normal than that of a mother arriving with theories, a cheque book and a silent husband, if any, in the offing.

"There are many small schools in Bermuda, run by the Government, and all co-educational except the

AUTHORESS OF "PHANTOM CROWN," "FAREWELL TOINETTE," OPENS COLLEGE LECTURE SERIES.

Memorial Hall,
October 11, 1938.

Charming lecturer, musician, and authoress of several best-selling novels, Mrs. Bertita Harding spoke to a Salem College audience on October 11. She offered the first program in a series including Sir Arthur Williard, Padrick Colum, and John Mason Brown, who makes a return engagement by request this spring to talk about the New York Stage.

Mrs. Harding is a true cosmopolite. She is of Rhenish and Hungarian ancestry, and speaks with a delightful accent. She was born in Nuremberg with the long paternal name Bertita Carla Camille Leonarz, and the Magyar title of a Countess Karolyi.

While she was still a baby her family moved to Mexico on a diplomatic mission for the Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria. This mission concerned the return of the Hapsburg crown jewels which belonged to Franz Joseph's brother, Maximilian, of Mexico. As a consequence, Bertita became very familiar with the royal family of Mexico, and it was of this land and mostly of this family that she has been writing and lecturing during the past several years.

"There in Mexico," Mrs. Harding told Salem students, "living in the shadow of the melancholy and glamorous Chapultepec Castle and its mysterious forest, I listened to talks about the Maximilian court. My old Indian nurse first introduced me to literature, and from her I absorbed the drama of the story as I heard conversations of the former ladies-in-waiting to Carlotta."

Mrs. Harding's books, which she described in her talk, are written in a delightful manner, and have become exceedingly popular in the Salem library since her visit.

1857

Mrs. R. A. Lyle, of Houston, Texas, wrote to the office during the summer the following interesting item about her mother, Eliza Neilson, class of '57: "In going through some of my mother's old things yesterday, I found two autograph albums that she had while a student in your school, also an old catalogue "July 1856 to June 1857." I wonder if any other girl kept her catalogue that long? She was Eliza Neilson and was at Salem 4 years, also her chum, Henrietta Proffitt."

1888

Dr. Adelaide Fries, Archivist of the Southern Province of the Moravian Church, is one of the two women from Winston-Salem to be listed in the 1938-39 issue of Who's Who in America.

1891

At one of the first chapel programs this year, Mattie Woodell Jones, from Hollywood, California, was present. Dr. Rondthaler asked that she stand, and say a few words to the students, and in reply, Mrs. Jones said:

"If you girls think you know happiness, you should know the supreme happiness I feel at this moment — back at Salem.

"I'd always wanted a daughter of mine to come to school here, but since I have no girls, my sons have promised me that my grand-daughters will come and learn to love Salem as I love it."

Our humblest apologies to Virginia Keith Montgomery (Mrs. Flake E. Montgomery, 608 S. Liberty Street, Winston-Salem, N. C.), for advancing her age five years. Instead of catching the error in the proof, we let her name go in with the class of 1903, rather than with 1908 where she belonged.

Our best thanks to her, however, for her good spirit in overlooking the mistake and sending her dues anyway.

Sarah Kincaid (Mrs. Andy Milstead), wrote a letter full of news of herself and her sister, Katherine. She says: "Andy has accepted a call to St. Luke's Church, Fort Myers, Florida, and will assume his duties there the first of October. We leave here the last of this month and I wanted to make sure that my Alumnae Record would follow me. My new address will be 2111 Woodford Avenue, Fort Myers. It's a long way off, isn't it?"

How I wish I could get back to Salem to see all of you before I leave, and especially would I like to be there when they sing "Standing at the Portals of the Opening Year." That to me is one of the strongest ties Salem holds for its girls.

... and then she tells of the birth of her daughter, Sarah Lee Milstead, whose arrival is noted under Births, this issue. Sarah loyally says: "and I'm placing her application in now for entrance to Salem's Class of 1958.

"Drew, my little son, is four years older than his sister."

"Perhaps you'd like to know that my sister, Katherine, is living in the Philippines now. Her husband, Lt. Col. Patterson is to be stationed there for the next two years. They arrived in Manila in July, and their address is: Lt. Col. R. B. Patterson, Headquarters Harbor Defenses, Fort Mills, P. I.

"She has two handsome sons, Kincaid and Walter Brown, ages 4 and 2 respectively.

Rosalie Smith is working on her M.A. degree at New York University this year.

Frances Mendenhall, B. S., Ho. Ec., has a teaching position in High Point which should be more than usually interesting. She has 24 boys in a home economics class, big strapping men, some of them, and football heroes, whom she is teaching to know the values of foods, to cook and at their own request to make their own aprons.

1934

George Dickieson, B.Mus. in violin, has accepted a position on the music department faculty at the Woman's College of the University of North Carolina, in Greensboro.

1935

Edna Higgins has entered the General Assembly's Training School for Lay Workers in Richmond, Va., this year, and will take a two years course in young people's work there.

1936

Lois Torrence wrote from Miami, Fla., this summer: "Libby and I are taking a two months art course here at the University of Miami. It is a grand course."

Libby is continuing her course throughout the winter.

Jane Crow, B.S., '37, Salem College; M.A., '38, University of Maryland, is now assistant in the home economics department at Salem.

Jane Leibfried, for the past year a student at the Woman's Medical College, Philadelphia, has been awarded a full tuition scholarship for this year by that institution for her outstanding record.

Jane is a graduate of the Moravian Preparatory School and attended Moravian College for Women for three years. She was a very popular member of the senior class at Salem in 1937, when she was graduated with the B.S. degree. The past year was her first year in medical college.

Llalya Tucker, a home economics graduate, is teaching again this year in Mineral Springs, N. C.

Cordelia Lowry, '37's May Queen and Horseback riding champion, is teaching home economics in Bedford Springs, Va.

Saltus Grammar Schools for Boys. In this school there are one hundred and fifty day boys and a small growing boarding department, some American boys, a few English, but chiefly Bermudians who will one day be running the government and business of this small colony.

"The school is a hybrid growth, hybrid in the sense that it prepares boys for American as well as English colleges, and yet loses in doing so none of its English tradition for teaching good manners, sportsmanship and good form in the approved English style. The staff is composed of Oxford and Cambridge men who not only teach but play games with the boys.

"Those concerned with the organization of the school are endeavoring to maintain a balance between work and play which will develop a boy in such a way that he will go to his higher education neither a grind, to use an Americanism, nor a hearty, which is an English term for athlete. If he must be a hearty, let that emerge at a university when sounder foundations have been laid."

Even to the Fifth Generation

One of the members of this year's freshman class has a Salem background behind her as sturdy as the very walls of the Sisters' House. Allene Slade Harrison, of Battleboro, represents the fifth generation of her family to come to Salem.

Allene Slade's Salem lineage traces itself back to her great-great-grandmother, Elizabeth Slade, who came to school here in 1818. Her daughter, Sarah Wiggins, was at Salem in 1841. Elizabeth Slade's grand-daughters, Alice and Pattie Matthews entered Salem in 1863; and her great-granddaughters, Bessie Cawthorne and Namie Cawthorne, made coming to Salem a real family tradition.

Allene Slade Harrison, marking the fifth generation is studying toward the bachelor of arts degree in 1942.

Fourth Generation

Rhea Gaynelle Sikes, recently elected president of the 93 freshmen at Salem, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. Edgar Sikes, of Greensboro. She is also a Salem great-great-granddaughter. Her mother, Cleo Ogburn, '17; her grandmother, Emma Kapp, '92 (Mrs. Cicero Ogburn); and her great-grandmother, Sarah Lehman, were all Salem girls.

Rhea Gaynelle was graduated in June from Greensboro high school where she was an honor student and winner at commencement of the dramatics eup, offered to the senior who does the most outstanding work in dramatics through her four high school years.

From Zina In Shanghai

Zina Vologodsky (A. B. '34), now Mrs. Constantine Popov, care of Evrette Steamship Corporation, Suite 56, 17 the Bund, Shanghai, China.

During the past two years many Salemites have been interested in and anxious about the doings of Zina Vologodsky, who left Salem in 1934 to return to China, and who later romantically married one of her childhood sweethearts, a Russian engineer, Constantine Popov.

They were living in Shanghai when it was going through the stress of Japanese conquest, but in spite of the distressing conditions in that city, Zina has kept in touch with her many friends in Winston-Salem, and has let them know that all is well with her and her husband.

From a letter received by Mrs. James Gray, '10, we copied the following news from Zina — some of it reflecting the wretched conditions of Asia — some of it sounding very calm and happy:

From a letter of September 6th:

"At present it would be foolish to leave the jobs we have and start all over again in the U. S. We are planning to get the best out of Shanghai we can; and after some years, when we will have a bank account, etc., we will try to move on. Of course with the uncertain European situation it is impossible to make plans way in advance, but at present we are only thinking of getting somewhere with our jobs and planning the next year's summer holiday.

"We lead a very quiet life during the week. I finish my work at 4:30 in summer, Connie a little later. We come home, have tea and go for a very short walk, or to the library, or the race course; then we have supper and each is busy with one's work for the next two or three hours. Connie is studying, or working out solutions for technical problems, which come up during the day; and I do the little things around the apartment, make up menus, read, or cut out the recipes and the pictures of interior decorations in the Good Housekeeping Magazine. Saturday and Sunday are real holidays for us, although unfortunately Connie is often busy on week-ends, too. But that is the life of an engineer. On most week-ends we go to concerts, movies, see our friends, play poker, or go out to dance, though the last very seldom. On the whole we are very happy about our life now, and indeed would be entirely happy could we stop worrying about our families, and about what is going to happen to us, if — there will be a European war, if — the Japanese win the war, if — the Chinese win, etc. None of these "ifs" gives us a sense of relaxation.

"A war right here is bad enough, but a war in Europe makes us shudder. At any rate, the next generation won't be able to say that we had a peaceful life.

"The College will be opening in a few days, the girls will all be new and so many of the teachers, but if any one of the old crowd asks about me, please let them know that I have forgotten no one.

"LOST SOULS"

Below are listed many alumnae whose addresses we do not have. Please send information about these girls to the alumnae office as soon as possible, so we can get in touch with them before commencement. They are members of official reunion classes this year.

YOUR LANTERN

The stereopticon lantern is no longer a dream, but 29 pounds of glass and metal in the corner of the biology lab. Through the generous gifts of the classes and various clubs at the end of the year, enough was on hand to warrant borrowing a small sum to make the purchase.

We are deeply grateful to the following for contributions:

Alumnae, $10.08; Freshman Class, $20.00; Sophomore Class, $5.82; Junior Class $23.35; Senior Class, $11.91; Quill Pen, $25.00; Camera Club, $13.84; Art Class, $8.92; Total, $118.92.

Since our goal was $140.00, there is still $21.08 to be raised and we issue an invitation to any alumnae who forgot to contribute in the spring, to do so now.

No. 455

Dear Alumnae:

Two things this brief greeting must say and they are equally important.

First, we want you to come back to your Alma Mater so that we can see you, and second, we are anxious that when you come you see Salem thoroughly.

Perhaps you are asking "Now what does he, the writer, especially want us to see which we have not already seen, and here comes the answer to that question.

Have you really seen the new Library? Have you actually been in each of its many rooms and have you taken time to appreciate how beautiful it is, within and without, how sensibly it has been built, without waste of any money and at the same time without uncomfortable scrimping and dangerous economy?

Have you seen the Old Chapel (above the dining room), in its restored and twentieth century condition?

At the eastern end is a perfect modern stage handsomely curtained, professionally fitted with dressing rooms and lighted with all the new effects for successful Dramatics.

But this is not the whole story of what we want you to see in the Old Chapel renewed.

Without having been asked in any way, the Men's Bible Class, which is taught and broadcast by your President, each Sunday morning, quietly undertook to repaint and in appropriate colonial effect redecorate the Old Chapel, and also to seat it with folding, movable chairs.

All this the Men's Bible Class has done and paid for, and every alumna will thrill to enter this beautiful restored Chapel.

Chapel it was eighty years ago, and chapel and auditorium it now is in appropriate combination of historic appearance and of modern equipment.

Have you seen the fountain courtyard just west of the dining room, since with suitable shrubbery the Hebe statue has been moved out-of-doors just south of the circular fountain and at night charmingly lighted with a spot light effect?

This you must see for it is a unique and really lovely additional use of this charming little courtyard.

Commencement is not so far off and a great Commencement it will certainly be. We literally yearn for you to plan so as to be here.

Sincerely yours,

HOWARD E. RONDTHALER, President.

Salem's "Old Chapel" Restored

In the center of the college campus, just over the dining room, is an exact reproduction of the famous Harmony Hall in Boston, Mass., long recognized as having the most perfect acoustics in America.

Used for the past several years as a library, the hall has recently been restored to its original purpose as a chapel and assembly room.

Like the Boston building, the "old chapel" at Salem was the center of cultural and musical activities, for in addition to many kinds of concerts, the room was the scene of commencements and other college gatherings.

Then, with the erection of Memorial Hall with its larger auditorium, and the need for more library space, the assembly room was turned into the Salem Library. When the new library building was completed on Salem Square, and books and equipment moved in, the old chapel was vacated.

During the summer months a complete stage, with dressing rooms and other necessary equipment, was built in the eastern fourth of the old chapel. It can now be used for dramatics, operatic performances, concerts and many gatherings small enough to be comfortably cared for. The larger events will continue to be held in Memorial Hall. Just recently, the Men's Bible Class of the Home Moravian Church, which meets each Sunday in the old chapel, had the walls repainted in old Colonial blue to match those in Main Hall offices and hall. They also placed attractive new lighting fixtures in the room.

The chapel has many features of interest, especially the three memorial windows. On the south side is the first memorial ever erected to honor the war governor, Zebulon B. Vance, who was a lifetime friend of Salem College. The window is a gift of the class of 1894. The Saint Cecelia Society is responsible for the window on the west. This stained glass picture of Saint Cecelia is especially attractive in the late afternoon when the sun rays bring out the richness of the color in the glass.

Samuel G. Kramsch, president of Salem Academy in 1802, is honored with the window on the north side, a tribute paid him by the late Amy Adelaide Van Vleck.

Mrs. Bruce Williams, of Winston-Salem, is continuing her work as dramatic coach at Salem. Because of additional facilities she has been able this year to offer an enlarged program for this department.

The course in operatic dramatics, which is intended to provide experience in this type of work, is directed by Clifford Bair, head of the voice department of the school of music.

Certificates For Alumnae Daughters

From back numbers of the "Alumnae Record," we have gleaned the names of approximately 200 alumnae who have daughters. These 200 daughters will, we hope, come to Salem, even though some of them will not be ready to enter until 1955.

To the older girls on this list we have mailed Salem catalogues and folders, but to the younger ones, we are sending certificates of enrollment, naming them as prospective Salemites of the future. The certificates are attractive little yellow and white cards, big enough to frame and hang on the wall, or small enough to paste in a baby book.

We are anxious that all of our alumnae daughters have these certificates, so if your daughter has not received one, please let us know, and we will see that she gets one right away.

FOUNDERS' DAY FEBRUARY 3rd, 1939

Concert in Old Chapel Features Local Alumnae Chapter Meeting.

As the Record goes to press, interesting plans for a Founders Day program are on foot. By the time you read this article, some of the tentative plans may have been changed, but at present they include a special chapel talk on Friday, February 3, concerning the early beginnings of Salem community and Salem Academy; a dinner for the trustees to be in charge of the senior class; and a special concert presented by alumnae musicians in the "old chapel." The business meeting of the Winston-Salem branch will close the full day's schedule.

Maggie Mae Stockton (Mrs. Ralph Stockton), newly elected president of the Local Chapter has asked twelve alumnae and Mrs. Robert Jensen, talented singer of Winston-Salem, to take part in the concert. This event, it is hoped, will be reminiscent of the many musicals held in former years in the old chapel.

Among those who will participate in the program are: Mrs. Holt Haywood (Mary Louise Bahnson), Miss Agnes Dodson, Mrs. C. M. Norfleet (Corrinne Baskin), Miss Dicie Howell, Mrs. Harold McKeithan (Millicent Ward), Mrs. Kenneth Mountcastle (Mac Coan), Mrs. Kenneth Pfohl (Bessie Whittington), Mrs. Robert Jensen, Mrs. Horace Sebring, (Lillian Johnston), Mrs. Malloy Davis (Dorothy Thompson), Mrs. H. C. Horton (Virginia Wiggins), Mrs. W. P. Rainey (Frances Doub), and Mrs. Stockton (Maggie Mae Thompson).

The program is scheduled for 8:00 o'clock p. m.

A number of new trustees have been elected this year to serve the college and academy, and these men and women, together with those already on the board, will be honor guests at a formal dinner given by the college seniors immediately preceding the concert. The list of trustees now includes:

Adventures of a Self-Help College Dean

By Mary E. Young, Rio Grande College, Rio Grande, Ohio

Mary E. Young (A.B. 1907), is doing an interesting piece of work in Rio Grande, Ohio, where she is dean of women at a small college.

From a letter written to Elizabeth Zachary, one of the resident dears at Salem Academy, we quote the following description of Mary's college experiences:

"Rio Grande was an old liberal arts college of the smaller variety. It was founded and endowed by a man and his wife who happened to be Baptist, but the college itself has been rather an independent institution. Last winter we lost our main building by fire. The authorities appealed to the Northern Baptist Convention for help. The authorities, however, said they didn't feel the need of the type college Rio Grande had been, as there were other colleges in the denomination doing that work. They did feel that there was a vital need for a good "self-help college" and would give us assistance if we would reorganize and develop a good self-help project. To make a long story short we are launching such a college and hope in time to have "A Berea" in Ohio that is controlled by the Northern Baptist Convention.

"If you have ever worked on a schedule I guess you know it is a job; but suppose that schedule had to have in it milking, churning, hog feeding, cooking, cleaning, etc., and they all had to fit into the schedule for classes. Each student works three hours a day, but since the work must go on all day, as soon as one student goes to class another comes off class and goes to work. There are not enough students to have two sections of every class, neither are there enough faculty members. We simply have to take each of the two hundred students and work out his or her schedule of school and work and make them all fit one another.

"Any boy or girl who can get $50.00 a year and clothes is able to make the rest by working. We have a farm, a large apple orchard, a dairy, a cannery and the building program. We hope each year to add other industries.

"Disciplinary problems have reached the zero point, except that some few have to be taught promptness and industry on the job just as some freshmen have to be taught not to loaf in class work. We get the most ambitious, of course, but many come from such poor homes one wonders how they can be fired with such enthusiasm. Upon investigation I usually find that some school teacher is the torch . . ."

Leaving off the discussion of her present problem, Mary wrote to some extent in praise of her own college days:

"Salem completely sold me on the idea of small Christian colleges which do distinctive things. I have had two degrees from large Universities since I got my degree from Salem, and while they are both splendid universities, I wouldn't trade my Salem training for both of them."

Eugene Ormandy to Conduct C. G. Vardell's "Carolinian" Soon Famous Conductor of Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra Thrills Winston-Salem Audience with Announcement

During an intermission of his Civic Music symphonic program in Winston-Salem on December 10, Eugene Ormandy made an exciting promise to the several thousand people who crowded Reynolds auditorium. He announced that from among the many compositions by young musicians which he has listened to this year, he has chosen the new symphony "Carolinian," by Dean Charles G. Vardell, Jr., to be included on one of his programs in the near future.

Ormandy, praising Vardell's symphony, explained in his broken Hun-

Nancy Cox's Ink Smeared Fingers Bring Honor

The following excerpt from an article by Mrs. J. W. Bunn, is quoted from the Raleigh News and Observer, November 19, 1938. It will be of interest to all Salem Alumnae, and especially those who know Nancy.

"Special recognition has been conferred upon the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs in the appointment of one of its members, Miss Nancy Cox, of Raleigh, editor of Junior Page in The Clubwoman, GFWC, official organ of the General Federation.

"This appointment comes, no doubt, as the direct result of fine service rendered her own state in the same capacity," says the State president, Mrs. Howard G. Etheridge, of Asheville.

"Miss Cox's experience in newspaper work has provided fine training for the duties of her new office, which is to collect and edit club activities of Juniors all over the nation.

"In club work, Miss Cox's training started with the Raleigh Juniors. In that organization she has held various offices, only last spring declining another year's term as president. At the State convention in Wilmington, last April, she was elected president of the State Juniors, a newly created office. In this work she is associated with Mrs. Karl Bishopric of Spray, State chairman, who serves as liaison officer between the Women's Clubs and and the Juniors of the State federation. As representative of the Juniors, Miss Cox attended the Tulsa Biennial and the Kansas City Triennial meetings of the General Federation. Her term of office as editor of the Junior Page is for three years.

"Miss Cox makes the second North Carolina clubwoman to be appointed to office in the national organization for this administration, Mrs. R. H. Latham, of Asheville, being chairman of the Budget.

Here a Meeting-- There a Meeting-- Everywhere a Salem Meeting

Bethlehem, Pa., Nov. 16, 1938.

The annual meeting of the Lehigh Valley Branch, Alumnae Association of Salem College, was held on November 16 at the home of Miss Julia Crawford, West Center St., Nazareth. Miss Margaret McLean, field secretary of the college, was the guest of honor.

During the business session, Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, of Bethlehem, was elected president; Miss Julia Crawford, Nazareth, secretary. Other officers who remain, are: Vice-president, Miss Josephine Ritter, Bethlehem, and treasurer, Mrs. Roy Grams, Bethlehem.

It was decided to hold a covered dish social at the home of Mrs. Raymond Hauptert, this city, early in February.

Present were Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, Mrs. Ira Ross, Mrs. Raymond Hauptert, Mrs. William N. Schwarze, Mrs. Roy Grams, and Misses Isabelle Rice, Josephine Ritter, Louise Rice, Gertrude Albrecht and Margaret Schwarze, of Bethlehem, Sarah Rathburn, Allentown; and Misses Elizabeth Balmson, Julia Crawford and Elizabeth Marx, Nazareth.

Richmond, Va., Nov. 10, 1938.

The Salem College Alumnae Association held a reunion and tea at the home of Mrs. W. W. Moore, 3609 Seminary Avenue, at which there were thirty-five members present.

Miss Margaret McLean, alumnae field secretary of Salem, told members of the recent developments in the school, and showed motion pictures of the college and its activities. She urged each member to spread information about Salem and its many good qualities, and especially to ask members of the alumnae to consider Salem for their daughters and invite friends to investigate it with a view to sending other young people.

An interesting picture showing officers of the Richmond Branch with Miss McLean appeared in the Richmond News Leader following the tea. Those in the picture were: Mrs. R. L. Potts, recording secretary; Mrs. J. Thomas Stevenson, president, Mrs. O. S. Woodward, transportation chairman, Mrs. James R. Greene, vice-president, Miss McLean, field secretary, Mrs. J. O. Flournoy, treasurer, and Mrs. Kenneth Mayfield, publicity chairman.

Washington, D. C. and Baltimore, Md., Nov. 11, 1938.

Mrs. Tyre Taylor entertained the Salem alumnae of Washington, D. C. and Baltimore, Md., at an evening meeting at her home, on November 11, with Miss Margaret McLean, alumnae field secretary, as honor guest. There were sixteen members present, and after talking about Salem in an informal and very pleasant manner for a while, the alumnae turned their attention to Mary (Brewer) Barkley, whose clever impersonations and readings reminded many of them even more strongly of Salem days than anything else could at the moment.

The field secretary was pleased to find so informal and congenial a group of alumnae in the capitol city, and reported a most successful "get-together" at Mrs. Taylor's. Those present were: Mrs. M. S. Best, Rose Best, Mary Clyde Hassell, Shuford

Carlton, Mabel Mehaffey Sullivan, Beth Sloop Shronce, president, Charlotte Grimes Cooper, of Baltimore; Mrs. McGinley, Laverne Waters Reber, of Baltimore, Mary Brewer Barkley, Isabel Ferguson, Eleanor Idol, Mary Nelson Anderson Slye, Kathleen Arrowood, treasurer, Margaret McLean, and Eva Taylor.

Mildred Fleming Councilor (Mrs. Harry Councilor), was elected to serve as secretary for the branch.

Charlotte, N. C., November 1, 1938.

The Charlotte Branch of the Salem College Alumnae met Tuesday, November 1, 1938, at 3:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Frank Jones on Queens Road. Mrs. James Hobbs, the president, presided over the short business session at which time Miss Virginia Neely, the vice-president, was appointed president to succeed Mrs. Hobbs. Mrs. Hobbs was resigning because of her departure from the city. Mrs. James Major was elected secretary to succeed Mrs. Wernien Stanley.

Mrs. Hobbs then introduced the speaker, Dr. James Godard, of Queens-Chicora College who spoke on the Problems of Education in the Rural South and how those problems affect the United States as a whole. At the conclusion of his talk Dr. Godard asked for an informal discussion on the solutions of these problems and an interesting debate took place.

Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler, who were very welcome guests, then brought greetings from Salem, and Dr. Rondthaler informally described the new buildings on the campus and gave delightful bits of information concerning the life of the girls now in the college. Mrs. Rondthaler also gave additional gossip of campus life.

A social hour followed these talks at which time the hostess served a delicious tea course. Mrs. George Dowdy presided at the tea table and was assisted by Mesdames Charles Ross, J. C. Gilmer, C. C. Keiger, Fred Anderson, Hugh Puckett and Misses Rose Hawkins and Virginia Neely.

New York City, Nov. 19, 1938.

Elizabeth Rondthaler Pfohl, president of the New York Branch of Salem Alumnae, presided over a luncheon meeting, November 19, at Theresa Worthington Grant's. Approximately fifteen members were present.

After lunch, Miss Margaret McLean showed moving pictures of the college activities. Mrs. Pfohl presented a brief questionnaire about Salem, prepared by the alumnae office, which asked several questions of interest to distant alumnae. Various members answered the questions.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 30, 1938.

Philadelphia alumnae met on November 30, at the Whitman's Terrace for an evening's social and business session. Mary McKelvie Frye, president, was in charge of the meeting, at which Margaret McLean, alumnae field secretary, was guest of honor. Miss McLean showed pictures of college activities, and presented a Salem "Questionnaire," composed of fifty questions pertaining to present-day Salem.

A formal dinner was enjoyed by the fourteen members who were present.

garian accent, that it would be played by the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra as soon as it could be worked into the program. These programs are made up months in advance. "However," he said, "I hope to have it played before the end of the season which is in early spring.

If not, I'll surely get to it at the beginning of next season."

Dean Vardell completed this first full length symphony last spring while he was doing special composition work at the Eastman School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. He was granted a year's leave of absence from his teaching duties at Salem to undertake this work, but is back on the campus this year.

As in his several symphonic poems and other selections, he has again used the old folk melodies as the basic theme for the symphony.

He is well acquainted with these folk songs, having studied and appreciated their simple beauty for many years. Many of the ballads he found in the mountains of North Carolina.

His best-known composition is "Old Joe Clark Steps Out," a symphonic poem, which has already been played by some of the country's largest orchestras. Among his other familiar works are "The Inimitable Lovers" and "Skyland."

"Mrs. Bennett died about one year ago at her California home and is buried in San Diego. She was from Oak Ridge, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Martin Holt. Prof. Holt was well known president of Oak Ridge Institute. He died 25 years ago. Mrs. Holt still lives in California.

Mabel Williams (Mrs. Benjamin Harvey Hill) was listed among the "Lost Souls" in last issue. From one of her friends, in Ohio, we obtained the following information about Mrs. Hill, who, as it happens is "living under the shadow of Salem College," and can be reached by addressing High Point College, High Point, N. C.

"Both she and her husband were teaching at High Point College when they were married some five or more years ago. They left the summer they were married and he took a position at the University of New York. I suppose you lost her then," writes the friend." They have been back at H. P. C. for — this is the third year. She has a little daughter some three or four years old. I don't know her address, but a letter addressed to the college would be put in her husband's mail box.

Before her marriage in 1936, Bessie was dean of women at Mary Baldwin College, in Staunton, Va. She is now living at 2224 N. 24th Street, Cherrydale, Va., just outside Washington, D. C.

"I work in the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court of Granville County with Charlotte Easton ('29). She is fine. I see "Gigger" Shaw ('26), who teaches at the Oxford orphanage, very often.

Elizabeth "Fats" Hobgood Cooke came over and spent the first of January in Oxford with her two babies. She called us, but since Meredith was in quarantine with whooping cough, I didn't see them.

"Peggy Peery Crawford ('27), now lives at Donna, Texas. She has two young daughters, so I am sure you will wish to send an enrollment certificate to Peery Crawford who was born December 14, 1929."

Ruth Pfohl Grams, of Bethlehem, Pa., has the distinction of making the highest score recorded this year for answering the newly-prepared "Salem questionnaire." This questionnaire, prepared by the college office for use at branch alumnae meetings, contains fifty questions about up-to-date Salem. Ruth made a score of 83.

Quoting from Mary's letter: "I read the 'Salemite' with an avidity I had never known in school. I have gotten to the point where even the advertisements hold a sentiment for me. And one of the nicest things I know of is that I plan to be with all of you for Graduation this spring.

I haven't acquired a new husband yet, but it's just nine more days until I will. After that I'll be Mrs. W. N. McKenzie, and we'll live in Gibson, N. C. You'll probably

ALUMNAE GARDEN

Those of the alumnae who have returned to school since graduation I know have been interested in seeing the growth of the cherry trees on the driveway, the poplar trees at the edge of the soccer field, and the vines on the corners of the buildings which you gave to the grounds.

Some of you have not been here since we have had the open fireplace built on the northwest part of the campus and the pine-needle paths leading to it and on down to the brook.

The present classes in school are interested in beautifying the ground just beyond the hedge around the goose-egg. We want to make a really lovely rock garden, calling it the Alumnae Garden, with a lily pond and also to landscape the grounds as far as the rustic bridge. After the girls have paid for their various entertainments and what they owe on the curtains, they will contribute the remaining money to this project. However, that will not be sufficient to do all the work we wish to do in the next few months. I hope that all of you girls will be interested enough to contribute something towards this project; no matter how little it is; just so you show your interest in beautifying the grounds of your Alma Mater.

Rose Willingham has already sent a very nice check and I hope to hear from you all soon.

Charlotte Jackson.

Dear Alumnae (Member of Class of '27, '34, '35, '36, '37, or '38):

At a meeting of Salem Academy graduates who are attending Salem College, the first week-end of March was decided upon for the date of our annual reunion. Plans are being made for an interesting program beginning at six o'clock, Saturday evening, March 4 and continuing until Sunday afternoon.

This is a personal letter and a cordial invitation to each of you to attend the meeting of Salem Academy Alumnae. Please answer to Miss Zachary or to me, whether you can or cannot come. We hope that each class president will write personal notes urging the members of her class to be present, and we are looking forward to seeing you all.

Sincerely yours,

JACKIE RAY,

Chairman of Reunion Committee.

William Mims (Mrs. G. W. Clark), 302 Mims Avenue, Newport, Tenn. president of the class, sent the picture at our request. "The kodak picture was taken last summer, so my little boy is a little larger now. I have just the one child. His name is Mims Clark, and he will be four years old the 29th of this month. He is quite large for his age, and has always been so well and strong I feel I am very lucky. He was born in Detroit, but we moved to Newport when he was eight months old.

My husband works for the state, and it is nice to be among the people we both know.

I am teaching History in the High School here in Newport. Last year

I taught in the Grammar grades, but I feel that this year's work is doing me a lot of good. I'm sure I'm learning a good deal more than the students.

Mary Stokely Eberts has just gone back to Indianapolis after visiting here for six weeks. Her little boy is in school now. Fannie Stokely (president of '34) married my Cousin Lyle Moore, Jr., and they have a sweet little girl. They just moved into their new home. (Lyle Moore is Myra Lucia's ('37) brother).

Myra Lucia is still at Ward-Belmont in Nashville.

I do so often think of the Academy."

1927

The first reunion for this class since 1933 will be at the alumnae house party, March 4th and 5th. We hope that every member will take this opportunity to be a house guest at this time.

We are glad that Polly Schenherr sent her kodak picture. We hope that she will be here to speak for her class at the banquet.

Lella Burroughs Shaffner, South Main Street, Winston-Salem, has a young son, Frank, born October 19th. You will have to come for your reunion in order to see Lella's three fine children.

Edith Kirkland had a wonderful time with Elizabeth Deaver on one of her business trips to Knoxville. Deaver has her own shop which she calls the "Elizabeth Deaver Variety Shop."

Laura Mosely is at home on a vacation from her hospital work in Niagara. The doctor in charge of the hospital was here last year and told us of the very fine work Laura is doing in this mission field.

Emily Tobey Robertson, 966 Creston Road, Berkeley, Cal. sent us a kodak picture of her cute new home. She wrote on Dec. 6th: "The Christmas season is almost with us again. Soon you will be having the lovely carol service at Salem with candlelight. One never forgets it. Salem really does leave its mark on people more afterwards than at the time." We know that Tobey is expressing the thought held by many Salem girls.

Catherine Gaut Burton, 403 Forest Hills Blvd., Knoxville, Tenn., president of the class, wrote of her daughter: "Lane is what we call her but her full name is Catharine Lane, same as mine and others of the family for 8 generations back. We are living here with mother and Dad and I am employed as Secretary in one of the offices in the Court House, the County Agent's and Home Demonstration Agent's office — and do I make a farmer! Have worked there 2½ years now and really like it.

I seldom see any of my old Salem friends. Miss Weaver Surprised us a couple of years ago here and I was so very glad to see her. She showed us pictures of the new Academy buildings and they are so beautiful. Would give anything to see them and all of you, too. Of course, I asked her ten thousand questions and thought of many others after she had left. I hope to some day see for myself and I hope it won't be very long off before I will have a chance to get over there."

This is the last reunion of this class until 1944. We hope that every member who can possibly do so will accept our invitation to be present for the alumnae house party March the 4th and 5th.

Louise Frazier wrote from Old Fort where she is teaching: "As you see or probably guess, I have my hands full up here. Right now, it's an operetta that's worrying me. You remember those Gilbert and Sullivan we gave every year at school? I was wondering if I might borrow some copies of one."

Florence Pearsall visited the Academy for a very short while on October 30th.

Kathryn Kilgore wrote recently: "This year I am at Bob Jones College (Cleveland, Tenn.), catching up on a few odds and ends and taking a business course. Education is an endless process even after graduation from College.

A few of us have stayed on in the college dormitory for the Christmas holidays and are having a very happy time together.

Someday it will be possible, I hope, to come for a visit to old Salem and see it and the teachers once more."

Mary Margaret Johnson came to see us on December 9th.

Ann Perkins, New York City, and Lizzie Trotman ('35), had tea in the Academy, January 7th. Ann is continuing her work in dramatics.

Come all of you to your reunion during the alumnae house party on March 4th and 5th.

Lady Kate Allen who is attending Carson Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn. wrote: "Can it be possible that I have been away from Salem four years: It seems only a few months for everything about the school is still very vivid to me.

Right now I'm very busy rehearsing for the Dramatic Club. We are giving "Little Women" this year, and I have the part of Jo. I really am very thrilled over getting that part, I've always wanted to do it. We are going to take it to four or five colleges, and that is always a lot of fun.

I have decided to study Library Science. I've been very upset over whether to go on with dramatics or study library science, but I've about decided to do the latter."

Patsy Hill Prevost, Hazelwood, N. C. has a son, William, Jr., who was born on Nov. 8th.

Ethel Litz, Tazewell, Va., was in Ruth Kreiter's wedding in Washington, D. C. in November.

We are looking forward to having a number of this class with us for the alumnae house party as you are having a reunion on March 4th and 5th.

We are glad to have Nancy Campbell's, the president, picture. Nancy wrote from Hollins: "This year I have several extra-curricular offices, and that, and a heavy academic schedule keeps me very busy. Believe it or not, I haven't had time to take but one week-end off campus. However, I am enjoying my work at school! so I don't mind the lack of playing.

I do hope I can come to our reunion again this year, but I wouldn't dare plan on it so far ahead. Please let me know though, the date and the plans."

The Academy group who went to Williamsburg this year saw Ruth Doerschuk who is enjoying her work at William and Mary.

Kathryn Holmes came to see us on October 7.

Bettie MacNair is working in an office on Wall Street, we hear.

Mary Lib Walston is doing office work in Winston-Salem.

Dorothy Everett's address in Raleigh, North Carolina is Apartment 8, 705 West Morgan Street.

1937

We hope that all of you will be with us for your reunion during the alumnae house party, March 4th and 5th.

We are glad that Mary McDevitt sent in her picture at our request. We are always glad to see Mary when she comes to Winston-Salem on business or pleasure.

Nancy Clark wrote from Mary Baldwin: "Here's hoping the purple team wins." The Purple team did win the cup for the first sports season. The interest is almost evenly divided and both sides working hard so there is no way to tell in advance which team will be ahead at the end of the basketball and speedball season which is in full swing now.

We have had interesting letters from Eleanor Amos and Barbara Shoemaker at Randolph-Macon telling about their work, and from Rose Willingham at Gunston Hall contributing to the alumnae garden project about which Miss Jackson wrote a number of girls and telling of her work.

Marjorie Peterson's address is Box 4372, University Station, University of Arizona, Tucson, Arizona. She wrote: "I miss Salem and all of the grand friends that I made there very much but it is grand to be with Mother this year. The University is a marvelous place, although quite hard. I am very thankful for the back ground that I was given at both the Academy and the College, and feel that without it my grades would not be what they are. I am majoring in mathematics, which is quite far from my original plan, but I am continuing shorthand and typing. I hope to secure a degree in two more years and teach high school math."

We hope to welcome to their first reunion every member of this class on March 4th and 5th.

Margaret Vardell's picture shows what she is doing on the campus this year. She is working very hard but will have time to welcome all of her classmates to the alumnae house party.

The students and faculty appreciated a telegram from Helen Mills on the day of the Christmas party wishing the group a happy time. We wish all of our old girls could have been with us at our Christmas dinner which had as its theme 'Dickens' Christmas Carol. The toys were collected as usual and the tree and putz were very pretty.

Students

There are a number of girls in the Academy who have had sisters, mothers, grandmothers, and great-grandmothers, aunts and great-aunts attend the Academy. Those whose records were given in a Record last year and who are here again this year are: Marjorie Bell, Asheville; Ann Doerschuk, Badin; Kathryn Hill, Waynesville; Betty Jones, Inverness, Fla.; Margaret Leinbach, Winston-Salem; Mildred Parks, Wellesly Hills, Mass.; Nancy McMillan, Knoxville, Tenn.; Myra Sharp, Harrellsville, N. C.; Camille Trotman, Winston-Salem; Ann Siler, Verona, N. J.

Mebane Harris, Danville, Va., who is a junior in the Academy, is the great granddaughter of Mary Elizabeth Connolly, who was born in 1842 and entered the Academy on Sept. 3, 1856 and left in May, 1857. She married Major J. Turner Morehead and lived in Spray, N. C.

Mebane's two great aunts, Eliza Morehead (Mrs. William Nelson) and Lily C. Morehead (Mrs. B. Frank Mebane of Spray, N. C.) entered Salem Female Academy on Jan. 10, 1881.

Nancy Rivers, who is a junior in the Academy from Charlotte, N. C., is the great granddaughter of Julia C. Jones who entered the Academy from Wilkes county on July 11, 1845.

Ex-Academy

Ruth Kreiter (ex-'31), spent the night with us on December 9th. She is now Mrs. Charles H. Berry, 404 Addison Apartments, Charlotte, N. C.

NOTE:—We hope that the presidents of classes '29, '30, '31, '32, '33, '34, and '35 will have their pictures here in time for the next issue of the Record.

NOTE No. 2:—Academy Alumna: If you are not a subscriber to the Alumnae Record or your subscription has expired, please send 50c (per year) before you forget.

A Ballad of May Sixth

“Wake and call me early,
Call me early, mother dear,
For I'm on my way to Salem
For the May Day there this year!

May Queen

Willie Frances Fulton
Gate City, Va.

The pageant starts at 5:00 o'clock
. . . And I'm taking something to sit on —
A blanket, or a pillow or . . .
Just anything I'll fit on.

Maid of Honor

Mary Thomas
Knoxville, Tenn.

“They're having buffet supper
And, of course, I'll want to stay
So don't expect me home till late
Upon the sixth of May.

“I won't forget to write my name
In the book that's in Main Hall;
(The alumnae office likes to keep A record of us all.)

“So I'm closing shop and donning plumes
And buying gasoline
To go to Salem May the sixth
And help them crown the queen.”

NOTE:—Miss Grace Lawrence would like to hear from you, if you are planning to stay for supper on May Day. You're all invited, but we want to be sure how many “names to put in the pot.”

Dues Should Be Sent Each Spring or Paid At Commencement

BE INTELLIGENT ON JUNE 3, 1939

June 3, 1939, is Alumnae Day at Salem! If your class is having a reunion, you should be in Main Hall at nine o'clock. If you are a member of the Executive Board, you should be in the Office Building at ten-thirty. All returning alumnae should be in the Assembly room of the Library at twelve o'clock, prepared to discuss two questions of importance.

ALUMNAE FUND SUGGESTED

Are you in favor of Salem's having an Alumnae Fund instead of annual dues? Under the plan of an Alumnae Fund, each alumna will give annually to this current fund as much as she feels she can contribute. The money will go to pay for the Alumnae Record and any other project which the alumnae wish to sponsor.

Under the present arrangement, only about 400 alumnae out of a possible 3,000 pay their dues. Four hundred dollars is not enough to meet the current expenses of the Alumnae Association.

WHAT ABOUT ALUMNAE COLLEGE?

Are you in favor of Salem's having an Alumnae College? The Alumnae College will be held on our campus for three or four days after Commencement. For the alumnae who attend, there will be on each day, lectures of topics of current interest in the fields of science, history, music, English, and possibly modern language. There will be a varied sports program in progress: golf tennis, horseback riding, swimming, and walking. In the evenings there will be all sorts of social events.

Is Salem ready to sponsor an Alumnae College?

WHEN YOU'RE SPRING CLEANING---

The Salem Library is on the lookout for a number of old periodicals. Miss Grace Siewers, Librarian, is asking all alumnae to read through the list and notify her if some of the issues mentioned are stuck away in closets or attics. If you find any of them among your possessions, please notify the Library by card or letter, stating exactly what you have. Miss Siewers will then make arrangements for having the magazines mailed to Salem, or picked up by someone who is traveling in your vicinity. Postage will be taken care of by the college.

BRANCH MEETINGS

High Point, N. C., Jan. 20, 1939.

Mrs. C. T. Ingram, Jr. (Mary Drew Dalton), president, was in charge of an interesting meeting of High Point Salem Alumnae, with Mrs. Sanders Dallas, (Ernestine Hayes), Mrs. Katherine Raymond, Mrs. L. C. Robichaux (Pauline Simmons), and Mrs. Perry Lovelace (Mary E. Perry), acting as hostesses.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Paul Casey (Helen Long), M. S. Frank Armfield (Virginia Fraley) read the minutes of the last meeting.

A slate of officers for the next two years was read and accepted. They will be: Margaret Briggs, president; Josephine Gibson, vice-president and Mrs. Charles McAnally (Wanna Mary Huggins), secretary.

Mrs. Ingram also announced the hostess committee for the coming year: Miss Josephine Gibson, chairman; Mrs. B. S. Cummings (Annie Walker) Miss Adele Hicks and Mrs. Charles Parker (Hybernia Hudson).

Josephine Whitehead, Campus Secretary at Salem, gave a talk on improvements at the college campus. She told about the renovation of the various buildings, stressing the latest improvement, the brick steps and the fine iron railing (Swedish iron), for Memorial Hall.

Margaret McLean, Alumnae Secretary, conducted a questionnaire of fifty questions about Salem, the highest score was made by Mrs. David Yow (Windfred Vail). She was given a prize. Delicious refreshments were served to: Mrs. Sanders Dallas (Ernestine Hayes), Mrs. L. C. Robichaux (Pauline Simmons), Mrs. Katherine Raymond, Mrs. Frank Armfield (Tick Fraley), Mrs. C. T. Ingram, Jr., Mrs. W. L. Jackson (Celeste Huntley), Mrs. Perry Lovelace (Mary E. Perry), Mrs. David Yow (Winnifred Vail), Miss Josephine Gibson, Mrs. D. W. Greensboro, N. C., March 1, 1939.

The Greensboro Branch of Salem College Alumnae held its annual meeting on March 1, 1939, with Mrs. T. Edgar Sikes.

Mrs. Enil A. Jones, Secretary, presided over the meeting in the absence of Mrs. Theodore H. Lind, President. Officers were elected for the incoming year. Mrs. Allan Turner was elected to succeed Mrs. Lind as President, and Miss Edna Sockwell was elected Secretary and Treasurer.

Mrs. Jones introduced Miss Josephine Whitehead of Winston-Salem, Alumnae Publicity Director, who was the speaker for the meeting. Miss Whitehead took the alumnae on a journey over the College campus, pointing out the new buildings and other improvements. The group also undertook to answer fifty questions about their Alma Mater.

During an informal social hour following the meeting, tea was served by the hostess.

Alumnae attending the meeting were: Mrs. Allan Turner — new President, Mrs. Enil A. Jones, retiring Secretary, Mrs. E. Marvin Whittington, Mrs. Ray Alexander, Mrs. Hugh Beal, Mrs. Hoyle Sink, Mrs. Clarence E. Leak, Mrs. T. Edgar Sikes, Mrs. E. E. Stauber, Mrs. A. O. Spoon, Mrs. Walker Garey, Mrs. George Higgins, and Miss Edna Sockwell.

Respectfully submitted by:
Edna Sockwell, Secretary.

Bethlehem, Pa., February 2, 1939.

A most delightful covered dish supper was held Thursday evening, February 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Raymond S. Hauptert, 1841 Main Street, Bethlehem, by members of the Lehigh Valley Branch of the Salem Alumnae Association.

The guests were seated at small tables in the candlelit living room, with added cheer from the glowing logs in the spacious fire place. Each one received from the hostess a tinted copy of the photograph of Old Salem Academy featuring the days of hoop skirts.

CLASS NOTES

This installment of class notes has been devoted entirely to members of reunion classes. Items of interest about other alumnae are being saved for the Commencement Issue.

Classes scheduled for reunions June 3, 4, and 5, are: 1939, 1938, 1937, 1936; 1920, 1919, 1918, 1917; 1901, 1900, 1899, 1898; 1882, 1881, 1880, 1879, and 1889 (50th year).

Last year, one of the most successful class reunions was held by 1922. Classmates came together from all parts of the country, and apparently had the time of their young lives. The above picture shows four friends who arrived a day early in order to get in an extra 24-hour gossip session. Left to right, they are: Ruth Roub (Mrs. George Stevens), of Hatboro, Pa.; Sarah Lingle, (Mrs. R. C. Garth), of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Nina Sue Gill (Mrs. R. C. Williamson), of El Dorado, Arkansas; and Annie Sharp Garrett (Mrs. E. M. Archer), of Little Rock, Arkansas.

REUNION CLASS

"Hear ye! Hear ye! Class of '38! Your first and last reunion until 1949 will be held Saturday, June 3rd, this year.

"Classmates are coming from far and wide, each bringing new stories, experiences, and hair-do's that you will love to hear and see. Today's the day to start arranging school work and leisure time so that you can be back at Salem June 3rd. You will find lots of changes when you get here, but lots of things just as they were when you were college girls. Let Miss Lawrence know whether to expect you in the dormitory as guests of the college over Commencement week-end.

In the meantime, please try to find a moment and drop me a line. Tell me all about yourself and what you are doing, for I'd love to hear.

Mary Louise McClung,
Permanent President, 621 Brookstown Avenue,
Winston-Salem, N. C.

With such an earnest plea as that, 1938 should have a grand reunion crowd.

In the meantime, we have learned that:

Mrs. W. B. Carter (Janie MacLean, president), is very much occupied keeping house for her mother and Billy. "I have all the housekeeping on my hands," Janie wrote, "and it really takes all of my time."

Martha O'Keefe, the little piece of Dresden of Louisa Bitting's second floor, is keeping house like her suitemate Janie and teaching school as well. She honored her alma mater with a visit just before Christmas, and we hope she'll do it again for her class reunion in June.

Mary McColl is at Chapel Hill doing post-graduate work this quarter.

"Tweak" Sample, the "most journalistic" of the class of '38, is teaching and coaching basketball in her home town of Fort Pierce, Fla.

Cornelia Wolfe, the handsome blonde from Charlotte, chosen for Who's Who Among College Students, as the "most beautiful" is teaching and coaching basketball in Hamlet, N. C.

What class could graduate without sending a few to New York? Louise Preas is there studying at Columbia, and Laura Emily Pitts and Edith Rose are there studying and working.

Mrs. Bill Privett (Virginia Carter) is now living in North Wilkesboro. We hear that her wedding was one of the most beautiful in the state, and that wasn't hard to believe when we learned that Mildred Troxler, Jo Gibson, Rebecca Brame, Dot Burnette and Virginia Lee were all in it.

Six of our graduates and two of our alumnae have just completed the the Winston-Salem Jr. League provisional course. They are: Blevins Vogler, '38; Frances Alexander, '38; Mary Louise McClung, '38; Georgia Goodson, '37; Mrs. Archie Davis (Mary Louise Haywood, '37); Mrs. John Creech, (Cortlandt Preston, '35); Mrs. Jim Crosby (Edith Jones) and Dot Thomas.

Margaret Briggs, Frances Cole, Leila Williams, Marianna Redding and Mary Louise McClung were seen renewing their youth and having the time of their lives at a recent dance given by the Athletic Association in the Salem Gym.

It's a rare occasion when Blevins Vogler spends more than a week at a time at home in Winston-Salem. She is always tripping to Knoxville and points north, east, south and west.

Seen at Kirsten Flagstad's recent Civic Music Concert in Winston-Salem was none other than Dot

Hutaff ('38 Student Government President). Dot's driving a beautiful car these days — a blue Buick convertible coupe, if you please!

Cramer Percival, who visited Salem several weeks ago, is teaching in the Lumberton High School.

Sara Pinkston is doing Red Cross work in Fayetteville, N. C.

Last year's May Day Chairman, Margaret Briggs, is working in Public Welfare Office, Guilford County. We quote from a letter she wrote Bushie McLean recently:

"Here's a voice, firm and raspy after struggling for three months with welfare clients.

"I've heard so many exelamatory reports about the improvements made at Salem during the summer that I feel I owe it to someone to get over and see them. Marianna and Frances Cole and Leila and I are trying to gather together for Founder's Day, but my work, (note the soft and foolish pride with which we write that word), keeps me pretty well within the city limits. It can't be work, tho', because I feel so well."

It happened that Margaret, Marianna, Frances and Leila did manage to get together for a week-end at Salem not long ago, and seemed to enjoy being alumnae instead of hard working seniors for a change.

1937 REUNION CLASS

Dear Class of '37:

Housewives, stack your breakfast dishes. They'll wait until you come baek.

School-teachers, brush the chalk from your hands and hair. You and your students need a rest.

Ladies of leisure, list as "must" on your social calendar this important date — June 3, 1939.

The illustrious class of 1937 is having its first official reunion. We are expecting you!

Cordially yours,

Josephine Whitehead,
President of Class of '37,
Salem College.

Lois Berkey is taking a technician's course at Jefferson in Philadelphia and will complete the course March, 1940.

Carolyn Radcliffe is doing secretarial work at State College in Raleigh, N. C.

The engagement and coming marriage of Margaret Rose (ex-'37), and Mr. Norton Tennille, of Roanoke, Va., has been announced. Mr. Tennille has a position with Hotel Roanoke.

Another '37 engagement which has just been announced is that of Helen Diehl to Mr. Calvin Barnes, both of Winston-Salem. Calvin will graduate from Moravian Theological Seminary, in Bethlehem, Pa., in June, '39.

Helen Jones, Maid of Honor in the May Court of '37, has announced her engagement to Mr. John Melvin Thompson, of Graham, N. C. The wedding is scheduled for June, so we're not sure Helen will be able to make Commencement. It will be exciting for her classmates, tho', if she does.

A letter from Mary Hart, in Shafter, Va., is quoted in part:

"I am living at home and teaching in the High School here this year. It's grand being at home, and I love my work.

"At Christmas time, I went to Martha Schlegel's wedding in Nazareth, Pa. (She married Erika's brother, Werner Marx, you know). It was lovely. Jane Leibfried, Jo Ritter and I had a small remnion of the class of '37. We hope we can all come back to Salem for the real reunion in June!"

REUNION CLASS

"Dear Class of 1936, and "Ex's,"

I am sure you will all agree with me in thinking that three years is too long a time to stay away from Salem. This is our reunion year, and I want to urge you to park your babies with their grandmothers, or get leaves of absence from your jobs, and make a supreme effort to be at Salem on June 3, 4, and 5, particularly for Alumnae Day, June 3.

Drop Miss Lawrence a card so she can reserve sleeping space for you in the dormitories for the week-end.

Looking forward to seeing all of you in June.

Yours,

Etta Burt Warren,
President,
c-o Mrs. H. V. Joslin,
207 West Park Drive,
Raleigh, N. C.

Thirty-sixers seem a bit reticent about their doings this year, but here are a few bits of gossip about them.

Etta Burt herself (Pres.) now writes on imposing stationery headed: "North Carolina General Assembly — Senate Chamber." She explains by saying: "I am working in the Legislature as a Committee Clerk to Senator John W. Umstead, Chairman of Committee on Counties, Cities and Towns." She goes on to say, "I am coming up to spend a week-end with Lucy (James) Willingham and I am awfully eager to see all the new buildings and improvements that the Record "records" — I love every old brick there, and I am sure that the new ones will win my heart too."

McArn Best, who has been in New York for the past year and a half, is now back in Goldsboro, working in her brother's law office.

Jean Robinson is teaching music in Lowell, N. C., her home town.

Marianna Hooks Harris and Sue Rawlings Edgerton both have small "angels with dirty faces" in their homes now to keep them occupied. But maybe they can do as Burt suggests, and leave their babies with some fond aunt, mother-in-law, or husband, and meet their classmates at Salem in June.

Lucy James Willingham lives in a darling apartment in Winston-Salem, 724 North West Boulevard. She has decorated it beautifully, with a red and white kitchen to make even the editors of Good Housekeeping turn green with envy. Lucy's mother, (Lucy Brown James), visited her recently while Frank was traveling.

Fan Scales came by Salem not many weeks ago on her way home from Florida. She went to a party given by Sarah "Senorita" Clancy ('35), in honor of Margaret Ward Trotter ('35), and Fan's sunburn was the envy of the crowd. The party turned out to be a regular Salem reunion in itself, because Marian Hadley ('34), came up from Charlotte for it; Hazel Spough Woodward ('35), just out of bed since her baby came, was there; and so were Nancy McNeely, ('36); Sarah Stevens, Agnes Brown, ('36); and Cortlandt Preston Creech, ('35).

REUNION CLASS

Nancy Hankins Van Zandt, President, writes as follows:

"Dear Classmates of 1920,

Wouldn't it be fine for us all to gather together again and hear of all the interesting things these many years have held for each one? With the classes that were in school our freshman year scheduled for reunions, this will be a particularly propitious year to go back to Salem for Commencement. Alumnae Day will be on Saturday, 3, and we are invited to spend the week-end in the dormitories — which will make us feel that we are students again. Let Miss Grace Lawrence, Dean, know as soon as possible if and when to expect you!

I always turn hurriedly to the Alumnae notes when an issue of the Record comes to see what news of you is there. So do share some experiences and news bits of your everyday lives with us all through this medium from time to time. But save some especially gossipy things to tell us in person in June.

Let's all make every effort we can to get back to Salem for a day at least. The Winston-Salem girls will probably make plans for a party for us, and nothing more need be said!

Loyally yours,

Nancy Hankins Van Zandt,
(Mrs. Albert Van Zandt),
Broadview Farm,
Blawenburg, New Jersey.

It will interest all members of this class to turn to the column marked "Births," for there you will find that Nancy has a brand new son. The above letter was written almost immediately after Nancy came home from the hospital, so you see how much your President loves you. She also reminded us that she has a little girl already, a "Future Salemite of the 1954 class!"

Dell Norfleet is doing a splendid work at the Duke University Clinic, Durham, N. C. helping children with physical handicaps.

Ruby Teague Williams has a responsible position with the Winston-Salem Merchants Association.

Mable Williams Harvey is teaching at High Point College.

Miriam Spoon Alexander's recent letter from Burlington, N. C., where she lives, was so full of interest to the Alumnae office that we are printing it "in toto"

"As I sit down to write this letter I have a feeling of sympathy for 'Rip Van Winkle.'" When I think of Salem, as I very frequently do, I see it as it was nearly twenty years ago. Just so must our venerable friend have felt after his nap, when he closed his eyes and let memory hold sway.

"Whenever spring comes, I want to be at Salem again. I want to race down the steep hill of lower campus, climb the opposite one, and see the view from the old hoekey field. Perhaps the 'southbound' train will obligingly cross the trestle over Salem Creek, and if I am close enough to see it, there may be a familiar face at a car window. Beloved Bishop Rondthaler's face was there once. I love to recall the smile that lighted it as he recognized a group of girls out for a walk waiting for his train to pass.

"Those golden college days are gone, and today we live and have our joys and sorrows, work and recreation. This letter is supposed to tell something of mine.

"My horizon is bounded on all sides by my family and household cares, and since every wife and mother knows exactly what that means, there seems no need to elaborate.

My two little future Salemites are naturally the most important items in life. They were delighted with their certificates of enrollment in the college. I hope that may become a reality some day.

"My activities outside the home are not numerous. I teach a Sunday School class of women about my own age, work in the P. T. A. of our school, belong to the "Grange," and am trying to be a member of a choral group. But alas for good intentions! Something keeps me home most times.

"Last summer we had the good fortune to go to Roanoke Island and see the "Lost Colony." On the way down we stopped to see Nannie Loy Tucker. She looks quite well and has a lovely home. She and her mother live alone.

"Will I be at commencement this year? I hope so, but can't be sure, this far ahead.

Sincerely,

Miriam Spoon Alexander,
(Mrs. Norman Alexander),
Burlington, N. C.

1919
REUNION CLASS

Mac Davis McGregor (Mrs. Garland McGregor), of Greenville, S. C., President, wrote a newsy letter in anticipation of commencement.

"My dear Alumnae Editor,

I have gotten enthusiastic news from members of the class of 1919, hoping that it may be possible to be present in June.

If Mary Hunter Deans (Mrs. John Haekney), and Doris Cozart (Mrs. Norborne Schaum), can get their graduating John, Jr., and Doris, "Jr.," through commencement without conflicting dates, they hope to come to Salem. Marjorie Davis (Mrs. Stafford Patterson), may not be able to make it. Leila Graham Marsh and Mag Newland, however are living in hopes.

Provided Frank Ridenhour (Mrs. E. F. White), gets moved into a new home and sufficiently settled, she will be right there! Mary Lancaster (Mrs. R. F. Broadus), is so busy teaching music and winning cups (20 to date), at contract bridge, she doesn't think she can make commencement.

"Emily Vaughn (Mrs. H. H. Kapp), and Maggie Mae Thompson (Mrs. Ralph Stockton), who both live in Winston-Salem, have said they will take charge of stirring up the other Winston-Salem girls of our class, so we ought to have a good representation.

"As for me, if I can find supervised parking space for my four youngsters, I hope to be right there!"

Sincerely yours,

Mac D. McGregor,
(Mrs. Garland McGregor),
3 Warner St.
Greenville, S. C.

1918
REUNION CLASS

Mary S. Ramsey (Mrs. D. Hiden Ramsey), President, writes as follows:

"Dear Alumnae Editor,

"As usual, I was a little slow in getting started towards making plans for the reunion of 1918, but the few responses I have had have been most enthusiastic, and I am encouraged to believe we will have quite a representative group.

"In the April issue of the Record, will you please urge all the members of our class who have not been heard from to write me at once, so we can know just how many to expect?"

Sincerely yours,

Mary S. Ramsey,
(Mrs. D. Hiden Ramsey)
104 Woodward Avenue,
Asheville, N. C.

Correction from Oak Ridge, N. C.

Since the publication of the last Record, in which we stated that Lucy Hardee was the wife of Captain Hardee of Oak Ridge, we have had the following nice letter from Captain

Hardee, correcting the mistake:

"The enclosed clipping from the class of 1918, Salem Alumnae Record, is in error. Lucy Hardee is my sister and not my wife. Her address is, Mrs. C. E. Olsen, c-o Erlanger and Galliher, Escolta, Manila, P. I.

"Lucy went with me on a tour of duty to the Philippine Islands in 1929, and taught there for two years in the American School and married Carl E. Olsen, originally from Chicago, but a prominent young business man of Manila. She was home three years ago and called on Dr. Rondthaler but found him out of the city.

"They have two little prospective Salemites, Roberta Olsen, 6 years old, and Esten Olsen, 3 years old. I suggest that you send them certificates for alumnae daughters."

Sincerely yours,

David L. Hardee,
Captain Infantry,
Professor of Military Science and Tactics.

We appreciate very much the interest and co-operation shown by Captain Hardee, and are glad to find out Lucy's correct name and address.

REUNION CLASS

"Dear Classmates:

"I do hope that most of you are planning to be present at the reunion this year. Meanwhile do write in to the Alumnae office with more information about yourselves, so they can keep their files on '17 up to date.

"Those of you who will be able to be at Salem for the week-end of Commencement — that is, Saturday, June 3, Sunday, June 4, and Monday, June 5, please write to Miss Grace Lawrence, Dean of the College, for reservations in the dormitory."

Sincerely yours,

Betsy Bailey Eames,
President,
(Mrs. Richard Eames),
531 Grove Street
Evanston, Ill.

Of herself, the 1917 President writes as follows:

"With no career and a husband (highly satisfactory one!), and red Persian cat for a family, there does not seem much to write about me that would be of special interest. We spent the last five years developing a place in the country near Glenview and enjoyed it thoroughly.

"However, we moved back to an apartment in town last summer as Dick has to be away so much of the time now. I was with him in the east two months last fall, and almost got to Boston. It was a great disappointment not to see Katherine (Graham) Howard, as I had hoped.

"I am glad to report greatly improved health in the past few years, and in my own funny way, I manage to keep as busy as the next one."

Hallie Allen's husband, E. H. Trotter, is in government work in Washington, and their only child, Gordon Turnbull Trotter, is four and one-half years old. To quote Hallie: "Of course, he is the smartest, handsomest child in the world! But aren't they all, according to their mothers?"

Ruth Parrish, now Mrs. E. M. Casamellos, writes: "Having taught so many years and enjoyed it so thoroughly, I couldn't give it up when I was married. I am still at Teachers College (Columbia); and I think homemaking and teaching of household arts make a grand combination of interests."

Laura Thorpe's husband is Dr. H. J. Peavy, Jr., and their son, Jack, is now 15 years old. They make their home at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Laura's mother, Mrs. R. S. Thorpe, of Macon, Ga., was with them there when she died in August.

Rosebud Hearne Nicholson is doing quite a worthwhile work as a teacher at the North Carolina Orthopedic Hospital at Gastonia, where there are 160 crippled children. She says that she "will take a day off and meet the girls for the reunion, if possible."

Katherine Graham's husband, Charles P. Howard, is a Boston lawyer, and consultant at Littaur School of Public Administration at Harvard University. He recently worked out a plan for the reorganization of the government of Rhode Island, which was adopted by the legislature.

Their daughter, Peggy, is 15 years old, and son, Herbert Graham, is 8. Katherine's own interests, outside of family, are numerous and worthwhile and give ample proof that she is leading a busy, useful, happy life.

1900 REUNION CLASS

A letter sent to Mrs. Herbert Walker (Lola Hawkins), president of the class, was returned to us marked "incorrect address." We sent it to 11 W. 6th St., Fort Worth, Texas, the only address we had for Mrs. Walker in our files. If any of her classmates can locate her for us, we will appreciate it, in view of the reunion in June.

Stella Phelps (Mrs. D. A. Nance), of Winston-Salem, writes an interesting account of the doings of "the naughty-naughts" which should encourage many of this class to meet each other again on June 3 at Salem. From Mrs. Nance's letter:

"We are (were) forty-two, forty-two,

All capped and gowned and numbered,

As jolly a set as ever met.

The class of nineteen hundred."

"And truly we were jolly, congenial and loyal, even if we haven't had any thing to say in the Alumnae Record. We, every one of us love our Dear Alma Mater, we are proud of her and think of her, and every one of us had the best time and enjoyed every moment of study, of troubles and pleasures together. I dare say no other class was ever any better.

"Our farewell Thursday was a happy day, a sad day, crying, laughing and jollying over the reminiscences of our year's work — now history. We had officers just as they do now, but I hardly think as many.

"Yes, we had class colors — yellow and white. And a flower, the water-lily. In fact we had lots of things too numerous to mention but somewhat different from what they have now, yet we were just as happy, loyal and proud as any class ever was or ever can be.

"We started off with forty-two, but unfortunately two dropped out.

"To the best of my knowledge I have given as much as I can possibly remember about the Naughty-Naughts. However, I shall be pleased to hear from any member with any news for the Record, as we are always interested and anxiously await each copy to see what it is all about.

"Lots of love and good wishes from us, and trusting to have a hearing from some one, I am, One of the Naughty-Naughts.

REUNION CLASS

Hattie S. Rankin, (Mrs. Charles Rankin), president, writes:
My dear editor:

"Your recent letter in regard to the fiftieth anniversary of the class of 1899 is interesting.

"I hope we can get some of our members, now dispersed abroad, back for this occasion. It has been years since I have been in touch with any of them, so I will not be much help in locating "the old girls." Of course, some of them are living in Winston-Salem, who were day scholars.

"I am looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to being present for our reunion.

"I will say, very modestly, that I was valedictorian of our class. Mary Fries, Mrs. Will Blair, was salutatorian, and Etta Shaffner wrote the honor essay.

Very sincerely yours,
Hattie S. Rankin,
(Mrs. Charles Rankin),
204 N. Cool Spring St.,
Fayetteville, N. C.

REUNION CLASS

Always welcome at Salem is news from Lucy Patterson (Mrs. Lindsay Patterson), whose recent letter concerning a possible 1882 reunion is printed below. We certainly hope Mrs. Patterson, herself, will be with us on alumnae day, for she is one of the most "alive and kicking" alumnae we have. She says, however,

"Your letter about the class reunion came, but I think it better to let the matter go, as it would only be a reunion of ghosts. There were only twelve of us, and as far as I know, most of them are dead, except a Mrs. Fulton and myself. I can't imagine anything more forlorn than for the two of us to "Try to recapture

The first fine careless rapture."

"But will you put in your April number something far more cheerful and worth while. My niece, Jean Macbeth Patterson ('34), was married to Lloyd Bible (both from Russellville, Tennessee), June 1st, 1936, at Jean's home. They live at Dandridge, Tennessee. Their little daughter Laura Anderson Bible, was born March 3rd, 1937.

"I can't think of anything special about myself except that I spent the summer in Germany, being in Nuremberg when Hitler had his troop maneuvers and in Prague when England sent Lord Runciman there to try to bring about a better understanding between the warring countries. I stayed in Munich until war seemed imminent and then went to Paris to watch the outcome of all the preparations."

Sincerely yours,
 Lucy Patterson,
 Robert E. Lee Hotel,
 Winston-Salem, N. C.

1880 REUNION CLASS

Salem was glad to receive a letter from Lorena Bobbitt Hunt, who says:

"The two letters you have written me regarding the re-union of the Class of 1880 were duly received and greatly appreciated, and I thank you for enclosing list of names with addresses.

"There was another member of the class, Carrie J. Raine, who registered from Galveston, Texas, a very lovely girl — but if she has communicated with any one of us since saying "goodbye" after commencement of 1880, I have never heard of it.

"Jessie Winkler Senseman is very far away, and Bertie Smith Murphy has not been well for several years; but I am sure that Sallie Vest will represent our group well at Salem this spring. I am afraid I shall not feel equal to attending commencement though I would not have so far to go! But my interest in, and love for Salem is very great and will continue throughout the remainder of my life.

"I sincerely appreciate the interest of my dear Alma Mater, and shall look forward to an account of commencement as given in the Alumnae Record, with much pleasure."

Very gratefully yours,
 Lorena Bobbitt Hunt,
 (Mrs. J. Graham Hunt),
 213 Gilliam Street,
 Oxford, N. C.

Deaths

Wimbish. Salem was sorry to learn from Mrs. Olivia K. Vernon, of Greensboro, that Mazie Vernon Wimbish died November 21, 1938. Mrs. Vernon wrote:

"Mazie has received a number of letters from Salem girls since her death. They were very thoughtful and kind in writing to her during her prolonged illness."

Ison. Sallie Ison died July 16, 1938. Notification came to Salem of Sallie's death through her niece, Ruth Travis, in Griffin, Ga. Ruth wrote:

"My aunt enjoyed very much the Alumnae Record, and often expressed the hope of a visit back to the college. I regret she never realized that wish."

Prather. Mrs. G. Frank Prather (Mary C. Sussdorf), who graduated from Salem Academy about 1865, and taught voice here for three years prior to her marriage, died in the Salem Home, Winston-Salem, January 23, 1939.

Newton. Mrs. Smith Newton (Annie Duncan, 1871-1873), Bennettsville, S. C., February 20, 1939. Mrs. Newton's daughter, Berta Newton, wrote us of her mother's death, and included in the letter several interesting facts which appear below:

"My mother's maiden name was Annie Elizabeth Duncan, who registered from her home, Big Lick (now Roanoke), Va. She enjoyed the Record as long as she could see to read, but she was not able to see or to hear well during her last years. She was active mentally, however, and when we could tell her bits of Salem news, she was much interested. Her children were brought up to appreciate Salem because of the helpful influence and training we feel is a part of our legacy from our mother who greatly loved good literature and made it count in the family life.

"Mother was born April 4, 1850. On February 20 of this year she was called from almost eighty-nine years of faithful and loving service.

"Enclosed is a copy of a certificate received by Annie Duncan while at Salem:

"This is to certify that Miss Annie E. Duncan was for two sessions, i. e., from August 1872 till May 1873, a member of the First Division of the Select Class of Salem Female Academy; and that by her ladylike deportment, studiousness, and the faithful performance of all the tasks allotted her, she gained the approbation of her teacher and deserves her warm commendation."

(Signed) L. L. Brietz,
Teacher of the First Division of the Select Class of Salem Female Academy.

Stevenson. Mrs. Sarah (Sally) Kremer Stevenson, 93, the oldest local alumna of Salem College, died March 27 at her home, 604 Main Street, Winston-Salem.

Mrs. Stevenson was born in Salem April 16, 1845. She was educated at Salem College, and while there she was known as the sweetheart of the poet, John Henry Boner, who wrote several poems to her and about her.

When she married Captain Stevenson, she moved to Baltimore and lived there until his death in 1895. She then returned and taught at Salem and at the Boy's School for some time.

She lived directly across from the college campus and was well-known and beloved by students and faculty members.

At the close of the supper Miss Elizabeth Marx was presented with a variety of dainty and useful gifts in view of her nearby departure for her teaching and missionary work at Bluefields, Nicaragua.

Those present were: Mrs. Joseph Cliff, Coopersburg; the Misses Louise and Isabelle Rice, Miss Gretchen Schwarze, Mrs. W. N. Schwarze, Miss Emma Heath, Miss Anastasia Bahn-sen, Mrs. Ira Ross, Miss Josephine Ritter, Mrs. Roy Grammes, Miss Gertrude Albrecht, Mrs. Raymond S. Hauptert, Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, Bethlehem; Mrs. Rufus Bishop, Nicaragua; and the Misses Elizabeth Marx and Elizabeth Bahnsen, Nazareth.

Durham, N. C., April 1, 1939.

The Durham Branch meeting on April 1, was a most successful affair. It was held immediately following the Duke Symposium luncheon, at which Salem had thirty-five members present, one of the largest representations of any college. Three and a half tables of Salem alumnae and faculty members attended the luncheon in the Duke Union Building, and then adjourned to an upstairs room for a business meeting.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hobgood Cooke, President, was in charge of the meeting, and Mrs. Mary Johnson Hart, President of the General Alumnae Association, was also present. The business at hand concerned an approaching concert to be given by the Salem Choral Ensemble in the Duke Chapel on April 16.

No official report has been received from the Durham Branch so a list of members attending the meeting was not available for this issue.

Atlanta, Ga., February 25, 1939.

The Atlanta Branch met on February 25 at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Mrs. W. L. Markert, President, presided, and Margaret McLean, Field Secretary, showed moving pictures of campus life at Salem.

As yet no report has been received at the alumnae office as to new officers elected at this meeting, but it is hoped that this information will be available for the Commencement Issue of the Record.

EDITOR: ELIZABETH ZACHARY

MINUTES OF 1939 ALUMNAE MEETING

After a delightful banquet at which Dr. Rondthaler, Mrs. Rondthaler, Miss Weaver, and a member of each class brought greetings to Salem and her students and faculty, the alumnae and the class of 1939 adjourned to the Social Room for the yearly meeting. Jackie Ray, '37, chairman, took charge of the meeting and suggested that we elect a secretary. It was decided that the person elected should be a resident of Winston-Salem and should serve for a number of years. Margaret Vardell was chosen for this office. The chairman then asked us to send in to the field secretary's office the names of any girls who we knew were interested in coming to Salem Academy.

At this point, Miss Zachary made several announcements. She asked us to see that our correct address was on the files, so that we would receive the Directory of Graduates since 1931 and other material. Since the Alumnae Record is sent only to Academy girls who have paid the subscription fee of fifty cents, she urged us all to subscribe or to renew our subscription. She also announced that an alumnae bulletin board had been placed in the Game Room, and asked that we send in any news about us that appeared in the papers. We were told also that in the Game Room were the annuals of all the classes present and the letters of some of the alumnae not present. In concluding, Miss Zachary welcomed us to our Alma Mater and asked us to urge our other class members to come in 1940.

Miss Jackson then made an announcement about the Alumnae Garden, which is to be started by contributions from the alumnae. In this garden she plans to have a stream and an electrically lighted lily pool. This, of course, inspired us greatly and we resolved to send in from our allowances as much as possible for the garden.

Jackie Ray again took charge of the meeting, and in order to review some of the events of the past, she called on a volunteer from each class to come up to the front and answer various questions about her class activities. After this, Helen Litz read a very amusing "Punny Story" in which she used the names of the Faculty.

The meeting was then adjourned and we were entertained by a play presented by Pi Delta Phi.

Margaret Vardell, '38, Secretary.

In a letter written in October, Mishev Crudup Cooper, Henderson, N. C., told us of her children: "Mishev is taking dancing; so it keeps me busy going to dancing school twice a week. Then too there are club meetings, church organizations — you should just peep in on me. I am still just as nervous to read a paper or preside as I used to be when I would have to make an announcement in chapel. It does look as if age would improve a 'dumb-bunny.

Mishev has long brown curls and big blue eyes with long black lashes and a disposition that is perfect. The baby has dark brown hair, which curls on the back of her neck, blue eyes, and black lashes; she is sweet, but has a little more temper than Mishev. I have to deal with them entirely different. You would never know they are sisters."

Margaret Maxwell lives in Winston-Salem and works at the Wachovia Bank.

Mary Frances Hayworth, High Point, N. C. had to give up her teaching in the fall because of an operation but thought she would be ready for work again after Christmas.

Helen Ward became Mrs. James H. Alspaugh on December 24 and will live in Little Rock, Ark.

Nell Humphrey paid Salem a "pop" call on March 10. She is spending her time in Junior League work when at home.

Marguerite Coffman Thompson (Mrs. J. H., Jr.), has a daughter, Joan Lee, born February 7.

Frances Bowland Flournoy (Mrs. John), sent a picture of her home at 1502 Cedar Lane, Richmond to Miss Weaver at Christmas time.

Mary Flora Lawrence McDonald (Mrs. Norman) is living at 4471 Conduit Road, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Carolyn Welch is working in R. H. Macy in New York we have been told.

Jean Jackson's engagement to H. Schnyler Horn, Jr., has been announced. Jean has promised to visit us soon with Mr. Horn.

Jean Burroughs Browne, Box 433, Beaufort, S. C., wrote Miss Weaver: "Dan and I are boarding at present, and I am thoroughly enjoying it. Part of the enjoyment is sincere and 'legal,' the other part is caused by my inability to cook and keep house."

Zoe Powell Lane (Mrs. K. P.), 2503 Stuart Ave., Richmond, Va., has a daughter, Barbara Lewis Lane, born October 17, 1938. We enjoyed a call from Mr. and Mrs. Powell and their daughter-in-law this month.

Marilib Cunningham Andrews lives at 1027 East Morehead St., Charlotte, N. C.

Frances Humphreys Marshall, 1111 Harding Place, Charlotte, N. C., sent an attractive Christmas card with Patricia Ann's picture on it.

Helen Guerrant is teaching home economics at Harmony, N. C. She came to see us on Sunday, March 12 and brought Polly who is attending Peace Junior College to see us on March 18.

Marie Leonard Mills (Mrs. Deford), address is 1146 Dean Street, Brooklyn, N. Y. In a delightful letter Marie wrote: "Dee and I are living in the house where I lived as a little girl. It's scrumptious after the proverbially cramped city apartments. Every room has some special significance for me — and miracle of miracles, at last I have a room to paint and throw my brushes about. It's a sanctuary where even the maid isn't permitted to dust. Up to date, no great masterpieces have emerged from this holy-of-holies to startle the world. But come the 20th century — or the revolution, we'll see. I've sold a few drawings for children, and am having a delightful time decorating nursery walls for several of my friends.

Nothing would please me more than a trip down to Salem. I hope that will be possible in the not too distant future. I want Dee to meet you all, and see where two of my happiest years were spent. I was terrifically disappointed to miss reunion in 1937."

Gertrude Schwalbe Trodahl wrote from Bethel, Alaska: "We are trying to put a public library in working order. Quite a few donations have been made and some people in the States have sent in boxes of old books — some discarded from libraries but still of interest to the book-starved people up here. Miss Siewer's training is standing me in good stead. We are trying to catalogue our 800 to 1000 volumes."

Varina Mayo Jenkins (Mrs. H. H.), 1931 Laurel Ave., Knoxville, Tenn., has a little daughter, Carol Claxton, born at Thanksgiving time.

Sue Tinsley, Air Point, Va., wrote before Christmas: "Really I have thought about the Academy and you all quite often and have wondered how everything is getting along. Virginia Smith Wiley and I have planned to come back so often and never was quite able to make it.

I graduated from Roanoke College last spring, believe it or not, and am staying at home this winter.

I have to get up some kind of pageant or something for Christmas in our church and I am turning to you for some help. I immediately thought of the beautiful pageant that the Academy has and I was wondering if it would go against the tradition if I would use that.

Virginia and I saw Miss Hollis in Lynchburg last fall at a wedding. She hasn't changed a bit."

We are always delighted when our Academy girls want to use ideas they helped to make real and gladly give our assistance.

Margaret Wiggins' address is 1035 Riverside, Jacksonville, Fla.

Helen Litz, who is also a post-graduate in the class of 1934, came to the alumnae house party on March 4th. She was greatly thrilled over the recent announcement of her engagement to Alan McNaughton Warfield of Washington, D. C. Helen has promised to bring Alan to see us soon.

At the reunion on March 4th Gertrude Bagwell, Helen Litz (post-graduate), and Margaret Ricks represented the class. We were sorry that more could not be here.

Blevins Vogler was in Florida at the time of the house party. She has recently visited in Knoxville where she saw Janie Hall Deane, Varina Mayo Jenkins, Kathleen Madden Brandau, and Barbara Fulton Gentle.

Betty Sanders Zimmerman (Mrs. P. M.), lives now in Greenbelt, Md.

Cammie Henry Wenk (Mrs. Eugene L.) (ex-'34), wrote Miss Jackson about her home and her life in Clontierville, La. She was married in 1938.

This class was represented at the reunion by Ethel Litz, Mary Laura Perryman Walker, Kate Pratt, Lizzie Trotman, Dorothy Wyatt. We hope more will be able to attend next year which will be the last reunion of the class for five years.

We send our congratulations to all of the members of this class who are graduating from college this year: Salem College, Helen McArthur, Kate Pratt, Dorothy Wyatt, Margaret Ricks; Randolph-Macon, Helen Gilmer Dickson, Marguerite Willingham; Meredith, Catherine Johnson; Smith, Dorothy Roberts; Duke, Lucy Gray Smith-er, Olivia Womble; University of Tenn., Edith Stokely.

Betty Bahnson, who is attending Vassar, had Sunday night supper in the Academy on February 5th. We were delighted to see her and hear about her college life. She was sorry not to be here for the house party.

Jody Litz, Charleston, W. Va., wrote in February: "I would love to come back to graduation this year and will try to make it. Maybe I can persuade Charlotte to come up and we could be there together. It would seem like old times. I know things have changed a lot since I left. I am anxious to see all of you again."

Mary Charlotte Yount Raski (Mrs. S. J.), Box 7, Coral Gables, Fla., wrote: "I would love to come up in March but I don't think I'll be able to make it. However, we are coming up to North Carolina sometime this spring and we are planning to come over.

Helen Gilmer Dickson has been elected May Queen at Randolph-Macon.

Ruth Greene Henderson (Mrs. David), Mary Grier Kenner (Mrs. Joe) were sorry not to be at the reunion house party.

1936

This class was represented at their reunion by Dorothy Everett, Elizabeth Sartin, Mary Lib Walston, Ora Holt Long, Virginia Boyles, Priscilla Lambeth, Ora Jones, Sarah McCannless, Eleanor Sartin, and Nita Montague had expected to attend but found it impossible to come.

Nancy Campbell, the president of '36, was unable to come but sent a telegram of greetings to the class.

Jane Norvell (ex-'36), (Mrs. Ralph Wagner), Salisbury, N. C., came by on Sunday, March 5, with her husband and little girl.

This class was well represented at the alumnae house party by these girls: Jackie Ray, toastmistress of the banquet; E. Sue Cox, Caroline Gray, Johnsie Moore, Louise Moore, Becky Nifong, Betsy O'Brien, Ruth Templeman, and Jane Tucker.

Eleanor Amos and Barbara Shoemaker sent a telegram of greetings, Nancy Clark, Peggy Jones, Mary McDevitt, Mary Ann Paschal, Lee Rice wrote and called their regrets that they would not be present for the reunion.

Hannah Beatty wrote that she was unable to attend the house party but she came to see us on March 20.

We welcomed to Salem for their first reunion: Mary Allen Brevick, Ruth Burton, Billy Hanes, Mamie Ann Laughan, Elizabeth Roberts Gillis, Emily Smither, Eleanor Trivette, Margaret Vardell.

Mamie Ann's letter is a sample of letters and messages received from the house party guests:

"I had such a lovely time at the Alumnae House party last week-end. You'll never know how grand it is to come back after you've graduated! I've missed you all so much this year, and I had been looking forward to the house party for over a month.

The banquet and breakfast were both lovely, and it gave all the alumnae a chance to be together, and with the teachers, that we may not have had otherwise.

I want to thank you for a grand week-end, and I do hope that I'll be able to come back and see you all again soon."

Mary Allen Brevick mentioned the Sunday breakfast sugar cake in her letter.

Entered as second-class matter in the Postoffice at Winston-Salem, N. C. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 31, 1918. The Alumnae Record is maintained by and in the interest of Salem College.

AN IMPORTANT CHANGE

DUES ABOLISHED—The collecting of $1.00 in dues from each individual alumna has proved an impossible task. Out of a possible $3,000.00 which the General Association might have enjoyed, we were able to collect only about $400.00 each year. This amount was not even enough to pay for the Alumnae Record, which costs approximately $125.00 an issue, four times a year.

CHANGE MADE—At the Executive Board meeting and at the General Alumnae meeting, an important change was discussed and adopted, which will affect every single alumna. In place of the yearly dues of $1.00, the alumnae set up an Alumnae Fund, to which each alumna will contribute whatever she can, each year. Some will give $1.00; some $100.00; and some, $1,000.00. Every Salem girl will have an opportunity to express her love for and loyalty to Salem in this manner; and every gift, no matter how small, or how large, will be important.

FUND TRIED—The Alumnae Fund has been tried successfully at a number of good schools: Smith, Wellesley, Mount Holyoke, and Sweet Briar. The alumnae who assembled at Salem for Commencement felt that it would work for us as well.

USES OUTLINED—The money will be used, first of all, to publish the Alumnae Record, the one medium we have to keep in touch with each other. The remaining funds in the treasury will go to whatever cause the alumnae designate: scholarships, living endowment, books for the library, etc.

TREASURER'S REPORT—For the year 1938-39.

$250.00 paid to college for partial payment for Record (which really costs over $400).

 $ 25.00 advertisements.

$292.23 available in Alumnae Treasury at present. All of this must be paid to the college toward the Association's debt for the Record ('38-'39). Another $110.00 from alumnae who read the Record would enable the Association to pay the necessary $400.00 owed, instead of only the partial payment of $250.00. This step would make us at least "self supporting," in regard to the Record. Think it over, and send us your belated $1.00.

Next year, according to the new Alumnae Fund Plan, you will be at liberty to contribute whatever suits you — $1.00, 1e, or $100.00.

Alumnae College

The following article is quoted from a talk made by Margaret McLean ('35), Alumnae Field Secretary, at the General Alumnae Meeting, June 3, 1939:

"I have felt for some time that in our alumnae association work here at the college, we need to sponsor some worthwhile project which will interest our members sufficiently to bring them back to the campus. Salem changes a little every year, and although the integral spirit of the College and the real tone and atmosphere remain the same, our graduates cannot hope to maintain an active and loyal interest in the school, unless they renew their acquaintanceship from year to year. A few of us are here at May Day a few at Easter, and a few others, showing faithful concern for Salem, return for Executive Board meetings. Then, of course, quite a large group is here at Commencement. Our visits are brief and when you consider that we have approximately 3,000 alumnae, the number who come to Salem each year seems very small, indeed.

In addition to this need, to bring our girls to the campus again, I think that Salem should identify herself with some dignified project which will be challenging and inspirational to the alumnae — a project which will mark Salem as a college attempting to enlarge her educational activities and scope to include her former students.

Now, I know that when I start talking about "challenge" and "inspiration" and "educational scope," I am in trouble, because I am dealing only in generalities that will scare you off at the outset. I propose, however, to be specific, and I am calling my nameless project, an "Alumnae College."

The Alumnae College, if you will approve, will be held here on our campus from Commencement Day (Monday) through the following Friday. For the alumnae who attend, there will be on each day, lectures on topics of current interest in the fields of English, Science, History, Music and possibly Modern Language. The lectures will be conducted by mem-

Friends of Salem College Library

What We Are

The Salem Library is a very good library and like all good libraries, it needs more books, stacks and stacks of books. And so to supplement the library's usual methods of obtaining volumes, we have formed an Association of the Friends of Salem College Library. Our qualifications in membership are an intense interest in books or in Salem — or both. We don't pay dues and we don't have regular meetings; we just give books (at least one a year), that the Library needs, tell our friends what a splendid idea we have and nose around for stray volumes, collections or private libraries that are looking for a home.

Membership

The response to our invitation of membership has been most gratifying. At the time of going to press 100 or more alumnae, faculty members and friends, local and out of town, have joined the Association. About a tenth of these made cash contributions; one especially gracious friend joined for ten years stipulating that a five dollar purchase be made each year. The following titles are a few of the books purchased with cash received: "The Autobiography of William Lyon Phelps," "Huntsman What Quarry?" by Edna St. Vincent Millay, "American Needlework" by Harbeson, McMurtire's "Book of Printing."

We are happy to announce that a fund of $1,000.00 to be known as the Mary Shober Boyden Endowment has been established by her daughter, Mrs. Jane Boyden Craige. Other gifts from members have been received. One person has given some valuable standard works from her library; another a map, date May 30, 1775, of Charleston harbor; and still another four volumes of contemporary verse which are to serve as a nucleus of a permanent collection.

A full list of names of donors and gifts will be published in the fall.

What We Need

Our basic departmental needs are many; our reference and reserve material could be greatly increased to the joy of faculty and students (we hope). For instance basic material should be added to the voice department; the Shakespeare collection needs to be enlarged and the North Carolina and local history fields ought to be built up.

Out-of-print volumes are a challenge to a born-collector, and many are needed; if, for instance, you can unearth a copy of John Preston Arthur's "Western North Carolina," or "The Life of Nathaniel Macon" by Dodd, or the "N. C. State Records" (we have the Colonial Records and the index vols. to both), please dust, mail and automatically receive our eternal blessing.

But our other needs are equally important; material of general interest is essential for every well-stocked college library. Memorial collections to be enlarged from year to year, of contemporary drama, of essays, of short stories are among our major dreams.

Simply as a starter, we are listing a few of the library needs; for a fuller list, write Miss Grace Siewers, Salem Librarian. She will make suggestions of anything your heart desires to give.

THE LESSON OF THE CORNER

“Graduation from college is not the end of the road; it is but a bend in the road. Some graduates reach this bend and stop. They are life’s mendicants who sit at the corner and beg. Others after walking to the corner, turn around and retrace their steps . . . they go back and forth over the same ground, never thinking or seeing beyond their diplomas. Of course, there are some who turn the corner and walk forward. Only these make progress.

—From Rev. Donald Stewart’s
Baccalaureate Sermon, June 4,
Salem College.

“Sensible southerners going out from colleges, as well as those already involved in the problem of the region, should intelligently and courageously confront it, for we are lost in foolishness in America if we any longer anywhere think we are merely Southerners or Westerners, New Englanders, or any other special sectional folk.”

“America began in a common movement. And despite all change and distance and differences a common American destiny awaits us everywhere in America.”

Quoted from the Commencement address delivered by Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh News and Observer, and author of the recent book, “A Southerner Discovers the South.”

“You can only drive safely when you have a mirror reflecting the road behind you and also a glass through which you can see the road ahead.”

Baccalaureate Sermon, June 4,

WHERE AND WHEN WE MEET AGAIN

Knoxville, Tenn., April 19, 1938.

The Knoxville Alumnae Branch met at the home of Mrs. Harry H. Jenkins (Varina Mayo); and both Edith Kirkland, representing Salem Academy, and Margaret McLean, representing the college, were present. They had with them moving pictures of campus life at both schools. A number of students interested in Salem had been invited to the meeting in order that they might enjoy the pictures, along with the alumnae.

New officers were elected to serve for the coming year. They are President; Mrs. Charles Dean (Helen Ford), Vice-President; Mrs. Titus Schriver (Edith Rogers); Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Clarence Carmichael (Alice Witt).

Dallas, Texas, May 4, 1939.

A short business session and afternoon tea were held at the home of Mrs. J. S. Houghton, Jr., on May 4, for Dallas Salem Alumnae. Twelve members were present, and Mrs. William F. Tyree, President, presided.

The next meeting of the group will be held this fall at the home of Mrs. H. L. Edwards. Any Salem girls living near enough to Dallas and wishing to attend the meeting should get in touch with Mrs. Edwards on Preston Road, Dallas, or with Mrs. Tyree, 3904 Rawlins.

Kernersville, N. C., May 2, 1939.

Kernersville alumnae held their annual meeting in the social rooms of the Moravian Church with Mesdames Eric Hedgecock, Charles Carter Jr. James Justice, Jr., and C. L. Straughn, of Walkertown, as hostesses. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Fred Vance, Mrs. Walsler Allen presided.

New officers were elected to serve for two years: President, Mrs. D. L. Donnell, and recording secretary, Miss Margaret Stafford.

A salad course was served.

Durham, N. C., April 1, 1939.

Following a luncheon of the A. A. U. W. in the Duke University Union Building, members of the Durham Alumnae and a few visitors held their annual spring meeting. Plans were made to have the Salem Choral Ensemble give a program in the Duke Chapel on the afternoon of Sunday, May 14.

New officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. B. W. Roberts (Elizabeth Parker), Sec.-Treas. Mrs. Horace Fowler (Louise Salisbury).

Charlotte, N. C., April 18, 1939.

Salem college and academy alumnae met at the home of Mrs. J. B. Halliburton on Queens Road, with Mrs. Van Patterson, Mrs. C. C. Keiger, Mrs. J. B. Major, Miss Frances Cole and Miss Virginia Neely joint hostess with Mrs. Halliburton.

Miss Neely, the president, presided. After a brief business session William Winter gave an interesting talk on "The Part America Has Played in the European Crisis."

His talk was followed by a general discussion on "How We Americans Might Avert War."

Later a tea course was served.

Winston-Salem, N. C., June 3, 1939.

The Winston-Salem alumnae chapter met with the General Alumnae Association in the Old Chapel on Salem campus, June 3, which was designated in the commencement program as Alumnae Day. Mrs. Deryl Hart (Mary Johnson), retiring president, presided over the meeting. More than 300 members were present.

Mrs. Ben Trotter (Margaret Ward), Secretary, read the minutes; and Mrs. Gene Stevenson (Marjorie Siewers), Treasurer, presented a new plan of financing the alumnae association — the Alumnae Fund. This plan was accepted.

Mrs. Ralph Stockton (Maggie Mae Thompson), President of the local chapter, explained the new "friends of the Salem Library" movement.

Margaret McLean described a project called an Alumnae College which may be carried out at Salem in the next year or two.

Miss Adelaide Fries, Chairman of the Scholarship Commission, reported the names of seniors who have held scholarships during the past year. Several college officers were among this group.

New officers were elected to serve the General Association. The list appears on the inside cover page.

The meeting was concluded by a piano duet by the Doub sisters, Mrs. W. P. Rainey and Mrs. Walter Garey. Dr. Rondthaler spoke briefly on the three newest features at Salem — the Library, the Old Chapel and the Gymnasium.

The alumnae then adjourned to the dining room for the annual luncheon.

bers of the Salem College faculty and a few outside speakers, if we can afford them. These lectures will be given in the mornings. In the afternoons, there will be in progress various outdoor sports, such as tennis, golf, horseback riding, swimming and walking. In the evenings there will be time for social events.

During the day, the participating alumnae may leave their small children, if they bring them, with several of the college girls who will stay over to conduct a sort of day nursery. The alumnae will live in the college dormitories and eat in the college dining room. The price for the five days will be about $20.00 per person; and for townspeople, the price will be about 25c for each lecture and the cost of whatever meals they care to take with us.

Do you think you would be glad of this unusual educational opportunity, or would you say: "Winston's too hot in June . . . too far to go" . . . "The trip is too strenuous . . . or too expensive." Or would you reason: "I have to get my children ready for camp . . . or clean house . . . or leave for the beach . . . or go to summer school . . .", etc.

This program has been tried successfully at a number of women's colleges in the east and south, but is it worthwhile for Salem?

Marriages

Smith - Thomas. Martha Cowles Thomas was married to Mr. Alan Gregory Smith, Jr., June 3, 1939, in Roanoke, Va.

Miss Etta Shaffner entertained the members of the class of 1889, Salem College, who were in the city for the 50th reunion ceremonies, June 2nd, from 4 until 6 o'clock at her home, 147 Cherry Street. Lola Hawkins Walker, 304 Virginia Place, Fort Worth, Texas, writes as follows to her Alma Mater. "The Alumnae Record sent to a mistaken address, has finally reached me — and I hear with surprise that you have been trying to locate me — likewise inquiring for my sister, Armide Hawkins, of the class of 1901. I am grieved to tell you that my dear sister departed this life nearly fifteen years ago. Somehow I thought her Classmates knew — although I now remember only writing to Adelaide Gaither, of whom Mede was so very fond. Other of her intimate friends were Pauline Sessomes and Hallie Reid.

Time marches on, and it will soon be forty years since I left Old Salem's halls! Indeed the years are so many and so long that I find the Alumnae Record more and more filled with young strangers (?) How many are the times I have dreamed of going back to see the dear place, of looking up the dear friends — Hazel Dooley, Bess Riddick, Duncan Winston, Grace Cunningham, Ida Pritchard, Sue Floyd, Mabel Craig, and many others. For awhile I exchanged letters with that pretty, light-hearted Anna McPherson, she who had a summer flirtation with a young priest and finally romantically married a handsome Spaniard. She sent me snapshots from New York. I used frequently to see Grace Lauham, but Grace has been a fragile invalid for some years now. She still lives in Dallas and is neighbor to my sister, Barbara, who was a special student in music at Salem in 1904.

"My roommate, jolly, handsome Daisy Callem passed away a couple of years ago. She left a son and daughter.

"I would give much to be able to join my Class re-union next month but that is not possible. Mede's daughter is getting married, and Barbara and I are trying to take our sister's place and do for her child.

Margaret (M. J.) Wall, now working in connection with the Rockefeller Institute in New York, wrote a little about herself early this spring: She says:

"Work is going splendidly. Our present problem concerns a shorter laboratory method of diagnosing a particular type of meningitis, which clinically is difficult or impossible to differentiate from other similar diseases. The work has gone well and is nearing completion, having begun it only last summer. A short preliminary paper is now on the press and two others to follow, which we are writing."

(One paper has already been published by the laboratory over Margaret's signature.)

Mary Elizabeth Reeves (Mrs. Bruce Guthrie), 1615 Boulevard East, Woodcliff, North Bergen, N. J., writes as follows:

"Since I have been working in Saks Fifth Avenue — September to now — I have seen Phyllis Clapp, Jane Rondthaler, Katherine Reed (from the Academy), and several people who are mutual friends with Salem. Mary Louise Mickey, too. One afternoon I saw Phyllis standing in line in the employment office. She was looking for modeling at Saks. We had lunch together in Rockefeller Center."

Rachel Carroll, Jane Williams, Claudia Foy (Mrs. Wm. Taylor), Fanny Hill Norris, all came back for commencement this June and held an informal reunion with the members of their class already living in Winston: Bushy McLean, "Senorita" Clancy, Margaret Ward (Mrs. Ben Trotter), Grace Carpenter, and Cortlandt Preston (Mrs. John Creech).

Libby Jerome took a few day's vacation from her Library work and art lessons in New York about the middle of June to check up on her family in Greensboro and her friends in Winston-Salem.

Carolyn Rackcliffe has been working in the Registrar's Office at State College, Raleigh, N. C., this year, and she was so busy getting the State boys ready for their graduation exercises that she couldn't make it to Salem.

Jane Rondthaler will be among the cast of the "Lost Colony" pageant at Manteo, N. C., this summer. Jane's stage name is "Jane Barrett," and her mail should be addressed that way.

Margaret Stafford was elected President of the Kernersville Junior Women's Club recently. Florence Joyner ('38), was chosen recording secretary.

Jane Leibfried, 3600 Stakley St., Philadelphia, Pa., writes as follows:

"How I envy all of the girls being able to come back to Salem for Commencement. . .

"This is the end of my second year (Medicine), and if I get through exams all right, I'll be a Junior next year — that means Clinics and ward work, and above all, going on delivery cases in the middle of the night!

"Give my love to all the girls, Mary Frances, Frances Salley, Jane Crow, Little Libby, Helen Diehl, Bernice, Arnice, Ethel and all the rest.

Hazel McMahan, of Winston-Salem, has been studying and accompanying since her graduation from the Music School of Salem last spring. Hazel has accepted a position for the coming year on the faculty of the Manhattan School of Music of New York city, of which Harold Bauer is head of the piano

Lou Preas, who has been studying Home Economics at Columbia University during the past year, made a name for herself in the Knoxville News-Sentinel when an article appeared entitled: In Manhattan: Louise Preas Studies How to Feed Multitudes. Quoting the article: Whether it's planning meals for 500 people or passing exams with high honors — Louise Preas takes everything in her stride.

"Ever since she can remember, Louise has been interested in home economics. When she graduated from Salem College in Winston-Salem last year, she decided to come to New York because so many experts in the field are on the Columbia faculty. Upon completion of her courses this June, she hopes to get a job."

These are only excerpts from the very flattering and interesting article.

Ann Nisbet was one of the players in a ten-harp ensemble which broadcast a program from Philadelphia over the Columbia network this spring. Ann was doing graduate work during the past year at the Curtis Institute of Music, where she won a competitive scholarship after graduating from the harp department at Salem.

COMMENCEMENT AT SALEM

*It is Commencement Day! Triumphant bells
Are ringing. Chains of daisies bind them each
To each as marching seniors go to reach Their happy hands for precious scroll which tells That faithful toil is crowned. My heart upswells.
The Bishop, loved preceptor, starts to preach
His sermon. Gently smiling, he would teach
The way to live as souls not empty shells.*

CITIZENSHIP HONOR

Alumnae who returned for Commencement found an interesting addition to the Social Room. On the wall space between the loggia doors are two stained wood plaques, with gold lettering, bearing the names of the Citizenship honor girls. These have been erected to perpetuate the names of our good citizens since the year 1934-35 when the Citizenship Honor was established. Its purpose is to put emphasis upon constructive participation in community life in school and at home. The girls who receive the honor are elected by the student group by a majority vote on the dormitory hall and in the class.

ACADEMIC HONOR GRADUATES

The Citizenship Honor plaques made such a favorable impression on students and visitors that a good friend of the Academy's gave a plaque to accompany the ones already placed to make a visible permanent record of the Academic Honors since 1931 when the two honor graduates were announced for the first time. The two girls selected each year by the faculty according to scholastic standards read essays at the Graduation exercise. One essay deals with a topic of current interest and the other with material found in Salem about Salem.

The names on the Academic Honor plaque are:

Since Betty Hunt Murray was the class president as well as first honor graduate, Edith Craig, Knoxville, Tenn., the third honor graduate gave the valedictory for the president.

CLASS NOTES

Salem Academy and College held a Mother-Daughter day to which many Salem girls and their friends brought their daughters yet too young to attend either school to see the campus and buildings. Among our visitors on that day we were delighted to find that Hervey Jones Doughton (Mrs. J. H.), Route 1, Winston-Salem, and Emily Harper Ogburn, (Mrs. Carl), 1705 Meadowbrook Drive, Winston-Salem were planning to have their daughters, Susan and Emily, respectively, board in the Academy. Emily graduated in 1923 and Hervey was in the Academy at that time also.

1926

Frances Millikan Aderhold (Mrs. H. H.), lives in the Winburn Court Apartments, Greensboro, N. C.

Eleanor Willingham Johnson (Mrs. A. S.), lives now in the Willow Apartments, Winston-Salem.

Catherine Belle Helm Trexler, now lives at 1110½ Chapel Hill St., Durham, N. C. A number of Salem people visited with Catherine Belle at the Duke Symposium in April.

E. P. Parker Roberts attended the Salem luncheon at the Duke Symposium. She gave us news of Peggy.

On College May Day we had a delightful visit with Dot Browder who was visiting here sister in Mt Airy. She has lived in the Philippine Islands and China and has traveled in the Orient since she attended her reunion a number of years ago. Her husband is a doctor in the Navy. She wanted to hear of all of her classmates. Snooks Litz was spending the week-end in the Academy so gave her news of Daisy Litz St. Clair and her boy and girl. Dot is Mrs. A. W. Lay, 3642 Brainerd Road, Chattanooga, Tenn. (Please Forward).

Eloise Crews teaches in Winston-Salem and lives at 1427 Stadium Drive.

Mrs. Herndon paid the College side of the campus a "pop" call in May but did not have time to visit the Academy. There was no opportunity to inquire about Margaret Herndon Morrison for which we were sorry.

Marguerette Pierce Britt wrote in May: "My baby is huge and all ready he is getting his sun-tan. He was two this month, weighs 38 lbs, and is 36 inches tall. By the chart he is the exact specimen of a four years old child. He talks up a storm, sings and recites all of the time — what that's a sign of I know not. Every inch of him is boy. He is one energetic soul. He still favors Russell.

Would like to go up there — there have been so many changes since I was there."

Margaret Betts Paine (Mrs. S. L.), lives in Haw River, N. C. and has a three years old son.

Virginia Harris Brown (Mrs. R. A., Jr.), 129 Augusta Street, Greenville, S. C., has a son, seven months old.

Dot Heidenreich, Daggett, Michigan, wrote after her visit here and in Bethlehem "That visit to Salem was a cure for everything that ailed me. I enjoyed every minute of it at the Academy — even without the "company" bed spread. No one seems to have grown at all older — and even I felt young when I was there. It was really an experience. I continue, too, to thank all the circumstances that brought me to Salem Academy in 1927 — and again in 1929.

In Bethlehem I had tea with Estelle McCannless Hauptert in her new home — which is really beautiful. She seems even younger than when she used to come to the Academy. Those two little boys are darling. Peter answers the telephone with the poise of a private secretary and when I chose tea instead of Cocomalt, he said, "It's really very delicious!"

Hortense Carson Stanfield (Mrs. W. W., Jr.), 2727 Barbara Lane, Houston, Texas, gave an enthusiastic account of young Barbara in her last letter which also brought us a picture of the baby. She wrote: "I am feeling fine. Either Mom or Bill's mother keeps Barbara for me sometimes while I play tennis or ride horse-back and we skate (roller), or go to an occasional dance. I still love sports and believe that Barbara is going to too, because she likes to stay outdoors."

Sallie Hubbard's announcement of her engagement accompanied her picture in the Winston-Salem paper. She will be married to Walter Lee Fenn, Jr., of Martinsville, in June.

Miss Weaver saw Kathryn McCollum in Danville, Va., in March. Kathryn is teaching in a dancing school there.

Mary Stockton Cummings, 2901 Glenn Avenue, Winston-Salem, has moved into a new home of her own. She has a little girl four years old.

Gertrude Stockton Sapp is living temporarily on Route 1, Kernersville. She will soon move near Mary in Winston-Salem. Her little boy is now three years old.

1931

Mishew Crudup Cooper, Marshall and Mishew stopped for a brief visit on Sunday, April 23. Mishew Junior was interested in seeing where her mother had lived in 19'0-31. We are counting the days until there will be another Mishew in the Academy.

Mrs. Dwire visited in Winston-Salem this spring. She told us about Jane Dwire Marshall and her Washington activities.

Lila Womble is at home this year.

We hear that Christine Adams, McColl, S. C. She taught one year after graduation. This information may or may not be accurate.

Marilib Cunningham Andrews, 1027 East Morehead Street, Charlotte, wrote; "I am afraid that I am unable to pass along any news of the girls. It has been necessary for me to stay close to home since Mother's illness. In the Fall I was in New York for a short while and of course I saw Zaida and Rhee. Zaida had just built a new home which I didn't get to see. I spent the night with Rhee in her very lovely home in Brooklyn. She is living in her Mother's old home, and it is a perfectly charming place. I had the time of my life running around on another floor from Rhee and Dee feeling like a happy child in its nursery I guess. Rhee is a wonderful hostess. She gives her Southern guests ham and biscuits and that is quite a concession for a hostess in that vicinity!"

Some of these days I am coming over to see you all again. The grounds must be beautiful now with the improvements that I understand you are making constantly. Down by the little stone bridge where

May Court is held is a dream spot without improvements, I think."

We have been pleased with Jane Rondthaler's experiences in her dramatic work in New York this winter. We are very proud of her.

Lottie Schramm Kuhn (Mrs. Fred), wrote in February: "I really would like to visit you but my husband cannot leave his business until after the 4th of July. I really cannot say when we will ever be able to take that trip."

Jean Jackson is now Mrs. H. Schuyler Horn, Jr. We do not know her new address.

Fan Scales was seen in Winston-Salem on her way to be in Ellen Simmerman's wedding in Wytheville. Ellen married Aubrey Newbill Hetlin of Richmond, Va.

1933

Ellen O'Neal Adams was married on April 22 in Macon. She is Mrs. Randolph Brooks. His work is in Atlanta so Ellen will probably live there.

1934

Feggy Brawley is teaching English in Fayetteville, N. C.

1935

Patsy Hill Prevost (Mrs. W. H.) came to see her sister, Kathryn, graduate from the Academy this June.

Mary Laura Perryman Walker (Mrs. David) moved to Atlanta in May. David was promoted to the office there.

Dorothy Roberts who graduated at Smith College in June was house president, 1938-39, one of the editors of the Hand Book and of the annual, a member of Telescopium (Astronomy Club). She is a member of Phoenix Club (Poetry Club), at whose public meeting she recently read four of her poems. Poems read are decided by vote of the club members. She was elected a member of Alpha Phi Kappa Psi, an honorary society for outstanding work in the arts.

We were are thrilled when Miss Wheeler received the news that Dorothy was recently announced the winner of the Elizabeth Babcock poetry prize.

Jean Gray Scott was graduated from Sweet Briar College in June. We are pleased with her college record.

Dorothy Everett, 705 West Morgan St., Raleigh, N. C., wrote after her visit here for the reunion house party: "It was good to be back at school and see everyone. It really hasn't changed a bit and looked just the same as ever. I came back on the bus with a friend of mine who had spent the week-end in Winston too and we tussed all the way about having to come back. The time just flew while I was there and I wish I could have stayed and visited for a week. The banquet and breakfast were grand and just like I thought they would be but everyone was so swell that I didn't have the sensations of being an alumna as I thought I would and felt as much at home as ever. Please thank Miss Weaver, Miss Jackson, Miss Sumner and all the rest for me.

My plans for my trip are becoming more definite all the time and unless something terribly unforeseen happens in Europe all of a sudden, I'll be sailing July 1. I may quit even sooner than I had planned thus far, for I'd really like a little time to myself to get my mind in normal channels once again and read up on some of the places we will go and things that we will see."

Anne Doerschuk has received recognition for her drawing in a contest at William and Mary in Williamsburg this spring.

Priscilla Lambeth came to the Academy to interview a student for Bradford Junior College several weeks ago. It was good to see her again.

Bonnie Ray was married on May 2 to William Watson Richardson. They will make their home in the mid-west. Her sister, Harriet, who is a junior in the Academy was maid of honor in the wedding.

Betsy O'Brien had a number of pictures in the Salem College Art Exhibit which made us proud of her.

Becky Jane Kester, Nan Myers and Rose Willingham were graduated from Gunston Hall in June.

The Salem Alumnae Record

The Salem Alumnae Record

Fall Issue

Winston-Salem, N. C., November, 1939

LETTER TO THE GENERAL ALUMNAE OFFICERS AND MEMBERS OF THE EXECUTIVE BOARD FROM THE NEW PRESIDENT OF SALEM ALUMNAE

It is with keen pleasure that I send you my first official greeting as President of the Salem College General Alumnae Association. It is good to be in close touch with the college again, to see the beautiful improvements that are going on there and particularly is it good to know that I will have the happy privilege of meeting with our official family from time to time during the next year.

I feel that the strength of my administration will be found in the capable "cabinet" that has been chosen to serve with me and I solicit your suggestions and frankness of opinions at all times.

We have just closed a most successful year in the history of our Alumnae Association but each successive year should make progress. There is so much discussion in college circles everywhere today of what is called a "new college-alumnae relationship" — a relationship marked, they say, not by sentimentality and forced enthusiasm but by intelligent and mutual service. Colleges are realizing that they can and should contribute to the education of their alumnae as well as of their students and are constantly looking for new ways of doing this. Hence we are hearing of Alumnae institutes, Citizens Education Centers, or Week-ends, through which alumnae are brought back to the college for study and inspiration. Alumnae are realizing that through contacts with their colleges they can contribute most effectively not only to their own continued growth and that of their college but, through those mediums, to the cause of education itself. Therefore we hope to give much thought and attention this year to alumnae organizations for study, for student enlistment, for scholarship and loan funds, for the new Alumnae Fund and other varied plans looking toward the welfare of both alumnae and college.

Cordially yours,

MRS. THOMAS V. FARROW,
(Mary Howe, 1909),
President.

Autobiography of Mary Cloyd Howe Farrow President Salem Alumnae

Daniel Webster once said, "The man who feels no sentiment of veneration for the memory of his forefathers; who has no natural regard for his ancestry or kindred, is himself unworthy of kindred, regard or remembrance." Therefore my story begins with a brief reference to my ancestors. The names that occur in both my maternal and paternal pedigrees are McGavock, Cloyd, Haven and Howe. These people were among the early Scotch-Irish and English settlers in Virginia.

My father, Haven Boyd Howe and my mother, Catherine McGavock Cloyd were married in 1873 and lived in Pulaski County, Virginia. I am the youngest of their six children and was born October 31, 1890. My mother died when I was four years of age and I was placed in charge of private governesses from that time until my primary education was completed. At the age of twelve, my father sent me to a private boarding school, for the college preparatory training given now in our state high schools. I graduated from that institution in 1907. The following September, I entered the junior class at Salem College and received my A. B. degree in 1909.

The college atmosphere and the various contacts I found at Salem were the very things my undeveloped nature craved having lived in such private isolation my entire young life.

After graduation, I came to South Carolina, where I taught two years prior to my marriage in 1911 to Thomas V. Farrow. He was a teacher also and all through these years I have never lost interest in educational activities. I have done substitute teaching in public schools, assisted in Night Schools for Adults, taught music, studied pipe organ and served as church organist several years, have held various offices in all church organizations and at present am President of the Church Welfare Council including the fifty some odd churches in the city and surrounding suburbs. I was regent of the Nathaniel Greene D. A. R. chapter four years and represented them on two occasions at the National Congress in Washington. I am a member of the Family Welfare Board, a Community Chest Agency and also of the Greenville County Council for Community Development, under the direction of the General Education Board of New York.

Naturally my interests have been drawn to school and P. T. A. activities since we have three children who have gone through all the grades. Virginia, the oldest is married; James Stobo, our son is a student at the University of Louisiana and Mary, the youngest has two more years in high school. As the older children have gone through college I have felt a strong desire to keep up with modern educational trends and being so conveniently situated near Furman University I have availed myself of the opportunity to bring my education up to date. For several years I attended classes in Psychology, Bible, Mental Hygiene, Child delinquency and other subjects I felt an interest in. Finally, I decided to start back to school with the boys and girls, and for two winters have taken regular work for College credit in the social sciences, government, constitutional law and next winter I hope to enroll for further study in economics and tax systems. If I ever get my degree standardized I want to work on my M. A. That would seem rather a futile ambition to some my age, but to me the best part of life lies just ahead; to me middle age has a great deal to offer if one will just keep on with her education. I really know how to study and learn now, and I have blasted the theory (so far as I am concerned), that we cannot learn as readily after a certain age. Not a word of truth in it from the age consideration. As long as we live we can learn if we keep open minds. To me, a definite program of study at this time in life is the answer to self adjustment as age creeps on.

And last, but certainly not least, you have given me an outstanding honor by asking me to serve as President of the Salem Alumnae Association. My children rejoice over the fact and for them as well as for my Alma Mater I hope to bring nothing but credit to the organization. I do so much want to prove a worthy daughter of so noble an institution.

Respectfully yours,
THE AUTHOR.

Famous Men Visit Salem

For the third year, Salem College is offering to students, alumnae and the townspeople of Winston-Salem, well-balanced lecture series, bringing four outstanding persons of the American platform to the college.

First on the series for this year was William Lyon Phelps, the well-known American critic, essayist, and professor, who spoke at Salem September 29, on the subject "Contemporary Books."

On January 31, Pierre Van Paasens, author of "Days of Our Years" will come to the campus to give a review of world current events.

A change in the original program has been announced concerning the third lecturer, who was to have been Archibald McLeish. Since Mr. McLeish's appointment by President Roosevelt as librarian of the Library of Congress, the popular American poet will be unable to fill his engagement at Salem; but his place will be filled by another favorite, Robert Frost. Mr. Frost is the author of the well-known "A Boy's Will," "New Hampshire," and several other books of poems.

The last in the series will be the always popular "Broadway Review" given by John Mason Brown, who by request, returns to Salem for the third time this spring.

Student Government--Then and Now

"HOW IT BEGAN"

The very first gesture at student government was attempted in the class of 1909, purely on a speculative basis. Four seniors were authorized to chaperon the other members of the class twice each week for shopping purposes up town. Only four were allowed to go in each group. This relieved the teachers of a tiresome duty that had been theirs for over a century. The present day student government system attests the fact that the experiment of 1909 was a success and that those girls in authority then were faithful to the trust.

30 YEARS LATER

In the short period of one week, excited freshmen in new sweaters and saddle oxfords have been properly orientated and have jauntily become full-fledged Salemites.

Since their arrival at the college last month, they have learned the p's and q's of college etiquette and decorum, the nooks and crannies of the campus and are no longer recognized as bewildered "new girls."

It has been through a carefully planned program designed by the student council that freshmen and new students at Salem have been so thoroughly and quickly acquainted with classroom and dormitory rules and regulations. Ample time was allowed for "getting to know" class mates and "fixing up" rooms with pennants and pictures of favorite friends.

the many projects handled by the student self-government association of Salem College, headed this year by Miss Elizabeth Hendrick, of Cliffside. All house government and social regulations that do not fall exclusively under the province of the administration are in the jurisdiction of the student council with the aid of a faculty advisory board composed of Dr. Howard E. Rondthaler, Miss Grace Lawrence, dean of women; Miss Evabelle Covington, head of sociology department; and Dr. Minnie J. Smith, head of classical language department.

Council meetings presided over by Miss Hendrick are held once every week. The council is composed of elected representatives of every class, house presidents, president of the "Y," and class presidents.

Members this year are: Miss Hendrick, president; Miss Louise Norris, of Durham, vice-president; Miss Sara Burrell, of Norfolk, second vice-president; Miss Lee Rice, of Lancaster, S. C., secretary; Miss Catherine Harrell, of Winston Salem; Miss Kathryn Cole, of Durham; Miss Elizabeth Norfleet, of Roxobel; Miss Betty Sanford, of Farmington, Conn.; Miss Jane Alice Dilling, of Gastonia; Miss Virginia Breakell, of Roanoke; Miss Agnes Lee Carmichael, of Bennettsville, S. C.; Miss Patty McNeely, of Mooresville; Miss Elizabeth Weldon, of Oxford; Miss Dorothy Dixon, of Fayetteville; Miss Reece Thomas, of Rocky Mount; Miss Margaret Vardell, of Winston-Salem.

Up and Coming Faculty Members

Up another rung of the ladder went several of the Salem faculty members this year. Miss Marjorie Knox, formerly secretary to Dr. Rondthaler, has been appointed head of the department of secretarial studies to succeed Miss Otelia Barrow, who resigned in May.

Miss Brona Mae Nifong, who has been assistant in the office of the President, replaced Miss Knox as Dr. Rondthaler's secretary.

Miss Helen Lanning, 1939 graduate of Salem with a B. S. degree, succeeds Mrs. Harold Patterson (Carlotta Ogburn) as laboratory assistant in the science department.

Three New Degrees

During the past school year, three Salem faculty members have received graduate degrees from the University of North Carolina. In June, John A. Downs, instructor in the modern language department, received his Ph. D. degree. Miss Agnes Brown, of the sociology department, received her M. A., and Miss Jess Byrd, instructor in English, completed work for her M. A. in August at the University.

Varied Fields of Study

During the summer Noble R. McEwen, head of the psychology and education departments, did research work at Duke University. Miss Mayme Porter, of the school of music faculty, studied in Denver Col., with Mrs. Josef Lhevinne at the Lamont School of Music. Miss Hazel Horton Read, instructor of stringed instruments, studied at the Lillian Shattuck Violin School in Boston.

Miss Minnie Atkinson, head of the physical education department, and Miss Mary Duncan McAnally, assistant librarian, continued their studies at the University of North Carolina.

Several Travel

Several faculty members spent the summer traveling. Mrs. Elizabeth O. Meinung, head of the home economics department, attended a conference of the American Dietetics Association, held in San Francisco in August. Dr. Minnie J. Smith returned from an extensive trip through the west, to resume her duties as head of the ancient language department. Dr. Lucy L. Wenhold, head of the modern language department, spent part of her vacation on a cruise to the coast of South America. Miss Sarah Turlington and Miss Agnes Brown took a two months tour of Europe.

MARGARET McLEAN LEAVES ALUMNAE POST

Salem gives up its Alumnae Field Secretary, Margaret McLean, with great reluctance and even greater appreciation of the work she has done at the college during the past several years.

"Bushy" took the job from the very capable hands of Mary Louise Mickey (Mary Louise has since gone to the staff of Time Magazine), in the fall of 1937. Since that time she has added many ideas and much of her personality to the Alumnae Office and has made friends of a vast number of former Salem girls through her travels.

For the present, all correspondence which would otherwise have been addressed to Margaret, should be sent in care of Josephine Whitehead, campus secretary at Salem.

"The Old Organ Changeth"

The Memorial Hall organ, now entering its 30th year of service, underwent an entire rebuilding this past summer, which included the substitution of a modern three-manual console for the original console. The new console is located on the floor in front of the stage. The organ was completely overhauled, all electrical connections were replaced, and all parts cleaned, including the 2,000 pipes, ranging in size from those 16 feet long and 18 inches square to the proportion of an ordinary pencil. More intricate parts were cleaned for the first time since the organ was constructed 30 years ago.

The instrument was built as a memorial to C. T. Fogle, the construction being under the supervision of Dean H. A. Shirley, then of the Salem College music department. Dean Shirley made trips to Europe visiting the famous organs in England and France in order to get plans for the Salem organ.

Memorial Hall Repainted

As is befitting to the renovated organ, its home, Memorial Hall, has been refinished in a very subtle shade of shell pink. It is not a color, exactly, according to Dr. Rondthaler, but an "atmosphere;" and we must say, it is a much more cheerful one than formerly greeted Salem students during a rainy chapel period.

CLASS NOTES

Note:—Please send any notes of interest for this column to Cortlandt Creech, 2420 Buena Vista Rd., Winston-Salem, or in care of the college Alumnae Office.

1844

This is a long time ago, almost a hundred years, but such a useful and interesting Salem alumnae life cannot go unnoticed. A girl named Sarah McGill is the heroine of this two-sentence story. She attended

Salem in '44, was married to Mr. J. P. Miller in '54, and died in '84. But in the meantime, living in Brazil, she raised five children, and lacking a school in which to educate them, she polished up her own memory, got out her old Salem school books, and taught all of the children at home — not only her own, but the neighbor's as well. That was certainly turning a college education to practical use.

1917

Louise Wilkerson of Rocky Mount, N. C., and Mary Denny, who is now teaching English at Queens-Chicora College in Charlotte, were welcome guests at Salem not long ago.

1928

An interesting letter from Margaret Holbrook reads: "I am teaching here at Jefferson Hospital, Roanoke, Va., the one and only instructor, and I have lived and learned. My object in going to summer school (Margaret went to University of Virginia this summer) is to catch up on some of the new teaching methods, making of tests and grading, etc."

1935

Jane Williams is in the office of the New Hanover High School, Wilmington.

Lib Gray's engagement to Mr. Ned Heefner, of Winston-Salem, has been announced, the wedding to take place in October.

Lila Womble (ex-'35) is engaged to marry Mr. Gaither Jenkins, of Winston-Salem in November. She and Lib will be in each other's weddings, of course.

Margaret McLean, '35 President of Student Government, and for the past two years Alumnae Field Secretary at Salem, has given up her position. She will spend part of the winter in New York. Grace Carpenter, who has been associated with Salem in the athletic department, will accompany "Bush" to the big city.

Sarah Clancy has a secretarial job in the law offices of Craige and Craige in Winston-Salem.

Margaret Ward Trotter and Aelaide Trotter gave a very "Salemish" tea recently for Lib Gray. Impossible to list all the alumnae present.

1936

Grace Carter received her M. A. degree from George Peabody College for teachers this summer.

We extend our sympathies to Mary

Louise Shore for the death of her father, Mr. Rufus Shore. His quiet humor and sound advice will be much missed at Salem College.

Virginia Thompson and McVeigh Hutchison (ex '37) spent the summer in New York studying music. Virginia is accompanist at Salem, and McVeigh is also connected with the college school of music.

The engagement of Margaret Sears, of High Point to Mr. William Foil Michael, Jr., of Gastonia, has been announced, the wedding to take place in October.

Virginia Crumpler is one of the two assistant librarians in the library at Hollins College, Hollins, Va.

Sara Ingram is running an antique shop in South Hill, Va. She has become a real authority on the subject.

Ethel Highsmith, '37 President of Student Government, now has the position of secretary to the superintendent of the Fayetteville city schools.

1938

Dot Hutaff, '38 Student Government President, and Blevins Vogler studied interior decorating in New York this summer. They stayed at the Trinity House (where Libby Jerome ('35) and Anna Wray Fogle also stay). Dot is going back to New York for the winter to study at Columbia.

Jo Gribbin is working for her father, Bishop Gribbin, this winter in Asheville.

Virginia Lee, '38 May Queen, is taking a technician's course at Duke University. She entered this past summer.

Jean Knox finished her course in sociology at Simmons in Boston, Blevins Vogler is working at Shepherds in Winston-Salem, doing work with the interior decoration department.

Frances Alexander is working in the Junior League Gift Shop in Winston-Salem.

Helen Totten, who is taking advanced social service work in Philadelphia, stopped by to visit Helen on her way up. Mrs. McArthur also visited her daughter this fall because Helen will not be able to come home till around Christmas.

Tillie Hines and Alice Horsfield are both working for masters' degrees in English at the University of North Carolina. Jessie Skinner is continuing work in sociology, and Jo Rand is also studying at Chapel Hill.

ALUMNAE GARDEN

We were happy, on our return in September, to find the Alumnae Garden laid out with stepping-stones, paths, rocks to shelter all sorts of delightful plants, the lily pool, and, as a surprise, a little mill with a water wheel. Mr. Talley made this himself and presented it to us. It is a real building with a Dutch door that opens, and a stream of water that turns the wheel, and runs on down to the pool.

We had an inspection parade from the dining room one evening recently to see the light which has been installed in the pool. The three goldfishes seemed entirely satisfied with it, even as we were, judging by the way they swam around it and tried to nibble its edges.

Gifts of rock garden plants have been received from Mrs. Gladstone, the mother of one of our day students, and from a friend of Miss Jackson's in Huntingdon, Pa., and have been set out, adding to the finished appearance of the plot. We shall be glad to receive other gifts of suitable plants, or contributions with which to buy certain flowers that we have in mind.

All those who have made personal gifts will soon receive a snapshot of the garden.

(We hope that a large number of this class will be here for their fourth reunion house party).

Dorothy Everett spent the summer in Europe. She returned just before war was declared. She wrote Miss Sumner:

The little folder which I am sending you I picked up in London when we had lunch one day at the place about which it is written. I thought about you when it was given to me and resolved that you should have it as Mr. Pickwick is one of my most outstanding memories of Salem. The description does not do it justice for it fairly reeks of Dickens and Mr. Pickwick. One or two things it does not tell I should like to further describe to you. My ability for descriptive writing isn't what it was when I was in school but I'll do my best.

When we entered on the ground floor the first thing that met our eyes was the original grill for the chops that has been there since The George was first opened. It is the custom to pick your chop, watch it grilled and tip the chef when you leave. The tavern is as narrow as the picture of it and about four or five floors high. It is squeezed in beside modern banks and buildings and so completely over-shadowed that you can hardly find it from the street, but by asking directions from a bobby you finally find your way down a tiny alley. We had chops in the fourth floor dining room and Mr. Sam Weller and Mr. Pickwick looked down on us from all sides. The girls all had coffee and when I asked for tea the waitress said in a very humble fashion, "I'm very sorry that we have no tea. This place is so small that we have never installed the facilities for making tea." Can you imagine the English saying that? But isn't it typically English? Whenever we did ask for anything that wasn't on the menu it almost started an international revolution.

Cro Holt Long is now Mrs. Harry Denton Anderson and lives in New York.

Betty MacNair is doing secretarial work in New York City. We hope that she will visit the Academy this month.

Eleanor Sartin is a secretary in a local office and Elizabeth is in Salem College.

Margaret is studying in the Graduate School at the University of North Carolina this fall so could only stay one night. Bus stayed two nights. This is Bus' first visit since she graduated ten years ago. There were many things to see and to talk about. Bus is doing secretarial work in a bank in Miami.

Hortense Carson Stanfield sent a kodak picture of her one year old daughter, Barbara. We were glad to see how large the little girl is for her age. We like to keep in touch with the young daughters because before many years have passed, we hope they will follow in their mothers' footsteps.

Lella Burroughs Shaffner lives in her own home on Irving Street, Winston-Salem. Lella has two daughters and one son.

Pauline Schenherr is staying at home in Norfolk, Conn., this winter. We hope that she will come to Salem during the school term as she did last year.

Emily Tobey Robertson, 966 Creston Road, Berkeley, Cal. wrote recently: Salem certainly leaves its mark upon you — there's something that keeps calling you back whether you ever get there or not.

1926

Pauline Schenherr sent a kodak picture of Muriel Lambra Porter's young son for us to see. We were glad to see Muriel in the picture as well as the boy who looked almost as large as his mother even though less than a year old.

The Salem Alumnae Record

Dear Alumnae,

Here we are, back at Salem after another glorious summer, and looking forward to another school year. It surely is good to see all the old girls again and to meet the new ones, too. We don't realize how much things can change in three months until we come back, look around the campus, and hear about our old friends.

The biggest changes here have been made in Memorial Hall. During the summer, the organ was completely reconditioned, and a new console was installed. It is now at the center down on the main floor, and looks so much better that way. The entire hall has been painted in lovely soft tones, and the red curtain around the stage has been changed to a beige colored one. During Y. P. M., in fact, we can hardly listen to the speakers for looking around at all these wonderful improvements.

We are looking forward to seeing all of you, who have class reunions, back sometime in March. Please plan to be here; and, incidentally, drop us a line every once in a while to let us know what you are doing these days.

Good luck until we see you once more!

MARGARET VARDELL,

Chairman of the Alumnae Reunion Committee.

1939-40

Salem Academy graduates, especially those since 1931, will be interested in the increased responsibility which groups that they helped to organize in years past have assumed this year.

For the first time the Student Representatives and the Head of the Gold team and the Head of the Purple team were elected at the end of the 1938-39 school term for 1939-40.

The Student Representatives are Margaret Webb, Knoxville; Betty Jones, Inverness, Florida; Mebane Harris, Danville, Va.; Mary Josephine Lucas, Charlotte, N. C.; Anne Colecord Montecal, W. Va. This group of girls published a handbook for the use of the students from the first moment they arrived on the campus. They began instruction classes for the new girls the first day and assumed complete charge of the girls who live on their halls. The day students who are Representatives have planned a series of civic tours of the city of Winston-Salem for the year in order that the girls may more fully understand the many problems and institutions in city government. Thus far an interested group have visited the Journal-Sentinel newspaper building and the police department.

The two heads of teams are Mary McKinney Goodson, Knoxville, and Rosalyn Reid, Charlotte. These two girls arranged for a pep meeting the first night of school at which the new girls drew the name of the team to which they would belong from the cup for which both teams work throughout the year. From the moment of the drawing, the spirit of each team began to rise. At present the girls are playing, hockey, archery, tennis, and riding horseback at Sedgefield. Much interest is shown in the modern dance class, which gave the attractive rendition of "Pied Piper of Hamelin" last year.

The Academy athletic field has been leveled and should be ready for use by the speedball season. There are three Academy tennis courts now instead of two. Last year's Athletic Council arranged for a pipe line and spigot to be placed between the tennis courts and athletic field. The Council this year will no doubt install a fountain.

The Scribblers' Club did excellent work on an issue of the Quill Pencil which they had ready for distribution when school opened. This issue carried much needed information for the new girls. It introduced in a clever manner the campus, administrative staff, and faculty to the new girls, as well as informed them about the activities and school customs.

These added responsibilities and services to the student life of the Academy have resulted in a more rapid adjustment on the part of the new and old girls to the life of the school after the summer vacation. Those of you who helped establish these various groups must be proud of their growth, anticipating and serving the needs of the students.

Entered as second-class matter in the Postoffice at Winston-Salem, N. C. Acceptance for mailing at special rate of postage provided for in Section 1103, Act of October 3, 1917, authorized October 31, 1918. The Alumnae Record is maintained by and in the interest of Salem College.

Does it exist?

At present, only in the hearts and minds of interested alumnae, trustees and friends of Salem College who have recognized the value of such a publication.

When will it become a reality?

In the near future.

What can the alumnae do?

Fill out the questionnaires which will be sent to them soon and return them immediately so that the work will not be slowed up.

What is the Salem Alumnae Directory?

A complete record of students, faculty, trustees, administrative officers from 1772 to 1940. The book will also include interesting statistical studies about Salem students, as well as historical and valuable facts about the school.

Why will every alumna want this book?

The directory will be tangible evidence of the heritage and background of Salem College — a 168 year record of which no other school in the south can boast. The list of alumnae will contain the maiden name, married name, dates attended and degree. The geographical list will make a fine handbook and addressbook of classmates and friends.

Why should every alumna have a Salem Alumnae Directory?

As a permanent record of the uninterrupted service rendered by her Alma Mater in the higher education of young women.

The general direction of the book is under the care of a committee of which Mr. Burton Craig, trustee, is chairman, and Miss Annette McNeely, class of 1939, is alumnae secretary.

Friends of Salem College Library

We feel that we, The Friends of Salem College Library, have attained the status of a really permanent organization. There are now 122 of us, we have given seventy volumes and $176.78 for the purchase of books by the Librarian. The May Shober Boyden $1000.00 endowment for books given by her daughter has already been mentioned in the Alumnae Record. Among our most prized acquisitions is the gift from Mrs. Lucy Wenhold of a manuscript volume of Music, Prof. Gellert's Sacred Odes and Songs with melodies by Carl Emmanuel Bach (Berlin, 1771), copied by J. F. Peter 1785.

The number of ways that we can be friendly to the Library is unlimited. Mrs. Lindsay Patterson has started a collection of papers, autographed pictures, and letters (including one from Calvin Coolidge and one from Mrs. Stonewall Jackson); two of us are collecting books in specific fields; Mrs. James Dunn, in Modern Poetry and Mrs. Justis Randolph, in Economic History; several friends have helped to meet an ever present need by giving magazine subscriptions. Mrs. Robert Shore has started a collection of books as a tribute of affection for Lucy Lybrook Stedman, Class of 1899. The following books are among those recently received: Craven Treasury of Art Masterpieces" from Mrs. S. D. Craig and "Old Homes and Gardens of North Carolina" from several of the Faculty.

It is never too late to become a Friend of the Library, Simply send your name to our Secretary, Mrs. Robert McCuiston and follow it up with a book.

Dr. H. Branscomb, Director of Libraries at Duke University, has promised to speak soon at a night meeting to the Friends of Salem College Library.

Below are a few suggestions of our library needs. We have many more and so don't feel limited!

Salem and The Mozart Festival

For the past two years, students from the School of Music at Salem have played an important part in the annual Mozart Festival which is given in the latter part of August in Asheville, N. C., under the general direction of Thor Johnson.

Kathryn Swain, Harriette Taylor and Mr. Ted Bodenheimer made up the cast of the one act opera, "Bastien and Bastienne," which was presented two years ago. Last summer, a more ambitious work, "The Marriage of Figaro," by Mozart, was given. Visiting alumnae may recall the shortened version of this opera which appeared as the musical feature of the 1939 commencement program. The same Salem cast presented the entire opera at Asheville later in the summer.

National music publication critics were present and acclaimed its presentation in the following quotations:

Music News (Chicago): "More than a thousand people attended this performance . . . the use of the vernacular assured its rousing success. Clever directing heightened the comic opera effect. Among the principals, all of whom were Winston-Salem pupils of Mr. Clifford Bair, Kathryn Swain was outstanding for the noble poise and mature vocal ability of her "countess." Her two arias and the zephyr duet with Susanna showed a full well controlled tone and flexible technique. Susanna, played by Carolyn Creson, was vivacious and vocally alert and pleasing. Lillian Stokes, as Cherubino, gave an amusing and highly ingenious characterization of the page. More impressive than any of the single parts was the professional smoothness and the balance of the ensembles."

Musical Courier (New York): "Well conceived was Lillian Stokes Cherubino, expertly sung. Of the men, Figaro, played by James Blair, was competently sung and played with gusto. Clifford Bair made much of the small parts, Basilio and Curzio. Kathryn Swain's "Countess" was outstanding for its dignity as well as for its vocal beauty. Carolyn Creson sang fluently and intelligently and her portrayal was feminine and vivacious. There was further benefit of clever direction and the whole performance progressed with professional smoothness under the co-ordinating baton of Thor Johnson."

Musical America (New York): "As intimated the event of the 1939 festival was a 'streamlined' version of "The Marriage of Figaro." The clever direction made it a hit with the audience of more than a thousand.

The eloquent vocalism of Kathryn Swain's Countess was admirable, both her dress and the duet with Susanna were loudly acclaimed. Carolyn Creson was vocally more than competent. Lillian Stokes' Cherubino was the maturest characterization, James Blair was a vocally accomplished and amusing Figaro. The most striking feature of the performance was the professional coordination with which it progressed."

These operatic performances are the outgrowth of a class in opera dramatics which serves to complete

JANE RONDTHALER ('37) TAKES POSITION AS ALUMNAE
FIELD SECRETARY

With a long list of accomplishments to her credit since graduation from Salem in 1937, Jane Rondthaler is now filling the vacancy left by Margaret McLean, former field secretary, who gave up the work this fall. Jane came in December and is taking hold of her new office with the same energy and enthusiasm she has shown toward her other interests.

All alumnae correspondence and reports of branch meetings should be addressed to her.

The two and a half years since Jane's graduation have been so full that we will only attempt to list the various things she has done: studied half a year at the American Academy of Dramatic Art and the Neighborhood Playhouse in New York; sang off and on (four or five times) at Radio City Music Hall (stage and radio); played summer stock in Maine ('till the company folded) in '38; sang in Calvary Episcopal Church, Plymouth Church of the Pilgrims and Broadway Tabernacle; coached dramatics at the combined YM-YWCA Bronx Branch; sang in Girls' sextette (touring and radio), played small part in "Knickerbocker Holiday," Playwright's production starring Walter Huston (Musical); played small part in Paul Green's "Lost Colony" at Manteo, N. C.; was soloist on S. S. Brazil cruising to South America.

During odd moments, if there could be such things in so crowded a career, Jane worked at Macy's Dept. Store in New York. We're thankful and pleased to have her home again, where she can put her time and thought on the Salem Alumnae Association.

ment the studio work of the Voice Department. Not only are whole operas studied but opera excerpts are also prepared to add interest and variety to the secular programs of the Choral Ensemble which is now planning a tour to take place in March. The School of Music has again been invited to contribute a still more ambitious operatic performance to the Mozart Festival program next summer. We are indeed grateful for the response to this phase of our work.

LOST SOULS

This column lists names of alumnae who, according to our class files, are not located. Either letters sent to them have been returned unclaimed, or they have moved to new addresses without notifying us. Do not be angry if your name appears on this list, and you are not really lost — just notify us of your present address as well as the whereabouts of friends whose names are listed. We are trying to locate all members of reunion classes so they can be reminded to come back for Commencement week-end, June 1, 2, and 3.

Baltimore, Md., Washington, D. C. the General Association. The officers are Mrs. M. G. Dudley, president, Mrs. Erwin Gresham, secretary; and Mrs. Garland McGregor, treasurer.

The Baltimore Chapter met jointly with the Washington group October 16, 1939, at the Olney Inn, near Washington. A most delightful time was reported with fifteen girls present. They heard interesting up-to-date news of the absent members and of course about new Salem features. Laverne Waters Reber (Mrs. Robert C.), "The Jefferson," 4 E. 32nd St., Baltimore, sent in the report, and a list of Baltimore and Washington alumnae which were greatly appreciated.

Lehigh Valley Branch.

The Lehigh Valley branch of the Salem Alumnae Association met on November 18, at the home of Mrs. William Schwarze in Bethlehem, Pa.

During the business session presided over by the president, Mrs. Kenneth Hamilton, Miss Josephine Ritter was re-elected vice-president and Mrs. Roy Grams, treasurer.

It was decided to hold a covered dish supper in February at the home of Mrs. Hamilton.

Elizabeth Bahnson gave an interesting report of her visit to Salem to attend her class reunion last spring.

Thirteen members were present at the meeting, the report of which was sent in by Julia E. Crawford, secretary.

Greenville, S. C.

A Salem College alumnae club was recently organized by the Salem alumnae of Greenville, S. C., home of Mrs. Tom Farrow, President of Mrs. Graham desires a complete list of all persons who are Salem alumnae living in and around Greenville and requests anyone who has not already been contacted to phone the information about themselves to her.

Winston-Salem Branch Meeting:

The Winston-Salem alumnae held their annual meeting on Friday night, February 2, in the old Chapel at Salem College. Mrs. Ralph Stockton (Maggie Mae Thompson), retiring president, presided. An election of officers was held and Mrs. Courtney Mauzy (Mary Catherine Siewers), was chosen new president. Other officers were: Mrs. Henry Shaffner), vice-president; Mrs. John Whitaker (Beth Norman), secretary, and Mrs. Malloy Davis (Dorothy Thompson), treasurer.

An interesting program was presented which told the story of the evolution of public speaking at Salem since the days when "elocution" was in power down to the present.

Mrs. R. B. Reece (Josephine Parvis) read portions from the old Salem catalogues of the 1800's which described the courses known as "elocution and calisthenics." She introduced Mrs. Annie Lee Singletary, who, dressed in her graduation dress, recited a "piece" in the style of her graduation day. Mrs. H. H. Kapp (Emily Vaughn), attired in a mid-die-blouse and bloomers, read her class poem from the annual; and Mrs. Dallas McLennon (Margaret Vick), wearing a typical style of 1930, read the dedication of the annual for that year.

Two students in the college, Katherine King, and Lee Rice, presented an original stunt to represent the so-called "elocution" of the present day, and Mrs. Will Read (Rillie Garrison), a former teacher of expression at Salem, made a short talk in conclusion.

Approximately 200 members of the association were present.

REUNION CLASSES

Alumnae Day will be celebrated Saturday, June 1, this year, followed by the Baccalaureate Sermon on Sunday, June 2, and Commencement Monday morning, June 3.

According to the Dix Plan, the following classes will hold reunions: 1940 — graduating class; 1935; 1934; 1933; 1932; 1916; 1915; 1914; 1913; 1897; 1896; 1895; 1894; 1878; 1877; 1876; 1875; and 1890 — fiftieth year reunion class.

Letters are being sent from the college to one representative from each class, in most cases the former president, and later cards will be sent to each member of the class, if possible. If any changes in name or address of your classmates are known to you, please send these to Salem right away so everybody will be sure to get her card. The "Record" also needs class notes about you, so let us know what you are doing and where.

Definite information about commencement speakers and arrangements for alumnae accommodation will be published in the spring issue of the Record.

Katherine's husband ran for Governor of Massachusetts last year, and Katherine, herself, has become quite a distinguished person.

A letter from Irma Heaton (B. Mus.), says: "I have taught public school music ever since I left Salem . . . I also do a lot of private work operettas, glee clubs, etc. . . Frances Massey Selph, of Ocala, Fla., visited me last week. She has two children" Irma is living in Tallapoosa, Ga.

1929

Marian Bloor Tomlinson, Pine St., Baskin Ridge, New Jersey, wrote a long letter about her classmates, Salem, her family, and other interesting things. Quoting from her letter: "Of course I've raved about Salem all of these ten years to Ken — and our family — as each one has appeared (two girls to date). Last spring is the first they saw of it, and now they love it, too." Marian was back for commencement last year, and maybe she doesn't know it yet, but 1929 is scheduled for another reunion in 1941.

Cam Boren Boone (Mrs. Hoyte Winfield Boone), is as pretty as ever — the mother of two — a boy and a girl. Cam was president of her class, and was also back for commencement last spring.

Lib Crouse Walker (Mrs. Gaylord T.) lives in Winston and has one son.

Julia Daniels is Mrs. Mark Pridgen, also the mother of two — Julia Ann and Samuel.

You'll never guess where Isabel Dunn Mauze (Mrs. Layton Mauze) is — Kansas City! She's a minister's wife, and plenty busy! Four little Mauze's.

Mary Miller Faulkner Humphrey (Mrs. Earl A. Humphrey), divides her time between her husband's law office and a four year old daughter.

Anne Hairston, poor dear, wears herself out in Florida every season. She's really thin! Thank Anne for most of the information about 1929-ers.

Margaret Hauser is in New York. During a few hours of the twenty-four, five days a week, some weeks — she does as she pleases around the "Scholastic" publishing offices. Being Margaret, she pleases, and does work hard. The rest of the time? California, Panama, North Carolina! Don't ask us.

Helen Johnson is a minister's wife (Mrs. Carl Walker McMurray). She lives in Marion, N. C. now, but last year she lived near enough to take several courses at Salem.

Mary Johnson Hart (Mrs. Deryl Hart) is recuperating from her strenuous years of being President of the Alumnae Association. She's as lovely as ever, only more so. You all know she has three children, two Salemites and a son.

Edna Lindsay is in New York. Her letter touches vaguely upon work, but stresses trips, house parties, etc. Edna, do these ten years sit thus lightly?

Ruth Marsden is teaching music at Toccoa Falls, Ga.

Caroline Price Hopper (Mrs. Allen N. Hopper), lives in Greenville, Pa. She has a boy and a girl.

Brownie Peacock Swicegood (Mrs. Boyd Swicegood) lives in Greensboro and has two daughters.

Lib Roper Allen hasn't been well since her husky son was born last January. We hope she's on top again by now.

Doris Shirley Allen (Mrs. Clyde Allen) had the nerve to move to Florida when she married, but she returns to Jersey every summer. Doris teaches in Miami and has two fine sons, Clyde, and Cephas, newly arrived.

Margaret Vaughn Summerell (Mrs. Jacob Summerell) lives in Cramerton, N. C., and says she has no occupation — and then, in the next breath, mentions two daughters.

REUNION CLASS

Mary Mitchell Norman, of Mooresville, N. C., President, writes that she is looking forward to seeing all of her classmates in June.

1933

REUNION CLASS

Emily Mickey (Mrs. John S. Sheiry), is president of this class.

Tommy Frye Kochtitzky (Mrs. O. W. Kochtitzky) has a little daughter, Caroline. Tommye's address is: Village 1, Sheffield, Ala.

There was in interesting write-up in the Winston-Salem paper recently about the work of Elmina Hearne Surratt (ex '33), who is librarian at the Thomasville library. We quote from the feature column, "Personalities of the Northwest:"

"Whether it is recommending a good book, telling a children's story, speaking before a microphone, or presiding at a club meeting, Mrs. Elmina Hearne Surratt is equally at home. Mrs. Surratt has been head of the Thomasville library for three years. She is a native of Albemarle and received her college and professional training at Salem College and the University of North Carolina. As a part of her duties she frequently conducts a children's study hour on Saturday mornings, and also appears before a radio audience practically every week in a resume of library news. During the past year, she served a successful term as president of the Thomasville Business and Professional Women's Club, in which organization she takes an active part. She has also been president of the fine arts department of the Thomasville Woman's Club for several years. In June of this year she was married to Allen Surratt, staff member at the Thomasville office of the North Carolina Employment Service. She is prominent in North Carolina Library Association activities.

Nancy Cox (ex '33) and Mary B. Williams are making us all jealous with their jobs as hostesses on the Coastline special train from New York to Miami. We understand the girls have several days off in both cities between trips, which is nice for them as well as for the New Yorkers and Miamians.

REUNION CLASS

Dear Girls of the Class of 1934,

Incredible as it may seem, we have been graduated long enough to have our second class reunion.

We always have a happy feeling when we meet unexpectedly any Salem girl, whether she be of the old Academy or of the more recent College. Just think of the happy time we could have if we could meet all the members of our own class at our reunion this year!

Please make your plans to come.

Hopefully yours,

Alice Stough, President, '34.

Alice is now teaching in Wadesboro High School — Latin and a few other subjects. She says "This is my first experience in the profession and I have really been in a whirl.

Betty Stough is in Charlotte, working in the Charlotte Branch of the Duke Power Company. She is their home economist, has most interesting work and loves it.

On November 19, 1939, Mary Ann Mathewson, M.S.M., (Ex. '34), became Minister of Music in the First Presbyterian Church in Passaic, New Jersey.

Anne Shuford McKenzie (Mrs. Bill McK.), had some Salem Christmas cookies sent to Gibson, N. C., where she lives, for herself and her mother-in-law, who is also a Salem alumna. Anne wrote: "I have raved to Bill so much about Salem, and he has heard his mother and me discussing our "Alma Mater" so often that he was even more anxious than I to taste one of the famous Salem cookies.

"Everyday I am more thankful that I chose Salem as my college. I ran into Rachel Carroll ('35), in Charlotte recently. Everywhere I go I see someone I knew in school.

REUNION CLASS

Dear femmes de '35,

Wherever you are, be it New York City, Po-Dunk Center, or Snake-Bite Gulch, go out this minute in search of a Woolworth's or a Kress's. Having found such, purchase a dime bank and start poking dimes in it with vim, vigor, and regularity. Why? Because, come June Commencement, you'll be needing wherewithal for a ticket to reunion at Salem. Remember your graduation boast that nothing short of the Grim Reaper, itself, could prevent our returning when the Alma Mater called. Well, the time approaches when we must make good our boast and show that it was not just idle chatter.

So housewives, apply the Jergen's Lotion to those dishpan hands, and career girls, apply for vacations in early June.

Everybody please shake the shackles of the workaday world from your feet and meet again under the willow where we hung our heart — remember? five springs ago.

Mary Penn Thaxton,

1939

Salem will welcome the members of this class on February 24th for their first reunion.

In November Richie Atwater, Myra Sharp, Julia Dupuy, and Peggy Gallaher visited the Academy. Salem wants to see these girls and others of the class at the house party.

We are very proud of the fact that Agnes Colcord and Betty Hunt Murray are president of their freshman classes in Salem College and Hollins College respectively.

Miss Weaver saw Kathryn Hill in Asheville during the Christmas shopping season. Kathryn seems happy at Wycham Rise school.

Miss Wheeler rode on the train through Connecticut with Mildred Parks. They each had much to give the other in the way of information about Salem friends.

Agnes Burdett ('40), met Ann Doerschuk on her way back to Beaver College, as Agnes returned from Macon at Christmas time.

Barbara Thomas has been elected the queen of the Colonial Costume Ball at Southern Seminary. She writes enthusiastically of her year there.

Anne Garrett wrote from Mary Baldwin: "Since I have been at school I have met Katherine Licklider, a junior. She is very eager to hear about the Academy." Annie has promised to come to see us. We hope that she will be here for the house party.

Nancy Northup entered training for a nurse in Watts Hospital in Durham in January.

Jackie Miller wrote from Cloverleaf Hall, Rollins College: "First of all, I really never dreamed that I would miss Salem so much. I miss all the girls, especially the ones that I knew so well and all the fun we used to have."

Molly Weeks visited with the girls in the Academy on February 4th while home for the week-end.

Salem expects a number of this class to attend the alumnae house party.

Jeanne Gartrell is living at home and posing for art classes and professionals. Her new address is 246 Mountain Avenue, Ridgewood, N. J.

Virginia Wayne is in the University of Georgia. She wrote after the holidays: "As you know, I'm at the University now. I think I've finally set my heart on becoming a journalist of some kind. During the Christmas holidays I went up to the offices of the Atlanta Constitution and asked them to let me work up there just for the experience. The city editor put me to work right away and Oh! — I loved it!"

Mary Marshall Jones now lives at 214 Hempstead Court, Charlotte, and wrote: "As soon as I struggle through Analytical Geometry and other exams I am really coming up to Salem." We hope Mary Marshall will be here on February 24th.

1937

This class is scheduled to have its third reunion. We hope a number will come to the house party February 24th.

Nan Myers is at home this winter and is studying at Salem College the second semester.

Rose Willingham: "After graduation last May I decided to return to a school this winter, and the nearest one to Macon was the University of Georgia in Athens. I have the opportunity of meeting people that live in Georgia. Even though my credits only make me a sophomore, being near home and in a co-ed school at the same time makes classification not so important."

1936

We hope the members of '36 will return in goodly numbers for their fourth reunion on February 24th.

Katherine Read, 428 Pelhamdale Ave., Pelham, N. Y., wrote: "We have been living in Pelham for over a year — and I have been working in New York City doing secretarial work. However, I took last summer off and went back to Tennessee for a visit. While I was there I saw several of the old Salem girls."

Dr. Rondthaler met with the Salem Alumnae in New York on January 31st, Katherine Read, Ann Perkins ('34), Jean Buckley Lefferts ('33), Zaida Buckley King ('32), Bettie MacNair ('36), Jean Jackson Horne ('32), and Virginia Gale

Cluthe (ex-'32), attended the reunion dinner. There may have been other Academy girls but the full list has not been received yet.

Sarah McCanless and Margaret Courtney are attending Duke University. Margaret is on the deans list.

The class president, Nancy Campbell, is at Hollins again this year. The Academy freshmen there say Nancy has taken good care of them. We do hope that Nancy will be with us for the reunion.

Jackie Ray went to the Salem College Costume Ball dressed as one of the Marx brothers so she is still running true to form and giving others pleasure by her impersonations. Do you remember her as Katasha?

Mrs. Long and Ora Holt Long Anderson stopped by the Academy to see us in November. Ora Holt seems to like living in New York.

This class is scheduled for its last reunion for five years. We hope to have a fine group at the alumnae house party.

Lady Kate Allen was graduated from Carson Newman College last June. She wrote: "I was very fortunate in getting a good position in the city school here. I am teaching English in the Junior High Grades. I like my work fine." We hope Lady Kate may carry out her plans of studying library science sometime soon.

Ruth Green Henderson is now living at 1110 Alama St., Durham.

Jody Litz in writing about the folder sent out to tell the girls in the reunion classes about the plans says: "The illustrations are very attractive and bring back old memories, especially the walk from the College to the Academy. As much as I would love to come this year, I am afraid that it is out of the question. I am still with Dad and we are tied up with quite a bit of work at the present time.

Of course, someday I will get back to Salem and I hope it will be soon. It would be fun seeing the old crowd again, Shirley, Mag, Betty and Charlotte as well as the teachers and all of you."

Ethel Litz is in Florida on a trip. We hope she will stop by here for the reunion on her way home.

Mary Laura Perryman Walker, who is living in Atlanta, Ga. now, visited Salem during the holidays.

Kate Pratt has been Mrs. John Francis Ogburn, Jr., since January 19th. Betty Bahson ('35), was maid of honor, Nan Myers ('37), and Blevins Vogler ('34), were attendants.

Elizabeth Trotman finished up her work in Salem College the first semester and is now in a dramatic school in Hollywood, Cal.

Dorothy Roberts' picture and one of her poems of the "Little Pigeon Poems" which won the Elizabeth Babcock Poetry Prize at Smith College appeared in the November copy of Pi Beta Phi Journal, "The Arrow." We are very proud of Dorothy's accomplishments.

Olivia Womble is to be married to Max Long on March 2nd.

Gertrude Bagwell wrote an interesting letter of her work teaching music in a Knoxville public school.

Kathryn Kilgore sent a poem of her own, "The Christmas Star," on her Christmas card which was mailed in Harmony, Ga. We do not know yet whether Kathryn is living there or was just there for the Christmas holidays. Her poem was thoughtful.

Margaret Ricks is doing her field work in the local Associated Charities.

Louise Frazier wrote from Old Fort where she is teaching: "I'm still staying with the Johnson's. Mary Margaret is working in Asheville now and comes home on the week-ends.

I really do like teaching, even if it does have its "ups and downs." Last year we put out the first annual this county has had. We're trying again this year, but we're still uncertain about the outcome.

Have you ever hitched a sled to a team of horses and gone sleigh riding? We tried it last night, and except for extremely cold feet, we had a glorious time."

Barbara Fulton wrote from Knoxville: "I so often think of you all there at Salem and what a happy, happy two years I spent with you." For Salem to mean pleasant thoughts in the minds of her girls, brings pleasure to those still at Salem.

Laura Ellen Lunsford is now Mrs. Heck David Emory.

Frances Humphreys Marshall wrote of visiting Mary McCanless Gerner and J. Fred in their home in Danbury.

Margaret Wiggins address is now 931 Robel Street, Jacksonville, Fla.

1932

Mary Lib Cunningham Andrews was married to William Frederick Mullis on February 10th, in Charlotte, N. C., and lives at 930 Ardley Road.

Frances Humphreys Marshall lives now in Rocky Mount, N. C. (602 Eastern Ave.).

She wrote in a recent letter telling of her life there: "Reg and I were in Washington D. C., for a short while this summer. We got in touch with Lottie Schramm Kuhn the day before we left and she spent our last day there with us. Lottie and I had a grand time talking over old times and planning what we would do the next time Reg and I are in Washington. Lottie looked grand." Ann, Frances' daughter, is now two years old so she will be ready for the Academy before we know it.

Gertrude Schwalbe Trodahl has a young daughter, Jeanne Louise, born January 24th.

Mary Mitchell Westall Large is living now in Flemington, N. J.

Miss Weaver saw Lucy Dortch in Asheville during the Christmas holidays. She is working as a personnel director in a business establishment there.

1931

Mishew Crudup Cooper sent pictures at Christmas time of Mishew and Gale. We are looking forward to the entrance of those young ladies into the Academy. They shall have the first claim on their mother's old room.

Elizabeth Hahn is living at home keeping house for her father for the present as she has recently lost her mother.

Mary Frances Hayworth is working for an Insurance Company in Winston-Salem.

This class has not had a reunion in some time so we hope that a number of the members will find it possible to come to the new Academy for their reunion on February 24th.

Betsy Armfield Smith has a little daughter, Cornelia Armfield, born July 14, 1939.

Janie Taylor Atwater lives at 1820 St. Andrews Rd., Greensboro, N. C.

Martha Copeland Stoehr lives at 4327 Georgia Ave., Washington, D. C.

1929

Dorothy Heidenreich is teaching the fourth grade this winter in Menominee, Michigan.

Hazel Greene wrote from Forbes, N. C.: "I have been at home this past year. Mother and Dad wanted me to stay with them for awhile. Once in awhile I substitute in one of the schools for a day or so." Hazel is planning to come to Salem during the Easter season.

Margaret Johnson will receive her master's degree in English at the University of North Carolina this spring. In a letter to Miss Byrd, Margaret wrote something which will bring back memories to many Salem girls who read this so we have taken the liberty of copying it: "Last night I went to see "Pinafore," and it was really very good. It was lightly and charmingly done and the costumes were very effective. I was surprised how clear it brought back to me the "Pinafore" we gave when I was in the Academy. I remember especially Blanch Phillips, Ruth Kreiter as Dick Deadeye, and Jane Rondthaler as little Buttercup. Dick Deadeye was good though not a bit better than Ruth, and the little Buttercup was not nearly so amusing and attractive as Jane was. However, the heroine had a beautiful voice and was a good actress, and the production as a whole was the best amateur Gilbert and Sullivan I've seen."

This class is small and its members scattered from California to New York but we hope that there will be a number to represent the group at the house party on February 24th.

Eloise Crews Allen works with the Forsyth County Welfare Department.

Ruth Kennedy Myers, is now living at 1301 Dream's Landing, Annapolis, Md., while Jack is doing graduate work at the Naval Academy. We do wish that Ruth would come for the reunion.

1927

Emma Sink and Miss Weaver met on the street in Winston-Salem, Emma promised to visit us in the Academy before she leaves Winston-Salem to return to her home.

1926

Elizabeth Christian Brockenborough is at 704 South Roper Ave., Gainville, Fla., for the winter. She renewed her subscription to the "Record" several weeks ago, and we were delighted to hear from her again.

Miss Zachary saw Lois Strickland Mitchell, 414 Stratford Rd., Winston-Salem at a tea at Mrs. Rondthaler's. It was a pleasure to have a chance to chat with her.

The Salem Alumnae Record

May - - Winston-Salem, N. C. - - 1940

The two honorary alumnae, Mrs. Shore (left) and Mrs. Strong (right) pictured on the cover were presented with the above white leather 'history books' telling the story of Salem. The well chosen pictures and the beautiful printing in these books, which are not duplicated "anywhere in the world," according to Dr. Rondthaler, not only honor the two recipients, but also commemorate the 200th anniversary of the art of printing, celebrated this year.

TWO NEW ALUMNAE

Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong and Mrs. Robert Dicks Shore, Become Honorary Members of Salem Alumnae Association.

If you've never been to a "Citation Ceremony," then you've something interesting in store. On April 17, in the Old Chapel, Salem College held such a ceremony, with Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong (affectionately known over the country as "Mother Strong"), of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Robert D. Shore, of Winston-Salem, N. C., as honor guests.

These two women were taken into the Salem Alumnae Association, as honorary members. The citation service, during which Mrs. Strong and Mrs. Shore were presented with unique books telling the story of Salem's history, drew a selected audience of friends, trustees, faculty members, students, and alumnae to the Old Chapel.

Dr. Roudthaler read the two citations which were as follows:

"The Alumnae Association of Salem College hereby bestows its highest recognition in election to honorary membership of Mrs. Robert Dicks Shore, and in so doing acknowledges her services as one uniquely conscious of the architectural strength and character-forming sincerity of certain century-old structures, the heritage of this historic institution."

"Salem College Alumnae Association in this citation hereby confers upon Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong its highest recognition through election to honorary membership, in loving recognition of one who has joyed to open the portals of higher education to unnumbered youth, otherwise denied such an entrance into the larger life."

The responses of the two honorees were touchingly characteristic. Mrs. Shore said that she first became interested in Salem through Salem girls she had known, and that she would strive to live up to the examples they had set. She laughingly added that if she might envy other alumnae a little for their days spent in the historic college halls, they might in turn envy her for having attained membership in the alumnae association without classes, examinations or term papers.

Mrs. Strong, who has had honorary degrees from several universities, seemed exceedingly touched by Salem's recognition of her unselfish from Miss Gertrude Siewers.

"After my graduation in June 1890, I returned to Texas and resumed my Art studies for a while. I also went to Texas State University for a short special course.

"When I married in June, 1895, I moved to my mother's old home and have lived here ever since . . . We had one son who passed away, Nov. 16, 1929. We two are lonely now, but I have such happy memories, and among the dearest are days spent at "S. F. A."

Elizabeth Nicholson Russell (Mrs. A. G. Russell), of 1927 Vinton, Memphis, Tenn., wrote an interesting letter in answer to the directory questionnaire sent from the college recently. "In my diary," she said, "that I kept for a number of years. I had kept for a number of years. I found an old program of the "Mid-Winter Concert" in the Academy Chapel, given by Miss Vest's, Professor Schmolek's, and Miss Van Vleck' pupils. I studied instrumental music under Professor Schmolek. There was a vocal rendition by Leeda Morrison also; and Claudia Palmer, Nell Scales, Fannie Conrad, Lillian Crntchfield, Harriet Cross, Gertrude Robbins and Carrie Bahnson were on the program.

1915 — REUNION

Gertrude Vogler Kimball (Mrs. Harvey Kimball), of 460 Marview, Akron, Ohio, sent an exceedingly welcome message to the Alumnae Record along with her contribution for its support. She said: "I read the Alumnae Record from cover to cover and enjoy every word." She may not realize it, but these cheering bits of news from far off alumnae are what makes the Record worth the trouble.

1916 — REUNION

One of the "Lost Souls" found: Nell Cooke, (1932) is Mrs. Marvin Chandler and is organist of the North Winston Baptist Church.

1933 — REUNION

Betty Stough, Home Economist for the Duke Power Company in Charlotte, N. C., had an attractive and interesting article published in the February issue of the Duke Power Magazine. The article, entitled "Mrs. Housewife Has A Chat with Reddy Kilowatt," began as follows: "Mrs. Housewife sank wearily into a chair and closed her eyes. She had been "spring house-cleaning" all day long and was not half through; besides supper was yet to be prepared for her hungry family, and everything was in a mess. There was a fire in the cook stove and the kitchen was unbearably hot. . . ."

She hears a voice from somewhere, which turns out to be the voice of Reddy Kilowatt, and he proceeds to tell her how she can save her energy and time by using electrical appliances for household jobs.

Somehow reading through Betty's article took us back to our theme writing days at Salem, days when we were afraid Dr. Willoughby or Lib Lilly (Swedenberg) wouldn't think we were original or cute or even correct. We wondered whether Betty had that same college-English-class-feeling while her work was being perused and gotten ready for publication. Anyway, it was a worth while piece of writing, and we don't wonder Betty is the right hand woman at the Duke Power.

1934 — REUNION

CALLING ALL BULBS!

When you gardening alumnae are transplanting or thinning out your bulbs, give a thought to the Salem grounds and send us your extras. We know you always think with affection of Miss Anna's flowers and Miss Stockton's arrangements, so if we ask for your left-over bulbs, you won't be piqued. Salem needs and wants any kind you have!

1800

The first catalogue of Salem Female Academy was hung framed in the Administration Building. Short was the period of female education one hundred and fifty years ago, fifteen years of age terminating the stay of any girl in the school. However, they entered school at a tender age, & the terms were reasonable and the young ladies from fashionable homes must conform to the simple and strict regime in every particular. That is what their parents wanted for them. Many girls came to Salem on horseback, father and daughter each mounted. He often sold the one horse and left the wife saddle hanging in the "hick-saddle" Room until daughter's school year were over and he could bring another horse to take her home.

1835

In this year in which Mary Lyon founded Mt. Holyoke College for girls, Salem was growing rapidly and more and more girls were seeking education. Bishop John Christian Jacobson, grandfather of Dr. Howard Rondthaler was then head of the school. A chapel was needed for worship and for many gatherings. So the new chapel was built close to South Hall, so that the young ladies would not have to go out of doors to chapel. The wooden arched ceiling was a triumph of building of that time. It remains as a curiosity, although the uses to which the supplanted "new chapel" has been put through this one hundred years have been legion.

1811

The Administration Building of Salem College is quaint and dignified in its architecture. The expanding school demanded a separate home for the head of the school and his offices. So was built the rambling, attractive Administration House. Mr. Abrams-Kennor, who succeeded Mr. Reynolds, moved into this hospitable dwelling with his family. It is many Salem College girls have felt the touch of home life. In its deep, arched cellar is the rock hewn wine in the floor where during the Civil War women and housewives were laid. On the second floor stands the small table still packed with Confederate papers, paid to the school in good faith for southern daughters.

The beloved Congregation House has served the community of Salem for eighty-four years, as a center of worship and education, but the year of great progress had come. It was torn down and in its place arose another building of faith, so large and ever towering, that it seemed almost the same sort of dream in our sky-scrapers of today. Main Hall arose majestically with its stately columns on the east side of Salem Square. It was a gala day, when the Salem Academy, soon to become full fledged Salem College, moved with great and appropriate ceremony into the new building. It was indeed a momentous occasion.

service to education. She said modestly that when she first came to Winston-Salem, she had known only one person, Nettie Allen Thomas, but that now she felt as though she were surrounded by cousins, nephews, nieces and friends. With people all over the world who love and admire her, Mrs. Strong said to the Salem Alumnae gathering: "I was a stranger and you took me in."

On behalf of the board of trustees Bishop J. Kenneth Pfohl brought greetings and expressed appreciation to the two honored women for valuable service to Salem.

Words of welcome into the Salem alumnae association were spoken by Mrs. Thomas V. Farrow, (Mary Howe) of Greenville, S. C., President of the Association.

Two Solos, Aria (Samson and Delilah) by Saint-Saens, and The Awakening by Spross, were sung by Miss Louise Norris, Durham, a student in the college. She was accompanied by Miss Virginia Thompson, college accompanist.

The books presented to the two new alumnae were exquisitely bound in white leather and tooled in gold. They bore the Salem seal on the back, with a border of daisies, Salem's flower, around the edge. Inside they told the story of Salem's founding, the building of the church, the opening of Salem Academy and each successive event with appropriate illustrations on every page.

Immediately following the ceremony, the guests were served an informal buffet supper.

ASSOCIATE TO DR. RONDTHALER NAMED

The board of trustees of Salem recently announced the appointment as associate to the President of Brant Rittenhouse Snavelly of Lynchburg, Va.

Mr. Snavelly, whose new position includes with other duties, the business administration of the college and academy, is an A.B. graduate of Birmingham-Southern College, class of 1928, and has done further graduate study in the school of administration, Columbia University.

His father, with whom he has been closely associated, is president of the American Association of Colleges, and is widely known in college circles.

The new appointment was effective April 1, 1940.

Kernersville, N. C., April 30, 1940.

Mrs. Clay Ring (Maud Korner) entertained the Kernersville alumnae at their annual spring meeting April 30. Mrs. D. L. Donnell, (Dore Korner), president, presided. Jane Rondthaler discussed briefly events on the college campus. A full report of the meeting has not yet been received at Salem.

Statesville, N. C., March 16, 1940.

A combined alumnae and prospect meeting was held at the home of Christine Henckel with Jane Rondthaler as a guest from the college. Miss Rondthaler showed moving pictures of campus life. The chief topic of discussion at the meeting was the possibility of Statesville joining forces with some of the nearby towns in order to make more interesting and better attended meetings.

CROWNED MAY 4, 1940.

FRIENDS OF THE LIBRARY PAGE

Dr. Branscomb Speaks

The first annual meeting of the Friends — and potential Friends — of the Salem College Library, was held on the evening of April 2 with Dr. Harvey Branscomb, Director of Duke Libraries, as the speaker. Miss Grace Siewers had, by some strategy or other, removed all students from the building so that the guests could meet in and admire the main Reading Room. The attendance was large enough and representative enough to indicate that the organization had reached the proportions of An Important Project.

Dr. Branscomb proved a delight and a blessing, with his charm and his practical information. He reminded the group that a college library is not a research library for graduate students, but one that offers material for teaching purposes. Departmental needs thus become of primary importance.

To supplement college courses, he suggested that a library have much material of a personal nature which is not required but which will act as a stimulant by making a subject more real. Except when used for this purpose, however, the "just for fun" books have little place in a college library.

Another important function of a college library is to serve as a repository for local historical material. Here is a challenging field for Salem College Library Friends.

An interesting type of collection was suggested by Dr. Branscomb; the "favorite writer collection." First, all that an author has written is found, then all that has been written about the author is added and finally, all "that will aid the student in the study of the author" can be provided for in an endowment.

Mrs. Patterson Presents Collection

Mrs. Lindsey Patterson in her inimitable manner at the end of the meeting presented some of her personal collection, including letters in longhand from Grover Cleveland and Woodrow Wilson. A copy of the Woman's Edition of the Winston Journal got out in 1902 by the Twin City Hospital Association, will furnish an interesting bit of local history.

Printing Exhibit

To commemorate the 300th Anniversary of Printing, the Salem College Library arranged a most comprehensive exhibit of the history of printing, divided into four parts. The first period, that before the invention of the printing press, was illustrated by a Balinese book and two leaves of an Indo-Chinese book, lent by a Friend of the Library, Mrs. Bess Gray Plundy.

A Needed Gift

The Library's favorite ($5) gift is a volume of North Carolina State Records. With the aid of Friends the Library already has obtained all of the Colonial and State Records through Volume 13. Any Record beginning with volume 14, or its cash equivalent ($5) will place the donor on the especially cherished list.

MINUTES OF 1940 SALEM ACADEMY ALUMNAE MEETING

The meeting of the Salem Academy alumnae on February Twenty-Fourth was opened by the reading of the minutes from the 1939 meeting. Lee Rice, class of 1937, read the minutes, which stood approved. Miss Jackson gave a report on the Alumnae Garden which was started last year, and described to us the lighting of the pool, the stream, and some of the plants. She said that lighting in the woods and yards could be done very beautifully and effectively and she asked for a small contribution from each person so that this could truly be an alumnae enterprise. Our attention was called to the bulletin board in the game room, on which were pictures and news of absent alumnae. Miss Zachary also asked us to check with her on whether our subscriptions to the Alumnae Record had run out or not.

It was suggested that we change the week-end for reunion from the spring to the fall, so that more people might be present. It was moved and seconded that we have the meeting on the week-end of a college football game in Winston-Salem, and that the definite time be decided by Winston-Salem Alumnae. The motion was carried.

At this point in the meeting, we received a telegram from Jiggs Parks wishing us a happy week-end and expressing her regrets that she could not be present. After the telegram was read, the meeting adjourned in order to attend the Carolina Symphony in Memorial Hall.

Respectfully submitted,

Margaret Vardell, Chairman of Reunion Committee.

Margaret Vardell, the chairman, presided at the banquet which preceded the meeting. Greetings were read from a number of girls who could not be present. Dr. Rondthaler was present and brought greetings to the girls. The alumnae present were: from the class of 1930, Gertrude Stockton Sapp; from 1935, Marguerite Willingham, Lucy Gray Smither, Kate Pratt Ogburn; from the class of 1936, Eleanor Sartin, Mary Lib Walston Steele, and Ora Jones; from 1937, Mary McDevitt, Peggy Jones, Hannah Beatty, Ruth Templeman, Jane Tucker, Leonore Rice, Jacqueline Ray, Betsy O'Brien, Becky Nifong, Nan Myers, Johnsie Moore, Becky Jane Kester; from 1938, Billy Hanes, Mary Allen Brevick, Elizabeth Roberts Gillis, Ruth Burton, and Margaret Vardell; from 1939, Julia Dupuy, Alene Tonissen, Lindy Stokes, Betty Hunt Murray, Margaret Leinbach, Anne Garrett, and Jeanne Cowper. Jane Rondthaler of '32 and Margaret McLean of '31 were also at the banquet.

Lindy Stokes was chairman of the Sunday morning breakfast committee. After the breakfast the group walked out with Miss Jackson to see the alumnae garden and to have pictures made.

Dear Alumnae,

You should all know how much your gifts to the grounds are being enjoyed.

This spring when the cherry trees, now at least fifteen feet tall, were in full bloom all who drove by the boulevard enjoyed them; and many drove through the campus just to see them. Also the vines we planted in the spring of '31 have covered both ends of the building. The poplar trees which were placed on the north side of the soccer field have grown and are making a very lovely outline to the edge of the grounds.

Do you girls of '36 remember when the office building celebrated its 125th anniversary that you were inspired to give for future generations? The boxwood plants you gave at that time have grown and last summer were planted in front of the building. They are putting out new shoots and I am sure they will make a lovely hedge before 2061.

The pictures show how your Alumnae Garden is progressing. The cut had to be made before the spring flowers bloomed, but instead of looking at a picture I hope you will all come and enjoy walking through the Garden you gave to your Alma Mater.

Affectionately yours,

Charlotta Jackson.

I am so thrilled to find out that the Purples were ahead for the first season. I honestly think we deserve to win for a change!

I am pleased with my school and I'm sure that I'll be back next year. If I can make a B average I will be able to live in a dormitory otherwise I'll continue to live with my aunt and grandmother. I'm still interested in clothing and I'll probably change to a Home Economics course next year.

I'd give anything to be going to Salem for the reunion. I've been thinking about it so much but it just isn't possible for me to go. I am coming to North Carolina next summer and I can hardly wait to come by the Academy. I've missed it ever so much."

presence of dear Dr. Rondthaler. It was wonderful seeing him once more. I sat with Jean and Zadia Buckley, Jean Jackson and Virginia Gale. It was a wonderful surprise seeing them. They haven't changed a bit, just as pretty and lively as ever. Of course, we had a great deal to talk about, so we all proceeded to my house after the dinner where we sat and talked until 1:00 o'clock.

They're all married, of course — Jean Jackson being the "newly-wed." Ginny Gale has three children and Jean and Zaida a little boy each. It seems hard to believe."

"One of my friends in Asheville had acquired the recording of "Patience" before I left there, and I had a wonderful time not only listening to my dearly beloved Messrs Gilbert and Sullivan's brainchild, but also remembering my own glory as a Heavy Dragoon (that must have been a beautiful job of casting, considering my embonpoint at that, or any other, age) when we gave "Patience" at the Academy. If I remember it correctly, Miss Knox urged me to fill up as much space of the stage as possible and not to make a sound. I do hope you are still giving the yearly Gilbert and Sullivan.

"Perk" said she had recently moved. Her address is 801 Seneca Road, Glenburnie, Richmond, Va. It seems that she is doing secretarial work also — and because of that and the fact that she was expecting a visit from her mother, she couldn't have possibly gotten over to Salem, she seemed very regretful that she could not make it. Ruth seems to be traveling from one place to another! She has just recovered from an appendectomy, immediately followed by influenza, so wrote only a note. She said she and Jack had been at Annapolis for two years, Jack taking a P. G. in Radio Engineering. Then they go to Harvard next year when he will complete his course. They will spend his "leave" in N. C. this summer before going to Boston.

Dora Stipe O'Donald, Box 314, Moscow, Idaho, wrote that she was eager to get back to her farm after the winter in town.

Salem Honors Class of 1890

Six staunch and true members of the class of 1890 were entertained at Salem in honor of the fiftieth year since their graduation. They were quite the gayest, if not quite the youngest alumnae of all the approximately 375 who returned for Commencement week-end.

Their group included: Mrs. J. A. Hadley (Swannanoa Brower), of Mount Airy, N. C.; Mrs. T. F. Malloy, (Minnie M. Fagg), of Chun's Cove, Asheville, N. C.; Penelope L. Griffiss, of "The Patten Hotel", Chattanooga, Tennessee; Mrs. Hugh Everett, (Ora Andrew Kennedy), of Mexia, Texas; Mrs. John Robinson (Adelaide Lavinia Miller), of 207 N. Spruce St., Winston-Salem, N. C.; Emma Rollins Tighe, of Asheville, had planned to be present, but could not come; Mrs. J. A. Hartness (Annie Lindsay Sloan), of 310 N. Blount St., Raleigh, N. C.

The chief topic of conversation among these girls was probably not what had happened during the year 1940, but what they remembered of their own commencement in 1890. To refresh their memories of that momentous year, we quote from the June issue of the Academy, 1890:

"Owing to the large number of Seniors in this year's class, it was found necessary to occupy two evenings to introduce the individual members to the gathered friends. Each Senior had prepared a carefully written essay of 3 or 4 minutes, and these were read. Mr. Clewell presided on these evenings, and with him on the platform were Dr. Edward Rondthaler, Prof. W. A. Blair, Hon. G. W. Sanderlin, and Professors Thomson and Davis. The sympathy and interest of the audience on these two evenings was more than usual, and as the exercises were opened promptly they proved to be among the most pleasing of the entire week . . ."

"Wednesday morning dawned bright and clear and cool. As the Commencement began at 9 o'clock, already at an early hour carriages and pedestrians filled the streets about the school. Promptly at the hour named the Academic procession moved into the church in the following order: Two little girls bearing silver salvers, on which were the diplomas; the Speaker (Hon. G. W. Sanderlin, State Auditor) Faculty, Trustees, and clergy of the two towns (Winston and Salem); Seniors, incoming Seniors, and finally the main body of the scholars . . . The programme for the morning was long but we did not notice a weary look anywhere in the audience . . . ”

“The Valedictory was read by Miss Emma Rollins, who has been a pupil in the Academy for six years. One of the newspaper correspondents said of this effort: “The Valedictory was eloquently delivered (and when we say ‘eloquently’, we mean it). It was an address worthy of the occasion and highly creditable to the bright and charming young lady who delivered it in so becoming a manner. Before she concluded the tears of affection trickled down the cheeks of her class-mates,—tears which did them honor and evinced their love for their valedictorian . . . ”

“The Alumnae Meeting has been steadily gaining in force and power, and . . . the next meeting must be conducted in a larger hall. In addition to the programme . . . reports were read from the Badge Committee and the Griffiss Library Fund*. As the result of a number of papers on the subject, it was decided to establish an Alumnae Scholarship fund, and a subscription with that object in view was commenced with very marked success. The large number of Alumnae from points even as distant as Texas was a decided feature . . . ” Included on the program were letters of greeting from: Mrs. James K. Polk, Polk Place, Tenn., Mrs. Ann Lardner, Charlotte, N. C. and Mrs. Jos. Schell, Lake City, S. C.

Taking all in all, the “Academy” writer states that “the entire exercises will go down in history as among the brightest and most pleasant of the long list of Commencements of SALEM FEMALE ACADEMY.”

GRADUATING CLASS OF 1940 BOASTS MANY ALUMNAE DAUGHTERS, GRAND-DAUGHTERS AND GREAT GRAND-DAUGHTERS

Of the 45 seniors who received diplomas at Salem on June 2, 21 were descended from former Salem girls. Seven were alumnae daughters, ten were sisters of alumnae, one was the great granddaughter of a former Salem girl, one was the great-great granddaughter, and two were granddaughters.

Elizabeth Norfleet, of Roxobel, N. C. (B.S.) was the descendent of Anna Norfleet of Scotland Neck, one of the 11 little girls who came by stage coach to Salem when it became the first girls’ boarding school in the South in 1804. Elizabeth’s great-great grandmother, Mrs. Thomas F. Norfleet (Margaret Andrews) was also a student at Salem in 1805.

The seven seniors whose mothers came to Salem were: Margaret Wilson, of Raleigh; Louisa Sloan, of Wadesboro; (May Queen), Geraldine Baynes, Betsy Reece, Catherine Walker, Martha Rawlings, Julia Brown McCorkle, all of Winston-Salem.

Anne Mewborne, of Kinston, is the granddaughter of the late Mrs. J. M. Mewborne (Eliza Palmer), of Lenoir County.

Sarah Burrell, of Norfolk, is the great-granddaughter of the late Mrs. Edward E. Mobley (Roxanna Dixon), of Blackstock, S. C., who was at Salem in 1851-53.

SALEM TO GET NEW DINING HALL

A gift of funds to provide a dining hall building at Salem has come from one of the newest alumnae of the college, Mrs. Hattie M. Strong. Mrs. Strong was recently made an honorary member, along with Mrs. Robert Dicks Shore, of the Salem Alumnae Association, in recognition of the services she has rendered the institution. It has been specified that her donation shall provide for the erection of the actual dining hall building, the equipment and furnishings to be provided otherwise. Architect's plans are in progress, but the date of erection is not as yet fully determined. The new dining hall, or refectory, which has long been a dream of Salem, will succeed the present 100 year old structure south of Main Hall.

COLLEGE JOINS GRAY MEDICAL SCHOOL SETUP

The affiliation of Salem College with the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College was announced at Commencement by Dr. Rondthaler. Through this affiliation, Salem will offer a degree course in technology (the first in North Carolina) and a pre-nursing course.

The academic work will be given as heretofore at Salem College, and the clinical and professional work both in medical technology and also in nursing will be given at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest College, and the North Carolina Baptist Hospital, both of Winston-Salem.

The medical technology course will cover a period of three years academic work and 14 months clinical training. A B. S. degree will be granted by Salem College at the completion of this course. This course will meet the requirements of the American Society of Clinical Pathologists and graduates will be eligible for the registry examination with this society. This will be the first degree course in medical technology to be offered in North Carolina.

Pre-nursing course will cover a period of two years' academic work, followed by three years of training at the Baptist Hospital. At the close of this period, a B. S. degree in nursing will be granted by the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

This work is in line with the present work being given at Salem. Pre-medical, pre-dental, and pre-medical technology work have been given for several years. The introduction of the new work is an expansion of the present curriculum.

Paging Friends of the Library

It reads like a fairy story. She came back to Salem for the first time since her graduation, and that was fifty years ago. Somehow she had lost touch with the college in all those years.

But back in her youth, the year before her graduation from Salem, an incident had happened that made the school mean much to her, and made her surname a beloved one in Salem's history. In June, 1889, when she was a rising senior, the following notice was printed in the "Academy."

"It is with great pleasure that we chronicle the beginning of the "Griffiss Library Fund" which received its name from the liberal-minded gentleman, Mr. J. C. Griffiss, of Chattanooga, Tenn., whose kindly thought has begun this good work in Salem Female Academy."

The Griffiss Library Fund! The first contribution of its kind for a library at Salem—and to think, the "liberal-minded gentleman" mentioned so affectionately in the Academy article was her own father!

Nellie Griffiss came back to Salem in June, 1940, for her class reunion. Recognizing a few of the old familiar buildings of the 1890's but also feeling a little bit lost because of the many, many improvements and additions to the campus, she asked immediately about the Library. Secretly she must have wondered what results and benefits had been reaped from the "Griffiss Library Fund" during the past fifty years. What sort of Library did Salem now have?

Needless to say, the new Library Building burst upon her in all its glory, probably more perfect than anything she could have dreamed of for Salem. Her first thought may well have been: "what a marvelous and appropriate monument to the generosity and foresightedness of my father."

Her second thought showed that the adage, "like father, like son," goes for the girl in the family, too. She decided that she must keep up the Griffiss tradition at Salem, by helping with that branch of the school which is nearest its heart—the Library.

So Penelope Griffiss left a check for $100 at Salem to be used for much needed equipment in the new Library Building.

Just as we have delved back into the old "Academy" files to find a mention of Mr. John C. Griffiss' well placed contribution, so we would like to put down here, for the benefit of those who, fifty years hence will be looking at the 1940 "Alumnae Record", a similar paragraph describing Nellie Griffiss' sentimental and warmly appreciated gift.

The two little notices will thus not be separated by fifty years of time and printed matter, but will stand side by side, approving of one another, on a shelf in the Library, where they certainly belong.

October, 1889. THE ACADEMY. Salem, N. C.

"It will be remembered that our friend, Mr. John C. Griffiss, started a fund for the Library, which is called The Griffiss Library Fund, the interest only of which will be used in the purchase of books. We trust this may in time become a large endowment for this important department of our School."

June, 1940. THE ALUMNAE RECORD. Winston-Salem, N. C.

It will be remembered that our friend and alumna, Penelope Griffiss, daughter of John C. Griffiss, returned to Salem, fifty years after her graduation, and upon seeing what results had been realized from the Library Fund begun by her father, made a contribution of $100 to be used for Library equipment. We appreciate not only the gift, but the spirit in which it was given.

Any of these will be a welcome gift to the Library from one of its friends:

1939

Out of 48 graduates from last year's class, 33 were present for their first reunion. From this group came the grand idea of establishing a future scholarship fund, the interest from which will be used for the first time the year that the first daughter of a 39er comes to Salem.

1938

Dot Hutaff received her M.A. in kindergarten work from Columbia this June.

Laura Emily Pitts is doing accompanying work on tour through New England this summer.

Sarah Stevens, of Fayetteville, strained the muscles of her legs during a game of tennis, and has been teaching school from a wheel chair during the latter part of the year. She wrote to her classmates at their reunion: "I have kept in touch with Salem through a sister who has just finished her freshman year there.

A letter from Jean Knox, of Taunton, Mass., tells of her job in Providence. She's working for the R. I. S. P. C. C. — the Rhode Island Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

Charlotte King of Taunton, Mass., has been working in Salem, New Jersey since July '39. She is Dietitian in the Salem Memorial Hospital.

1936

Susan Rawlings Edgerton has another little girl, Carolyn, born this spring.

1935

A typical 1935 reunion, if not a very large one, was thoroughly enjoyed by Mary Penn Thaxton (Pres.); Jinny Nall Cobb, of Kingsport, Tenn.; Martha Neal Trotter, of Reidsville, N. C.; Ann Taylor Austin, of Kannapolis; Rachel Carroll, of Wilmington, N. C.; Bushy McLean, of Lumberton, N. C.; Florence McCannless Farrington, Sarah "Senorita" Clancy, Mildred Krites, Josie Chase Shaffner, Margaret "Cup"

Ward Trotter, Cortlandt Preston Creech, June Morris and Louise Gaither, all of Winston-Salem.

Mary Absher, is now living in Manila, P. I., with the imposing address: 10 Second St., Villemar Court, Paranaque, Rizal, P. I. She is having an interesting and busy time teaching piano at the Elementary School American at Fort McKinley and at the American School (in the Art Center) in Manila. From Oct. till the middle of Feb., she was organist at the Episcopal Cathedral, after only 5½ months of organ lessons! Mary explained in her letter to the Rondthalers that while she was organist, she was called upon to play for 4 weddings (and one funeral) — one of the weddings being a large English one, and another Swedish, with the service translated into Swedish by the Consul. "This service represented nearly 2 hours of almost constant organ playing," said Mary, "and I felt as if I were giving a recital, what with 6 organ solos beside the anthems, hymns and Communion Music!"

1933

Eugenia Johnson (Mrs. Eugene B. Crutchfield) formerly of Norfolk, Va., has moved to Richmond, Va.

1932

Corinne Jones ('32), of Nashville Tenn., was hostess in the North Carolina building at the World's Fair last year. Jean Davis, former music student at Salem, is hostess there this year.

1914

Rebecca Hodges (Mrs. Penn Scott) has changed her address from Greensboro, N. C., to Venice, Fla.

Mamie Gertrude Barrow (Mrs. Louis Owens) and Katherine Hanes, both of Winston-Salem, entertained the reunion group of their classmates at tea and dinner respectively, on Alumnae Day, June 1.

Included in the group were: Julia Tuck (Mrs. R. A. Ashworth) of Selma, N. C.; Jennie Anderson (Mrs. Z. N. Anderson) of Mocksville; Ola White (Mrs. W. M. Blandford) of Kinston; Agnes Fallings (Mrs. S. F. Bridgers) of Goldsboro; Bessie Brooke, of Southerland; Sallie Boyde (Mrs. S. A. Hubbard) of Asheville; Carrie Rawlings (Mrs. J. T. Sevier) of Asheville; and Robbie Kyle (Mrs. Fletcher Smith) of Salisbury, N. C.

Adelaide Blum, Mrs. R. J. Petree, as far as the Alumnae Day records show, was the alumna most to be congratulated for her energy and interest in Salem. She hailed from the earliest class of any of the 375 alumnae present.

INTRODUCING

DR. CHARLES G. VARDELL, JR.

Dean Charles G. Vardell, Jr., head of Salem College School of Music, received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Rochester in February, 1940.

While working toward this degree, Dean Vardell composed his first symphony, Symphony in G Minor, subtitled "Carolinian," which has been highly praised by Gene Ormandy, director of the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra, and other leading musicians throughout the country.

Another composition by Vardell, a tone poem, "Nocturne Picaresque," was also entered as a part of his work to qualify for the degree.

Here a Meeting..There a Meeting

Greensboro, N. C.

The Greensboro Branch of Salem College Alumnae held its annual meeting on May 21, 1940 with Mrs. Alan Turner.

Mrs. Howard Rondthaler was special guest and spoke on the need for effective organization. She told of the changes and progress at Salem during the past year, mentioning the fact that Dr. Charles G. Vardell, Jr., dean of music at the college is planning to collaborate with Paul Green in writing a religious play based on old Salem.

During the business session Mrs. Alan Turner was re-elected to the presidency. Mrs. Norris Smith was elected to fill the office of Vice President, created for the first time by the chapter and Miss Annie Milton Norman was selected to succeed Mrs. T. Chalmer Bryant now of Durham, as secretary.

It was decided that the next meeting would be held in October since Dr. Rondthaler has set aside Oct. 6 as Salem Day. The reason is a historical one since South Hall was built and occupied on Oct. 6, 1803.

The constitution and By-Laws of the General Alumnae Association was read and corrected by the President and approved by the Chapter. A report of the Executive Board Meeting and Friends of the Library was also read.

A delegate to the alumnae luncheon at Winston-Salem on June 1 was appointed and plans for the Salem alumnae directory were discussed. A committee was appointed to arrange time and place of next meeting.

During an informal social hour following the meeting, tea, sandwiches and cake was served by the hostess.

Alumnae attending were: Miss Daisy Brooks, Miss Peggy Rogers, Miss Annie Milton Norman, Mesdames Hoyt Boone, Roy Milikan, William Andrews, T. Edgar Sikes, Enel A. Jones, Norris Smith, F. G. Buhman, Geo. G. Higgins, John Kendall, Boyd Swicegood, L. W. Kelly and Alan Turner.

Secretary.

Charlotte, N. C.

The regular Spring meeting of the Charlotte branch of the Salem College Alumnae was held April 30, 1940 at 3:30 at the home of Mrs. George Dowdy. Miss Virginia Neely presided, calling upon Mrs. Vernon Stanley to read the minutes in the absence of Mrs. James Major. After which a report of the nominating committee was read and the Association elected the following new officers:

President—Miss Elizabeth Torrence.
Vice-President—Miss Anne Vann.
Secretary—Rosalie Colton.

Miss Neely then turned the meeting over to Miss Elizabeth Torrence. Miss Torrence then appointed the following committees:

Publicity Chairman—Miss Virginia Neely.

Program Chairman—Miss Mary Denny.

Social Chairman—Miss Rose Hawkins.

After the business session, Miss Torrence introduced our special guests, Dr. and Mrs. Rondthaler. Both of whom made most interesting talks—telling us various things of vital interest about Salem.

Following their talks, we enjoyed a delightful social hour during which a lovely tea course was served.

Rosalie Colton, secretary.

Dallas, Texas.

Friday afternoon, May 24, at the home of Mrs. H. L. Edwards, Preston Road, the annual meeting of the Dallas Chapter of Salem Alumnae was held. The chief topic of interest discussed at the meeting was the completion of the past years research work done on the verified list of Salem alumnae living in Texas. The list was corrected by 13 members of the Dallas branch, and as returned to the college office, consisted of 121 names. The verified list was read at the Dallas meeting, as well as letters relating to it.

Correcting the Texas list of alumnae was a tremendous undertaking, although, no doubt, an interesting one, for the Dallas alumnae chapter. The alumnae office at Salem wants the chapter to know that this work has been a large contribution to the efficiency of our files, and we realize what a difficult task it is to trace down 121 names, addresses, etc. It is inspiring to us to have for the Salem Alumnae Association a chapter like the Dallas group!

New officers elected for the year are: Mrs. H. L. Edwards, President, Mrs. Ben W. Haughton, Secretary.

THE FALL ALUMNAE HOUSE PARTY

This statement appears in the minutes of the 1940 Salem Academy Alumnae Meeting: "It was suggested that we change the week-end for reunion from the spring to the fall, so that more people might be present. It was moved and seconded that we have the meeting on the week-end of a college football game in Winston-Salem, and that the definite time be decided by Winston-Salem Alumnae. The motion was carried."

The Winston-Salem Alumnae will meet under the leadership of Margaret Vardell, '38, chairman of the Reunion Committee, after Salem College opens in the fall and will decide upon the week-end for the meeting. Notices will be sent to all members of classes scheduled for reunions ('29, '31, '36, '37, '38, '39, '40).

It is hoped that Academy girls attending college will save a week-end for this visit and that Academy girls who are homemakers and career women will find the weather suitable and the time appropriate to meet with their friends at Salem. The week-end selected will be in October or November.

GIFTS 1939-40

By Nancy Dickson, '42

I hope you all will see the lovely Venetian blinds adorning the windows of the English room and Library. The departing Seniors contributed these. They also presented a G-E Radio-Phonograph to be used on special occasions. What would we do without them?

Maryann Warnken has also given an individual gift of a number of yellow jasmine shrubs which have already been set out near the steps.

The Freshmen, Sophomores, and Camera Club gave the wrought iron table and chairs reposing on the loggia. They certainly do add something to that homey look!

Ever since Easter we have been enjoying the new surface on the historic old tables in the Library. The refurnishing of this furniture was the gift of the Quill Pen.

GOOD-BYE

By Mary McKinney Goodson, '40

Good-bye to winding paths that led to grassy lawns,
The paths we often walked to hear the birds' songs.

Good-bye to dear old Salem, our Alma
Mater true,
Good-bye to all the happy times we knew.

As we depart on this last day of May
For friendship and help and kindness
We come with a humble tribute to pay;
our thanks we give to you,
For guidance and love of beauty, and inspiration, too.

Good-bye to dear old Salem, our Alma
Mater true —
Throughout the years our thoughts will turn to you.
